Photo of the Week: Love fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables? This summer you can have fresh produce delivered to your door for 20 weeks, courtesy of Andrews University Student Gardens. The program begins on June 11 and continues through October 22. Subscribers can choose between a full share of produce (½ of a bushel) for $600 and a half share (1/3 of a bushel) for $400. Each basket includes at least six types of fresh produce, such as tomatoes, eggplant, melon, broccoli, corn, kale, carrots, cucumbers and peaches. Delivery is free within a 10-mile radius of the campus, but those who prefer can pick up their share on Friday mornings from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. at the local farm stand, which will be located at the Neighbor-to Neighbor parking lot at 9147 Hwy M-139 in Berrien Springs, Mich. There are only 60 slots available for this inaugural year of the produce subscription program. To subscribe, visit their website. For more information, call 269-471-6006 or email info@augardens.com.

Video Enforcement Being Utilized

The Andrews University Office of Campus Safety has seen an increase in the number of motorists failing to stop at stop signs on campus. This poses a risk for the large number of pedestrians on campus. Video enforcement, particularly at stop signs, is being utilized for enforcement and citations will be issued for motorists who fail to obey posted traffic signs.

Lakeland offers breastfeeding class

ST. JOSEPH - A breastfeeding class for mothers and fathers will be presented from 6-8:30 p.m. May 14 in the Lakeland Community Health Resource Library, at the Center for Outpatient Services, St. Joseph, 3900 Hollywood Road.

Lakeland HealthCare's certified lactation counselor will discuss breastfeeding from delivery room to postpartum, the use of breast pumps, weaning, returning to work, and other topics.

The cost for the breastfeeding class is $30, due at the time of registration. For more information or to register, call 556-2808.

Lakeland offers walk-in health screens

ST. JOSEPH - To help area residents learn about their possible risk factors, Lakeland HealthCare is offering walk-in wellness screenings at the Margaret Beckley Upton Center for Health Enhancement, at the Center for Outpatient Services, St. Joseph, 3900 Hollywood Road.

The following screenings are offered from 7:30-11:30 a.m. every Wednesday:

-- Cholesterol Lipid Panel (12-hour fasting cholesterol). This screening helps determine the risk of heart disease. Cost is $39.

-- Osteoporosis Health Screen (bone density screen). The Achilles Express uses ultrasound to evaluate bone status in the heel, providing a T-score for determining bone density. Cost is $29.

-- Body Composition Analysis (body fat percentage). Determines accurate body composition in less than 10 seconds, and an analysis calculates the amount of fat mass to be lost in order to achieve a healthy body fat percentage. Cost is $29.

Participants receive a free blood pressure screening with any paid service. The screenings are sponsored by the Margaret Beckley Upton Center for Health Enhancement at Lakeland HealthCare.

For more information on health screenings or if an appointment is preferred, please call 556-2808 or 866-260-7544.
Implications of aging ministers could challenge future staffing

May. 08, 2012 Silver Spring, Maryland, United States

Ansel Oliver/ANN

A recent review of pastoral demographics in the United States reveals that nearly 50 percent of Seventh-day Adventist ministers will reach retirement age within 10 years, a discovery that is prompting ministry officials to examine potential scenarios to address the coming dilemma.

Namely, will the denomination hire a new crop to replace retiring ministers, or will it urge much of its experienced, aging workforce to continue working longer than previously planned? Each option has its own advantages, and church leaders say they’re exploring a mix of both possible solutions.

Retirement age is considered 66.5 for the year 2022, according to the U.S. Social Security Administration.

The choice of whether to retain ministers past retirement age into their late 60s and early 70s keeps experienced ministers on staff, church leaders say, but it leaves several generations between pastors and the young adults and teens they minister to. Yet this demographic is small – leaders say the median age of an Adventist in North America is 56.

How leaders address the situation could affect everything from hiring requirements and remuneration policies to seminary tuition and the cultural needs of the region’s diverse congregants. All aspects of developing and supporting ministers could be up for analysis.

“We’re going to be looking at how we can have top-level quality pastors in this opportunity that’s presenting itself,” said Dave Gemmell, an associate director of the Ministerial Department of the church’s North American Division (NAD).

What’s certain is that leaders will explore how to renew recruiting efforts, sponsor more graduate students for theological training and develop the recently formed Board of Ministerial Education. Until recently, NAD was the only one of the denomination’s 13 world divisions without one. The board would offer additional formal training for practicing ministers.
"We have a good system of education, but we haven't historically had oversight of that in North America," said Ivan Williams, director of the NAD Ministerial Department.

