Planning a Campus for the Next Generation of Seventh-day Adventist Education

The planning and design for the future of the Andrews University campus begins now. This fall semester, the School of Architecture, Art & Design is taking the lead to chart a course for the next 10 years of campus development. Everyone is invited to participate!

This project is being led by the Campus Design Studio from the School of Architecture, Art & Design.

This is an unprecedented campus-wide planning process where students, faculty, staff, alumni and community members will be considering ideas and actions to help shape the next generation of buildings and spaces for a distinctive Seventh-day Adventist Christian education at Andrews University.

The goal is to shape an updated and revised Campus Master Plan and supporting design guidelines by January 2013. The Campus Design Studio was created for this purpose and will work with the campus community through a series of interactive meetings and workshops. This effort plugs into Strategic Initiative #6 of the new Andrews University 2012–17 Strategic Plan. This project is intended to help shape the environment and facilities that support the operation of a quality academic and student life program here at Andrews University.

A detailed schedule of events and information about the project and its interdisciplinary team is available online at www.andrews.edu/campusplan.

Andrews Rankings and Enrollment

Andrews University has been ranked as one of the “Best National Universities” for 2013, as reported in U.S. News & World Report’s “America’s Best Colleges 2013” issue. In addition, Andrews is also ranked again on Forbes.com’s 2012’s “America’s Top Colleges.”

Of the 281 institutions classified in U.S. News & World Report as national universities, Andrews is ranked at #189. Andrews is the only Seventh-day Adventist institution included in this classification. According to U.S. News, schools in the National Universities category, which also includes Columbia University and Stanford University, offer a full range of undergraduate majors, plus master’s and PhD programs. These colleges also are committed to producing groundbreaking research.

Andrews University made a few other U.S. News & World Report college ranking lists, too: with a diversity index of .73, the University tied for 4th in Campus Ethnic Diversity. (The closer a school’s number is to 1.0, the more diverse it is.) And with 13% of our student body composed of international students, Andrews tied for 9th in Most International Students.

The physical therapy and social work programs at Andrews made the top 150 of U.S. News’ “Best Grad Schools” list. Andrews was also named on the “A+ Colleges for B Students,” “Economic Diversity” and “Freshman Retention Rates” lists.

Andrews Ranked on Forbes.com
Forbes.com also ranked Andrews University #553 in “America’s Top Colleges,” a compilation of the 650 best educational institutions (out of more than 6,000) across the country. Forbes gives an overall rating and smaller subcategory ratings; once again, Andrews University also made the lists “Best Private Colleges,” “Best Research Universities” and “Best in the Midwest.”

Increase in Enrollment
The University has also seen an increase in the 2012–13 enrollment, with 3,551 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students on our main campus. That’s the second highest enrollment ever. Andrews had its highest enrollment in 2009–10 with 3,589 students enrolled. Over the past 11 years, enrollment has increased by over 800 students.

Additionally, there are 3,686 students pursuing an Andrews degree at an affiliate or extension site. Griggs University & Griggs International Academy, which Andrews assumed ownership of in November 2010, has 5,963 students. These students include elementary and high school levels; Job Corps, a program that offers high school diplomas and job skill training to at-risk students; and students in higher education.

The complete rankings list can be found at www.forbes.com/colleges/andrews-university/ and colleges.usnews.rankingsandreviews.com/best-colleges/andrews-university-2238.

Andrews Bookstore Aids ADRA
The Andrews Bookstore has been recycling for a cause, turning old, outdated books into cash for a charity. On Friday, Sept. 21, 2012, staff from the Andrews Bookstore presented a $2,120 check to Adventist Development & Relief Agency (ADRA). The funds were collected from the bookstore’s participation in the One Planet recycling program, run by MBS (Missouri Book Systems), a used book supplier.

