The eighth annual Ellen White Issues Symposium will be held on March 26, 2012, at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. This year’s symposium takes as its theme Ellen White's prophetic gift and inspiration.

The featured speakers include Roger Dudley, professor emeritus and director of the Institute of Church Ministry; Jiri Moskala, professor of Old Testament exegesis and theology; Jud Lake, professor of preaching and Adventist studies at Southern Adventist University; Stan Patterson, chair of the Department of Christian Ministry and director of the Christian Leadership Center; and Katrina Blue, a doctoral candidate in theology and church history. Each lecture will be followed by a question-and-answer session; and the symposium will close with a discussion of Ellen White and current issues.

Dudley will open the symposium with his lecture, "Ellen White and Me." Jiri Moskala’s talk, "Can a Biblically Inspired Writer Use Literary Sources?" will explore the topic of White’s own inspiration. Jud Lake, who has recently published a book on Ellen White’s prophetic gift, will discuss "D.M. Canright, Ellen White, and Inspiration: A Crisis in the Making." After lunch, Stan Patterson will discuss "Ellen G. White on Leadership and Power," followed by Katrina Blue’s talk, "Threads from an Old Fabric," which will reveal new discoveries about the Holy flesh movement in Indiana from 1899–1901, and Ellen White’s response to the movement.

The symposium is sponsored by Andrews University, the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, the Department of Church History, the Center for Adventist Research and the Ellen G. White Estate, Inc. For more information about the symposium or to register, please visit www.andrews.edu/library/car/egwsymposium.html.

Art Exhibit and Book Signing with Greg Constantine

Tuesday, March 13
3-6 p.m., James White Library

Greg Constantine, retired professor of art from Andrews University, will have an art exhibit and book signing.
at the James White Library on Tues., March 13, 2012 from 3-6 p.m. Illustrations from his books When Big Artists Were Little Kids and Vincent Van Gogh Visits New York will be on display and presentations will be given at 3:30 and 5:15 p.m. For those who are interested, all six of Constantine's books will be available for purchase for $15 each.

Constantine's children's books give readers a brief glimpse into the young lives of famous painters and architects. Using all his own watercolor illustrations and text, Constantine presents 17 famous artists to readers of When Big Artists Were Little Kids. By attempting to answer such questions as why Seurat painted with dots and what Monet's nickname was, he suggests the possible influence certain childhood experiences had on famous artists. In Vincent Van Gogh Visits New York, Constantine uses imagination and some sophisticated humor to describe what might have happened if Van Gogh had visited New York City.

Constantine served as a professor of art for 46 years at Andrews University and is currently an artist-in-residence at the university. He has had 62 exhibitions at venues in both Europe and the United States, 18 of which were solo exhibitions in New York City. Additionally, Constantine wrote and illustrated six books, including When More Big Artists Were Little Kids, When Big Architects Were Little Kids and Leonardo Visits Los Angeles. Originally from Windsor, Ontario, Canada, he received his Bachelor of Arts from Andrews University in 1960 and his Master of Fine Arts degree from Michigan State University in 1968.

Battery Reclaim Program Introduced at Andrews
Andrews University values caring for the earth and participates in several recycling efforts that include keeping paper, aluminum cans, plastic bottles and electronics out of landfills. In February, battery recycling was added to that list. Todd Cook, a Master’s of Social Work student at Andrews University, and a retired chief petty officer and military veteran, is spearheading a battery recycling initiative on campus.

Ever since Cook visited a landfill and saw batteries and other contaminants leaking into the soil, he has been passionate about the subject of recycling. "It was very humbling," he says.

Cook purchased nine containers out of his own funds to get the Battery Reclaim Program launched. He painted each one bright green and placed the containers in the Administration Building, the Seminary, Meier Hall, the Department of Social Work lounge in Nethery Hall, Plant Service, the Andrews Bookstore, Lamson Hall and the James White Library.

"Batteries are a serious problem in landfills because some of the chemicals they contain (such as nickel and cadmium) are toxic and can pollute the soil and water they come in contact with," says Cook. "As Christians we should not only set the example of good faith, strong values, and high integrity and standards, but also should promote and advocate for the Planet Earth and future generations."

