Photo of the Week: It's art with a philanthropic purpose. Graphic design major Ryan McCabe’s senior exhibition will feature 20 portraits of children in need of sponsorship through Compassion International, a Christian child advocacy ministry that helps children around the world. Ryan’s exhibition is today, Tuesday, March 22, 6-8 p.m. in the Art & Design Gallery of Smith Hall. Anyone who sponsors a child will receive the painting of that child at the end of the exhibition. 4th Annual International Music Competition
Sunday, March 27
4 p.m., Howard Performing Arts Center

The fourth annual International Music Competition at Andrews University begins on Sunday, March 27, in the Howard Performing Arts Center on the campus of Andrews University. This free event is open to the public. It begins at 4 p.m.

This year’s focus areas are winds, brass and percussion. The winner will be decided by a panel of external judges. A group of five finalists selected from a pool of national and international applicants will perform. This year's finalists, including their instrument, home country and current university, are: Ricardo Flores, trumpet, United States/Mexico, Andrews University alum; Daniel Mendoza, clarinet, Venezuela, Andrews University; Tyler Rand, oboe, United States, Southern Adventist University; Debra Rosengren, flute, Canada, Andrews University; and Paige Wright, flute, United States, Southern Adventist University.

To be eligible for the competition, applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 27 or currently enrolled in a masters or undergraduate degree program or high school on the day of the final competition. All applicants were required to submit a recorded performance. Judges then narrowed the pool down to the finalists who will perform in the live International Music Competition. The grand prize is $1,000 plus a solo performance with the Andrews University Orchestra or Wind Symphony. Second through fifth place also receive cash prizes ranging between $500 and $100.

This annual competition features a different area each year: piano, strings, voice or winds. The Andrews University Department of Music is the sponsor and organizer.

ITS Computer Open for Business

The ITS Computer Store is OPEN for business during regular business hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays; 12:30 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays; and 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Fridays. Because of road construction surrounding our building access is limited but you can reach us by using the ITS bldg entrance by the gymnasium parking lot. We apologize for any inconvenience this might cause and thank you for your patience.

Registration Underway for Music & Worship Conference
March 24-26, 2011
Campus of Andrews University

The 8th annual Andrews University Music & Worship Conference is coming to campus March 24–26, 2011. Sponsored by the Center for Youth Evangelism and Departments of Music and Christian Ministry, and the NAD Church Resource Center, the event will provide training opportunities for pastors, worship leaders, church musicians and lay leaders from around the world.

Featured presenters will include Roberta King, associate professor of communication and ethnomusicology at Fuller Theological Seminary’s School of Intercultural Studies, and Pedrito Maynard-Reid, professor of Biblical studies and missiology and assistant to the president for diversity at Walla Walla University. Presenters will discuss issues relating to creativity, diversity and excellence as well as techniques and strategies for improving worship experiences.

Other training opportunities will also take place during the event. Workshop topics include young adult worship, planning and leading music, teamwork, hymn singing, use of scripture, guitar techniques and audio-visual enhancement, among others.

Programming and workshops will take place at the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary and Pioneer Memorial Church. Students can receive 1-3 class credits for attending.

Event registration is required and can be completed online. For registration information, a schedule of events and more, visit www.auworshipconference.org or call 269-471-8380.
Elleen G. White and Current Issues Symposium

Monday, March 28
9 a.m.-4:45 p.m., Seminary

Backup Courses

With the move to Moodle the DLiT will be doing a backup of all the courses. However it is also recommended that you keep your own backup copy of your course(s). The steps are:

- Click on the specific course
- Click on edit course (lower right side of the navigation bar)
- Click on import/export/copy components
- Check export
- Click next
- Select all components
- Click next
- Click next (this confirms the components to export)
- When the export summary shows Green Check marks, click done
- Click on the “click here to download the export Zip package”
- Click save, choose where to save the zip file

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact us.

The DLiT will have limited hours during spring break. If you need assistance that week, you can email dlit@andrews.edu or call 269-471-3960 to check the open schedule.

Adventist Forum presents Rebekah Liu
Sabbath, March 26
3:30 p.m., Physics Amphitheater, Science Complex

Adventist Forum presents Rebekah Liu, an ordained Seventh-day Adventist minister from China. Her presentation is entitled, "We Have Seen His Glory: Women in Ministry, Adventism in a Chinese Context." The meeting will be held in the Physics Amphitheater at Andrews University at 3:30 p.m., Sabbath afternoon, March 26, 2011. Please plan to come.

