Renaissance Kids, an architecture day camp, is underway at the Andrews University School of Architecture, Art & Design. Mark Moreno, director of Renaissance Kids and associate professor of architecture, offers the kids a chance to design, sketch, draft and build their own designs. Kids in each session are crafting an element that will be incorporated into the final project completed during Session 6. The final project is a garden and seating area located in between the School of Architecture, Art & Design building and the Art & Design building. It will be a symbolic project, bridging together these two recently merged areas of campus. There were 23 students in Session 6, held June 18-22, with the remaining sessions full to capacity with a waiting list. (Photo by Darren Heslop)

Register for the 2012 Natural Remedies and Hydrotherapy Workshop
This year’s Natural Remedies and Hydrotherapy Workshop is scheduled for August 5–August 10 and is sponsored by the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. The focus will be on the skillful use of natural remedies, water and nutrition in times of illness and health. The workshop is limited to 60 participants so early registration is encouraged. Registration closes July 25.

A number of health and wellness professionals will be presenting: Agatha Thrash, MD, Uchee Pines Institute; Don Miller, ND, Uchee Pines Institute; David DeRose, MD, Weimar Center for Health & Education; Vicki Griffin, Michigan Conference Health Department; David Village, MSPT, Andrews University; and Gerard Damsteegt, workshop director, MPH, RD, Andrews University.

This five day workshop involves 30 hours of lectures and demonstrations along with hands-on labs. All participants who successfully complete the workshop will receive a certificate of achievement. Graduate credit (1-4 credit hours) is available for MA, MDiv, MAPMin students.
The lectures and labs will include topics such as how to treat the common cold or fever; charcoal therapy; use of garlic and other medicinal herbs; treating sprains and strains; hydrotherapy and the immune system; and much more.

Pastors and their spouses, health professionals and anyone who is interested in natural remedies or hydrotherapy is invited to attend this popular workshop. The workshop fee is $350. Repeat attendees and spouses are entitled to a 50 percent workshop fee discount (labs only if not full).

Lost item at Andrews University

Hi, my name is Slavisa Jankovic, student at Andrews University, and I lost my camera case on May 29, Tuesday, probably at Garden of Grace by PMC or in PMC itself but it has not been turned in neither to PMC nor Seminary lost/found. The case is black and has set of batteries and a charger in it along with few different kinds of cables. I also have some extra items in it which are so valuable to us since related to some precious family memories. Their worth, in terms of money, is not big but they are very valuable to us. So, please if you know something about this let me know. Thank you so much in advance.

My phone number is 269 471 6929, email slavisajankovic5@gmail.com; jankovic@andrews.edu

What is the secret to recruiting and retaining students from historically under-represented minority (URM) groups in STEM disciplines? New findings from the NSF-funded evaluation research study of the biology program at Andrews University have shed light on a confluence of factors that together contribute to the positive outcomes exhibited by students from this small faith-based institution that employs a relatively non-selective admission process.

School of Education Receives Continuing NCATE Accreditation

In May, the Andrews University School of Education received formal notification from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) of its continuing accreditation for initial teacher preparation and advanced preparation levels (School Counseling, School Psychology and K–12 Educational Leadership). Andrews University has held continuous accreditation with NCATE since 1973.

NCATE President Jim Cibulka stated in his letter, "Special congratulations are in order because the Unit Accreditation Board has cited no areas for improvement relative to any of the standards. This accreditation decision indicates that the unit and its programs meet rigorous standards set forth by the professional education community."

In November 2011, a five-member Board of Examiners committee and one member representing the Michigan Department of Education conducted a four-day site visit. During their campus visit, they interviewed some 170 administrators, School of Education and College of Arts & Sciences faculty members, teacher education candidates and alumni, and K–12 school partners. In addition, they evaluated all written program materials. The team then created a preliminary report based on the team’s review of all the evidence provided.

"This has been a five-year process of preparing evidence to meet the rigorous NCATE standards. This highly positive outcome—without any areas for improvement cited—reflects the hard work of our faculty and staff, and the extraordinary commitment of our students, alumni and partner schools, especially the College of Arts & Sciences," says Jim Jeffery, dean of the School of Education. "The accreditation process is so thorough that the entire community has to be engaged. We were extremely proud of the response from our Andrews community."

NCATE is the major authorized accrediting body recognized by the U.S. Department of Education for schools, colleges and departments of education that provide professional preparation for elementary and secondary teachers and other school professionals: school counselors, school psychologists, curriculum and instruction specialists and school principals. The Andrews University School of Education offers BA and BS degrees in elementary education, master’s degrees in school counseling, special education and K–12 educational leadership, the Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) and the EdS in school psychology. As well, the School of Education collaborates with the College of Arts & Sciences to jointly offer 18 secondary education majors and minors in fields ranging from the sciences to social studies.