Andrews University takes part in the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Peer Audit Initiative and even served as a test site for the Peer Audit training. Paul Elder, manager of Plant Service, is committed to ensuring Andrews is in full compliance with all EPA regulations. Elder and Ben Panigot from the Office of Campus Safety are developing an Environmental Management System (EMS) for campus that will promote continual compliance to all EPA regulations.

"Part of the EMS includes promoting best practice guidelines for continual environmental improvements throughout campus," says Elder. "When Todd gave me the battery recycling proposal, it was clear to see this was in line with the EMS we are developing. I appreciate his initiative in making Andrews a more environmentally friendly campus."

Currently, Cook is running the program alone, however he is seeking dedicated volunteers to assist with the program. Presently, Cook collects the batteries once every two weeks or more as needed and drop them off at a battery recycling collection site, such as Lowe’s or RadioShack. The types of batteries accepted for recycling are AA, AAA, AAAA, 6V, 9V, C, D, watch, hearing aid, and rechargeable batteries, including those used in hand tools.

For more information or to volunteer to help, contact Todd Cook at cooktf@andrews.edu or 701-630-4142.
CM Radio's Internet Mission: Bringing Listeners Closer to Jesus

What was once a small online radio station operating off of just one computer in a single room, is now reaching out to encourage and inspire not only the campus and community of Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., but listeners from all over the world.

Using a $15,000 sponsorship from the North America Division of Seventh-Day Adventists Communication Department, CMRadio began as a ministry of the Center for Youth Evangelism at Andrews University in 2002. Originally focused on young adults, it was then known as AYRadio (Adventist Youth Radio) and housed on a single computer in a small office. It was quickly determined CMRadio had a ministry to share beyond campus. In 2005, AYRadio became CMRadio and moved into its permanent studio located in the Office of Campus Ministries in Andrews University Campus Center.

Four National Merit Scholarship Finalists at Andrews Academy

Andrews Academy is pleased to announce four students are finalists for the National Merit Scholarship Award this year. Each of them are four-year Andrews Academy seniors: brother and sister Jee Yeon and Seong Min Lee, originally from Korea; Ashley Reichert of Berrien Springs, Mich.; and Kyle Whiteside of Sodus, Mich.

“We want to congratulate our four National Merit finalists. We are so proud of each of them and of every member of the class of 2012,” says Robert Overstreet, principal of Andrews Academy. “We pray all of our students will continue to develop academically and spiritually throughout the rest of this school year and every year of their lives.”

The finalists in each year’s National Merit Scholarship program show exceptional academic ability and potential for success in rigorous college studies. Approximately 1.5 million students from 22,000 high schools entered the 2012 National Merit Scholarship program by taking the 2010 Preliminary SAT/National Merit scholarship Qualifying Tests (PSAT/NMSQT). These students are the highest-scoring entrants and represent less than 1 percent of each state’s high school seniors. The students now qualify for the National Merit Scholarships, which will be awarded in the spring of 2012.

Lake Union Headquarters Prepares to Relocate

In May of 2011, Andrews University purchased the Lake Union Conference (LUC) office complex, which is adjacent to the Andrews campus. This location is now the home for the new School of Distance Education, formerly Griggs University along with other University departments. The sales agreement allows the LUC office staff to temporarily consolidate their offices into the original building on U S Hwy 31 until a new office can be constructed. When completed, Andrews University will take full possession of the former LUC buildings and land.

An important step in the relocation took place on Monday, February 27, 2012, when a lengthy process to purchase 8.6 acres of land was completed. The new office location is on the west corner of M139 and Red Bud Trail, just one mile west of the Andrews Campus. LUC president Don Livesay comments: “Our new office will embrace the efficiencies of a smaller size and newer construction. We have intentionally chosen to remain close to Andrews University to keep our valued relationship strong.”

New Degree in International Agriculture Development

Did you know that in 2010 there were 925 million hungry people in the world? That is about 13% of the earth’s population. Poor nutrition plays a role in about 5 million child deaths per year. Although the world produces enough food to feed everyone, the poor often lack access to land and water to grow food, or income to purchase it.

