Spring Graduation 2013

Andrews University's Spring Graduation, scheduled for this weekend, May 3–5, 2013, marks a significant scheduling change. In order to provide more seating for graduates' families, Commencement has been split into three separate services by school/college. Previously, Commencement was separated into two services: one for undergraduate and the other for graduate degree conferral.

The new schedule is:

8:30–10:30 a.m.
School of Health Professions; Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary

11 a.m.–1 p.m.
College of Arts & Sciences

2–4 p.m.
Departments of Agriculture and Aviation; School of Architecture, Art & Design; School of Business Administration; School of Distance Education; and School of Education

Graduation weekend events begin Friday evening with the Consecration Service in Pioneer Memorial Church and will continue with the Baccalaureate church services, Sabbath afternoon certification and dedication services, Sabbath vespers, the President's reception and finally, the commencement services on Sunday, May 5.

Ante Jeroncic, associate professor of theology, will offer the Consecration address at Pioneer Memorial Church titled, "The Stories We Tell Ourselves..." on Friday, May 3, at 8 p.m.

On Sabbath, May 4, G. Alexander Bryant will present the Baccalaureate address titled, "Designed to Soar." He will speak for both services at 9 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. at Pioneer Memorial Church.

Bryant serves as the executive secretary of the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists and associate secretary of the General Conference. He formerly served as the president of the Central States Conference. His path to this position began with a degree in theology and business administration from Oakwood College in 1982. In December 2011, Bryant received a Doctor of Ministry from Fuller Theological Seminary.

Additional departmental services are planned for Friday, May 3, and Sabbath, May 4. The School of Business Administration will have an Ethics Oath Ceremony in Garber Auditorium of Chan Shun Hall on Friday at 11 a.m. The Teacher Dedication Service will be at 5 p.m. on Friday in the chapel of Andrews Academy. On Sabbath, May 4, at 4 p.m., the Seminary Dedication Service will be in the Seminary Chapel. Also at 4 p.m. on Sabbath is the Department of Religion & Biblical Languages Senior Dedication in Newbold Auditorium of Buller Hall. The Department of Nursing Pinning will be held in Pioneer Memorial Church at 5 p.m. The Department of Public Health & Wellness Dedication Service and Reception is at 5 p.m. in the lobby of the Howard Performing Arts Center. At 5:50 p.m., the Department of Social Work Recognition Service will be in the University Towers Auditorium. The Open House for Architecture Graduates will take place at 6 p.m. in the School of Architecture, Art & Design Resource Center.

A Sabbath Vespers tribute to parents, faculty and students will be held at Pioneer Memorial Church at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 4. Immediately after vespers (approximately 9:15 p.m.), the President’s Reception for graduates and their families will take place in the Great Lakes Room of Dining Services in the Campus Center.

On Sunday, May 5, Bert B. Beach will be the speaker for the first and second Commencement services at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Beach has served as general secretary for the Seventh-day Adventist Council on Inter-Church Relations since 1980. He has also served as secretary for the Conference of Secretaries of Christian World Communions from 1970–2002. He is the vice president for the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism and Drug Dependency and the International Religious Liberty Association. His address is titled, “Hitch Your Wagon to a Star!” Beach will be the candidate for an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters, which will be presented during the 8:30 a.m. service.

Faith Esham, an internationally known soprano, is a candidate for an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts. She will be presented with her degree during the 11 a.m. Commencement service. Esham's 30-year career as an opera singer has garnered her acclaim for outstanding performances in major opera houses and concert states across the United States and Europe. She is an adjunct professor at Westminster Choir College in New Jersey.

Judith L. Storfjell, senior vice president and chief nursing officer for Loma Linda University Medical Center, will be the featured speaker for the 2 p.m. Commencement service on Sunday, May 5. Her address is titled, "Imagin".

Storfjell is currently senior vice president for Patient Care Services for Loma Linda University Health, chief nursing officer for Loma Linda University Medical Center, associate dean for Practice and Research for LLU School of Nursing, and professor emeritus at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) College of Nursing. She holds a PhD and MS from the University of Michigan in Nursing research with concentrations in public health, administration, economics and gerontology, and a BS in Nursing from Walla Walla University. She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing (AAN) and is one of about 20 individuals to receive "Edgerunner" recognition from AAN for her entrepreneurial work in providing nurse-managed primary care to individuals with severe mental illness. She was named Illinois Nurse Leader for 2012.

Commencement seating is by ticket only. A live streaming link will be provided at www.andrews.edu/graduation on the day of Commencement, Sunday, May 5. For more information and/or a full schedule of events, visit www.andrews.edu/graduation.

Dining Services Offers 5% Back Incentive, Loyalty Card

Dining Services is open to not only the Andrews community, but also to the greater Berrien Springs area. If you enjoy dining on campus, here are two great incentives to make it an even more affordable option.

5% Back
For all those who open a Cafe Account with $400 or more, that individual will be given a non-refundable 5% account bonus. This cannot be redeemed for cash or returned to financial statements at any time, hence the "non-refundable" description. If you are a full-time student opening a Cafe Account you will also be saving another 6% by not having to pay tax on any meals at Dining Services. With this 6% saved throughout the semester on top of the previous 5%, a full-time student with a Cafe Account can save a total of 11% throughout one single semester.

Loyalty Card Program
Our Loyalty Card program is a new feature we offer to all those who have a Cafe Account. Account holders can bring their Loyalty Card to the Terrace Cafe whenever they buy a meal. Once they have purchased a total of ten meals, bring the card back to receive the eleventh meal free. This is the perfect program for anyone who eats at the Terrace Cafe on a regular basis. You may only have one Loyalty Card at a time, and there is no limit to how many cards you can receive in a single semester.