A caveat

Church leaders noted that the above statistics on retirement age do not include “regional” conferences, church administrative units that oversee historically African-American congregations in the Central and Eastern U.S. There are nine regional conferences within the division’s total of 58 conferences and one attached field. About 25 percent of NAD members belong to regional conferences, according to statistics from the office of the NAD executive secretary.

Statistics for this survey were gleaned from records in the NAD Retirement office. Regional conferences operate under a separate retirement structure and comparable stats aren’t available as of yet.

The entire division has about 3,460 ordained ministers and 230 commissioned ministers. There are about 920 licensed ministers, typically college theology graduates who have yet to enter the seminary or seminary graduates yet to be ordained.

The 1.1 million Adventists in NAD live in the U.S., Canada, Bermuda, and the North Pacific islands that comprise the Guam-Micronesia Mission.

Hiring the trained

Addressing future staffing challenges in the U.S. also presents opportunities to examine other factors in hiring pastors. Ministerial leaders say they would like remuneration practices to better reflect a candidate’s training. Currently, wages are similar for a pastor who has a doctorate in ministry compared to a pastor who doesn’t have a college degree. That fact could lead NAD officials to consider making an adjustment in salary policies.

But that decision is ultimately up to leaders at divisions, unions and conferences. Fortin says a trend in the past decade is the increased hiring of pastors who don’t have a master’s degree in theology, and sometimes no college degree at all. A seminary professor said a study several years ago found that on average about four pastors in each local conference did not have a college degree.

This practice of filling pastoral slots with Bible workers who have completed a several-week training course actually violates the North American Division Working Policy. Section L 05 states that “educational requirement for entrance into the ordained ministry shall be the completion of the seven-year ministerial training program,” specifying that college graduates “shall attend the Andrews University Theological Seminary.” Exceptions are allowed for “age” and “unusual circumstances.”

Seminary leaders say an increasingly educated membership deserves educated pastors.

“Why would the ministry not need good, solid education when other professions in North America require good, solid education, whether it’s a lawyer or someone in the medical field?” Fortin said.
Denis Fortin, dean of the Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University, says trained pastors are needed to minister to professionals in their congregations. Church leaders are reviewing how to best train the next wave of future pastors.

One potential way to enforce the current hiring policy, Fortin said, could involve requiring a theological education before ordination or commissioning.

Who’s at the seminary now

Fortin said the seminary graduate program has about 350 to 400 students enrolled, depending on the semester, and about 100 graduate each year. Church leaders estimate that about 200 pastors per year will be needed to fill future vacancies.

Walt Williams, an NAD Ministerial Department associate director and director of the seminary’s InMinistry Center, said more second-career students are entering the seminary, many of whom are attractive hiring options to conferences seeking a candidate with more life experience.

The seminary continues to experience an ongoing shift in demographics. Nearly 20 percent of the seminary’s current enrollment of graduate students is women, up from 15 percent a decade ago, Fortin said.

Also, ethnic demographics of seminary graduate students have shifted slightly. Caucasians still make up the seminary’s largest ethnic group at about 35 to 40 percent, but Fortin said that figure is down from about 50 percent in the last decade. About one-third are Black, 15 percent are Hispanic and 12 percent are Asian, Fortin said.

Funding education

Another consideration up for review by NAD officials is which party will pay for a seminary student’s tuition. Williams said he has noticed a shift in the last 10 years: where conferences once hired college theology graduates for an internship and then sponsored the candidate at the seminary, they now increasingly hire seminary graduates.

Part of that shift may have resulted from an incentive program to motivate conferences to hire seminary graduates. Several years ago the division began offering increased subsidies to conferences to hire unsponsored graduates fresh from the seminary. Some conferences are increasingly waiting to earn the incentive rather than risking sponsorship on an undergrad, with graduates frequently getting nothing to offset their debt.

“Now you have more theology majors going straight to the seminary without that one- or two-year break of an internship, which was very valuable,” Williams said.

In many cases, it has also increased the debt load of more graduates. Now, only about one-third of seminary students are sponsored by conferences.

Division leaders want to reverse that trend. NAD now subsidizes the seminary’s graduate program... with about $3 million annually based on 200 students, with another $1 million of subsidies for unions and conferences to sponsor graduate students.

“We want more sponsored students,” said Tom Evans, NAD treasurer. “We don’t want conferences going to the seminary and hiring graduates at the last minute with the graduate having paid for everything.”