For each box of old and outdated books the Andrews Bookstore sends to One Planet for recycling, they receive $10. This was the second donation the Andrews Bookstore has made to ADRA from funds raised through One Planet. Since they started recycling in 2010, the Andrews Bookstore has donated a cumulative total of $4,130 to ADRA.

“This is a great way to recycle books and not throw them away,” says Cindy Swanson, Andrews University’s textbook manager and bookstore manager for Griggs University & Griggs International Academy. “There is very little we have to do and we generate money for ADRA, which goes everywhere and helps everyone.”

In addition to responding in emergency situations, ADRA provides aid for those lacking in basic needs such as food, water and sanitation. They also work to provide literacy training and offer financial assistance in establishing livelihoods.

“Donations that come into ADRA help alleviate poverty and suffering throughout the world,” says Tina Hudgins, director of constituency development at ADRA and the representative who accepted the donation. “What makes ADRA different when it comes to relief is that we respond immediately, but then we stay behind to see what needs to happen to move them into development so they are not left alone and in trouble after the relief goods are done.”

The Andrews Bookstore is always accepting books for recycling. They’ll accept any old, outdated books, including outdated textbooks. Simply drop off your books for recycling at the Andrews Bookstore during regular business hours.

Plan to Attend the Campus Planning Workshop on Thursday, Oct. 4

The Campus Master Planning process has entered the next phase. You are invited to participate in the second campus-wide planning workshop on from 4-6 p.m.

Lincoln/Hoosier Rooms, Campus Center

The Campus Design Studio, that is spearheading the Campus Master Planning process, and its collaborators have prepared a series of alternative long-range concepts that illustrate possible scenarios for future campus development. This includes visual illustrations presenting the campus with distinct choices on where and how to grow, including a preliminary discussion about the trade-offs of each of these choices. In collaboration with professional architects, the team has tentatively tested various sites and arrangements for a future Health & Wellness Center, a new School of Health Professions building, a multidisciplinary addition to the Science Complex, future residence halls, and various other anticipated facilities. In collaboration with transportation and storm water consultants, and in partnership with the Department of Agriculture, the team has simultaneously studied diverse concepts for landscape, agriculture and transportation scenarios. Your input now is critical, as discussion about these diverse choices will inform the revised master plan and its associated design guidelines.

All faculty, staff, students, alums and community members are encouraged to attend this session.
Andrews University Prepares for National Depression Screening Day

Anonymous mood disorder screenings available at Campus Center & Buller Hall on October 11, 2012, from 11 a.m.–2 p.m.

As the new school year kicks into high gear, Andrews University is offering students a mental health check-up on Thursday, October 11, 2012 in the Campus Center and Buller Hall. Additionally, t-shirts and fabric paint, and sidewalk chalk will be available for students to create their own messages of hope to raise awareness. The complimentary screenings are part of National Depression Screening Day.

The fall semester can be an exciting time of growth and discovery, but it can also be stressful—leaving some students feeling overwhelmed. When left unattended, these everyday stressors can lead to more serious problems with depression, anxiety and unhealthy forms of self-medication. Added stress from the struggling economy is also having an effect as more students are coming to college with parents who are unemployed, increasing the pressure to succeed and find a job following graduation.

On Oct. 11, students will have an opportunity to take a brief, anonymous screening and meet one-on-one with a counselor. The screening provides students with insight into symptoms they might be experiencing and offers helpful treatment and referral information, if necessary. Students can also complete an anonymous screening online at www.mentalhealthscreening.org/screening/andrews.

Some of the questions included in the screening are:

- Have you lost pleasure in things you used to enjoy?
- Do you have trouble sleeping or eating?
- Do you deliberately avoid social situations?
- Does your mood fluctuate between overly “high” and utterly hopeless?
- Do you suffer from unexplained aches and pains?

National Depression Screening Day is a program of the nonprofit Screening for Mental Health, Inc. (SMH) and is held annually in October as part of Mental Illness Awareness Week. SMH is dedicated to promoting the improvement of mental health by providing the public with education, screening and treatment resources. For more information, visit www.andrews.edu/ctcenter.

