Passion Play: Male Actors, Spanish Actors and Costume Assistants Needed

The Passion Play is Saturday and Sunday, April 6 & 7. Wristband reservations open March 1 at www.andrews.edu/passionplay. Wristbands are required. Rotations are limited to 300. To add to the ambiance of the Passion Play while also helping with crowd control, Roman guard checkpoints will ask guests to show their “papers” or wristbands to ensure guests are traveling with their assigned tribe.

Preparations for Passion Play are in full swing, but there are still ways to plug into this ministry:

Actors Needed
The Passion Play is still in need of:

- Men for non-speaking roles in the crowd or as soldiers
- Men and women, both speaking and non-speaking roles, for the Spanish rotations
- Costume assistants

Visit http://www.andrews.edu/cm/change/passionplay/volunteers/ to sign up.

Costume Fittings
If you are in the Passion Play and will be in costume, please schedule your costume fitting. Costume fittings will take place by appointment on the following dates:

- March 26 and 27, 5:30-7:30 p.m.
- March 31, Noon-4 p.m.
- April 2 and 3, 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Schedule your appointment by contacting Franzi in the Office of Campus Ministries: call 269-471-3211 or email aucm@me.com.

Adventist Forum Presents: Exclusion & Embrace

Saturday, March 9
3:30 p.m., Chan Shun Hall

Adventist Forum presents "Exclusion & Embrace: Theological Exploration of Identity, Otherness, and Reconciliation." A Panel Discussion of the Book by Miroslav Volf. The discussion will be led by Dr. Ante Jeroncic, Assistant Professor of Religion at Andrews University, on March 9, 2013, at 3:30 p.m. in Chan Shun Hall on the campus of Andrews University.

Otherness, the simple fact of being different in some way, has come to be defined as in and of itself evil. In this book Miroslav Volf contends that Christian theology must find ways of speaking that address the hatred of the other. Exclusion has skewed our perceptions of reality, causing us to react out of fear and anger to all those who are not within our (ever-narrowing) circle. Christians must learn to take the dangerous and costly step of opening ourselves to the other, of enfolding him or her in the same embrace with which we have been enfolded by God.

Miroslav Volf, a Yale University theologian, argues that "exclusion" of people who are alien or different is among the most intractable problems in the world today. He writes, "It may not be too much to claim that the future of our world will depend on how we deal with identity and difference. The issue is urgent. The ghettos and battlefields throughout the world—in the living rooms, in inner cities, or on the mountain ranges—testify indisputably to its importance." A Croatian by birth, Volf takes as a starting point for his analysis the recent civil war and "ethnic cleansing" in the former Yugoslavia, but he readily finds other examples of cultural, ethnic, and racial conflict to illustrate his points.

According to Volf, the Christian scriptures attest that God does not abandon the godless to their evil, but gives of Godself to bring them into communion. We are called to do likewise—"whoever our enemies and whoever we may be." The divine mandate to embrace as God has embraced is summarized in Paul's injunction to the Romans: "Welcome one another, therefore, just as Christ has welcomed you" (Romans 15:7).

Volf had just delivered a lecture on the topic of "Exclusion and Embrace" at a prayer breakfast for the United Nations when the first hijacked plane hit the World Trade Center. Miroslav Volf is Henry B. Wright Professor of Systematic Theology at Yale University Divinity School, New Haven, Connecticut. A native Croatian, he... writes out of his own firsthand experience of teaching in Croatia during the war in former Yugoslavia. Professor Volf won the 2002 Louisville Grawemeyer Award in Religion for this book.

Dr. Ante Jeroncic, an assistant professor of Religion at Andrews University, joined the faculty in 2006 and teaches systematic theology and ethics. Before joining the Department of Religion, he served in different pastoral settings in the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Dr. Jeroncic was born in Yugoslavia. Following service in the Yugoslavian Army, during which he was imprisoned and accused of subversion because of his religious practices, he began his theological training at the Adriatic Union College in Croatia and then at Helderberg College, South Africa. Upon receiving an MA in Theology from Stellenbosch University in South Africa, he moved to the US to continue with his doctoral studies at the University of Chicago Divinity School where he completed his PhD.

His current research interest focuses on the broader questions of religion and violence, the nature of Christian apocalyptic, and the relationship of ethics and aesthetics.

Adventist Forum is open to the public. All are welcome. For information, contact Art Robertson at robertsa2@earthlink.net or call 269-471-7150.

AU Summit for Social Consciousness 2013
Monday, April 8 through Sunday, April 14, 2013
Various locations

The Andrews University Summit for Social Consciousness invites you to attend its second annual symposium and awareness week beginning Monday, April 8 through Sunday, April 14, 2013. This year's theme will focus on the topic "Human Sex Trafficking: The Sale of Innocence".

With over 27 million individuals sold into sex slavery worldwide, this is indeed a human rights and social justice issue that deserves our attention and our intervention. Join us in raising awareness and becoming a voice for the voiceless.

For more information, contact Daniel Xisto at xisto@andrews.edu. Thank you in advance for your support!

Graduate Women Scholarship Applications for 2013-2014
Call for Graduate Women Scholarship Applications for 2013-2014

2013-2014 Women's Scholarship Committee Scholarship applications for graduate women students are available in paper form at the Administrative Assistant's desk in the English Department in Nethery Hall or through e-mail attachment by writing Dr. Stella Greig at greigs@andrews.edu. Please put "WSC Scholarships" in the subject line. Completed applications are due March 15, just before Spring Break.

