Sign up for the Waldensian Study Tour

Tour dates: Jun 10–20, 2012
Lecture dates: TBA Spring Semester
Deadline to sign-up: Feb. 1
Deadline for financial clearance: April 1

Travel to the ancient home of the Waldenses in the Piedmonts of Northern Italy June 10–20. Persons who wish to take this 3 credit class will need to contact Kathleen Demsky, director of the Architecture Resource Center (471-2418 or demskyk@andrews.edu). All costs for the trip are covered by registration for RELG 360-041 (the same cost as a 3 credit class on Andrews campus plus a $250 deposit).

The class is divided into two sessions.

Session One: Class Lectures
Class lectures, held in the School of Architecture, Art & Design, will meet 7 times during spring semester (Thursday evenings at 5:30 p.m., or other times by request), to study the background of these ancient people and gain an understanding of why their lives of faith and sacrifices are important to us today.

Session Two: Travel to Italy
Held on site in the Piedmonts of Italy. The purpose for the study of this topic is to bring to the student not only the historical and spiritual perspective, but also a personal experience of faith. Throughout this journey, the student is challenged to assess his or her own spiritual development and courage throughout life. In the Piedmonts we journey through time, walking the sacred sites, gaining deeper insights into the historical aspects and applying them to personal spiritual growth along with a love of Biblical truth, and an unflinching courage to stand—whatever the cost. There are a few places still open for this journey and they will be awarded on a first come basis.

Revive Vespers
Friday, Jan. 27
7:30 p.m., Biology Amphitheater

This month, Revive is dedicated to the work of evangelism in the end times. The speaker for this Friday vespers is Kamil Metz. Kamil is the director of the Publishing Ministry of the Michigan SDA Conference and he will be giving a presentation on the history of adventist publishing and literature evangelism. This will be a transformational experience as we will discover the plans God has to use this branch of ministry in the finishing of the work. My Andrews Experience Video Competition

Produce an original video clip between 30 seconds and 1 minute in length and win cash prizes!

Who is eligible: This competition is open to Andrews University students, alumni and friends
Deadline: April 2, 2012
Project Theme: My Andrews Experience (Two Categories)

To participate in this contest you will need to create and submit an original video clip anywhere between 30 seconds to 1 minute in length. The clip must use original music and content owned by you or royalty-free music. All Andrews University students, alumni and friends are eligible to participate.

We are looking for creative video representations of your Andrews Experience (current or past). How did the Andrews academic experience impact your life while you were here or how it is currently impacting you? How do newly built or renovated facilities (such as Buller/Damazo/Campus Center) impact your educational or social experience in a positive way? What would the addition of a new sports/recreation/wellness facility mean to you as a student, alum or community member?

Newly Renamed School of Architecture, Art & Design Offering 3 New Programs

Beginning in the 2012-13 academic year, the School of Architecture will become the School of Architecture, Art & Design. Three new degree programs, Interior Design, Construction Management and Documentary Film, will be added to the school's offerings.

According to Carey Carscallen, dean of the School of Architecture, Art & Design, no other Seventh-day Adventist educational institution offers a four-year degree in building construction management or any programs focused on interior design.

"The church needs workers who understand its beliefs of simplicity, creativity, building and designing for the glory of God. Like other secular universities with construction management and interior design programs, our students will gain understanding of everything related to the profession. However, unlike others, they will also have the opportunity to participate in community service, outreach, mission work and even the opportunity to study abroad," says Carscallen.

The construction management degree will prepare students to plan, direct and coordinate a variety of projects, from residential to commercial, and everything from roads and bridges to schools and hospitals. Students pursuing the construction management degree will be required to have a minor in business administration.

Interior design students will learn to apply creative and technical solutions within a structure to create functional and aesthetically pleasing interior spaces.

"We will endeavor to teach our students the value of simplicity and creativity in design; how to compliment the architecture of any given project; and to utilize good judgment and frugality in regard to appropriateness of material selection," says Paula Dronen, assistant dean of the School of Architecture, Art & Design.

The new Department of Visual Art & Design in the School of Architecture, Art & Design is also introducing a new degree in Documentary Film. This program will be ideally suited for those interested in storytelling. It will combine the foundation of documentary theory, film history, storyboarding, editing, compositing and sound creation, all while providing the students with a conceptual framework to use their skills to serve others.

Rhonda Root, chair of the Department of Visual Art & Design, says, "Our department is always seeking to stay up-to-date with advancements in the fine arts. We want to provide our students with the highest quality fine art education and career preparation possible."

The Department of Art & Visual Design will continue to offer students a number of other degree options: a BA in Fine Art and Art History; a BFA in Fine Art, Illustration, Graphic Design, Pre-Art Therapy and Art Direction/Advertising; a BS in Visual Art Education; a BFA in Commercial Photography and Fine Art Photography.

The addition of these three new area of study not only strengthen the academic offerings of the new School of Architecture, Art & Design, but also bring expanded opportunities for service to Andrews University students.