Planning a Campus for the Next Generation of Seventh-day Adventist Education

The planning and design for the future of the Andrews University campus begins now. This fall semester, the School of Architecture, Art & Design is taking the lead to chart a course for the next 10 years of campus development. Everyone is invited to participate!

This project is being led by the Campus Design Studio from the School of Architecture, Art & Design. This is an unprecedented campus-wide planning process where students, faculty, staff, alumni and community members will be considering ideas and actions to help shape the next generation of buildings and spaces for a distinctive Seventh-day Adventist Christian education at Andrews University.

The goal is to shape an updated and revised Campus Master Plan and supporting design guidelines by January 2013. The Campus Design Studio was created for this purpose and will work with the campus community through a series of interactive meetings and workshops. This effort plugs into Strategic Initiative #6 of the new Andrews University 2012–17 Strategic Plan. This project is intended to help shape the environment and facilities that support the operation of a quality academic and student life program here at Andrews University.

A detailed schedule of events and information about the project and its interdisciplinary team is available online at www.andrews.edu/campusplan.

Open House Celebrating SPLAD's New Suite

Andrews University will celebrate the Department of Speech-Language Pathology & Audiology’s move to new quarters in Bell Hall with an open house and ribbon cutting ceremony on Thursday, Sept. 27, 2012. The open house, which includes complimentary hearing screenings, will be held from 3:30–7 p.m. with the ribbon cutting ceremony taking place at 4 p.m. Students, clients, faculty and members of any professional and referral healthcare organizations are invited to attend. This is also the first official event for the new Andrews University School of Health Professions.

The expanded and renovated location in Bell Hall provides the growing department with room to expand their educational vision, programs and Speech & Hearing Clinic. The remodeled suite features new state-of-the-art sound booths for complete hearing evaluations, and a new lab monitoring room for the Speech & Hearing Clinic. The clinic is open to the public, offering hearing and speech evaluations, and speech therapy. It is the only clinic in a 60-mile radius offering central auditory processing testing, which evaluates how the ear and brain are working together to use auditory information.

“Our former space was cramped at 700 sq. ft., but the new area is a spacious 2,800 sq. ft. There is room to grow and we have taken initial steps toward a master’s degree in speech-language pathology,” says Darah Regal, chair. “Over the last five years our enrollment has increased steadily from 25 to 65 majors in 2012. We’re delighted and impressed as we meet this year’s freshmen, with their animated curiosity to start learning and growing in their chosen field.”

With their new facilities, the department is beginning to expand. The current program offers a bachelor’s and a minor in speech-language pathology and audiology. The department’s proposal for a master’s program has received approval from the Andrews University Program Development Review Committee (PDRC) and the Graduate Council, and is being reviewed by Provost Andrea Luxton. The department is working on a proposal for master’s program accreditation from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

The department will also be open for tours on Saturday, Sept. 29, from 3–5 p.m., as part of the annual Andrews University Alumni Homecoming Weekend. For more information, visit www.andrews.edu/shp/speech/.

