United Way Campaign

Please read the following letter from our president, Niels-Erik Andreasen, concerning the United Way campaign. The program is now at $3,700 of a $10,000 goal, and is in need of more support.

Dear Colleagues:

We are in the midst of our annual support of United Way. The money we and other local institutions provide stays in the area and helps local agencies, schools and support systems meet needs involving families, single parents, children and others who have run into hard times. Some members of our own University family have over the years benefitted from United Way programs. For more information on United Way of Southwest Michigan, please visit http://www.uwsm.org/.

While your participation is completely voluntary, I do encourage you to participate again this year. Pledge forms were sent out three weeks ago and can be remitted to Dalry Payne in the Office of the President (0670). If you would like another form or have a question, feel free to contact Dalry, who has volunteered again this year to coordinate our United Way campaign.

Sincerely,

Niels-Erik Andreasen
President

Adventist Engaged Encounter

November 11-13, 2011
March 2-4, 2012
Held on the campus of Andrews University

Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE), an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, offers couples the insights, tools, and confidence to enrich their relationship and strengthen their love and commitment for one another. For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage. The invaluable weekend experience is being held on the Andrews University campus. AEE will take place the weekends of November 11 - 13, 2011 and March 2 - 4, 2012. For registration information, contact the Undergraduate Leadership Program at Andrews University at aee@andrews.edu or 269-471-6636.
Vespers with Missionary from Haiti
Friday, Oct. 14, 6 p.m.
Chemistry Amphitheater
Halenz Hall, Science Complex

The Department of Medical Laboratory Sciences would like to invite everyone—Andrews students, faculty, staff and the community—to a very special vespers on Friday, October 14, 2011, at 6 p.m. in the Halenz Hall Chemistry Amphitheater. Our guest speaker is Brittany Blair, MLS(ASCP), a 2010 graduate of the Andrews University Medical Laboratory Sciences (MLS) Program currently serving as a missionary in the Hospital Adventiste d’Haïti, Haiti.

Please join us as Ms. Blair shares her experiences, trials and victories in serving the Haitian people. The MLS department and others have been supporting her and the laboratory in Hospital Adventiste d’Haïti in various ways. If you would like to personally contribute to this mission endeavor, please bring $1 toward the purchase of plastic storage boxes unavailable in Haiti and desperately needed by the laboratory.

Following the vespers, refreshments will be served. There will be an opportunity for questions and time to meet with our special guest.

Presentation on International Theological Libraries
Tuesday, Oct. 18
7 p.m., Seminary Weniger Auditorium

James White Library will present information about theological libraries on Tuesday, Oct. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Seminary Weniger Auditorium. The presentation is entitled "The Surprising International Theological Library: Challenges and Opportunities" and it will be led out by Nancy Vyhmeister.

Theological libraries are an integral part of preparation for ministry. How each library works is very different in every seminary or school of theology. These libraries contribute to the education of young people for Christian service. We need to look for the opportunities they provide, as well as the challenges that we so readily see.

All are invited to come and join the lecture.

Spring Tour to China

If you’ve ever wished to visit China and see some of the famous places you’ve read or heard about, now is the perfect time to go! There will be a planned tour to China from May 7–24, 2012. This opportunity allows you to go with an experienced tour guide, Xiaoming Xu, who has already spent 13 years as a tour guide for China International Travel Services in her native land.

The tour includes cities such as Beijing, Xian, Tibet, Kunming and Tunxi. Some of the highlights of the trip involve visiting historical landmarks such as the Great Wall and the Forbidden City, experiencing tea houses and palaces, and enjoying scenic gardens and countrysides.

Xiaoming will arrange for visas, and the tour fee takes into account the bus ride to the South Bend airport, all air travel, accommodations and meals for each day. For more information, please contact Xiaoming Xu at 269-471-3858 or xu.5253@hotmail.com.

Andrews Receives Rankings and Enrollment Rises
The rankings are out, and once again Andrews University has been ranked on both U.S. News and World Report’s “Best Colleges 2012” and Forbes.com’s “America’s Top Colleges.”

One of only 262 schools in the country considered National Universities, Andrews University is one of 98 private institutions so classified and the only Seventh-day Adventist school to make U.S. News and World Report’s “Best Colleges 2012” list.

Andrews University made a few other U.S. News & World Report college ranking lists, too: with a diversity index of .71, the University tied for 5th in Campus Ethnic Diversity. (The closer a school’s number is to 1.0, the more diverse it is.) And with 12% of our student body composed of international students, Andrews tied for 8th in Most International Students.

