Established in 1986, MSRP has an over 35-year rich history of inspiring and cultivating the next generation of talented undergraduate scholars from underrepresented and underserved backgrounds. The charge of the program is three-fold aimed at promoting the value of advanced education, addressing the underrepresentation of underserved identities in the research enterprise, and allowing bright students to explore their intellectual curiosity in preparation for graduate education at MIT or beyond.

Program Benefits
- Conduct research in state-of-the-art-facilities
- Receive mentorship from MIT faculty, postdoctoral fellows, & graduate students
- Participate in community activities at MIT & the Boston/Cambridge area
- Participate in professional development workshops

Participant Benefits
- Receive a stipend
- Housing provided
- Round-trip travel to MIT
- Graduate application fee waiver for MSRP alumni
- Individual counseling on academic careers
- Opportunity to co-author a scientific paper with faculty mentor

Want to learn more?

MSRP Application Workshop & Informational
Tuesday, Dec. 7 at 5 PM EST
All Disciplines

Visit our website for more information: mit.edu/msrp

Eligibility
- Must be enrolled full-time in a degree-granting program at a US institution located in the US or its territories (including International students)
- Must be a Sophomore, Junior or non-graduating Senior
- Must have an interest in research/obtaining a PhD
- Must have a 3.5 GPA
- Underrepresented minorities, first-generation students, & students from low socioeconomic backgrounds are encouraged to apply

Questions?
msrp@mit.edu

Office of Graduate Education, GradDiversity