About Andrews University

Our History

The roots of Andrews University date back to a little 19th century school of 12 students, one of which was the breakfast-cereal-genius-to-be John Harvey Kellogg. Through the leadership of a teacher, Goodloe Harper Bell, the Battle Creek Michigan-based school expanded quickly and, in 1874, took the name, Battle Creek College. By 1901, the school's administrators had decided to experiment with a non-classical concept for education that fused traditional academia with a practical approach to learning. For this experiment, school leaders felt that a new location was needed, away from the moral and ecological pollution of the city. Eighteen thousand dollars bought a 272-acre piece of land in Berrien Springs, Mich. The "experiment" packed into 16 box cars and traveled from Battle Creek to a new home nestled in gentle hills and farming fields.

With a new location came a new name, Emmanuel Missionary College (EMC). There was much work to be done as the new school had no buildings. For the 1901-1902 school year, the college rented a barn, the former Berrien County courthouse, an office building, a jail and a sheriff's residence to serve as temporary school buildings. Construction of the new school started almost immediately. All buildings were built from wood as brick was perceived to be too permanent for those expecting the imminent return of Jesus. Early buildings were built almost entirely by students.

Faculty also got involved with helping to get things under way in Berrien Springs. EMC's first president, E. A. Sutherland, felt inspired to plant a long row of Norway spruce trees to help landscape the new school. The tall row of trees stands proud today, over a hundred years later, a testimony to the hands-on attitude of our school's pioneers.

As EMC began to establish itself in the community, students and faculty developed a deep interest in overseas missionary work. By the 1920's mission fervor had become one of the defining features of the Andrews experience. Despite the Depression of the 1930's, the Andrews leadership was successful as they worked to arrange accreditation for the institution. Amazingly, during the difficult war years of the 1940's, the college was able to obtain the materials for and the permission to build a new administration building, Nethery Hall, now home to the College of Arts and Sciences.

Momentum was growing and in 1959 Washington D.C.-based Potomac University moved to Berrien Springs and merged with EMC, bringing with it a School of Graduate Studies and the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. The combined institutions were chartered as Andrews University the very next year. Andrews University was named after John Nevins Andrews (1829-1883), a pioneer in the 19th century Adventist Church. He was also the first sponsored missionary that the Church sent overseas. J.N.

Andrews' example of careful thought and compassionate action in Christian life is something that we have taken to heart.

In 1974, the undergraduate division of Andrews was organized into two colleges-the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Technology. The school of Business was established in 1980. The School of Education was organized in 1983. In 1993 the Department of Architecture became the Division of Architecture. The present organizational structure of the School of Graduate Studies was adopted in 1987.

Students from across the United States and the globe are attracted to Andrews because of what we stand for and what we offer. U.S. News and World Report says that Andrews is one of the most culturally diverse universities in the nation. We are a thinking, faith-focused and dynamic international community. More than 3000 students study here, representing most US states and nearly 100 countries. Another 1700 students study at affiliate campuses around the world. We offer approximately 180 undergraduate degrees and just under 50 postgraduate programs.

At Andrews we are serious about giving you choices. We offer options in undergraduate, graduate and doctoral studies. If you feel like spending a year abroad, you can choose from an impressive range of opportunities at Andrews affiliate schools or service posts around the globe. We are real people at Andrews. Whatever it is you choose to do here, we aim to make sure that you achieve that balance between theory and practice, and that you experience growth on your personal spiritual journey.

Our Faith

Andrews University is a Seventh-day Adventist institution. As a Christian school, we encourage strong moral principles and a close relationship with God. We celebrate the diversity of faiths represented at Andrews and respect the differences of persuasion that are present. We believe in a holistic approach to life that balances mind, body, and spirit in such a way that students are fully prepared to serve the world when they finish their studies.

Adventists hold most beliefs in common with other Protestants. The Trinity. The divinity of Jesus. Salvation through faith in Jesus. Adventists believe that true spirituality impacts every area of our lives. Physical health, a sound mind and strong relationships with God and other people are all seen as important. Each Saturday Adventists celebrate a 24-hour Sabbath rest from work and school. The day is about taking a break from the daily grind, spending quality time in worship, and nurturing relationships with family and friends.