Inaugural Ethics Oath Ceremony Held

On Friday, May 4, students graduating from the School of Business Administration took part in the inaugural Ethics Oath Ceremony in the Garber Auditorium of Chan Shun Hall. Twenty-two students voluntarily took the oath, pledging to work in an ethical manner for the great good: striving for Excellence, building Trust, being Honest, preserving Integrity, Character, and being good Stewards. Over the past decade, there have been numerous business-related scandals shedding light on unethical business practices. The School of Business Administration is committed to promoting a higher ethical standard for its students, branding itself as a business school focused on Christian Ethics. A celebration lunch in honor of the graduates was held immediately following the ceremony.

Renaissance Kids 2012

Registration is underway for Renaissance Kids, an architecture day camp for kids ages 5–16, held at the Andrews University School of Architecture, Art & Design. There are five weeklong sessions and one two-weeklong session offered during the months of June and July.

Kids get to experience hands-on fun with design, drafting, building, sketching, watercolors and more. While exploring the discipline and lessons of architecture, Renaissance Kids provides a fun array of hands-on projects through which children learn about history and culture, design concepts, the architect’s tools, construction and materials, community and citizenship.

Each year, students attending the two–week session (Session 6) have an opportunity to participate in a real-world building project. This year’s project (pending final approval process) is building a place on campus. In past years, students have contributed to design ideas and actually built a paved sitting area in front of the Curious Kids Museum in St. Joseph; constructed an arbor outside of the Andrews University School of Architecture, Art & Design; and created decorative pieces for and installed a Whisper Dish permanent exhibit at the Curious Kids Discovery Zone in St. Joseph, Mich.

Session 1: $140
June 11–15, 8:30 a.m.–12 p.m.
For ages 7–9
An overview of the new University strategic plan and a few key personnel changes were highlighted at President Niels-Erik Andreasen’s spring board briefing held on Monday, June 4, in Newbold Auditorium of Buller Hall.

The Board voted the new dean for the School of Health Professions, Emmanuel Rudatsikira. The School of Health Professions is the newest school at Andrews and now oversees all of the health-related areas: the Departments of Nursing, Physical Therapy, Medical Laboratory Sciences, Speech-Language Pathology & Audiology, and Nutrition & Wellness.

The Department of Biology in the College of Arts & Sciences is facing a unique staffing challenge with the simultaneous retirements of four long-time faculty. The Board voted two new faculty for the Department of Biology: Denise Smith, instructor of biology, effective July 1, 2012, and Daniel Gonzalez, assistant professor of biology, who is a deferred appointment effective July 1, 2013. Additionally, Thomas Goodwin, professor of paleobiology, was appointed the new chair of the Department of Biology. The board approval was accompanied by a request for Goodwin to be interviewed for a feature article in FOCUS overviewing the many changes in the department and Goodwin and the department’s commitment to continuing to bring science and faith together.

In the area of administration, the Board voted a change in the responsibility structure overseeing Enrollment Management and Integrated Marketing & Communication. Previously, Stephen Payne served as vice president for both of these areas. Effective July 1, 2012, Payne will serve as vice president of only Integrated Marketing & Communication while Randy Graves, formerly associate vice president, will become vice president of Enrollment Management.

"The decision was made between the provost and myself, that with Griggs University and the School of Distance Education coming on, along with the challenge of recruitment, to divide these two functions," said Andreasen. Payne will focus on branding and marketing of the University, while Graves will focus upon building enrollment on campus.

In the Provost’s Report, Andrea Luxton presented an overview of the University’s 2012-2017 Strategic Plan for the Board. The strategic plan is guided by seven strategic pillars: Quality, Faith Commitment, Service, Leadership, Community, Growth and Financial Resilience.

Larry Schalk, vice president for Financial Administration, gave a preliminary final report on operations for the current fiscal year. He then reported on the year-end state of operations as of April 30, 2012. The University budget did better than anticipated for the operations budget ending the year with $3.7 million instead of the projected $2.9 million. He noted that $1.7 million did not come from operations, but rather in the form of gifts: approximately $700,000 for the Undergraduate Learning Center and $1.2 million from the General Conference to help Andrews procure half of the Lake Union Conference building.

During a report from the President’s Council, the Board heard about the proposed Health & Wellness Center at Andrews. Initial approvals are complete on this project. Faculty and students from the School of Architecture, Art & Design are working to determine the optimal location for the center and the Office of Development is working with consultants on a fundraising feasibility plan.

Each time the Board convenes, a special presentation is given for the purpose of Board education. At the June meeting, Stephen Payne gave a presentation on Andrews’ use of social networking and recruitment.

The Board approved a Board Policy Manual, a document the Board Governance Committee recommended be created. This document lists all the duties and obligations of the constituency and of the Board itself. The policy manual is not only a tool for the Board, said Andreasen, but it will also be used to submit to accrediting agencies to help explain the unique make-up of the Andrews Board of Trustees.

