“DON’T FORGET THE BOOKS”

March 23, 2021

“When you come, bring the cloak that I left with Carpus at Troas, also the books, and above all the parchments.” – 2 Timothy 4:13 ESV

As the Apostle Paul pens 2 Timothy, he is a prisoner in Rome (1:8, 17) with no hope of release (4:6-8) and he recognizes that the end of his life is near (4:6-8). Fellow missionaries, like Titus (4:10), have been sent out of missionary assignments. Tragically, some former companions like Demas, “in love with the present world”, deserted and abandoned both their faith in God and their mentor Paul (4:10). Only Dr. Luke is still with the aging apostle (4:11). Longing for Christian companionship, Paul writes to Timothy who was probably ministering in Ephesus. In the intensely personal conclusion of the letter, Paul urges Timothy to come to him soon and in 4:13 he makes two personal requests: 1) “Bring the cloak I left at Troas” because winter is coming soon (4:21). And 2) “bring the books and the parchments.” The books were probably Old Testament scrolls or papyrus rolls whereas the parchments were likely codices, flat, durable copies of the scriptures or notebooks for scripture. Even in prison, as he lingers in the cold shadows of the end of his life, Paul longs for the Word of God. The Apostle’s love and longing for the scriptures leads to this very personal request. “Don’t forget the books.”

In these days of cell phones, tablets, computer screens and social media, “don’t forget the books.” Don’t neglect the word of God. The apostle’s missionary heart yearned to study and share God’s word. How about you?

We never want to “forget the books” here in the Department of Religion and Biblical Languages. Yes, you’ll study from many books, but the most important books are the library of 66 inspired writings found in the divine library between the covers of your Bible.

If you want to dig into the scriptures, if you want to pursue the God of the scriptures, come join us on the journey of Biblical discovery. And don’t forget the books!

Glenn Russell, chair
Department of Religion
Andrews University

Faculty and Staff

Glenn Russell

Education

PhD, Trinity International University
MDiv, Andrews University

Biography

Glenn Russell was born in Egypt to missionary parents and his formative years were spent living in Beirut, Lebanon. He graduated from Columbia Union College, later graduated with a Masters of Divinity degree from the Andrews University Theological Seminary. He earned a Doctor of Ministry degree from Trinity International University with an emphasis on missions and ministry.

He is married to Sharon Russell, a retired reading specialist. They have two adult children and one precious granddaughter Gemma. Dr. Russell spent 10 years pastoring in Virginia and Maryland and then 15 years serving as the Bible teacher at Andrews Academy. He has authored two books in the secondary Bible curriculum for North America, as well as numerous articles and professional presentations. He is the host of the media ministry Scriptural Pursuit and has recorded a series of television programs for 3ABN on the gospel according to Matthew. He frequently speaks at academies, universities, camp meetings and youth congresses. One of his passions is missions and he conducts at least two mission trips per year. His doctoral research focused upon developing missiologically and biblically based short-term missions in the context of long-term missions. He enjoys playing the guitar, playing soccer, and learning about being a global Christian in the more than 20 countries where he has served. Most importantly Glenn Russell is a sinner saved by the marvelous grace of Jesus Christ.

The Religion Major is designed as a two major degree. Religion majors generally have a second major which is their career path and the religion major provides biblical depth and spiritual enrichment.

Therefore, each year Religion majors will combine their religion requirements and their second major requirements. Additionally, they will need to complete an ACE requirement for general education.

The Religion Major does not fulfill all Seminary prerequisites.

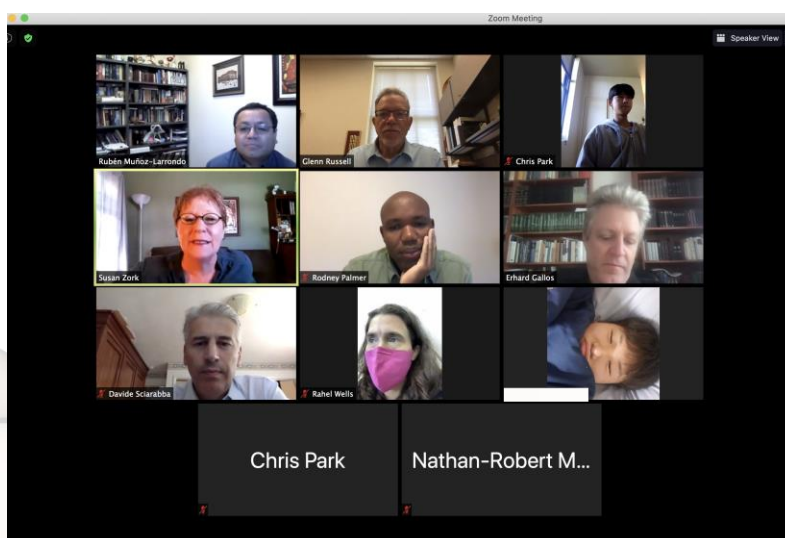

Students planning to attend Seminary should take a Theology major.

- Freshman= 100 or 200 level courses
- Sophomore= 200 or 300 level courses
- Junior= 300 or 400 level courses
- Senior= remaining courses

This handbook is designed to supplement the bulletin. It is the responsibility of the student to review and understand the Andrews University Academic Bulletin.

Pastoral Practicum Program

The Department of Religion and Biblical Languages is fully committed to providing our students with a holistic ministry model, which will enable them to contribute to the development of family, community and church, through training in both the theoretical knowledge and the practical application of a sound, Bible-based Christianity.

The completion of the practicum program is compulsory for all theology majors, as this is the avenue through which students will practice and assimilate the seven core qualities which form the foundation of the pastoral profession, as outlined by the Ministerial Association of the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists.

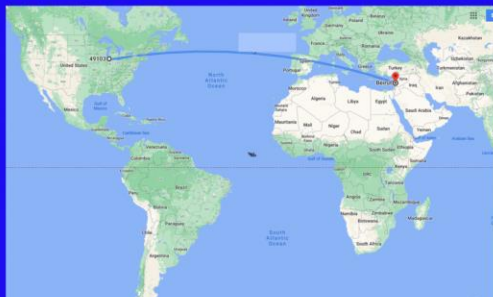

For additional information, speak with Dr. Palmer, the Director of Practicum Studies.