To Cynthia and her lovely family, I send me deepest and heart-felt condolences on the passing of my dear friend, Joe. Already, I miss him dearly. He was a great friend and person. May God’s love be abundant and continual—as He ministers to you and
Dear Mrs. Warren and Family, I am so sad to find out that Dr. Warren has passed away. I did not even know he has been ill. He is a very integral part of my career here at Andrews University. Dr. Warren has been very generous of his service to us students. First of all he was in my dissertation committee back in the day while I was working on my doctorate degree. Dr. Warren was a big help in the area of Multicultural ideas and strategies, which was why he was chosen as a member of my committee. He has been a great mentor. He read my document and made very great suggestions that gave me great insights. Dr. Warren was also our sponsor when I was working as a Public Relations Officer for the Graduate Student Association back in the day. He was a humble leader, and he taught me a lot about writing. At the time, I had wanted to publish an article in the Adventist Journal of Education. I asked Dr. Warren to be co-author since he was one of my dissertation committee members. But after he read the draft, he said, "It's ok, Annie, you should be able to author this by yourself." So the article was published. I owe a lot to Dr. Warren. At my dissertation defense, he had a lot of good comments after the defense. I cannot forget Dr. Warren. He and I worked well with each other. He is so encouraging, and very pleasant to work with. He has written such positive and great recommendations about me so I can get a job. He is also such a good and humble person. I admire him also for all his talents including playing the piano, which he is so humble about. I will really miss Dr. Warren. Not only is he a talented and Godly person, he is also a person who "walks the talk." I pray that God would give you and your family the grace to live a life that Dr. Warren emulated so he and you all would meet one another in that heavenly kingdom. I will pray that God would ease your sorrow as you know how much his life has influenced others for good, and blessed those that he met in his path. Sincerely yours, Annie Lopez
Love, Leonard Pittman and family...

I remember his cheerful smile everytime I saw him on campus, during my years as a student at Andrews. My prayers are with the family.

Although I primarily knew Dr. Warren by reputation, I happened to be working at Andrews, in Nethery Hall, early in his career at Andrews. He definitely had presence, and his love for and faith in God was well known. My heart aches for those closest to him that he leaves behind. However, I can't help thinking about Dr. Warren's next conscious thoughts as he sees his Best Friend's smiling face. Praying for comfort, reassurance and peace for his family.

This is more than regular sorrow. Joe's death is just one more reminder that this world is NOT our home and an excellent reason why we need to get sick and tired of this planet as currently managed! Hang onto the promises that we shall be reunited. I imagine walking together with Jesus and Joe, barefoot in the grass, eating the fruit from the Tree of Life, juice dripping off our chins, laughing, washing up in the River of Life! We will see Joe again! It will be him and not another!

I am so sorry to hear about Dr. Warren's passing. I took an English Comp.II class with him exactly a year ago, and he was such an inspiration to all of us. He taught me how to write better in English, and had such a passion for what he taught. He valued each of his students, and would always encourage us. Most of all, I could see Jesus through him. He loved music and always gave us the opportunity to meditate on the wonderful words of some christian songs, like Gaither. He was so friendly and optimistic about everything, and I know we will meet again soon and very soon in heaven! Praying for all the family!

I was shocked and saddened to hear about Dr. Warren's passing. Dr. Warren was one of my favorite teachers as he not only emphasized proficiency in writing but also the importance of loving and serving family and God. His quips, intellectual and spiritual thoughts, joy, and passion for serving God, family, and others will be greatly missed and remembered. My most sincere condolences to Mrs. Warren and the family. Your Andrews family grieve with you and are praying for strength and comfort for you. "We have this hope that burns within our hearts, hope in the coming of the Lord!" May we see him again soon in Christ's soon return.

I've never met Dr. Warren but i sure know how it feels like to lose a loved one. May God give you peace and comfort at this time! Praying for Mrs. Warren, children, and family. "He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away." Revelations 21:4

Dr. Warren was a godly man with a warm heart and a great sense of humor. I greatly enjoyed working with him on Nu Sigma, and hearing his hearty laugh in the department. My prayers go out to the Warren family.

There are many things in life that we will never be able to understand fully. Among these is the age-old question, "Why do 'seemingly' bad things happen to good people?" We don't need the answer now; it will be answered in Heaven. Dr. Joe was a kind, caring sympathetic, empathetic, encouraging, and spiritually supporting and strengthening professor to scores and scores of people who suffered over time--many from cancer. Now, his own life has ended that way. God worked scores of miracles and healed many of the people for whom he prayed and supported fervently, but now his own life is no more. At such a time as this, it is good to remember the words of the chorus of that Gospel song: "God is too wise to be mistaken; / God is too good to be unkind. / So, when we don't understand, When we can't trace His plan, / When we can't see His hand, / Trust His heart." My husband and I are praying for you, Mrs. Warren and the children. Be strong, and keep on trusting God, for He is good. --Shirley A. McGarrell (USC) Trinidad.