NAD Ministerial leaders say most of the conference hiring rate hinges on the economy. Williams, the ministerial associate director, said hiring has picked up some in the past year for the first time since the recession, but also proffered, “the floodgates have yet to open.”

Still, most graduates find jobs. Fortin said seminary research suggests that about 85 percent of newly minted pastors are hired “within a year or two.” Some of those positions are in chaplaincy and not in the traditional pastoral role at a congregation, he said.

Williams said he hopes that conference leaders continue to employ and train young pastors with a long-term focus in mind.

“Any farsighted conference that I’ve been in tends to hire younger pastors,” he said. “It’s going to take such courage to plan for the future.”

“But I understand the challenge of administrators who have older pastors on staff who want to remain employed.”
Passing of David Kuebler
David Kuebler of Berrien Springs, a longtime teacher at Ruth Murdoch Elementary School, passed away Sunday, May 6, 2012, at Lakeland Regional Medical Center in St. Joseph following a fall and complications. He was 75-years-old.

A memorial service was held Thursday, May 10, at Pioneer Memorial Church. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery, where Dave will be laid to rest next to his wife, Charlene, who died April 29, 2004. Obituary for Elly Helen Economou

Elly Helen Economou, 83, died Thursday, Feb. 9, at Lakeland Regional Medical Center in St. Joseph, Mich. A private burial service was held on Thursday, Feb. 16, at Rose Hill Cemetery in Berrien Springs, Mich. A memorial service in celebration of her life is scheduled for Saturday, March 24, at 4 p.m. in Pioneer Memorial Church on the campus of Andrews University.

She devoted her entire life to serving the Seventh-day Adventist Church and provided exceptional teaching at Andrews University full-time for 31 years and part-time for an additional two years after her retirement.

Elly Economou was born May 6, 1928, in Thessalonica, Greece, to George and Helen (Vrettopoulou) Economou. Most of her primary and secondary level studies were acquired at home under the guidance of private tutors. She spent six years in the Greek-French “Ecole d’Etudes Secondaires et Supérieures” of her native Thessalonica, where she graduated with special awards. She began higher education at the Anatolia Greek-American College and finished with honors. She came to the United States in 1962 and earned a BA in 1966 from Pacific Union College, Angwin, Calif., majoring in biblical and modern languages.

For graduate studies she came to Andrews University, where she earned a master’s degree in biblical languages in 1967. In 1972, she began post-graduate studies at the University of Strasbourg, France, where she deciphered a number of papyri dating back to approximately 300 B.C. for the National Library of Strasbourg. Before completing her PhD in December 1975, she also did research at the Ecumenical Institute of Bossey, Switzerland, and the archives of the World Council of Churches in Geneva. The title of her dissertation was “The Greek-Orthodox Church and her Relations with the Heterodox Churches.” It was characterized as a monumental work by the jury, which unanimously voted for its publication as a valuable contribution to the Ecumenical Movement.

Elly was fluent in English, French, German, Italian and Spanish as well as modern Greek. She also had knowledge of 10 other modern and ancient languages. She began her teaching duties at Andrews as an instructor in the University’s modern languages department and joined the Department of Religion & Biblical Languages in 1976.

She was a member of many professional organizations, including the Society of Biblical Literature, the Adventist Language Teachers Association, the American Association of University Professors, the American Academy of Religion and the International Religious Liberty Association. Economou was listed in a number of publications including the Dictionary of International Biographies, World Who’s Who of Women in Education, World Wide Academy of Scholars, Community Leaders and Noteworthy Americans, and Who’s Who of Women.

As a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church of her native Thessalonica, Elly served as an interpreter, youth leader, secretary, treasurer and writer. During her lifetime, Elly translated into Greek several religious books, including the Conflict of the Ages Series, and a number of other publications. She also wrote Beloved Enemy, her life story, published in 1968.

Elly was known for her exemplary generosity, evidenced by her legendary hospitality to thousands of students, community members and international guests over the years. She was an inspiring combination of the biblical Mary and Martha, known for both her love of learning and her joy of feeding guests in her home. She traveled extensively around the world, visiting 80 countries; observing and studying the cultural and historical backgrounds of other peoples, as well as their languages. She also enjoyed reading, writing, embroidery, photography and music.