Our Sponsoring Church

Seventh-day Adventists trace their roots back to the Millerite movement of the 1840s when thousands of Christians were searching for a better understanding of Bible prophecy. A small group of these searchers, based in New England, felt impressed to start a church with the knowledge they had gained. The name they chose reflects two distinctive ideas they discovered: "Seventh-day" refers to the biblical Sabbath, Saturday. The fourth commandment of God's unchangeable law requires the observance of this seventh-day Sabbath as the day of rest, worship and ministry in harmony with the teaching and practice of Jesus, the Lord of the Sabbath. "Adventist" refers to the second coming of Jesus – something they believed was happening soon. In 1863, pioneers organized the new denomination with 3,500 members worshipping in 125 churches. The church grew quickly and today there are over 13 million members in more than 200 countries around the world. Adventists operate the largest Protestant hospital and educational system in the world, as well as several publishing houses and humanitarian organizations.

Our Mission

Andrews University educates its students for generous service to the church and society in keeping with a faithful witness to Christ and to the worldwide mission of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Accordingly, students are challenged to:

- be inquisitive
- think clearly and communicate effectively
- explore the arts, letters, and sciences within the context of a Christian point of view
- develop competencies in their chosen fields of study
- prepare for a meaningful position in the work place
- respect ethnic and cultural diversity
- embrace a wholesome way of life
- Nurture life in the Spirit, and
- heed God's call to personal and moral integrity
- affirm their faith commitment

About the School of Education (SED)

Our Conceptual Framework

One of the founders of Andrews University, Ellen Gould White, presented a compelling vision for education.

“True education means more than the pursuit of a certain course of study. It means more than a preparation for the life that now is. It has to do with the whole being, and the whole period of existence possible to man. It is the harmonious development of the physical, mental, and spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world and the higher joy of wider service in the world to come.

In the highest sense the work of education and the work of redemption are one.”
Ellen G. White (1903), Education, Mountain View, CA; Pacific Press 13, 30.

Andrews University School of Education embraces this vision as the organizing theme for its conceptual framework and the inspiration for its mission.

Our Mission

The School of Education mission is to provide programs based on a redemptive Christian worldview to prepare professionals for global service.

The mission is succinctly captured in the phrase “Educar es Redimir” (to educate is to redeem) through harmonious development of students for service. The mission is expressed through six elements that reflect the ideal development for all graduates of the School of Education. They are:

Element I: Worldview

This Element addresses appreciation of the perspectives of others and development of a personal philosophy from which action and service arise. Graduates will be able to

- Explain world views and trace their historical development
- Critique world views from a Christian perspective
- Integrate principles of a Christian world view into their chosen fields of study.

Element II: Human Growth & Change

This Element addresses principles of growth behavior and the use of these principles to effect positive change for individuals and organizations. Graduates will be able to

- Describe human development
- Apply current theories of learning.

Element III: Groups, Leadership & Change

This Element addresses principles of group behavior and the use of these principles to effect positive change for individuals and organizations. Graduates will be able to

- Facilitate change in groups and organizations
- Relate effectively with various cultural, racial, and special interest groups
- Identify political and legal issues
- Manage human, financial, and material resources
- Demonstrate servant leadership.

Element IV: Communication & Technology

This Element addresses oral, written, intrapersonal, and interpersonal communication as the essence of human behavior and technology as it enables, supports, and enhances human interaction and learning. Graduates will be able to

- Communicate effectively in written, verbal and non-verbal forms
- Use electronics tools effectively for professional communication, teaching, and research.

Element V: Research and Evaluation

This Element addresses valuing and conducting disciplined inquiry for decision-making. Graduates will be able to

- Read and evaluate research
- Conduct research
- Report research findings.

Element VI: Personal & Professional Growth

This Element addresses commitment to holistic personal and professional growth. Graduates will be able to

- Demonstrate continuing professional development
- Demonstrate ethical behavior in all professional activities
- Demonstrate balanced physical, mental, spiritual, and social aspects of their lives.

About LEAD

The Leadership and Educational Administration Department (LEAD) in the SED

Our Mission

Based on the mission of the SED, the mission of LEAD is to develop a community of scholar-practitioners who transform the power of knowledge into global service. Its core values include: service, community, integrated life, and human dignity.

About Educational Administration

Educational Administration (EA) a Segment of (LEAD)

Our Mission

Administration Department (LEAD) seeks to prepare effective educational administrators for servant leadership in educational settings.

Our Constituencies

The Educational Administration program serves two constituencies: K-12 and higher education administrators.