Rebekah Liu lives and works in Sichuan Province in China. She was ordained to the gospel ministry on May 22, 2010, and operates an active ministry while completing a Ph.D. in New Testament Studies (specializing in the Book of Revelation) at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Michigan.

The church in Sichuan Province now has 10,000 members (in a total population of 100 million, China's largest province), with 400 churches and other meeting places and four pastors (three of them women).

When the provincial church ordained Rebekah, they perceived that her ministry would not be limited to Sichuan but would belong to all of China. Therefore they invited four pastors, coming from the four corners of China, to officiate. One, a patriarch of the Adventist Church in China, was one of the most respected pastors in the country. Another, by Rebekah’s request, was a woman.

Adventist Forum is open to the public. All are welcome. For information, contact Art Robertson at robertsa2@earthlink.net or call 471-7150.
Past symposium presentations have been published and are available through the Center for Adventist Research. The Center will publish this year’s presentations. Orders may be placed on the day of the symposium or afterward through the Center for Adventist Research.

Orders may be placed on March 28, 2011, during the Symposium, or through the Center for Adventist Research.

About the Presenters

Jiri Moskala, BA, M.Th., Th.D., Ph.D, is Professor of Old Testament exegesis and theology at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University. He joined the faculty in 1999. Prior to coming to Andrews, Moskala served in various capacities (ordained pastor, administrator, teacher, and principal) in the Czech Republic. He is a member of different theological societies and has authored or edited a number of articles and books in the Czech and English languages. In addition, he has participated in several archaeological expeditions in Tell Jalul, Jordan.

Dwight K. Nelson, M.Div., DMin., has been senior pastor of Pioneer Memorial Church of Seventh-day Adventists on the campus of Andrews University since 1983. He also serves as adjunct professor for homiletics at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. He is the author of The Claim, Built to Last, Outrageous Grace, Countdown to Showdown, The Jesus Generation, A New Way to Pray, and The God-Forsaken God.

James R. Nix, M.Div., MLS, is director of the Ellen G. White Estate at the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He is author of numerous articles and several books, including The Spirit of Sacrifice and Commitment and Early Advent Singing.

Gluder Quispe, M.Div., M.Th., is currently a Ph.D. candidate in Adventist Studies with a cognate in New Testament at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University. For eight years he was senior pastor in the Lake Titicaca Conference in Peru and has served as an administrator and professor at the Peruvian Union University. He is the author of three books: Camino se hace al andar, Retos en acción, and Grandes temas de la Biblia. His dissertation title is “The Apocalypse in the Seventh-day Adventist Church: Three Approaches.”

Ranko Stefanovic, Ph.D., is Professor of New Testament at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University. Prior to joining the faculty at Andrews University, he served for eighteen years as an ordained SDA minister in his home country of what used to be Yugoslavia. He chaired the Department of Religious Studies at Canadian University College, from 1996-1999. He is author of Revelation of Jesus Christ, a 670-page commentary on the book of Revelation which is the standard textbook in many Adventist colleges and universities.

All presentations are in the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary Chapel located at Andrews University.

New Recycling Grant for Andrews
The Village Green Preservation Society (VGPS), the environmental club on campus, has applied for and received a grant for Bell Hall and the Center for Adventist Research (CAR). The grant of $474 was provided by Berrien County through the School Recycling Program that the county has run for several years. This spring’s grant completes a total of three grants awarded to the University through VGPS, including grants for the residence halls, the Administration Building, Ruth Murdoch Elementary School and most recently Bell Hall and the CAR. VGPS’ mission is to continue to apply for recycling grants so students, faculty and staff will have access to recycling in every building on campus. Planning for next school year’s grants are currently underway.

One of the many Rules of the Road: Michigan Vehicle Registration and Insurance

It may seem like there are so many traffic laws and rules of the road: traffic signs, traffic signals, questions on whether vehicles can or cannot have tinted windows, driving speeds, use of seatbelts and child safety equipment, and the list goes on and on. There is an excellent online resource to find the most frequently asked questions and even offers an opportunity to ask additional questions related to traffic safety. Just visit Michigan.gov.

