Correction

The first headline in the AT UPDATE newsletter released earlier today described the deaths of three denominational workers in Belize and mistakenly identified them all as teachers. In fact only the latest tragic death is that of a teacher. AT regrets this error in its headline. The news article itself correctly identifies those who have perished in this tragic time of violence in Belize.....