Our Ten Guiding Standards

The Educational Administration programs include field-based internships with mentoring, and require a portfolio as part of degree requirements. The Educational Administration programs are grounded in ten administrative standards.

The first six standards that guide the Educational Administration program are derived from the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC) standards. These six standards have been adapted by the Educational Leadership Constituent Council (ELCC), which has added a seventh standard on internship for use in program accreditation under the National Council of Accreditation in Teacher Education (NCATE). In addition to these seven standards, three additional standards have been added in consultation with educational leaders in the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists.

A school administrator is an educational leader who promotes the success of all students by:

- Standard 1: facilitating the development, articulation, implementation, and stewardship of a vision of learning that is shared and supported by the school community,
- Standard 2: advocating, nurturing, and sustaining a school culture and instructional program conducive to student learning and staff professional growth,
- Standard 3: ensuring management of the organization, operations, and resources for a safe, efficient, and effective learning environment,
- Standard 4: collaborating with families and responding to diverse community interests and needs, and mobilizing community resources,
- Standard 5: acting with integrity, fairness, and in an ethical manner,
- Standard 6: understanding, responding to, and influencing the larger political, social, economic, legal, and cultural context,
- Standard 7: receiving significant mentoring and internship experiences that provide significant learning opportunities to synthesize and apply the knowledge and practice and develop the skills identified in Standards 1-6 through substantial, sustained, standards-based work in real settings, planned and guided cooperatively by the institution and school district personnel for graduate credit,
- Standard 8: understanding and comprehensively applying technology to advance student achievement,

Standard 9: appreciating the perspectives of others and developing a personal philosophy from which action and service arise, and

Standard 10: understanding and comprehensively applying research and evaluation for effective decision making.

Course of Study

Mentoring Portfolio Process

All degree programs require an internship/mentoring component and the completion of a portfolio that documents the candidate's work on the ten standards. For the masters portfolio the candidate must show developing competency in each of the standards. For the EdS the candidate needs to show developing competency in each of the standards and advanced competency in five selected standards. For the EdD and PhD the candidate needs to show advanced competency in all ten standards. These portfolios require documentation that evidences a level of mastery appropriate to each degree and can be presented in-person or via electronic media. These portfolio presentations must be assessed and approved by a committee of three faculty. More details on portfolio requirements are provided in the introductory course, EDAL 500, required in all administration programs.

P-12 Educational Administration Certificate and Degree Programs

There are five levels of study in P-12 educational administration:

- 1) Certification in educational administration with an endorsements as principal, supervisor of instruction, or superintendent of schools that prepares students to fulfill the Seventh-day Adventist North American Division, (NAD) Educational Administration certificate requirements. The first level is a graduate level, non-degree option. The other four levels are degree programs.
- 2) Masters (MA),
- 3) Educational Specialist (EdS),
- 4) Doctor of Education (EdD), and
- 5) Doctor of Philosophy (PhD).

Public School Administration Certification or Licensure

Although the certification and licensure requirements for public school administrators vary by state, the programs and courses offered below fulfill many of the requirements of most state certification programs. These courses and programs align with the ISLLC standards which guide educational administration policies throughout the United States and have been adopted by over 30 states. Andrews University School of Education is also accredited by NCATE to offer educational administration programs. NCATE is the leading accrediting body for K-12 educational preparation programs. Andrews University is also accredited by North Central Association to offer graduate degrees. Because state requirements vary, it is the responsibility of prospective students to check with their own state or local authorities to determine what coursework meets the requirements for public school certification in their state.

North American Division (NAD) Certificate/Endorsement Preparation Program

(18-24 credits)

The educational administrator certificate/endorsements preparation program is designed for post-baccalaureate or post-master's participants who desire a NAD certificate. Those specifically served by this certificate are:

- * Teachers interested in transitioning into educational administration
- * Principals of K-8, K-10, K-12, and 9-12 schools
- * Supervisors of instruction
- * Superintendents of schools

The University offers the course work and a graduate certificate that can fulfill Educational Administration certification requirements of the NAD Office of Education. In consultation with a University advisor, the student is responsible to create and successfully complete a course plan that will fulfill the specific NAD Office of Education requirements. The University does NOT provide NAD certification or endorsement. Rather, the student applies to the NAD Office of Education through his or her union conference education department for Educational Administration certification. The department will issue a graduate certification completion document.

