Artist Scott Covert Exhibit Opens Jan. 15

Opening Reception: Jan. 15, 6-8 p.m.
Exhibit: January 15-February 28, 2013
Art & Design Gallery, Smith Hall

Artist Scott Covert will show his work, "Treasures from the Necropolis," at the Andrews University Art & Design Gallery beginning January 15 and ending February 28, 2013. Guests who choose to attend the opening reception Tuesday, January 15, from 6-8 p.m. will enjoy light refreshments. Those unable to attend the opening reception may view the artwork until February 28th in the Art & Design Gallery located in room 119 in Smith Hall.
For the last 25 years, Covert has been on a creative pilgrimage all over the United States and Europe, paying visits to the grave sites of cultural icons: movie stars, explorers, politicians, artists, heroes, villains, architects, murderers, murder victims, singers, athletes, novelists, inventors, rock stars and poets. Few have visited as many cemeteries as Mr. Covert: fewer still return with such treasures. Once in his outdoor studio, the artist prepares a sheaf of canvases and places it over the gravestones. Covert then uses an oil or wax crayon to impulsively adorn the canvas with his subjects’ inscriptions. At times, one subject’s inscription repeats on a single canvas; other times, an inscription is placed on a canvas in a collage of personalities’ names, in varied colors and textures.

Cruise with a Mission Celebrates 5th Year

On Dec. 9, 2012, 73 individuals from around the country gathered in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to set sail on the Center for Youth Evangelism’s fifth Cruise with a Mission (CWM). Each year, this young adult focused mission-trip-meets-vacation aims to cultivate a lifestyle of connecting with God and building Christian community through on-board worships, community building experiences, and mission projects at ports visited on the trip.

Ryan Simpson, Southern New England Conference Young Adult Ministries director, was the featured speaker for the 2012 cruise and shared daily worship thoughts. Simpson’s dynamic and personal messages encouraged young adults to get “On-board with God,” despite the storms in our lives. Melody Ilacas, a young adult who attended the trip, commented that Simpson’s messages “reminded us that storms help to build our character.”

During the missions aspect of the trip cruisers were offered diverse opportunities. Mission ports included Ocho Rios, Jamaica; Georgetown, Cayman Islands; and Mohogony Bay, Honduras. This year the group brought 100 gallons of paint with them for three painting projects. Other options at port included light construction projects, landscaping and cleanup, as well as a Vacation Bible School.

If you’re looking for a vacation that focuses on service, try Cruise with a Mission. Cruise with a Mission 2013 embarks September 15–22, 2013 to the beautiful state of Alaska. Early-bird registration is now open at www.cye.org/cwm.

Christmas Caroling with the Cardinals

The Andrews University Cardinal men's and women's basketball teams did more than shoot baskets this season. In light of the holidays, the teams took a timeout to lift others up with Christmas carols, gifts and laughter during a recent tournament at La Sierra University in Riverside, Calif.

The Andrews teams were at La Sierra for their first-time participation in the university's Holiday Tournament. From December 15–17, the Cardinals played games against other Adventist institutions including La Sierra University, Pacific Union College, and Oakwood University.

On the second day of the tournament, the coaching staff and players loaded onto the buses to go caroling and give gifts to needy families in the area.

"We wanted to do a special outreach project in the community," says Dave Jardine, men's head basketball coach and director of athletics at Andrews University. "Prior to the tournament, I contacted the La Sierra University Church looking for three families we could carol and bring gifts to. We got the names of three families: two with five children each and one with two children."

That evening, the 30 student athletes and five coaching staff polished up their caroling skills. When they visited each family, Jardine briefly introduced the group while the players handed out gifts and sang carols. The Cardinals took special requests like Jingle Bells and Silent Night, and even attempted a rendition of The 12 Days of Christmas (skipping only a few days, laughs Jardine).

"When the families heard us coming, I'm pretty sure they expected a typical group of singers... Boy, were they wrong. We spiced up every song we sang and it was great to see their expressions," says Kenny Dupont, freshmen forward on the men's team. "It's an experience we won't forget and neither will they."

One of the three families made a particularly lasting impression on the Cardinals. After singing and handing out gifts to the five children, the oldest of the siblings hugged Jardine and kept saying, 'Thank you, thank you.” His mother had asked earlier if they could not give the children gifts that night so they'd have something to open on Christmas morning.

"We knew how much they needed and decided to give them gifts that night as well as extra for Christmas Day," says Jardine.

The children received gifts like backpacks, basketballs and gift cards.

The players enjoyed giving nearly as much as the children enjoyed receiving. "It showed me how much fun and enjoyable it can be to give something to someone else," says Cliff Allen, starting center for the men's team.

"It made me smile and feel better to see the families light up with joy," recalls Janessa Sorrells, guard for the women's team. "It's the little things we do to help others that matter most."

This was the first time both teams have gone caroling as an outreach event, but it won't be the last, says Jardine.

Harold was preceded in death by his wife, Dorothy, in 2009. He is survived by a niece.

Big Problem Bigger Solution by Jerry Horton

Jerry G. Horton, a graduate of Andrews Theological Seminary, recently published his first book titled, Big Problem Bigger Solution. This book is a 12-step journey that will assist the reader in overcoming whatever sin is causing destruction or conflict in their life. It includes: several important quotes from the Bible and Ellen White on sin, a prayer of surrender and consecration at the end of steps three through twelve, information on how to restore broken relationships, short thought moments called "truth moments", story breaks and story takeaways. It also includes how to deal with life after the twelve steps, such as during a "relapse" or "withdrawal". This book is an excellent resource for personal study and/or small groups.

The book is now available at the Andrews University campus bookstore and online at www.lulu.com.