Elly was predeceased by both of her parents. Her father George was an officer of the Greek Army and her mother Helen lived with her for many years at their home in Berrien Springs until her death in April 1994. Her brother Andreas, who still resided in Greece, died in October 2011. She is survived by her cousin Vasileios Papageorgiou, his wife Charikleia (Stergiou), and their son Dan Paris and daughter Evdoxia. A large host of former students, faculty and staff colleagues, and friends will miss her. “Rest well, until the resurrection morning.”

Valerie Phillips, Assistant to the Dean, Has Passed Away

Funeral Service Information for Valerie Phillips
The funeral for Dean Valerie Phillips will be at 5 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 21, 2012. The service will be held in the main sanctuary of Pioneer Memorial Church. Live video streaming of the service will be available for those unable to attend.

Dean Phillips was found deceased in her home on Wednesday, Dec. 21, 2011. The cause of death was hypertensive cardiovascular disease. Arrangements are being handled by Allred Funeral Home.

Valerie Phillips, Assistant to the Dean, Has Passed Away
Valerie Phillips, assistant to the dean for University Towers, was found deceased in her home this morning, Wednesday, Dec. 21. The cause of death is not yet known. She was 56-years-old.

Dean Phillips dedicated 31 years of her professional career to Andrews University. She joined the Andrews family in 1980, first as an assistant dean and, since 1986, as an associate dean of women for Lamson Hall. In August of 2011, she transitioned from Lamson Hall to serve as assistant to the dean for University Towers.

Valerie graduated in 1972 from Union Springs Academy in Union Springs, N.Y. She studied behavioral science, religion and English at Atlantic Union College, where she graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in 1978. During college, she worked as an aide at Worcester Memorial Hospital in Worcester, Mass. In 1978, Valerie took an assistant chaplain position at Battle Creek Sanitarium and Hospital where she stayed until 1980.
In 1980, Arlene Friestad, who was then dean of women at Lamson Hall, invited Valerie to speak at the first annual Womanhood Week at Andrews. Dean Friestad was so impressed by Valerie she invited her to join the residence hall staff at Lamson Hall.

Dean Phillips not only ministered to the ladies in her care at Andrews, she shared reflections and insights gained from her experiences as a regular columnist for the Adventist Review.

Valerie was known for her warm and compassionate spirit, her quick wit and exceptional wisdom, and care for her students. At the 2011 Faculty Staff Awards Banquet at Andrews University, Valerie was honored for 30 years of service. In her award tribute, Frances Faehner, vice president for Student Life, said of Valerie, "Among her many unique gifts, Valerie makes an intentional effort to note and remember the special interests (favorite food, collections, etc.) of her residents. She is known for countless acts of unexpected kindness that are especially meaningful to students missing the comforts of home and family."

Dean Phillips is survived by two sisters and one brother.

Funeral arrangements are pending. Additional information will be shared as it becomes available on the Andrews website.

Study the Bible in a Friendly Atmosphere
Begins Thursday, May 10
7-8:30 p.m., Visit our ThePassage website for details.

The Passage is different from a typical Christian congregation. We promote the daily study of God’s Word in the home. At its core, The Passage is organized into various relational groups that come together with a common missionary purpose. The Passage is part of a movement that develops, multiplies and plants Holistic Relational Groups, both locally and globally, in fulfillment of Christ’s vision and directive to:

- Build deep community with God and one another
- Equip and commission trained disciples to make disciples
- Meet needs, touch lives, and point the world to Jesus
- Teach the treasures of the God’s Word within a relational context of fellowship

If you are looking to make new friends and enjoy a healthy Christian environment, then our home worship group might be for you.

As such, I would like to make myself available to anyone who needs any help with any of the following:

- moving
- babysitting
- troubleshooting with computers
- grocery shopping/personal caretaking
- dogwatching/walking
- yard work
- heavy lifting
- general repair work

If I can be of help to you in any way, I'd be happy to do what I can if you can pay me at least enough for lunch for my wife and me.
Seeking Summer Rental
Looking for summer rental immediately through July 31. One or two bedroom apt, duplex or house and will consider a three bedroom. This is for a single individual without roommates. Willing to pay full month for May if I find apt. this week that I like. Please contact me at (317) 341-3239

Housekeeper Needed
An experienced housekeeper is needed to do general cleaning and laundry for a family in Berrien Springs. The housekeeper would also be needed for occasional babysitting. Please contact 941-993-3250 if you are interested.

Clearance Sale
I will be moving out for the summer and have some items that I would like put on sale. Items include:

- Toddler Mattress (relatively new)
- Toys
- Books
- Coats
- graduation gown and hat

Prices are negotiable.