I know how very difficult a passing can be. I also have the blessed privilege of knowing that God can take any any any bad occurrence in our lives and turn it so that the outcome is an immense blessing that we can't even fathom. Each and every time that I'm reminded of what God has done with the certainly unfavored instances in my life, it takes me a lot of willpower to not just fall down on my knees and cry out a large, tear-filled "THANK YOU!!!!" You can rest absolutely assured that as long as you love God, great things happen. Read 1Kings 19.9-12. I know that wallowing in self-pity can sure feel good, but what I've learned is that if you focus on God, that small, voice, you will be blessed with, among other things, peace and the strength to go on.

So sad So sad He was an awesome person and professor

God Bless Him and His family, I took a class from him years ago. His son used to come to the childcare center at the elementary school years ago. They are in my prayers.

I am greatly saddened to know of Dr. Joseph Warren's passing away. It came to me as a sudden shock. My wife, Millie and I always knew him to be a man who cared for people. I remember when I taught Freshman Seminar course at Andrews University, I used to invite him to my class as a guest speaker to give motivational talks to my students. My sympathies go out for the grieving family. --Sunith Das

My heart was heavy when I heard about the passing of Joe. It is hard to understand why some things happen the way they do. But I can say with assurance that because of his life and witness, there will be a whole lot more people in God's kingdom. It won't be long and Joe will wake up to the face of his loving Savior, Jesus Christ. Be comforted knowing that he is resting in Jesus. Wanda Cantrell

I am so sorry to hear about the passing of Dr. Warren. Please accept my deepest condolences and know that I will be praying for your family. Krista Cooper

I took English Comp from Dr. Warren many years ago, and he helped to open my eyes to the pleasures of the writing process, as well as inspiring me to excellence in writing. Most of all, he brought such humor and joy to every class period that I couldn't help but smile. His cheerful demeanor and love for the Lord will be greatly missed here on campus. Rahel Schaefer

Dr. Warren truly elevated me. I had the blessing of working for him as his Student Reader for three and half years. He insisted on calling me his administrative assistant and always had a way of making myself and others feel inspired to be excellent. I will always remember my first day of work for Dr. Warren. He was in a meeting and told me to go have a seat in his office. I sat down and noticed that there was an apple that had been bitten sitting on his desk. (Someone had come into the office and bitten the apple as a joke, but I did not know this) Needless to say when Dr. Warren came into the office he took one look at the apple and then at me, then back at the apple, then back at me. He must’ve thought I was going to be a crazy invasive employee because there I was in the crime scene, looking like I’d helped myself to his apple. That moment is something I laughed about for years. It continues to bring a smile to my face. My prayers are with the Warren family. Thank you Father God for blessing Andrews University with St. Joe—André Weston

I took English Comp II from Dr. Warren in 2004, and he respected my convictions not to read fiction and gave me an alternate reading assignment. I’ve always felt very grateful for that. May God comfort his family during this time. - Joelle Damsteeg McNulty, AU class of ’06

It was such joy to see Dr. Warren at New Life Worship Service. He was filled with so much joy and Holy Spirit. God knows what is best for His servant Joe. We take comfort in God’s word - He will raise him up! Our thoughts and prayers are with his dear wife and family. Until that great day when we will see him in glory. In His care. Lilly

I am very sorry to hear of Joe’s death. He was always an upbeat encouraging colleague who was a pleasure to talk with. He was also very helpful to my wife when, as a caucasian teacher, she was dealing with racial issues in her classroom. Joe will be missed. My condolences and prayers go out to his family. Gary Land

Some people are blessed with the gift of presence. Just being where they are makes life better and encourages one’s spirit. I will remember the privilege of sharing time and space with one who truly loved God, family, and others. May God’s peace daily attend his loving wife and family. Judy Peterson-Williams

Thank God for people who touch our lives by living what they believe; Dr. Warren was one of those people. I am saddened to hear of his passing. My heart is heavy and my prayers are with his loved ones and those who were closest to him. I can’t wait for the coming of the Lord when we will be reunited with people like Dr. Warren! In the meantime, I pray for God’s comfort for those of us bearing the burden of this great loss.

