Andrews Student Feedback Needed for NSSE Survey

Dear Students,

This year, Andrews University is participating in the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE). The NSSE is an confidential survey for freshmen and seniors. It is used by hundreds of colleges and universities across U.S. and Canada (621 to be exact) to measure two important aspects of college quality:

- The amount of time and effort students put into their studies and other educational activities.
- How the University uses its resources and organizes the curriculum to facilitate student learning.

Dr. Herold Weiss will be discussing the recent book "Creation In Scripture." This book surveys what the Bible writers say about Creation throughout the Old and New Testaments. It argues that it is important to understand the entirety of the Biblical evidence on creation. It examines Creation in the Wisdom Literature, The Psalms, Romans, the Corinthian Correspondence, Colossians, Hebrews and the Apocalypse as well as in Genesis.

Dr. Weiss encourages us to read the book beforehand. It is available in paperback from Amazon and in electronic form for the Nook and the Kindle.

A native of Montevideo educated in Argentina and in the United States, Dr. Weiss is professor emeritus of religious studies at Saint Mary's College in Notre Dame, Indiana. For many years he was also an affiliate professor of New Testament in the Hispanic program of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary. During the 1960's he was on the faculty of the SDA Theological Seminary at Andrews University. Currently he is responsible for the Spanish language section of the Spectrum website. He lives in Berrien Springs, Michigan, where he is an active member of the Berrien Springs Spanish SDA Church.

Weiss is author of Paul of Tarsus: His Gospel and Life; A Day of Gladness: The Sabbath Among Jews and Christians in Antiquity; Cross-Cultural Paul: Journeys to Others, Journeys to Ourselves; and Finding My Way in Christianity: Recollections of a Journey.

Contact: Office of Campus Ministries  cm@andrews.edu  Category: Campus Announcements

Costume Assistant Needed for Passion Play

Costuming is a fun place where the actors come alive in costume. Assistants are needed to attend orientation, help at fittings, and assist the day(s) of Passion Play.

Orientation: All assistants must attend one orientation before helping at the fittings. It is extremely busy at the fittings and there is no time for instruction. At orientation instruction is given on where the different types of costumes are in the room. It is demonstrated on how to fit and reserve the costumes for the actors, and how to wear the different parts of the various types of costumes. Orientation is March 25, 5:30-6:30 and Sunday, March 31, 11 a.m. before the fitting.

Fittings: At the fittings, the costume assistant helps actors choose and reserve a costume for their character, assists them in trying it on, makes sure all costume pieces are there, and that it fits the actor well. Fittings are March 26 and 27, 5:15 – 7:15 pm, March 31, 12-4 pm, April 2 and 3, 5:15-7:15 pm.

Day(s) of Passion Play: Assist actors in getting dressed, tying belts, helping with headpieces and making sure actors look their best for their part. Assistants may take breaks during the day, join the potluck, and may go through and experience the Passion Play. Assistants especially help in putting away costumes at the end of the day(s).

If you know of someone who could take this role please contact Betty Whitehead.

Registration Open for Adventist Engaged Encounter
Andrews University will host Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE) on the weekend of March 1–3, 2013. This is an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, which offers insights, tools and confidence to develop their relationships and strengthen their commitment to one another.

There are three main aspects to AEE’s programming: fellowship with other recently engaged and newly married couples; teaching by marriage mentors; and personal communication and connection development with one’s partner.

For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage. Erin Castelbuono said, "AEE taught us a different way to communicate more efficiently for our marriage. From this weekend, I became more aware of my husband’s emotions and feelings. I would positively and certainly recommend AEE to anyone who is getting married or who is recently married.”

For registration information, contact the Undergraduate Leadership Program at Andrews University at aee@andrews.edu or 269-471-6636. Registration fees are $50 if at least one attendee is an Andrews student and $85 for non-students.

As national debates intensify over how to effectively safeguard our educational institutions against future acts of violence, Professional Adventists for Safety and Security (PASS) is preparing for their third annual meeting, to be held in July 2013. PASS was organized in 2010 to bring together safety and security professionals serving at Seventh-day Adventist schools, hospitals and other institutions to discuss best practices, provide community resources, and maintain an Adventist network of security personal for the distribution of important information.

To date, there has been active involvement in PASS from campus security directors of Oakwood Adventist University, Southern Adventist University, Andrews University and Loma Linda University, and the directors of security at ADRA, the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and the Review & Herald Publishing Association.

The Establishment of PASS

For years, there had been discussion of the need to establish an organization that would connect the various safety and security departments at Adventist institutions. Although there was an acknowledged need for communication between the different entities, attempts to form a professional network had never moved beyond preliminary stages. When Dale Hodges became the director of Campus Safety at Andrews University, he was concerned about the negative perceptions that had developed between students and campus safety. The term "veggie cop," a slang term commonly used in Adventist settings to refer to safety or security professionals, was new to Hodges. As a retired homicide detective, Hodges wanted to repair any negative perceptions while building the professionalism of his office.

"It was my desire to establish standards of service and levels of professionalism that had not been seen before," he says, hoping such improvements would eliminate those negative perceptions. "When we raise the standards, everybody wins."

Hodges felt the best way to raise these standards, both at Andrews and other Adventist institutions, was to develop an organization to provide models and lists of best practices for safety and security offices in the Adventist community. During the summer of 2010, Hodges contacted his counterparts at various Adventist colleges and institutions to see whether there was interest in forming such an organization. The response was overwhelming. Some departments committed to attending the meetings and those that could not stated their support, Meeting dates and an agenda were set and the rest fell into place. Hodges learned that many of his counterparts were also retired law enforcement or active members of their local law enforcement communities with a diversified knowledge base and experience to share.

"It’s my desire that this association will bring a level of professionalism across the board to all Adventist entities, so we’re all providing similar services in a professional manner," says Hodges. "Setting the bar so to speak."
During its second annual meeting in 2012, PASS adopted an official constitution and bylaws in addition to laying out several goals. One goal is the development of a webpage under the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. This website will allow PASS to provide its members with resources of working policies and guidelines for emergency management that include requirements published by the Department of Homeland Security and the Department of Education. Other goals included the development of a peer review team to evaluate the security services of institutions at their request and suggest possible improvements; the collection of a database for persons or things of interest; and recommendations for Clery Act compliance and adherence to NFPA, OSHA and EPA regulations and guidelines within our institutions.

The 2013 PASS Conference is scheduled for July 15–16, 2013, at Loma Linda University. For information on attending, contact Dale Hodges, current PASS president and director of the Andrews University Office of Campus Safety, at dbhodges@andrews.edu.
Andrews University has announced the names of undergraduate students appearing on the dean's list for fall semester 2012. The following students have achieved a semester GPA of 3.5 or above with at least 12 credits, no incompletes and no grade below a B. There are 596 students on the dean’s list.

The Herald-Palladium: Fighting a stereotype
Area experts are skeptical new mental health measures will reduce gun violence, though they welcome President Obama’s proposals to prevent, detect and treat mental illness.

The skepticism is rooted in the fact that the majority of violent crimes are not committed by people with a mental illness, including bipolar disorders, chronic depression and schizophrenia.

"It’s important for the public to realize that mental illness does not equate with dangerous violence,” said Duane McBride, chairman of the Department of Behavioral Sciences at Andrews University and chairman of the Berrien County Board of Health. Read full story .