Forbes.com also ranked Andrews University #545 in “America’s Top Colleges,” a compilation of the 650 best educational institutions (out of more than 6,000) across the country. Forbes gives an overall rating and smaller subcategory ratings; Andrews University also made the lists “Best Private Colleges,” “Best Research Universities” and “Best in the Midwest.”

The University has also seen an increase in enrollment, with 3,547 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students on campus this September, the second highest ever. Last year’s enrollment as of Census Day was 3,487. Total credit hours being taken this fall are at an all-time high. The 2011–2012 enrollment is almost evenly split between undergraduate and graduate students, with 1,844 undergraduate students and 1,618 graduate students including ministerial and professional degrees.

Logos Bible Software Releases Digital ASB
The Andrews Study Bible will soon be available as a digital product through a partnership between Andrews University and Logos Bible Software, the largest developer of software for the Christian market and a worldwide leader in multilingual electronic publishing.

"Getting the Andrews Study Bible from Logos Bible Software is an easy process," said Erno Gyeresi, associate director of Andrews University Press and managing editor of the Andrews Study Bible product line. "All you have to do is connect with Logos on the web (www.Logos.com/AndrewsStudyBible ) from a desk-based computer or download an app for a mobile device, register as a customer, and purchase the product."

Gyeresi said that new Logos Bible Software customers would want to purchase the complete package of the Andrews Study Bible, along with the New King James Version of the Bible. The package retails for $39.95.

Current Logos customers who may already have the New King James Version from Logos in their digital library will only need to buy the Andrews Study Bible Notes product, which includes all original content in the Andrews Study Bible. That retails for $29.95.

"At the beginning of the Andrews Study Bible project, we promised Adventist church leaders, who helped make it all happen, that we would produce a retail edition, an outreach edition and a digital edition," Andreasen said. "We're pleased to report that with the release of this digital edition we have delivered on all three promises."

Herald Palladium: Lessons Learned from BP Spill
Three EPA chemists presented a lecture at the Chemistry amphitheater on Thursday, Sept. 29, at 4:30 p.m. The three chemists, Dennis Wesolowski, David Schroeder and Lawrence Zintek, were from the federal Environmental Protection Agency’s Chicago regional office and were among the many government and private experts called into quick action after the spill in the Gulf of Mexico occurred April 20, 2010. They discussed the quick work they did with a dispersant and cited the collaboration among many people in response to the environmental disaster. Read the full story here.

Lessons learned from BP spill

Three EPA chemists talk about the quick work they did with a dispersant and cite the collaboration among many people to the environmental disaster

By DEBRA HIGHT - H-P Correspondent
Published: Saturday, October 1, 2011 1:07 PM EDT

BERRIEN SPRINGS - What does a chemical used as an additive in everything from ice cream to laxatives have to do with the BP Deepwater Horizon explosion and spill?

Quite a bit, according to chemists speaking Thursday at Andrews University.

The three chemists, Dennis Wesolowski, David Schroeder and Lawrence Zintek, are from the federal Environmental Protection Agency's Chicago regional office and were among the many government and private experts called into quick action after the spill in the Gulf of Mexico occurred April 20, 2010.

The additive in question is a chemical called dioctyl sulfosuccinate and ended up being one of the main chemicals used to disperse the oil in the gulf and on and near the shoreline.

The three chemists' job was to develop a method to test for the presence of the dispersant in the samples taken from in and around the Gulf shoreline, because the dispersant itself could potentially have an impact on the environment.

Schroeder said the dioctyl sulfosuccinate was chosen as one of the dispersants because it was known to break up oil and had a low toxicity.

In all, more than 2 million gallons of it were used to break up the oil from mid-May to mid-July 2010.

In comparison, the broken wellhead was spewing more than 2 million gallons of oil every day until it was capped.

Speeded response

Schroeder said the work they typically do over years to develop methods for analysis were greatly speeded up to respond to the BP disaster.

"The method was developed in a period of 34 days," he said.

"Under normal conditions, the analysis can go on for years.

"At the beginning, we had no idea of where the information would be going. Now, it can be reproduced and used in other situations using the method we developed. We were able to take samples, analyze them and get results in less than one day."

Wesolowski said several lessons were learned from the response to the Deepwater spill, including the importance of collaboration and communication.

"People think experts should have the answers, and here, the answers weren't there," he said. "Something like this hadn't happened before."
New methods

He said their office's work played an important role in the recovery effort, because the testing and analysis methods they developed allowed people to test for the existence of the dispersants in the water and along the shore.

"It was a near-shore problem to see how the oil and dispersants might affect the fisheries along the shoreline," Wesolowski said. "If we could show that this stuff was not there, there wouldn't be as much of a threat."

He said that, while people usually only hear about glitches in communications among government officials and others, people at all levels of government and in private business were working together and exchanging information.

