

Sample Searches for OCLC FirstSearch Databases

Database Selection

To select the best database for your topic:

1. Enter your search terms.
2. Select the relevant broad category.
3. Click Search (go to page 2)

OR

4. You may go to an advanced search in a single database by selecting the database title in this menu (go to page 4).

Why Use?

FirstSearch provides access to more than 40 article indexes and includes some fulltext articles.

Access Path:

The screenshot shows the OCLC FirstSearch Home page. The browser window title is "FirstSearch: FirstSearch Home - Microsoft Internet Explorer". The address bar contains the URL: "http://newfirstsearch.oclc.org/WebZ/FSPrefs?entityjsdetect=javascript=true:screenize=medium:sessionid=sp07sw05-63665-e". The page header features the OCLC logo, the text "FirstSearch", and "ANDREWS UNIV". Below the header is a navigation bar with "Home", "Databases", and "Resource Sharing" tabs. A search form is present with a search box containing "amish and pennsylvania", a dropdown menu set to "Arts & Humanities", and "Search" and "Clear" buttons. A "Jump to Advanced Search" dropdown is also visible. The footer contains language options: English, Español, Français, 日本語, 한국어, 中文(繁體), 中文(简体), and links for Options, Comments, and Exit.

1. Look at the estimated number of results in each database listed.
2. This symbol indicates that some or all articles indexed by this database are in fulltext.
3. The information icon links to more information about the database.
4. Select up to three databases by clicking in the boxes.
5. Click Select.

Tip

A gray bar near the top of each OCLC FirstSearch screen shows you which databases and search terms are currently in use.

The screenshot shows the OCLC FirstSearch interface. At the top, a gray bar displays the current database as 'None' and the current topic as 'Arts & Humanities'. Below this, a table lists databases with their estimated results and full-text availability. The 'Full Text' column uses icons to show the number of full-text articles: a circle with '3' for WorldCat, a circle with '2' for MLA, and a circle with '1' for ATLA Religion, BookReview, and HumanitiesAbs. A 'Select' button is visible at the top left of the table area.

Est. Results	Database	Description	Updated	Info	Full Text
1000	WorldCat	OCLC catalog of books and other materials in libraries worldwide	2004-11-10	1	3
150	MLA	Literature, language, linguistics, folklore	2004-10-29	1	2
40	ATLA Religion	Religious and theological literature for students and faculty	2004-08-20	1	1

Boolean Operators

And combines two or more terms to narrow the search:

abortion and teens.

Or looks for at least one term to broaden the search:

teen or adolescent.

Not looks for records which do not contain the term which follows the operator not:

child not infant.

The interface includes a navigation menu with "Home", "Databases", "Searching", and "Resource Sharing". Below this is a search bar with "Basic Search", "Advanced Search", "Expert Search", and "Previous Searches" options. The current database is "MLA Bibliography".

The search area is annotated with numbers 1 through 6:

- 1: Points to the search term "amish" in the first search box.
- 2: Points to the search term "pennsylvania or new york" in the second search box.
- 3: Points to the Boolean operator "and" between the search boxes.
- 4: Points to the "Limit to:" section, which includes filters for "Year", "Document Type Phrase", "Language Phrase", and "Peer Reviewed".
- 5: Points to the "Search" button.
- 6: Points to the "Databases" tab in the navigation menu.