Application Process

Students may take certification courses on a permission-to-take classes basis (PTC) without being admitted into a program. However, depending on financial aid and employer requirements, the student may need to apply and be accepted into the certificate or a degree program. At that point, through a petition, the student may transfer up to eight PTC credits into a degree program. To be admitted into the certificate program students need to complete a graduate school application for the master's program. However, they do not need to submit GRE scores and should check the graduate certificate program on the application

Certificate/Endorsement Requirements (18-24 credits)

Graduate candidates interested in this certificate should review the recent guidelines of the NAD Office of Education to understand the qualifications for this certificate and its endorsements. See the link at our website at www.andrews.edu/leadership/ or www.nadeducation.org . There are non-educational requirements for this certificate, and the candidate, not the University, has the responsibility to ensure compliance with these. NAD certification requires either a minimum of eighteen credits of graduate coursework selected from the areas of curriculum, school administration, supervision, school law, school finance, school plant planning, personnel administration, school public relations, religious education, and field experience, or the completion of a doctorate in school administration. To be valid, the administrative certificate must be accompanied by an endorsement: principal, supervisor or superintendent. As such, the certificate course requirements have been incorporated into the unique requirements of each endorsement below. The NAD core requirements are shown corresponding to AU course requirements. Electives may need to be added to meet the required credits. Those electives may include the Administrative Internship (EDAL 680), foundations courses, or additional graduate coursework in educational administration, curriculum, or supervision.

A. Principal endorsement (18 credits minimum; also fulfills certificate requirements):

2. MA: K-12 EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

(32 credits)

The K-12 Educational Administration master's program is designed for post-baccalaureate participants who desire to obtain a degree in educational administration with or without Seventh-day Adventist NAD administrative endorsement. For NAD certification purposes, students need to have a NAD professional teaching certificate which requires graduate work in two of the following areas: learning theory/style, curriculum, improvement of instruction, education of the exceptional student, trends and issues in education, and multicultural education. As such, those completing this master's degree and wanting NAD administrative endorsement will also need to take an additional course from the areas listed. Those specifically served by this degree are:

- * Teachers interested in transitioning into educational administration
- * Principals of K-8, K-10, K-12, and 9-12 schools

Application Process

Applicants must meet School of Education admission requirements. Once accepted into this master's program, students must complete the face-to-face administration orientation course (EDAL 500). That course introduces the philosophy of educational leadership at Andrews University and reviews the standards that guide the program. The curriculum consists of a minimum of 32 credits beyond the baccalaureate degree. Many courses are offered as variable credits; therefore, candidates should consider their credit needs when planning their course work and when registering for these courses. The portfolio serves as a component of the master's comprehensive examination. There is no thesis requirement for the master's degree program.

3. EdS: K-12 EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION (64 credits)

The K-12 Educational Administration Educational Specialist degree program prepares candidates to serve as principals, supervisors, or superintendents in elementary and/or secondary systems. Those specifically served by this degree are:

- * Teachers with master's degrees interested in transitioning into educational administration and securing an additional degree while completing their NAD administration certification or endorsement.
- * Principals of K-8, K-10, K-12, and 9-12 schools
- * Supervisors of instruction
- * Superintendents of schools

Application Process

Applicants must meet School of Education admission requirements for the specialist degree. At the discretion of their academic advisors, applicants may transfer up to 32 credits from previous graduate work into the specialist degree. Candidates must complete EDAL 500 Administration Orientation, an introduction to the philosophy of leadership at Andrews University and to the standards that will guide their educational plan. The curriculum consists of a minimum of 64 credits beyond the baccalaureate degree and requires the completion of both an internship and a portfolio. Many courses are offered as variable credits; therefore, candidates should consider their credit needs when planning their course work and registering for courses. The portfolio serves as a component of the EdS comprehensive examination. There is no thesis requirement for the EdS degree program.

4/5. EdD/PhD: K-12 EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION PROGRAMS (90 credits)

The doctoral programs in Educational Administration prepare participants for professional careers in education as superintendents or elementary and secondary-school administrators or for leadership in many types of agencies and organizations. Both the Doctor of Education (EdD) and the Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) programs require a minimum of 90 credits. However, the PhD degree is more research-oriented and requires more courses in advanced research methodologies. Those specifically served by this degree are:

* Teachers with master's degrees interested in transitioning into educational administration and securing an additional degree while completing their NAD administration certification and endorsement

Andrews University Mentoring Program

Mentoring Defined

Mentoring Defined:

- n.1. A wise and trusted counselor or teacher.
- 2. Mentor. Greek Mythology. Odysseus's trusted counselor, in whose guise Athena became the guardian and teacher of Telemachus.
- v. Informal To serve as a trusted counselor or teacher to another person.