"These programs offer new opportunities to bring construction management, interior design and documentary film skills to our mission outreach," says Carscallen.

Memo from President Niels-Erik Andreasen: Organizational Changes

After extensive discussion and planning within academic administration, the following organizational changes in the University's academic programs have emerged. The Andrews University Board of Trustees has already approved most of these. Full implementation is anticipated during this year and the changes will be reflected in the 2012-2013 academic bulletin.

School of Health Professions in Progress

A new School of Health Professions will be established. The search for a dean of the School of Health Professions is underway. The following departments will transfer from the College of Arts & Sciences to this new school: Nursing, Physical Therapy, Clinical Laboratory Sciences, Speech-Language Pathology & Audiology, and Nutrition & Wellness. It is anticipated that for the time being the new dean's office will be located near one of these departments. This is a longstanding initiative that is now being implemented with a view to strengthening the health professions departments.

New Name, New Degrees: School of Architecture, Art & Design

The School of Architecture has been authorized by the board to expand its educational services by adding programs in interior design and construction management. Additionally, it will be the new home for the consolidated programs of digital imaging, photography, art and design, including the newly approved program in documentary film. In recent years the chair, faculty and students of these programs have been dispersed between the College of Arts & Sciences, College of Technology and School of Architecture. They will now be consolidated in one school with the expectation that this will bring more unity to these programs. Accordingly, the name of the school will change to School of Architecture, Art & Design.

Closing of the College of Technology

The College of Technology has changed in a number of ways over the years. For example, technology courses in auto mechanics, construction, wood and metal have closed. Other programs have changed into entities of their own, i.e., engineering tech into engineering; computer studies into computer engineering, now a part of engineering; and architecture into a school of its own. Two other programs have developed significantly in terms of new facilities and services, namely agriculture and aeronautics. In light of this, the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Aeronautics will now relate directly to the Office of the Provost. The Office of the Provost will be supported in this regard by an Assistant to the Provost, a position that is replacing the position of dean of the College of Technology. Verlyn Benson, who has served as the dean of the College of Technology, will assume this position. These two departments operate business enterprises, namely the Andrews Farm & Dairy and the Andrews Airpark. A center will be established to expand these economic and business enterprises both locally in Southwest Michigan and internationally, where the Departments of Agriculture and Aeronautics are already active. These external initiatives will relate to the Office of the President through a position of Assistant to the President, held by the same individual. Such collaboration between educational institutions and their communities are common in our time and hold promise for the parties involved.

College of Arts & Sciences Becomes Smaller

Finally, the College of Arts & Sciences will become smaller. It will give up six departments: five to the School of Health Professions and one to the School of Architecture, Art & Design. However, it has added the Department of Engineering & Computer Science, which is closely aligned with the natural sciences and is expected to grow into a leading program. Moreover, the College of Arts & Sciences has become the new home for the master's in international development with 300-400 students, mostly off-campus. The College of Arts & Sciences will also continue to provide most of the courses in general studies and honors. No organizational changes are proposed for the remaining schools of the University. However, their internal organization may well need some adjustment to prepare for the full impact of the Griggs University programs, many of which will likely become Andrews programs in the foreseeable future.

General Secretary of National Council of Churches to Speak at Seminary Symposium

The Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary welcomes Rev. Dr. Michael Kinnamon, general secretary of the National Council of Churches, as the keynote speaker for the annual Seminary Scholarship Symposium. The symposium is held at the Seminary on the campus of Andrews University and runs from Jan. 31-Feb. 3, 2012. The symposium is free and open to the public.

Kinnamon is a prominent religious leader in the United States. He is a clergyman in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and a well-known ecumenical leader and educator, as well as the Allen and Dottie Miller Professor of Mission, Peace, and Ecumenical Studies at Eden Theological Seminary in Lexington, Ky. Previously, he served as the general secretary of the Consultation on Church Union and executive secretary of the World Council of Church’s Commission on Faith and Order. Kinnamon earned his PhD from the University of Chicago Divinity School.

A prominent member of the Ecumenical Movement, Kinnamon firmly believes in the need for unity in the church and works hard to build that unity. "The church is where the Spirit is," he says. "Look for that when we sit around these tables. Trust that the Spirit has claimed these others. Getting to know one another builds that trust. This is how we deal with ongoing conflicts—not as a political caucus, but as sisters and brothers."

The Seminary Scholarship Symposium begins Tuesday, Jan. 31, with a 10:30 a.m. Recognition Assembly in the Seminary Chapel. This assembly will celebrate selected publications of Seminary faculty in 2011, as well as present the names of those receiving the Augsburger Excellence in Teaching Award and the Horn Excellence in Research Award.

On Thursday, Feb. 2, Kinnamon will present "The Gospel of Reconciled Community" at 10:30 a.m. and a plenary address, "The Ecumenical Movement and Why You Should Be Involved," at 7 p.m. Both events will take place in the Seminary Chapel. Prior to the plenary speech on Thursday there will be a reception and poster session in the Seminary Commons from 6–7 p.m. The symposium will conclude on Friday, Feb. 3, with two scholarly paper presentations and another poster session. Friday’s presentations begin at 9 a.m. and...