Is it really necessary to have a vehicle title or maintain registration and insurance on a vehicle? Vehicles are required to be titled, registered, insured and have a valid license plate on display in order to operate on Michigan roadways. The title is a legal document that proves property ownership. In Michigan, this title includes a motor vehicle and other motor property.

All motor vehicles and trailers used on Michigan roads must be registered and must display valid license plates. The registration will display the plate number and what vehicle that plate is registered to.

Michigan requires insurance coverage that includes bodily injury/property damage (BI/PD), personal injury protection (PIP) and property protection insurance (PPI). This required coverage is limited. If you want your insurance company to cover damage to your vehicle or theft, you may choose to carry collision coverage (damage) and comprehensive coverage (theft). You will need to consult with your insurance company to determine the best insurance coverage for your vehicle.

Your proof of registration and a proof of your Michigan no-fault insurance certificate should be in your vehicle or you should carry it with you when you drive. If you cannot show proof of insurance to a law enforcement officer, the court may order the Secretary of State to suspend your driver license. If you cannot show proof of registration, this could also result in a citation. Keep the title to your vehicle in a secure location and not in your vehicle.

New Michigan residents must immediately title and register their vehicles at a Secretary of State office and turn in the title from their previous home state. You are considered a Michigan resident if you have a permanent home or employment in Michigan with the intention of remaining in the state.

You are welcome to visit any Secretary of State Office or the Office of Campus Safety for a copy of the booklet, “What Every Driver Must Know.” The information booklet is also online.

Further information can be also be obtained at michigan.gov/sos.

Safe motoring and our campus safety and security depend on everyone’s participation.

A longstanding Andrews University tradition, the 47th International Food Fair promises authentic cuisines prepared by volunteers from more than 20 international clubs representing cultures and traditions from around the world. The public is invited to attend this year’s annual event on Sunday, March 27, at the Johnson Gym on the campus of Andrews University. From noon to 7 p.m., visitors will enjoy a small taste of the diversity represented among the student body. Admission to the event is free.

Each spring, dozens of campus clubs join together for this tasty tradition. Over 150 volunteers help prepare vegetarian entrees, drinks and desserts from countries around the world, including Brazil, Europe, Kenya, Korea, South Asia and South Pacific, to name a few. Each booth will offer an authentic menu while showcasing various displays, music and ethnic décor.

Nearly 5,000 visitors attend the fair annually. Each year, there are the familiar ethnic dishes, such as eggrolls, quiche, chips and salsa, and new flavors including pansit, chapati (a special Indian bread resembling a tortilla) and samosas (a Southeast Asian triangular-shaped pastry shell stuffed with spiced potatoes, onions and peas). If you aren’t feeling adventurous, an all-American favorite, the corn dog, is sure to please. Satisfy your sweet tooth with tasty bubble tea, Brazilian fudge candy, delicious pastries, cakes, rolls and an assortment of European bakery treats.

Approximately $30,000 has been raised each of the past few years through the Food Fair, held annually since 1964. All proceeds benefit the participating clubs.

Food tickets can be purchased the day of the event in the ticket office of the Johnson Gym. Tickets are sold in increments of $5 and menu prices range from 50-cents to $6. Students will be allowed to access money from their cafeteria accounts to buy meal tickets. For more information, please contact the Office of International Student Services at 269-471-6395.
Spring Board Meeting

The Andrews University Board of Trustees convened for their annual Spring Meeting, Feb. 28–March 2. The quinquennial meeting of the Andrews University Corporation was held March 1 in the Seminary Chapel. Then, on Wednesday, March 2, President Niels-Erik Andreasen met with faculty and staff for the Board briefing.

The quinquennial meeting of the Andrews University Corporation was held March 1 in the Seminary Chapel. It’s held during the year following a General Conference Business Session. The primary purpose is to elect the University’s trustees to five-year terms; the trustees in turn appoint the officers of the corporation. The constituency delegation also receives reports of the University’s operations and considers changes to the University’s governing documents.