Mentor: a wise and trusted counselor and teacher.
Someone who offer guidance, wisdom, experience and encouragement.

Facilitated mentoring is a structure and series of processes designed to create effective mentoring relationships; guide the desired behavior change of those involved; and evaluate the results for the proteges, the mentors and the organization. (Margo Murray. Beyond the Myths and Magic of Mentoring. Pg 5)

Mentoring is a process of opening our lives to others, of sharing our lives with others; a process of living for the next generation. "Mentoring the Strategy Of the Master" Ron Lee Davis

*A Mentor is an experienced servant leader dedicated to the Spiritual, emotional and professional development of a mentee through a relationship that is built on trust, commitment and dedicated to life long learning and reflective practice.

Roles of the Participants in the Internship

Role of the Intern

The internship program is job-embedded in nature. However, the intern will have 1-2 days release time from their regular duties. (The program will arrange for paid substitutes to make this possible.)

The intern is expected to discharge the responsibilities of the rotations as if he/she was being paid to do so. This way, the activities will be regarded as authentic learning experiences rather than simulations. It is expected that the intern will work approximately 90 hours for each fieldwork rotation. The scheduling of the 90 hours will be negotiated with the mentor, university advisor, and host site. Another 90 hours may be available for online course work and/or preparation for the fieldwork activities.

Role of the Mentor

The Mentor (resident or visiting) plays a pivotal role in the internship process and is identified by their supervisors and Andrews University faculty to serve in this capacity. The mentor is an experienced school leader capable and willing to work with the intern in the development of competencies. The mentor will work with the intern and Andrews University faculty to develop meaningful learning experiences. The mentor will provide weekly feedback to the intern and a final written evaluation at the end of each rotation. (See Appendix D.)

The benefits that the mentor and/or school system derive from this relationship are many and varied. The chief benefit is the real contribution the intern can make to the particular institution.

Mentors will receive honoraria in the form of free Andrews University classes and professional conferences.

Role of the University Internship Faculty Advisor

The university Internship Faculty Advisor will be a full time or adjunct faculty member in the Department of Leadership and Educational Administration with P - 12 leadership experience. Although the advisor may teach several of the courses, the role of advisor is critical to the success of the program. The main role of the advisor will be similar to that of the advisor in the traditional program. The advisor will work with the candidate mainly during the first semester of enrollment to assist with the completion of the LIAF-

A and the IDP. In addition, in cases where the advisor is not the instructor of record for a particular course, the advisor could act as a liaison between the student, mentor, and faculty member in helping to establish the program internship experiences for the candidate.

Role of the University Professor

The primary role of the University professor is to deliver the instruction for the course, be it face-to-face or online. The professor will also work with the mentor and intern to establish activities/experience for the intern to serve as a vehicle for addressing a particular standard. These activities will be reflective of the strengths and weaknesses identified through the LIAF-A and included in the intern's IDP. During any one course, candidates may be satisfying different ISLLC or other standards simultaneously. This is similar to students in the traditional class writing different term papers or reflective papers, even on the same subject.

The most important aspect to the internship is that the intern will be involved in authentic experiences, rather than simulations so that at the end, the intern could easily make the transition to being a principal on his/her own.

Role of the Facilitator

RESPONSIBILITIES & EXPECTATIONS:

- Provide Spiritual Leadership
- Building and sustaining relationships
- Networking with others
- Coaching
- Communicating
- Encouraging
- Facilitating
- Goal Setting
- Guiding
- Conflict Management
- Problem Solving
- Providing and receiving feedback
- Reflecting

Identifying Mentors

*NAD Potential Mentor List

*Letter to NAD Superintendents and Union Directors (See Attached)

Characteristics of A Mentor:

- A Spiritual leader
- A loyal friend
- Maintains Confidentiality
- A teacher
- A Guide
- A Coach
- A Role Model
- A Nurturer
- Has Influence
- Credibility
- Respected
- Manages time wisely
- Skilled expert
- Passion for mentoring
- Gives of themselves