Starting in Fall 2012, the Department of Agriculture will be offering a new degree in International Agriculture Development, designed to address issues related to global food security. The degree will provide students with hands-on training in agriculture and animal science, foundational courses in international development and public policy, and international experience through study tours and internships. Graduates will be prepared to work in government, the private sector or non-profit organizations, such as ADRA. Graduates will also be eligible to complete an MA in Community and International Development at Andrews University in only one additional year. For more information, contact the Department of Agriculture at agri@andrews.edu or call ext. 6006.

2012 Faculty-Staff Awards Presented

Date: March 7, 2012
Contact: pr@andrews.edu
Website: http://www.andrews.edu/news/2012/03/awards_night.html

The annual Faculty/Staff awards night, “Celebrating Excellence at Andrews University,” was held Sunday, March 4 at the Howard Performing Arts Center. Each year at this event faculty and staff are given recognition through the Years-of-Service Awards, Excellence in Service Awards, Spiritual Life Award, the Daniel A. Augsburger Excellence in Teaching Award and the Siegfried H. Horn Excellence in Research and Creative Scholarship Award.

Alayne Thorpe, dean of the School of Distance Education, served as the emcee for the night. “You may be surprised to see me up here because I’m a newbie,” Thorpe said. “But that’s indicative of how welcoming Andrews is.” She then gave special note to the Years of Service awardees in the 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 year categories who, together, have served dedicated a total of 1,250 years of service to Andrews University.

This year’s entertainment was the Golden Cardinal Awards, a humorous award that highlighted an aspect of the culture at Andrews University. These awards were purely for entertainment purposes. The eight different Golden Cardinal Award categories were: “Best Excuse for Not Attending Awards Event,” “Best Budget Reduction Idea,” “Best New Research Proposal,” “Best Dave in a Helmet,” “Best Transitional Office,” “Best Name for Gripping Andrews Integration,” and “Best Snow Removal Device.” For example, the nominees for “Best Budget Reduction Idea” included: Air Andrews for corporate travel needs; trading iPads for slates and chalk in Cabinet meetings; installing cans with string to replace traditional phones in Financial Records; use of felt to teach graphic design courses; supplementing the toilet paper supply with old magazines and bulletins; and becoming a Mac computer campus to eradicate the repair costs associated with PC’s. The award in this particular category went to the Andrews Airpark for the Air Andrews travel solution.

Dining Services catered a hors d’oeuvres buffet with an Italian themed menu including house-made bruschetta, breaded cheese ravioli and Sicilian pizza squares. A dessert buffet was available after the program and offered guests Italian gelato, mini-cheesecakes, mousse in chocolate cups and a tower of fresh fruit.

Siegfried H. Horn Excellence in Research and Creative Scholarship Award
This award was established in 2011 to honor Siegfried Horn’s legacy of scholarship and contribution to the field of biblical archaeology at Andrews University, and his impact upon the world church and the wider community of scholars. This award has been established to recognize the lifetime scholarship achievement of Andrews University faculty members. The chair of the Scholarly Research Council accepts nominations in four separate categories: Arts, Humanities and Education; Pure and Applied Sciences; Professional Programs; and Religion and Theology. Award recipients, who must be associate or full professors and full-time employees for a minimum of five years, were selected by the membership of the Scholarly Research Council.

This year’s recipients were: Steve Hansen, professor of art, College of Arts & Sciences for the area of Arts, Humanities & Education; Duane McBride, research professor of sociology and chair of the Department of Behavioral Sciences, College of Arts & Sciences for the area of Professional Programs; Jiri Moskala, professor of Old Testament Exegesis and Theology, Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary for the area of Religion & Theology; and Curtis VanderWaal, research professor of social work and chair of the Department of Social Work for the area of Pure and Applied Science.

Staff Excellence in Service Award
The recipients of this award are hourly or salaried full- or part-time staff who have served for at least three consecutive years, and have not previously received the award. The award is given in recognition of outstanding service to the University, the church, and the community, and for demonstrating, by precept and example, a Christ-centered life. This year’s recipients were Marvin Budd, database administrator, ITS; Mimi Weithers-Bruce, assistant to the provost, Office of the Provost; and Dean Snow, manager, Custodial Services.