Constituency delegation is comprised of a portion of the General Conference executive committee, World Division officers, Lake Union Conference executive committee members and appointees, alumni representatives, and faculty/staff representatives. Andrews University staff members who served are: Elynda Bedney, Reda Bidwell, Wanda Cantrell, David Ferguson, Enid Harris, Steve Nash, Kristine Knutson, Rebecca May, Aimee Regoso Vitangcol and Deborah Weithers. Faculty members who served: Karen Allen, Gary Burdick, Bruce Closser, Lee Davidson, Carlos Flores, Erhard Gallos, Ann Gibson, R. Clifford Jones, Joseph Kidder, Rick Kosinski, Melchizedek Ponniah, Duane McBride, Jerry Moon, David Randall, Teresa Reeve, Rhonda Root, Brian Strayer and Hyveth Williams.

Chairman of the Board Ben Schoun opened the session with a devotional. Music was provided by faculty Claudio Gonzalez and Chi Yong Yun.

The constituents spent the bulk of their time receiving reports from President Niels-Erik Andreasen, Provost Andrea Luxton, and Vice President for Financial Administration, Larry Schalk. The reports were comprised of information about progress and challenges during the quinquenium, including performance of Andrews graduates, University service to its alumni, service to the church through affiliations and extensions, academic programs and services, enrollment patterns, student and spiritual life on campus, and audited financial statements from the past five years.

The Board’s Governance Committee presented two small changes to the bylaws, both of which passed the constituency vote. The first change clarified terms and qualifications for members of the Board of Trustees. The other changed the timing of the first meeting of the newly-elected board, during which the board appoints the officers of the Corporation (president, provost, secretary and treasurer), to not less than 30 days nor more than 120 days after the membership meeting. This would permit the trustees to meet at their regularly-scheduled time rather than being forced to call a special meeting.

The constituents heard the report of the nominating committee (which did its work at a meeting on Monday evening, Feb. 28). General Conference President Ted N.C. Wilson served as the chair of the nominating committee and Duane McBride served as the nominating committee secretary. The constituents elected the nominated trustees and the list of trustees will be posted at www.andrews.edu/board as soon as they have accepted the appointment.

At the close of the session, President Wilson offered words of commendation and support to Andrews University as a world church leader in education. He invited the constituents present to join him in supporting the University in word, prayer and financially.

Andreasen shared a few items on the Board’s consent agenda including news of an unrestricted bequest from a trust in the amount of $22,946.51 given to Andrews. Those funds have been allocated to the construction of Buller Hall. Another consent item was the selection of Andrews University delegates to the Lake Union Conference constituency meeting. This meeting is held every five years, at which time they will elect a president and new officers. Six delegates are assigned from Andrews: Karen Allen, Elynda Bedney, Spencer Carter, Jim Jeffery, R. Clifford Jones, and Keith Mattingly.

The Provost’s Report to the Board highlighted new developments in the School of Graduates Studies & Research, an emphasis on research and... the strategic fine-tuning of the Andrews mission statement to allow for effective assessment. The President’s Report overviewed Griggs University including the transition process and strategic planning underway.

Larry Schalk, vice president for Financial Administration, presented an operations report overviewing the fiscal year-to-date, May 1, 2010–Jan. 31, 2011. The operating budget is currently $1.15 million behind. Contributing factors to the budget shortfall are a $418,000 approximate reduction in subsidy from the Michigan Conference, interest on construction loans, depreciation, increase in electricity costs and some overages in student scholarships.

Andreasen reported the Lake Union Conference voted to make-up the decreased support from the Michigan Conference subsidy for this year for the full amount. Finances are expected to end the fiscal year in a “good place,” according to Andreasen. “We are thankful to the Lake Union Conference for fixing Andrews revenue stream,” he said.

The Board faced a few action items. The first was voting the final budget for the 2012 fiscal year. For the October Board, a preliminary budget was voted based upon a series of assumptions for the next year. The final assumptions approved was to budget for 97 percent of the current year’s enrollment, tuition for the 2011–12 school year will increase 5 percent and the funds set aside for salary increase is 1.5 percent, to name a few changes. A major expenditure increase will be electricity, estimated to go up by over $400,000.

The Board also voted a remuneration audit. Andrews has its own remuneration audit scale.

Two major capital expenditures were voted by the Board. The first is phase two of HVAC and major renovations in Halenz Hall in the amount of $550,000. The second is the purchase of the Lake Union Conference building and its land. The Lake Union had initially agreed to lease out half of the building to Andrews as office space for Griggs University. After further discussion, the Lake Union asked Andrews if they would like to purchase the building and land for $1.5 million. The Lake Union is considering the purchase of other land and construction of a new building. The payments Andrews would have used to lease the building for Griggs will be applied to the purchase price.