- Is a good listener
- Communicates effectively
- Maintains confidentiality
- Shares constructive feedback
- (Include PAPIP)****
- Is experienced
- A facilitative partner

The Four Phases of Mentoring

- Preparing
- Negotiating
- Enabling
- Closure (Lois Zachary, 2000)

Preparing: (The preparatory stage of mentoring)

Much of the preparatory phase in a mentoring relationship involves talking and considering various questions focusing on what is necessary for a solid partnership and developing learning outcomes. These may include and are not limited to:

- What is the real motivation for wanting to become a principal
- What readiness skills need continued support, and what objectives need to be learned?
- What advantages are there to both mentor and mentee in developing a partnership?
- What does each individual bring to the partnership and receive in the end?
- Are there participants compatible for developing an ongoing learning relationship?
- What time commitments are necessary and expected to create an effective partnership?
- What are the roles and expectations of the participants?

Negotiating: (The formation of a mentoring partnership)

Much of the negotiating phase centers on discussion of the following topics:

- Confidentiality
- Trust
- Reliability
- Boundaries of the partnership
- Responsibilities

- Time Commitments and expectations
- Accountability
- Identification and resolution of pet peeves
- Ability to deliver and accept criticism
- Level of commitment of participants
- Desire
- Maturity
- Character and ethics
- Establishment of learning objectives and outcomes

During the negotiating phase, both mentor and the mentee must talk about and become comfortable with process skills crucial for success in close personal relationships:

- Building and sustaining personal relationship
- Networking with others
- Coaching
- Communication (listening, checking for understanding, openness, and articulation)
- Encouragement

Suggested Mentoring Activities

Standard One

Where there is no vision, the people will perish (Proverbs 29:18)

1. Hold a spiritual retreat before the school year begins to facilitate team building, develop the vision, and create activities to support the vision.
2. Include your administrative team, staff, and local constituency in the initial and ongoing development, articulation, implementation, and assessment of the school vision.
3. As a team, develop a vision articulation plan for your constituency that will ensure the success for all students.
4. Develop a program in which your constituency and board members have numerous opportunities to serve the school in a variety of ways.
5. Develop activities and functions that involve the school community so that they will share and support the vision.
6. Provide staff development to enhance the teaching and learning that are necessary to accomplish the school vision.
7. Ensure the school vision is posted in every classroom and other strategic areas where staff, students, parents, and visitors can easily see and be reminded of it.
8. Visit successful schools to observe how they articulate and create synergy for their vision as well as how they implement these strategies successfully.
9. Encourage teachers and staff throughout the year with praise and mementos based on an original, school-wide theme chosen at the beginning of the year.
10. Have regular meetings to assess where the school is, to evaluate progress, to modify plans, and to celebrate accomplishments.

Standard Two

Positive school culture

1. Create and consistently expect a culture of high expectations from all constituents.
2. Model Excellence. Be positive, visible, and enthusiastic in fostering a nurturing and supportive learning environment.

3. Develop and implement strategies to recognize school-wide academic achievement.
4. Provide mentors to assist with the questions and problems of new teachers.
5. Have your team members complete a needs assessment to identify and address school concerns. Provide consistent follow-through.
6. Facilitate the brainstorming of ideas to enhance school culture, traditions, heritages, and celebrations.
7. Visit successful schools, research common elements of school climate and culture found in successful schools, and analyze whether they could be adapted to enhance yours.
8. Use questionnaires, surveys, and interviews to solicit insight from parents and staff about the school learning environment and ways to maximize student productivity.
9. Meet one on one with teachers to individualize professional goals and provide developmental support for their needs.
10. Develop a committee dedicated to facilitating different cultures within the school community.

Standard Three

Promoting a safe, efficient, and effective learning environment

1. Facilitate training on budget planning and alignment of resources with the goals and vision of the school.
2. Document all budget expenditures. Keep receipts.
3. Form a finance committee intentional in securing services of high profile individuals to study feasibility of available resources and potential available funding resources to meet school goals.
4. Periodically walk through the interior and around the exterior of the school building using careful observation to ensure school safety and efficiency. Encourage others to do likewise.
5. Create a school safety planning team to evaluate and update school safety drill procedures including emergency preparedness, fire, severe weather, and crisis management drills.