Daniel A. Augsburger Excellence in Teaching Award
Eight faculty members received the Daniel A. Augsburger Excellence in Teaching Award. This award recognizes faculty whose teaching reflects the high standards of excellence modeled by Daniel A. Augsburger in his 60 years of teaching at Andrews University. Augsburger’s leadership, academic rigor, breadth of knowledge, teacher-scholar role, along with care and concern for students, exemplify the best of faculty endeavors. Faculty from each school nominate and choose their individual candidates.
This year’s recipients were: Rudi Bailey, professor of educational psychology, school psychology & special education, School of Education; Bruce Bauer, professor of world mission, Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary; José Goris, professor of management, School of Business Administration; Herbert Helm, professor of psychology, College of Arts & Sciences; Marcia Kibby, associate professor of medical laboratory sciences, College of Arts & Sciences; Glenn Russell, assistant professor of religion, College of Arts & Sciences; Martin Smith, assistant professor of architecture, School of Architecture, Art & Design; and Tiffany Summersonscales, assistant professor of physics, College of Arts & Sciences.

Spiritual Life Award
This award is bestowed upon any employee, faculty or staff, who has made a significant contribution to the spiritual life of campus. Names are considered and voted by the Spiritual Life Committee. This award was instituted in 2005. This year’s honoree, Ante Jeroncic, assistant professor of theology, has been a member of the Andrews University faculty since 2006. His commitment to scholastic excellence encourages his students to emulate him. A student says, "Dr. Jeroncic is one of the most important influences on the formation of my spiritual and intellectual self. His challenge to students to investigate why they hold their beliefs significantly impacted my conversion to Christianity by showing the way to a Christ-centered hermeneutic without pushing me away. Intellectually, he expected me to achieve my full potential and expected nothing less. This helped me improve greatly as both a thinker and a believer."

35 Years of Service Award
Thomas Baker has taught languages, history, religion and English at Andrews Academy since 1976. In addition to his teaching, he has directed many school plays, and served as chair of the Academic Affairs Committee, where he has consistently elevated the expectations of a well-rounded education for Academy students. He has also taken numerous student groups on study tours to Europe. Baker graduated from the University of Minnesota with a BA and holds master’s degree from Andrews University and Rice University in Houston, Texas.

Joseph Warren, associate professor of English, has taught at Andrews since 1976. Born in Greensboro, N.C., Warren graduated summa cum laude from Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala. He earned both a master’s and doctorate from Ohio State University where he concentrated in medieval, eighteenth century, American and ethnic literatures. He also completed training to be a certified trainer for the Developing Capable People Program founded by H. Stephen Glenn. He is active in mentoring African-American youth through his profession, in the local community and church community. He has been a passionate and creative leader in the University’s commemoration of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

30 Years of Service Awards
Ruth Gardner is manager and postmaster of Central Mail Service at Andrews University. Ruth earned an associate’s degree from Andrews in 1983 and started working at the post office in 1991. In a previous position on campus she worked as insurance clerk. Through her tenure at the Post Office and in insurance, Ruth has provided thorough, careful service to the entire campus. Ruth is known by her colleagues to expect hard work, but also adds a dash of fun to relieve the tedium of repetitive work. She and her husband, Richard, have put their four children through Adventist education, and instilled the same excellent work ethic in them.
Tari Popp graduated from Andrews University in 1981. She immediately began work as a Trust Accountant. She had previously worked in the Financial Services area as a student. So she's really finished 34 years of service to Andrews! She also worked as a Trust Officer and is presently director of the Office of Planned Giving & Trust Services. While other alumni have chosen to serve all over the world, Tari decided to put her roots down deep in Southwestern Michigan and contribute her talents and strengths to her alma mater. In her work with Trust Services, Tari has brought able leadership and stability, helping to give Andrews University a firm financial foundation for the future.

Jeane Robinson has served both Financial Administration and Plant Administration during her 30-year tenure at Andrews. She has a bachelor's degree from Union College and earned a master's degree at University of Colorado. Jeane's work has involved accounts receivable, firms ledger, and purchasing, through which she has assisted almost every department on campus in improving work spaces for employees and learning spaces for students. Most recently, Jeane coordinated the selection and purchasing of interior materials for the renovation of Nethery Hall and new spaces in Buller Hall.