There are two kinds of application forms. One form is for the Steele Scholarship, which is for women who have served as cross-cultural missionaries at least 4 years and who are working on a graduate degree in any of the university schools. The other form is a general application for women working on a graduate degree in any of the university schools.

General application forms will be considered for several different named scholarships (which have their own criteria--e.g., must be: a Seminary student, a School of Education in educational or counseling psychology student, or a student working on a music degree), as well as the more general WSC Advisory Scholarship and Honored Women Scholarship. To give applicants the best chance to receive an award, the committee will determine for which scholarship an application fits best. Questions may be sent to greigs@andrews.edu.

Walking the Bell

Winter is still here, and walking outdoors can still be a daunting task.

Walk the Bell is an indoor walking opportunity for those who wish to remain active even throughout the winter months. Too many cold and snowy days can be a drag for your mood and spirit. A few minutes of walking can lift those dark clouds and get you back on track. Walk the Bell allows you to walk from one end of Bell Hall to the next at your own pace and in your own time. You can walk indoors for a few minutes or more, one mile or more, a quick stretch or a longer trek. Markers with information about the benefits of walking are placed at specific intervals along the path. Walk the Bell is coordinated by the Counseling & Testing Center located in Bell Hall. Stop by for more information, or bring your walking shoes and give the Bell a try. We look forward to seeing you Walk the Bell!

Passion Play Registration Open

Passion Play Registration Opens Today

This is our 10 year anniversary for the Andrews University Passion Play. After 75,000+ visitors, over 7,000 volunteers, and tens of thousand of hours we will tell the story once more on April 6-7, 2013.

The experience will be more intimate then it has ever been before. We've added a second day so that more people from our community will have the opportunity to participate. Each scene has been carefully studied and modifications made so that the entire walk with Jesus proclaims praises to His Excellence and calls out to the heart, "Follow Me."

To add to the ambiance of the Passion Play while also helping with crowd control, Roman guards will stop each "tribe" at various checkpoints, asking to see "papers" (wristbands) to ensure guests are traveling with their assigned tribe.

Invite first time guests from the community to what will be a magnificent and the greatest story ever told!

NAD New points: PASS Aims to Enhance Safety at Adventist Institutions

Berrien Springs, Mich.—As national debates intensify over how to effectively safeguard our educational institutions against future acts of violence, Professional Adventists for Safety and Security (PASS) is preparing for their third annual meeting, to be held in July 2013. PASS was organized in 2010 to bring together safety and security professionals serving at Seventh-day Adventist schools, hospitals and other institutions to discuss best practices, provide community resources, and maintain an Adventist network of security personal for the distribution of important information.

To date, there has been active involvement in PASS from campus security directors of Oakwood Adventist University, Southern Adventist University, Andrews University and Loma Linda University, and the directors of security at ADRA, the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and the Review & Herald Publishing Association. HeraldPalladium.com: Five questions with ... Charles Reid

Charles Reid has sung on some of opera’s biggest stages, including a nine-season stint with New York’s Metropolitan Opera, but Sunday’s performance at Andrews University’s Howard Performing Arts Center is of particular note in his accomplished singing career. Read the full story here.

Adventist.org: Network, standards growing for Adventist security professionals

When Lewis Eakins learned about the mass shooting at Virginia Tech in 2006, he wanted to increase the level of preparedness for his campus safety officers at Oakwood University.

Eakins, the director of Public Safety at the Adventist university in Huntsville, Alabama, embarked upon a state procedure that allows a private university to create its own police department. The move, he says, has enhanced training and now allows several of his 15 officers to carry a firearm.

Read the rest of the story here.

The Herald-Palladium: Fighting a stereotype

Area experts are skeptical new mental health measures will reduce gun violence, though they welcome President Obama’s proposals to prevent, detect and treat mental illness.

The skepticism is rooted in the fact that the majority of violent crimes are not committed by people with a mental illness, including bipolar disorders, chronic depression and schizophrenia.

Berrien Springs Camera Club Meeting

Wednesday, March 6
7 p.m., Berrien Springs Community Library

The monthly meeting of the Berrien Springs Camera Club will offer a hands-on, creative program for Wednesday, Mar. 6, at 7 p.m. at its usual venue, the Berrien Springs Community Library at Cass and Union.

Club member Suzanne Anderson, who has taught elementary school for many years in Berrien Springs, will lead members in each making a calendar, using the online program Mixbook. After demonstrating the program, she will guide the members through the process. Anyone who wishes to make a calendar should bring their own computer, plus a selection of photos they might like to use for it. These could be seasonal, to fit with each month; topical, such as their favorite lighthouse pictures; maybe family-oriented, with pictures of reunions, birthdays, weddings, etc.; favorite landscape shots; or anything else they would like to view over the year. They could be used as gifts or kept for personal use.

If anyone does not have a laptop to bring, one of the members is planning to bring a couple extras for their use. They should just bring their pictures on a USB drive.

The company has also given Anderson a coupon code for a 30% discount on any calendar ordered. Members may not have time to complete their calendars during the evening, but they will have a good start and can finish them at home.

All are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.