May God comfort the family of Dr. Warren at this unsettling time. I will always remember the enthusiasm with which he lived and the passion with which he adored Christ. We are sure to see him in the clouds of glory. Blessings! Givan Hinds

We pray the love of God enfolds you during your difficult times and he helps you heal with the passage of time. Dr. Warren was a great, God fearing, and knowledgeable man, he will be missed. Till we meet again, love Fritzsia Gilmore

I’ve lost a friend! Jerrick and our daughter were classmates, since daycare, and we shared our prayers for our children and families. And, along the way, we shared our concerns for the university, the church, and each other. I’ll miss him in many ways and look forward to the grand reunion in Heaven. Prayers continue for each of you. May God comfort you in ways only He can devise. Alice Williams
My condolences to Mrs. Warren and the rest of the family. I have yet another reason to be anxious for heaven so I can hear Dr. Warren laugh again. It always made me smile in class. - Jan Pickett

To the Warren family - I'm terribly sorry for your loss. Dr. Warren gave me the comfort I needed when I took his class and I will remember the little blue book. I still have it. May the Lord comfort and give you strength. Keeping you in my prayers. Former student.

Dr. Warren was a great teacher and a great friend. He would make sure that I was always going in the direction that I should be and was always positive. He didn't pull any punches and knowing him had an impact on my years at Andrews. I wish I could have got in touch with him to say thank you. I realized that I have not thought about him in years but just seeing his picture put me back on the campus and a flood of memories came back. Andrews has lost a incredible soldier. My prayers go out to the family. Please realize that Joseph Warren left a lasting impact on that University and countless students.

My sincerest thoughts and prayers are with the family. -Alicia Boling

What a wonderful man Dr Warren was. I so enjoyed our conversations about literature especially that of rise of the American black man. Dr. Warren strived to make a difference and he hit his mark within the hearts of so many many people. I will forever remember his kindness, his smile and above his love for Jesus. For me His star shined bright on the campus of Andrews University, because of his love for teaching the world is a better place. He no doubt will be missed by faculty and the students of Andrews University. In a twinkling of an eye.. soon for you my friend. Courage to all who knew Dr Warren, let us all fight the good fight of life with the love and dignity that Dr Warren has shown us all.

To God be the glory for the passing on of your beloved husband and father of your children! God give and He takes. May the Almighty God give all the strenght, the grace, all mercies, peace and comfort at this dark moment in the family. May his soul rest in eternal peace. Amen! Joyce

Mrs. Warren and the rest of the family, I am indeed saddened by this news. His welcoming smile made me feel a part of AU campus. That day I was feeling discouraged and just walked into the path as he was dismounting his bike. He smiled at me and said How are you doing today? I replied fine, but that smile immediately changed my mood. Please remember, earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal. One day death will loose its sting and we will see your husband and father once more. This time in a place where you will forever be together. Elvetha Telemaque

Cynthia and family, I am so saddened by your loss. Dr Warren was a friendly face I would often encounter as I wandered the campus of AU. May God keep you near to His heart. You are in my thoughts and prayer. Even so, come Lord Jesus, come. Jacqueline Peart

Dr. Warren was the graduate student association president when I was president. His kind, gentle presence is still an important memory of my masters program.