Robert Schwab is professor of management, department chair and graduate advisor in the School of Business Administration. He earned a Bachelor of Arts from Atlantic Union College, a Master of Business Administration from Andrews University, and PhD from University of Oregon. He started his teaching career at Andrews and also chaired the Walla Walla University business department from 1985–93.

The awards portion of the evening also included recognition of employees with 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 years of service with the University.

What was once a small online radio station operating off of just one computer in a single room, is now reaching out to encourage and inspire not only the campus and community of Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., but listeners from all over the world.

Using a $15,000 sponsorship from the North America Division of Seventh-Day Adventists Communication Department, CMRadio began as a ministry of the Center for Youth Evangelism at Andrews University in 2002. Originally focused on young adults, it was then known as AYRadio (Adventist Youth Radio) and housed on a single computer in a small office. It was quickly determined CMRadio had a ministry to share beyond campus. In 2005, AYRadio became CMRadio and moved into its permanent studio located in the Office of Campus Ministries in Andrews University Campus Center.

Yet, CMRadio reaches much further than just the area around Andrews. The station has listeners on nearly every continent, from such varied places as Kenya, Australia, Japan, Argentina, the Bahamas, and the Netherlands. "It's amazing how far CMRadio reaches!" says Richard Parke, a volunteer who serves as station manager for CMRadio. "You can listen to it anywhere in the world at any time. All one needs is an Internet connection and you're immediately connected with Andrews."

"CMRadio's mission is to bring Jesus closer to the lives of its listeners through spiritually uplifting music and programming," says Parke. The station plays current Christian contemporary and gospel music, as well as music from some classic Christian artists like Michael W. Smith and Amy Grant.

CMRadio operates with the help of just a few committed volunteers. It is the only station that airs Andrews University Campus Chapel live throughout the school year. CMRadio's website also has interviews with artists who perform at the Howard Performing Arts Center such as Take 6, Committed and Sandi Patty.

In addition to providing Christian music, CMRadio offers several syndicated Christian programs including 20 the Countdown Magazine, Keep the Faith, and Walk the Way. Sabbath morning programs include Scriptural Pursuit, Your Story Hour and live audio from the worship service at Pioneer Memorial Church. In February 2012, CMRadio added a new program to their lineup called Under the Radar.

"Under the Radar highlights some of the best undiscovered and under-appreciated tunes from Christian artists," says Richard Parke, station manager for CMRadio. "Host David Trout shares stories, spiritual insight, and exclusive artist interviews to discover the depth of faith and creativity found in the music."

The day’s song lineup is posted on line, but listeners aren't tied to a pre-selected playlist. "Listeners are able to request a song and within the next three minutes, it will play!" says Lindsey Pratt, assistant station manager and a theology student at Andrews. Pratt is one of only four enthusiastic volunteers who donate their time and energy to CMRadio's mission of spreading the Word of God through the medium of music.

"It has been a blessing to work at CMRadio," says Pratt. "There is so much inspiring music that anyone can listen to online for free."

To learn more about CMRadio or to take the opportunity to listen in on your computer or mobile device, visit www.andrews.edu/go/cmradio.

Tomato Plants for Sale: Proceeds Support Congo Church Planter Missionaries

Spring is on the way, have you purchased your tomato seeds?

For years I have grown several varieties of tomatoes, way more than I have room to plant. So, I have given excess plants away to my neighbors, friends and tossed the rest in the garbage.

This year I am going to do something more positive by turning my excess plants into a Sabbath School Investment project.

If you want to reserve inexpensive healthy plants for May planting Email me. I will send you the list of six tomato varieties plus all the other vegetables you may want to grow from plants vs. seeds.

The plants, depending on size, will range from $1.00 - $2.50. They will be in peat pots that may be planted directly into your garden.

Do yourself a favor by eating the most delicious and nutritious vegetables possible on this earth plus save money while helping to support the Congo Church Planter missionaries.

Send your email to: helloworld1@comcast.net

Chuck Peck

P. S.
100% of the profit will support Congo Church Planter missionaries.
