Periodicals A to Z Guide

Periodicals A to Z is a listing of periodicals available in the electronic or print version from the Library. After you have found an article citation in an index, consult the Periodicals A to Z list. Open a second browser window and type or paste the journal title in the Periodicals A to Z search box, toggling between the citation record and the Periodicals A to Z list. In many databases you can click on External Resources: Search for Full-Text or Article Linker, a direct link to the Periodicals A to Z list.

Getting Started

1. On the Library's home page click Find Articles.

2. Click on Periodicals A-Z.

Find Articles

Finding articles is usually a two-step process.

1. To find an article in a periodical (magazine, journal or newspaper), you must first use an index.

Not sure which index to choose? Already know which index you want to use? Where is a periodical title indexed? Quick links to our most popular indexes.	Browse indexes by Subject. Browse indexes by Title Periodical Titles in OCLC FirstSearch General Databases Academic Search Complete  ATLA Religion Database  Current Contents  FirstSearch (OCLC)  Seventh-day Adventist Periodical Index

2. Then check the Library holdings to see which periodicals are available.