I took a class with Dr. Warren and something that I will always remember about him is that he always challenged me to be better than I was. He was like that. He demanded excellence and I wish that I would have taken the opportunity to get to know him more than just my professor. He always had a warm, kind smile for me and taught the class life lessons each class period. He was also very thoughtful and showed genuine concern for me. He said that death was ultimately in God’s hands and so I take comfort in that now, that God allowed his death to happen. My condolences for his family and loved ones. I look forward to the day where I can get to know Dr. Warren better and see him smile again. -current Andrews English major

You challenged me on so many levels as your student. While the my obvious route for one of your papers was never the right route you helped me make my writing more complex and thought provoking and for that I am forever in your debt. You took time, patience, and concern. You will be missed, condolences to your family, friends, co-workers and students. Prayers. Brian Harrison

I met Dr. Officially last semester at the Niles Philadelphia church. I sang with two other girls and he was so blessed by the song that he took us out to lunch after church. We spent a few hours just talking and laughing. That was a day I will always cherish ,he shared so much wisdom and insight with us ladies, his optimism for life was contagious, his spirit so humble and kind, and his personality warm and inviting. I had seen and heard him speak before and on one of those occasion he asked for prayer and reminded the church not to be sad for him because he had lived his life and served his father God. He has left a legacy behind in all of the lives he has touched , a life well lived. I will miss seeing his smile and his bubbly personality. to his family words cannot ease the pain that you are feeling but just know that even in this Jesus is present, hold on to the hope that one day you guys will be reunited. Charliena

Keeping Dr. Warren’s family in my prayers. Remember hearing his laugh throughout the English Department when I was an English major at Andrews, and his devotional thoughts in American Literature. I appreciated his willingness to share his Christian experience. May we see him soon at Christ’s return. Jennifer Cook

Since I heard the sad news last night my heart has been heavy for my friend Joe was a man of optimism, insight and prayer. His smile was engaging. His heart was affirming. His mind was discerning. His faith was contagious. His joyful laughter was infectious. He touched thousands of lives and we treasure the memories. To his loving wife, and precious adult children, my heart and prayers are with you. May God give you strength as you grieve your loss and may the resurrection morning come soon! Let’s all meet in heaven with Jesus. Glenn Russell

What a great loss to us all! My deepest condolences to the family. Ante J.

I'm so sorry. I didn't know Dr. Warren all that well. In fact, I only knew him through facebook, but we did have a few, short comments with each other. He seemed to be a very nice man and I wish I had been able to meet him in person. You and your family are in my prayers. Suzanne Wein

I am so sorry to hear about Dr. Warren's passing. I had him for English composition back in undergrad and I had enormous respect for him. Your family will be in my prayers as you go through this difficult time. "Even so come Lord Jesus!"

I am Saddened by the sudden departure of our Professor. May our good God console you an grant you the grace to bear the great loss. Please accept my Condolence. Omosebi Fred Adeola IDP Andrews Student from Nigeria

We praise God for who Joseph was to us at Andrews. His steady voice. His articulate words. His dedicated teaching. His leadership in MLK. We praise God that he has left a legacy...and that He served a God who will raise Joseph up soon to continue his service to others.

I will certainly always remember the class I took from Dr. Warren in the summer of 1988, American Literature. He made the class fun when it could be a struggle as we rushed through so much in 4 weeks. And I'll always remember his little orange-red moped as he'd cheerily speed along on it with the flags waving. I'd see it parked at the bike rack near Nethery and know he was at work. May God bless you, Cynthia, and your children and all the family members in this difficult time. Many prayers are being said on your behalf. We’re so thankful for the promise of the resurrection, that I know Joe believed in. In Christ, Vicki Wiley

All my condolences. I used to work in Nethery Hall and I remember Warren to be always a cheerful, friendly and positive person. I will be happy to see him again in heaven! Sylvie Baumgartner
Mrs. Warren and children, we are saddened by Dr. Warren's passing. I remember fondly the time I spent as his advisee and student in the 80s and early 90s. As you mourn, may God comfort and strengthen you with the hope that you will see your husband and father again at His soon coming! With prayers in Christian love, Kevin Wiley