6. Provide in-service training for teachers and staff concerning assessment, interpretation, and analysis of testing data in a technological format.
7. Develop and cultivate partnerships with diverse community organizations. Brainstorm together possible resources other than money by which the school and organization can mutually benefit.
8. Facilitate the development and implementation of a consistent school-wide discipline management plan that is ethical, fair, and developmentally appropriate to meet varying student needs.
9. Provide teachers and staff the opportunity to attend professional development activities to enrich student learning.
10. In conjunction with your school team, develop, analyze, and evaluate the existing school needs assessment survey. Utilize school needs in the development of the school vision and attainment of goals.

Standard Four

Promotes the success of all students by collaborating with families and other community members

1. Visit parents in their homes and work places to determine what the school can do for them and their local community.
2. Be intentional about presenting and promoting the school as a bridge for all cultures by involving students and teachers in community cultural activities that promote acceptance and tolerance of all cultures.
3. Encourage and support various means of volunteerism to enhance parental and neighborhood participation in school.
4. Create and circulate a school newsletter to local businesses, your constituencies, and community leaders informing them of school events, programs, and progress toward the vision as well as soliciting continued input and participation.
5. Host school-based community events to allow parents and other stakeholders an opportunity to learn and participate in relevant educational issues and emerging themes.
6. Provide opportunities for parents to come to the school and become involved in their child's education by developing "family activities" that can be done together.

7. Attend and become involved with community, civic, cultural, and social activities that bring various members of the community together.
8. Host a recognition and appreciation day for the community members, parents, and volunteers who have contributed time, work, and other resources to the school.
9. Invite community members and groups to participate in staff meetings and staff development to discuss improvements that the school could meet to improve its relationship and contributions to the neighborhood.
10. Encourage school participation in community sponsored events.

Standard Five

1. Consult your administrative team on proper ways to handle inappropriate teacher or staff behavior in a manner that exhibits integrity, fairness, and ethics.
2. Always demonstrate impartiality to students, teachers, and families. Never show favorites.
3. Develop and implement a conflict resolution plan that incorporates morality and integrity issues in working with families and community members.
4. Develop and implement a school-wide discipline committee with teachers to develop and support successful classroom management strategies.
5. Conduct an interactive creative session on ethics as an in-service for faculty and staff members.
6. Ensure that all federal, state, and local laws, as well as local school board policies, are being consistently and appropriately followed.
7. Demonstrate integrity and fairness in all situations.
8. Make wise decisions based on facts rather than on hunches, perceptions, or gossip.
9. Respect and protect confidentiality laws.
10. Keep a log. Consistently document communication between staff, faculty members, parents, and others in the school environment.

Standard Six

1. Stay current with your knowledge base. Read and reflect on current educational trends by reading journals of the best practices and changes in policies, politics, economic, social justice, and education.
2. Volunteer for district-wide and community committees as the voice and face of your school.
3. Attend professional workshops, meetings, seminars, and conferences to be well informed about legislative decisions and updates particularly those regarding special education.
4. Empower all board members to ensure synergy and responsibility for the growth and prosperity of the school vision, culture, and climate.
5. Facilitate collaborative and shared decision-making among board members.
6. Ensure teachers and staff members have effective and appropriate professional development in all areas including diversity and technology in a changing world.
7. Know and understand the educational legal system and the ramifications of all decisions and behaviors.
8. Develop a collaborative working partnership with Child Protective Services and local police departments for the benefit of students, families, and others.
9. Consistently facilitate others in being advocates for all students in a free and democratic society.
10. Dialogue and network with other administrators about their experiences to get other perspectives on how to address various issues appropriately.

Standard Seven

Internship

1. Make appointments to conference with other school principals who have diverse leadership styles and are at different types of school to observe the way they handle various circumstances. Explain their rationale.
2. Spend time observing and talking with faculty, staff, and resource personnel who work with students of various learning styles and abilities to learn how to best meet student needs.
3. Attend school board meetings to understand the direction of the school board. This will express your interest in the school's mission and its leadership.

4. Read, analyze, and reflect on research and best practice from various contemporary publications and other sources including those of professional organization, major newspapers, and the internet.
5. Develop a current personal and professional library. Provide reading and resource recommendation to others based on individual interests and needs.
6. Interview experienced school administrators and the educational superintendent to assist the development of your knowledge and skills related to public school finance, budget planning, and management of resources.
7. Seek guidance and feedback from your mentor and other administrators as you actively practice collaborative and participatory leadership.