The Board voted two resolutions. The first was to pay the retirement special contribution into the employee’s retirement fund rather than through a check. The second resolution was for the way Andrews handles local church hires. The Seventh-day Adventist Church has adopted a universal policy for all Church hires, which ensures employees are paid on a fair, consistent pay scale and receive equal benefits. While Andrews does not have local church hires, however, Andreasen said this resolution formally adopted the policy to ensure it is in line with the Church’s best practices.
The Board also approved a number of faculty and staff appointments:

Faculty Appointments

College of Arts & Sciences: Janet Blackwood, assistant professor of English and director of off-campus TESOL Program, Department of English; Vanessa Correda, assistant professor of English, Department of English; Daniel Gonzalez, assistant professor of biology, Department of Biology; Denise Smith, instructor of biology, Department of Biology; Rodney Summerscales, assistant professor of computer science, Department of Engineering & Computer Science

School of Architecture, Art & Design: Kari Friestad, assistant professor of art, Department of Visual Art & Design

USA Today: Adventists' back-to-basics faith is fastest growing US church
Rest on the Sabbath. Heed Old Testament dietary codes. And be ready for Jesus to return at any moment. If these practices sound quaint or antiquated, think again. They're hallmarks of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the fastest-growing Christian denomination in North America. Read full story.

- Ron Clouzet, professor of Christian Ministry and Pastoral Theology at Andrews University, and director of the North American Division Evangelism Institute, is quoted in this article.
- Edwin Hernandez, a member of the Andrews University Board of Trustees and a research fellow at the Center for the Study of Latino Religion at the University of Notre Dame, is also quoted in this article.

Herald-Palladium: Abused women tell their stories
Andrews University counseling and ministry students got a firsthand look at the face of domestic violence when two women told their stories of abuse at the hands of former husbands and a boyfriend. The stories were part of a visit last week by representatives of the Niles-based Polly's Place women's shelter. The women were invited by instructor Alina Baltazar to speak to her class, called Family Violence through the Lifespan. Baltazar worked at Polly's Place six years ago and is familiar with the agency's program.

Get fresh locally grown produce delivered to your door

Posted: Jun 11, 2012 11:27 PM EDT
By Traci Capellman - bio | email

If you'd like fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables delivered to your door each week, here's a cool program that might interest you.

Students at Andrews University are harvesting a huge Student Garden for their Community Supported Agriculture program.

Right now the program is working to receive organic certification.

Beginning today through October 22nd, subscribers can choose between a full share of produce for $600 and a half share - for $400.

Each basket includes at least six types of fresh produce, such as tomatoes, eggplant, melon, broccoli, corn, kale, carrots, cucumbers and peaches.

Delivery is free within a 10-mile radius of the campus. And others can pick-up in Berrien Springs.

Thank you from Richard Lesher

Dear Andrews friends:

Thank you for your many "get-well" wishes - by flowers, cards, letters, visits, and phone calls. They exceeded my expectations! Although much improved in health, medical treatment continues. Above all else, thank you for your many prayers on my behalf. Soon I expect to be out and around again.

Thank You from Sallie Alger

Thank you to everyone who was able to attend the lovely retirement reception that the library hosted for me. The food was great, the thoughts and good wishes were heart-warming and it was fun to visit with all of you. Thanks, also, for the cards, gifts, and emails to remember you by. I will miss coming to work at Andrews, but will find other things to do—such as continuing with my community activities and doing volunteer fundraising for Adventist Frontier Missions. I also anticipate that we will get more phone calls from Christopher and family in Grand Rapids with extra ‘grandson sitting’ opportunities!

May God richly bless you all,
Sallie Alger

Berrien Springs Spanish Church VBS: Hometown Nazareth

June 17-21
Berrien Springs Spanish Church

Imagine what it was like to live and work in the dusty town of Nazareth, just as Jesus was beginning his ministry around Galilee. You’d hear whisperings about Mary’s son, Jesus—the local carpenter’s kid who says he’s the Son of God. Maybe the boy Jesus even had dinner at your house or played tag with your kids. As you tend your sheep or bake your bread, perhaps you secretly wonder if it’s really possible that Jesus—the boy down the street—could be the Messiah. This summer come hang out in Hometown Nazareth, where Jesus was a kid!

The Berrien Springs Spanish SDA Church invites kids ages 4-11 to attend VBS this June 17-21. Your kids won’t want to miss this exciting, challenging, super-fun VBS program! The fee is only $5 per family. To register please go to https://www.groupvbspro.com/vbs/hl/nazareth2012.

Lost: Prescription Glasses

I lost my prescription glasses on Friday evening, May 18 at the Seminary. I have been feverishly searching the campus for them. The glasses are very distinct pair. They are made of heavy plastic and are purple with two metal fish decorating each side. They were inside of a burgundy glasses case that held two glass lens cleaning cloths at the time they were lost. If anyone has found them, please call me. I NEED them and I have been praying that they will be found and returned to me. My contact number is 574.850.1470.

Lost item at Andrews University

Hi, my name is Slavisa Jankovic, student at Andrews University, and I lost my camera case on May 29, Tuesday, probably at Garden of Grace by PMC or in PMC itself but it has not been turned in neither to PMC nor Seminary lost/found. The case is black and has set of batteries and a charger in it along with few different kinds of cables. I also have some extra items in it which are so valuable to us since related to some precious family memories. Their worth, in terms of money, is not big but they are very valuable to us. So, please if you know something about this let me know. Thank you so much in advance.
