The Andrews University Wind Symphony is a performance-oriented wind band devoted to the preparation of instrumentalists and conductors for professional careers in music performance and education. Additionally, it provides Andrews University students, staff, faculty, and community members with an avenue to continue their involvement in the performing arts. The Wind Symphony has performed in England, France, Spain, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Canada, and throughout the United States. The group toured Thailand during Spring Break 2019, where they had the opportunity to perform eight concerts in different parts of the country, including two benefit concerts for AFM's Peace Music Academy in Khon Kaen.

Byron Graves conducts the Andrews University Wind Symphony and also coordinates the wind and percussion studies and music education programs. Prior to coming to Andrews University, he held K-12 teaching positions at Andrews Academy, Ruth Murdoch Elementary School, Great Lakes Adventist Academy, Cedar Lake Elementary School, and Union Springs Academy. Dr. Graves recently completed his doctorate in music education at Boston University, and also has a master's degree in instrumental conducting from Central Michigan University, and undergraduate degrees in clarinet performance and music education from Andrews University. He firmly believes that music brings you closer to God in a way nothing else can, and he is passionate about helping mentor the next generation of Adventist music educators.

Adventist Frontier Missions (AFM) establishes Seventh-day Adventist Church-planting movements among the world's unreached people groups. There are nearly 7,000 unreached people groups comprising more than 2 billion people worldwide. For 35 years, AFM's sole purpose has been to hasten the coming of Jesus by giving unreached people the opportunity to know Him and become His disciples. Discover more at www.afmonline.org

Peace Music Academy exists to promote the holistic development of students and their families through the joy of studying music. It provides high-quality music education as a natural starting point to building genuine trusting relationships with the middle and upper class Thai Buddhists of Khon Kaen, Thailand who are generally difficult to approach through other means. Through a variety of musical and intentional evangelistic experiences, the desire is to help our Thai Buddhist friends develop a saving, forever friendship with Jesus.