The final action item was voting the corporate membership of Griggs University. As a corporation owned by Andrews, Griggs has to have its own board and officers. Ella Simmons, a vice-president for the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will serve as chair. Board members include representatives from Andrews and the church.

The Board also approved a number of faculty and staff appointments:

Adventists' back-to-basics faith is fastest growing U.S. church

Rest on the Sabbath. Heed Old Testament dietary codes. And be ready for Jesus to return at any moment.

If these practices sound quaint or antiquated, think again. They're hallmarks of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the fastest-growing Christian denomination in North America.

Newly released data show Seventh-day Adventism growing by 2.5% in North America, a rapid clip for this part of the world, where Southern Baptists and mainline denominations, as well as other church groups are declining. Adventists are even growing 75% faster than Mormons (1.4 percent), who prioritize numeric growth.

For observers outside the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the growth rate in North America is perplexing.

"You've got a denomination that is basically going back to basics ... saying, 'What did God mean by all these rules and regulations and how can we fit in to be what God wants us to be?',' said Daniel Shaw, an expert on Christian missionary outreach at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, Calif. "That's just totally contrary to anything that's happening in American culture. So I'm saying, 'Whoa! That's very interesting.' And I can't answer it."

Seventh-day Adventists are asking a different question: Why isn't the church growing much faster on these shores, which is home to just 1.1 million of the world's 16 million Adventists? Despite its North American roots, the church is growing more than twice as fast overseas.

"We don't feel that we're growing very much, and that is a source of concern, especially for North America," said Ron Clouzet, director of the North American Division Evangelism Institute at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich. Hispanic Adventists are "the one group that is growing very well," he added. "If we didn't have that group, we would look even more dismal."

With Saturday worship services and vegetarian lifestyles, Seventh-day Adventism owns a distinctive niche outside the Christian mainstream. But being different is turning out to be more of an asset than a liability.

Since the mid-19th century when the movement sprang up in New Hampshire, Seventh-day Adventism has had an urgent mission to bring the gospel — with a distinctive emphasis on Christ's imminent second coming — to the ends of the earth. Adventists find the essence of their mission in Revelation 14:12, where the end of the age "calls for patient endurance on the part of the people of God who keep his commands and remain faithful to Jesus."

The church's traditional, global focus is now bearing fruit in new ways. Newly arrived immigrants in the United States often come from parts of Latin America or Africa where Seventh-day Adventism has long-established churches, schools and hospitals.

Those who migrate from Brazil to Massachusetts, or from Mexico to Texas, are apt to find familiarity in a local Adventist church led by a pastor who knows their culture and speaks their native language, said Edwin Hernandez, a research fellow at the Center for the Study of Latino Religion at the University of Notre Dame.

Abused women tell their stories
Polly's Place representatives speak to Andrews University class

By DEBRA Haight - H-P Correspondent
Published: Monday, March 14, 2011 1:05 PM EDT

BERRIEN SPRINGS - Andrews University counseling and ministry students got a firsthand look at the face of domestic violence when two women told their stories of abuse at the hands of former husbands and a boyfriend.

The stories were part of a visit last week by representatives of the Niles-based Polly's Place women's shelter. The women were invited by instructor Alina Baltazar to speak to her class, called Family Violence through the Lifespan. Baltazar worked at Polly's Place six years ago and is familiar with the agency's program.

Polly's Place representatives came to the class for two reasons: to tell their stories and accept gifts of money and goods collected by students for the shelter over the last few months.

Students raised money with two projects. Several of the young men sponsored a "Barefoot Race" around the campus in January and raised more than $200, while many of the young women had an information booth in the student center and collected another $250 in donations.

Students also collected toiletries and other items to donate to the shelter. The university's student association will match the $250 raised in collections. Some students also have volunteered time at the shelter.

Polly's Place board Chairman Peggy Cain was the first to tell her story. She said she had been abused physically, emotionally and sexually in both of her marriages and can see how that abuse has harmed her children.