He thinks what the government learned in responding to the BP disaster will help in the future.

"Now, we can use the analytical techniques we developed to help in other situations," Wesolowski said. "It was also a good exercise to do stuff in a real quick time frame and mobilize resources."

The three chemists also spoke about the Chicago region office's other work, including efforts to keep Asian carp out of the Great Lakes.

The lecture was one in a series of 11 scheduled for this semester by the Andrews chemistry department. They will be held every Thursday through Nov. 10 at 4:30 p.m. in the Chemistry lecture hall in the Science Complex.

Next Thursday's topic is "Chemistry in the Movies" and will be presented by Mark Griep, a professor at the University of Nebraska.

Andrews Assistant Professor of Chemistry Desmond Murray said the purpose of the lectures and seminars is to provide cutting-edge information about chemistry subjects, give students a better idea of chemistry careers and offer the public information about science and research.

Passing of Richard Orrison

Richard Orrison passed away on Wednesday, Sept. 7. He spent 37 years of his career with Andrews University, as principal of Andrews Academy and then a professor in the School of Education.

Visitation will be at Andrews Academy on Friday, Sept. 9, from 5-8 p.m. There will be a short service from 6-6:30 p.m. Friday evening in the Richard T. Orrison Chapel. The funeral service for Dr. Orrison will be Sabbath afternoon, Sept. 10, at 4 p.m. at Pioneer Memorial Church. In lieu of flowers, memorial gifts may be made to the Richard T. Orrison Endowment Fund at Andrews Academy. Allred Funeral Home is handling arrangements.

Watch the service live by clicking below. Video will begin at 4 p.m. with the service prelude.

Comments

Buzz as I knew him, see I grow up in the same church he did and my mother thought of him and his sisters as part of our family. When my mom died at the age of 52, he sang at her funeral we all know what a great voice he had that was 48 years ago. May God bless his family during this time of great loss. May we all look forward to seeing him again when God comes back.

He leaves a track worthy to follow as a friend and mentor of young people. He always treated us with kindness and had a ready smile. I especially enjoyed taking his history tours in academy. My sympathies go to the family. May God sustain you during this time of great loss.

It is so sad to hear of Dr O's passing! He was such a great man with so much passion for his job & the people around him! I will never forget him as he always had me play piano @ the academy’s functions, ESP last minute as he knew that I could never say NO to him! My last meeting with him was 5 yrs ago when he asked me to participate in the AA Alumni Weekend! I was hoping to see him again next month for the alumni homecoming! Rest in peace Dr O. You have done great work on this earth & you have touched many lives! We will miss you...

Vespers with Missionary from Haiti

Friday, Oct. 14, 6 p.m.
Chemistry Amphitheater
Halenz Hall, Science Complex

The Department of Medical Laboratory Sciences would like to invite everyone—Andrews students, faculty, staff and the community—to a very special vespers on Friday, October 14, 2011, at 6 p.m. in the Halenz Hall Chemistry Amphitheater. Our guest speaker is Brittany Blair, MLS(ASCP), a 2010 graduate of the Andrews University Medical Laboratory Sciences (MLS) Program currently serving as a missionary in the Hospital Adventiste d’Haïti, Haiti.

Please join us as Ms. Blair shares her experiences, trials and victories in serving the Haitian people. The MLS department and others have been supporting her and the laboratory in Hospital Adventiste d’Haïti in various ways. If you would like to personally contribute to this mission endeavor, please bring $1 toward the purchase of plastic storage boxes unavailable in Haiti and desperately needed by the laboratory.

Following the vespers, refreshments will be served. There will be an opportunity for questions and time to meet with our special guest.

ATTN: Students on a meal plan or have an account for use at the Andrews Bookstore or ITS accounts associated with their ID Card:

If you lose your ID card, stop by the Office of Dining Services to have it put on "Lost" status. This ensures no one else is able to use your card to make purchases. You also need to report it as lost:

www.andrews.edu/go/myid

If you have a meal plan and have lost your ID card, the Office of Dining Services can provide a temporary meal ticket ($25 deducted from their meal plan +$2 fee). This allows you to still be able to charge meals to your account until you replace your card.

Questions? The Office of Dining Services is open from 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Monday-Thursday, and 9 a.m.-noon on Fridays. You can also call 269-471-3161.

Free Black Kitten

Free black kitten to a loving family or individual. She is about 6 or 7 weeks old, litter box trained, playful and friendly to a fault. Litter box and kitten food are also free. She is from a farm nearby and her mother died about 1 week ago. We would rather keep her but cannot because of our existing alpha-female cat. Call for more details.
