

Peter O'Connor was born in Albany, NY. Time Stops for No One is his second book. His first book was entitled As the Candle Burns Down.

O'Connor now lives in New York City with his wife of 52 years. He loves to write and writes short stories for several magazines.

Tick...Tock...Tick...Tock

Every time she heard the clock chime
she knew her time was close.

She told herself it would be okay, but she knew with each passing second that time was running out.

"Captivating...what a ride!...
You'll probably stay up all night
turning the pages."
Newsweek

"The next best-seller...O'Connor has produced a taut, suspenseful work that will win many new admirers..."