"Abuse comes in a lot of forms," Cain told the students. "Often, people don't even realize they're going through it. I wasn't aware, I didn't know that marital rape was abuse. It's also not just bruises or verbal threats."

She said she took her four children and left her first husband after he sexually molested their 14-year-old daughter. She then married a man with five children.

"I thought he needed me," she said. "He was abusive to everybody, he drank, he was a manic-depressive. I was naive enough to think I could change him."

After her second divorce, she had to deal with how the abuse affected her children and also with her feeling of being separated from the church.

"When you divorce in the Seventh-day Adventist church, you feel like an outsider," she said. "I stayed away from the church for 15 years."

She said six of her nine children and stepchildren have abused alcohol or drugs. "Everyone in the family suffers when there's abuse," she said.

Former Polly's Place resident Ashley Below said she lived at the Niles-area shelter a few years ago with her three young sons after escaping her boyfriend. She is now married to another man, has had another son..."
and lives in Berrien Springs.

Below, now 24, said her ex-boyfriend abused her mentally, physically and sexually, at one point throwing her out of a car going 35 mph while her infant son was in the back seat. He's now in prison for killing another girlfriend.

"It's been really, really tough," she said. "Without Polly's Place, I don't know where I'd be with my boys. It's a wonderful place that helped me through hard times. I learned so much. The counseling was amazing.

"My children were so young, but they were still affected," Below said. "I kept taking (the boyfriend) back after he said he would change. I was 16 when I had my twins. I was young and dumb."

Baltazar explained why she wanted the two women to share their stories with her class.

"It's important for the students to know the perspective of those who have gone through domestic violence," she said. "These students will be future clinicians and pastors."

Polly's Place was opened near Niles 13 years ago by former area resident Mable Dunbar. It continues to operate, although a series of problems have closed the doors periodically through the years.

Those problems have included funding shortfalls, the need for building repairs, vandalism and a fire by a group of local children in 2008, and embezzlement by a former board member last year.

Cain said she and other board members are hoping to take clients again in April. The shelter can house six women along with their children, for a total of 17 people. Women and children can stay at the shelter for up to two months.

People who need help or want to assist the shelter may call 687-9822.
Memorial Service for Hans K. LaRondelle

Hans K. LaRondelle, a retired professor from the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, died March 7 at a rehabilitation center in Sarasota, Florida. He had been battling aggressive cancer. Barbara LaRondelle and family write to say, "We want to thank you for all your prayers and cards, emails, flowers, calls and other outpouring of concern and compassion."

A memorial service will be held at the Sarasota Seventh-Day Church on Sunday, March 27 at 11 a.m. Peter Van Bemmelen will speak at the memorial service. The service is open to the public. The church address is 5764 Churchill Downs Road, Sarasota, FL 34241.

Wednesday, April 6
7 p.m., Berrien Springs Public Library

Another monthly meeting of the Berrien Springs Camera Club is coming up on Wednesday, Apr. 6, at 7 p.m. in its usual venue, the Berrien Springs Public Library at Cass (Old 31) and Union. Throughout the academic year, the club meets on the first Wednesday evening of each month, alternating with an informational program and a competition for members.

This month’s program consists of a competition of prints and digital images submitted by members. The selected topics for the month include: 1) Road/Trail/Path and 2) Panoramas. Three additional categories are appropriate for all of our competitions: 1) Nature (nothing domesticated, nothing of a human origin), 2) Portraits, and 3) Open (any other subject).

Prints, at least 5” x 7” in size, should be mounted, with the title and photographer's name on the back. Instructions for submitting images in digital form are available on the club’s website: http://photoclub.berrienspringsmi.us  .

All are welcome, either to observe or to join. Anyone who wishes to join may submit photos to the competition, up to 10 projected images and/or 10 prints. Refreshments will be served.

Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library Offers Free Books for Pre-schoolers

What is Imagination Library?
United Way of Southwest Michigan brought Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library to Berrien and Cass Counties to help preschool children learn to LOVE reading! Children enrolled in Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library:

- receive a new, age-appropriate book mailed to their home each month from birth until they turn 5 years old,
- have their own library of books by the time they enter kindergarten, and
- are more prepared to enter school and become readers.

Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library is a FREE GIFT to children. There are no income or eligibility requirements. To register online visit www.uwsm.org/dpil or call 269-982-1700 ext. 12 for an information packet.