Preventing Vehicle Theft

The intent of this article is to focus on prevention and how we can minimize error. Forty to fifty percent of vehicle theft is due to driver error.

A recent news clip (NBC Nightly News) reported that cars are being driven an average of 10.8 years according to the automotive market research firm of R. L. Polk & Co. Therefore, it can be said the possession of a car is an important aspect of a daily life routine. It is ownership, collateral and a means of getting from point to point such as work, school, shopping needs, etc.

The criminal mind seeks a target, possesses a desire (drive, intent and motivation), and then looks for an opportunity. Therefore, let’s reduce opportunity.

- Park your car in a visible area
- Your parked car should have the windows and sunroof closed and doors locked.
- Do not provide opportunities for these thieves by having valuables in plain sight such as purses, loose change, electronic equipment, etc.

Report suspicious behavior in parking lots either to our local police department (911 – emergency or non-emergency 269-471-2813) or the Office of Campus Safety (269-471-3321).

The safety and security of our campus depends on everyone’s participation.

Grace Bible duo combines for 42 points in win over Andrews University

WYOMING — The Grace Bible College men’s basketball team raised National Christian College Athletic Association Division II national championship banners each of the past three seasons in large part because of the performance of former national player of the year Allen Durham.

In their bid for a fourth consecutive title, the Tigers are getting important contributions from the entire lineup.

John Oostema and Ryan Dame combined for 42 points to lead Grace Bible to an 80-72 win against Andrews University in front of a few hundred fans Thursday night at Aldrich Athletic Center.

“On any given night, any player can score big for us,” Grace Bible coach Gary Bailey said. “Every guy here loved Allen Durham and they loved playing with him, but everyone can step up for us this season.”

Oostema, a 6-foot senior guard from Grand Rapids Christian, scored a team-high 25 points, including seven 3-pointers, as the Tigers (15-7) returned to their home court for the first time since Dec. 3.

He made three 3-pointers in the opening minutes of the contest.

“Anybody can get hot on this team,” Oostema said. "We have confidence in everybody.”

Dame, a multi-talented 6-7 junior forward from Wayland, put together a strong all-around performance, finishing with 17 points, 10 rebounds, five assists, three blocked shots and no turnovers.

“I think it’s fun when we can move the ball around and get everybody some looks. It’s a good way to get everybody involved,” Dame said. “We’re really coming together as a team. The guys know their roles, and we’re capable (of making another national championship run). I’m confident we’re going to get there.”

The Tigers had to redefine a lot of roles on the team this season.

Instead of providing a supporting cast for Durham, a late bloomer at Wyoming Park High School who turned into Grace Bible’s all-time leading scorer, rebounder and shot blocker, the returning players had to pick up the slack in a lot of places. Oostema said those roles are being defined in the second half of this season.

“At the beginning of the year, coach let us run free a lot of the time and let us determine our roles. I think we’re starting to feel more comfortable who we go to down the stretch in tight games," he said.

"We're proving to be a tough team."

In a tight first half Thursday night, senior point guard Cory Jamieson, of Wayland, stepped up for the Tigers, making a pair of clutch 3-pointers to give Grace Bible a 42-39 lead at the intermission. He finished with 13 points.

In the second half, Andrews, the defending United States Collegiate Athletic Association Division II national champion, made a late run to trim the deficit to 70-69, but the Tigers tightened their defense.

Matt Kurtz, a senior guard from Lowell, hustled and scored off an offensive rebound and Oostema nailed the last of his 3-point shots with 1:18 remaining in regulation to hold off the Cardinals.

Kurtz had 11 points and senior center Ryan Krombeen (Calvin Christian), who had a strong defensive sequence midway through the second half, added seven points, six rebounds, five assists and one steal.

Grace Bible improved to 16-0 all-time against Andrews.

The Tigers, ranked No. 1 in NJCAA-II since January 2009, face a showdown against crosstown rival and fourth-ranked Kuyper College at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Boonstra Fitness Center on the Kuyper campus.

National Marriage Week: February 7-14

For many people, a new year brings resolutions to improve different aspects of their lives. Striving to maintain better physical or financial health is a worthy goal, but what about improving the health of relationships? National Marriage Week is February 7–14, 2012.

There are two things you can do now to strengthen your relationship:

1. Attend the PMC Couples Agape Celebration at 6 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 17, 2012. Registration deadline is February 8, and you can register by calling Sherrie Davis at 269-471-3134. This event is for married couples of all ages and costs $20 per couple. It will be sponsored by the Family Life Committee.

2. During the week of February 7–14, couples can go to www.CoupleCheckup.com and take the Checkup for the discounted price of $19.95 (regularly $29.95).

Female student needs roommate
I'm a quiet, responsible, tidy and friendly female student looking for a room within 15 minutes walking distance from Andrews University. My budget is $250-270 per month including utilities. Would prefer to stay with a female housemate or a family, and would like access to a washing machine and internet.
