

Student Talk

Whoever explains and elaborates learns the best. . . . When we talk we activate a different part of the brain --- teachers need to facilitate talking.

Whoever explains and elaborates learns the best. Holubec

It is good to rub and polish our brain against that of others. Montaigne

Problems can be thought of as "lumps of meaning" in a batter whose consistency is always changing through dialogue. . . . The problem, through language and conversation, evolves new meaning, interpretation and understanding. . . . No solution is found; the problem dis-solves. Anderson & Goolishian

Dialogue is a moment where humans meet to reflect on their reality as they make and remake it. Paulo Freire
