COMMUNICATION

COMM104 (2)
Communication Skills
Study of the human communication process from an intercultural perspective; focusing on interactions with oneself, with one other person, with a small group, and within public-speaking situations. Transfer students, juniors, and seniors meet the General Education requirement by taking one of the following: COMM230, 320, 436, or 456.

COMM104-50 (2)
Honors Communication Skills (Honors Section)
Study of the human communication process with emphasis on public presentation, interviewing, and reasoning about social dilemmas.

COMM215 (4)
Introduction to Communication Theory and Research
A study of classical and modern theories of rhetoric, interpersonal communication, language, and the role of communication in establishing social reality. Includes a survey of critical research related to these major theories and a sample research project.

COMM230 (was COMM104 for majors)
Communication Practices
A foundational course for communication majors and minors which introduces students to the study of the human communication process; interpersonal, intercultural, group and public speaking; and also to career opportunities in the field of communication.

COMM280 (3)
Voice and Diction
Through vocal analysis and studying the production and differentiation of sound units in the English language, students identify and develop vocal strengths and identify and remedy vocal problems. By studying pitch, diction, volume, vocal quality and variety, expression, and pronunciation, students learn to use their voices to achieve maximum understanding and pleasure. Includes theory, practice exercises, public performances, and an introduction to the International Phonetic Alphabet.

COMM290 (1-3)
Practicum
Supervised work experience in journalism, public relations, or another aspect of communication. At least 65 clock hours of work experience are required for each semester hour of credit. Obtain procedures and guidelines from the department. Prerequisite: consent of appropriate instructor.

COMM320 (3)
Interpersonal Communication
Emphasis is placed on interpersonal skills for the workplace. Students examine components of interpersonal communication such as listening, perception, managing conflict, etc., and apply specific strategies to build relationships.

COMM340 (3)
Argumentation and Debate
An examination of argumentation and debate theory with practical application of debate skills including building and organizing cases, and analyzing and rebutting arguments. Particularly useful for students in fields such as pre-law and business which require decision making and argumentation. Prerequisite: COMM104 or COMM230

COMM389 (1-3)
Internship in Communication
Students work full time at communication enterprises. At least 65 clock hours of work experience are required for each semester hour of credit. Prerequisites: Adequate background, at least junior standing, and consent of the department.

COMM405 (3)
Persuasion

COMMUNICATION

After completing the freshman/sophomore sequence of courses, students may form oral application to the faculty to continue their chosen majors. Students may be asked to take specific communication courses to develop required skills. Transfer students beyond the sophomore year are allowed one year to make up deficiencies.

INTERNSHIPS
Communication, Journalism, and PR majors may submit applications for internships during the junior or senior year. Students must have completed COMM480 or have department permission prior to applying for internships.

Undergraduate Programs

Communication Core
Required for each of the three majors offered: COMM215; COMM480; JOUR230.

BA: Communication—37
Major requirements: Communication core plus JOUR140; COMM280 or 454; COMM320, 405, 436, 456, 475; and 6 credits of electives chosen in consultation with the adviser. A minor or a second major is required for this major.

Students seeking Michigan State certification for elementary- or secondary-school teaching must take COMM450.

BA: Journalism—37
Major requirements: Communication core plus JOUR330, 375, 389, 445, 455, 465; COMM320 or 436; and 6 credits of electives chosen in consultation with adviser. Cognate: PHTO115 or equivalent. A minor or second major is required for this major.

BA: Public Relations—37
Major requirements: Communication core; PREL255, 320, 389, 454, 465; COMM405 or COMM456; JOUR445; and 6 credits of electives chosen in consultation with the adviser. A minor or second major is required for this major. Students may apply two of the following courses to the major: ART214, 414; DGME180, 200.

Recommended minors are marketing, graphic arts, behavioral sciences, business, English, or graphic design.
The analysis of persuasive appeals from the point of view of a critical consumer plus practical experience, oral and written, in ethically persuading others. Prerequisite: COMM104 or COMM230.

COMM436
Intercultural Communication
Students examine the relationship between culture and communication and the ways culture influences values and perceptions. Discussion and activities help students develop and apply analytic and communication skills which enable them to interact with cultural sensitivity and communicate more effectively in intercultural, international, and cross-gender contexts. Particularly useful for students in business, behavioral sciences, education, and theology.

COMM440
Family Communication
A study of the family from a communication perspective with rotating emphasis on interpersonal communication used in family groups and in gender communication.

COMM450
Communication in the Classroom
The study and development of effective communication skills within the context of the classroom. Focus is on interactive learning where the student rather than the instructor is central. Open only to upper division and graduate students. Prerequisite: COMM104 or COMM230.

COMM454
Topics in Communication
Topics of current significance. Repeatable with different topics. Credit to be announced with topic in advance.

COMM456

COMM475
Effective Presentations
For students who wish to continue their study and practice of public oral presentations. Grrounded in rhetorical theory and research. Students deliver presentations on subjects of their choice to an interdisciplinary audience and, in addition to improving their public-speaking skills, they gain expertise in using presentational aids, in analyzing oral argument, in assessment of their own speaking skills and in evaluating the effectiveness of others’ presentations. Prerequisites: COMM104 or COMM230.

Senior Seminar
A practical capstone class which helps students integrate and synthesize material acquired in their major and apply it to their current and future goals. Students are required to complete their portfolios including mission statements and samples of performance in their major, and give evidence of organized job search. Prerequisite: Junior or Senior status as departmental major.

COMM495
Independent Study/Readings/Research
Topics chosen in consultation with an instructor. Repeatable to 4 credits. Requires prior approval from instructor.

COMM515
Communication Theories
The study of communication theories from covering laws, human action, and systems perspectives. Students engage in seminar presentations and classroom discussions of how the theories can be applied in practical ways.

COMM536
Issues in Intercultural Communication
Examination of intercultural communication issues with specific applications to student’s chosen fields of enquiry or employment. Students explore critical issues influencing the effectiveness of their interaction with individuals from varied cultures in specific organizational and societal contexts.

COMM554
Topics in __________
Study of selected communication topics of current significance. Topics to be announced in advance. Repeatable to 6 credits with different topics.

COMM589
Internship/Practicum in Communication
Students apply their academic preparation at a full-time professional communication-related job in journalism, broadcasting, public relations, communication consulting, or a similar area. Internship lasts for an entire semester. Students must find the job. Prerequisite: Approved application.

COMM590
Graduate Seminar in __________
Projects, reports, and discussions. Seminars are offered in various subjects corresponding with faculty specialization and greatest library strength. Repeatable with different subject matter. Topic announced in advance.

COMM651, 652
Communication Research Seminar I & II
A seminar for analysis of communication research in which students present, evaluate and critique original communication research.