These offers are not applicable to faculty/staff. (Faculty/staff receive a special employee discount.)

First Destination Survey

Class of 2013,

This is a reminder that one of the final steps in your Graduation process is to tell us, Career Development Services, what your next steps are with the First Destination Survey. The information collected will be used to help create internship programs and job opportunities for AU graduates.

* By April 25, 2013 you will have had to complete the First Destination Survey in order to receive your Graduation Tickets.

Avoid the hassle, take 5 minutes and to make it more exciting for you, we're going to be giving away multiple $50.00 cash prizes for every 50 surveys completed.

Here are the winners of the $50.00 Cash Prizes. We have more prizes to give away!

New Bible Commentary to be Published

A major new Bible study resource sponsored by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and Andrews University is scheduled for release at the 2015 General Conference session in San Antonio, Texas, according to Andrews University President Niels-Erik Andreasen. The Andrews Bible Commentary, the church’s first concise, one-volume commentary, is intended as a coordinated resource with the Andrews Study Bible, released by Andrews University Press in June 2010. Purse Theft Ends in Recovery of Items, Arrests

On Saturday, April 20, 2013, at approximately 4:18 p.m. a purse was stolen from inside of the Howard Performing Arts Center at Andrews University, which ultimately ended in the arrest of two subjects and the recovery of the stolen items.

During the afternoon hours, three men were driving a silver 2003 Volkswagen on the campus of Andrews University. Two are identified as Zachary Boomsliter of Berrien Springs (DOB: 5/1994) and Joshua Nunez of Eau Claire (DOB: 1/1994). The third subject is of Berrien Springs but is not presently charged. Around 4 p.m. Joshua Nunez and the third subject went into the Howard to use the restroom. The third subject returned to the car and waited with Boomsliter for Nunez to return. Boomsliter was the driver of the car. Nunez allegedly grabbed a purse from the auditorium and when the purse’s owner saw him, she yelled and alerted bystanders that her purse had been taken. When Nunez came running from the building with the purse he was being pursued by two brave bystanders. Boomsliter decided to drive away, leaving Nunez to be captured by his pursuers. A bystander secured Nunez until Campus Safety arrived. They held him until police, who were pursuing the getaway vehicle and the other two subjects secured them and returned to the University.

Another witness saw the car driven by Boomsliter drive away and followed them off campus and into an area where they attempted to conceal themselves. Boomsliter lost control of the car while fleeing. The car was seen striking and knocking down several mailboxes and a road sign on Hillcrest Ave. The pursuit ended in the parking lot of a local nursery, where the Berrien Springs-Oronoko Township Police Department took custody of the subjects. They all returned to the University so officers could investigate the incident.

The stolen purse was recovered. A stolen phone from a separate incident was also recovered. The car was searched and marijuana and drug paraphernalia were found and seized.

Zachary Boomsliter was lodged at the Berrien County Jail and charged at this time with reckless driving and possession of marijuana.

Joshua Nunez was lodged at the Berrien County Jail and charged at this time for larceny from a person, larceny from a building, and receiving and concealing stolen property $200>$1000.

The third subject was released at this time pending further investigation.

This is an ongoing investigation being conducted jointly by the BSOPD and the Andrews University Office of Campus Safety, and additional charges may be possible as the investigation continues.

"We wish to thank the brave citizens who involved themselves in this incident to help bring it to a successful resolution with the arrest of the perpetrators and the recovery of not only the property they saw being stolen, but ultimately other property that was later found to have been stolen," said the release from Chief Milt Agay of Berrien Springs Oronoko Township Police. "The BSOPD also wishes to acknowledge and thank the AU Office of Campus Safety for their assistance in this investigation, at the time of the incident and the continued follow up."

Celebrating 75 Years: James White Library

Wednesday, May 15
12:30 p.m., James White Library

The campus and community are invited to a birthday party for the James White Library on May 15, 12:30–1:30 p.m., in the Library’s main floor gallery area. Former directors of the Library and key retirees have been invited to participate in the celebration. All former employees, including former student workers, will be recognized. Merlin Burt, director of the Center for Adventist Research (CAR), will present a brief history of the library and the General Conference. Terry Robertson, Seminary librarian, will initiate a project of taking oral history accounts about the library from current and former staff, as part of the celebration, which he's hoping will reveal further details about the library's development and contribution to Andrews University through the years. Birthday cake will be served at the conclusion of the event.

Guests are also invited to view the new display in CAR that highlights 150 years of the General Conference. The capstone event for the Library’s 75th anniversary will be an exhibit of the many and varied special collections of the Library, to be on display across campus in conjunction with Alumni Homecoming Weekend, Sept. 27–30, 2013. The exhibit will include artwork, mission artifacts and textiles, rare book collections, furniture of historical interest, and archived movie films of campus development.
Andrews University's Spring Commencement, scheduled for the weekend of May 3–5, 2013, marks a significant scheduling change. In order to provide more seating for graduates’ families, Commencement has been split into three separate services by school/college. Previously, Commencement was separated into two services: one for undergraduate and the other for graduate degree conferral.

The new schedule is:

8:30–10:30 a.m.: School of Health Professions; Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary
11 a.m.–1 p.m.: College of Arts & Sciences
2–4 p.m.: Department of Agriculture; Department of Aviation; School of Architecture, Art & Design; School of Business Administration; School of Distance Education; and School of Education

Graduation weekend events begin Friday evening with the Consecration Service in Pioneer Memorial Church and will continue with the Baccalaureate church services, Sabbath afternoon certification and dedication services, Sabbath vespers, the President’s reception and finally, the commencement services on Sunday, May 5.

Ante Jeroncic, associate professor of theology, will offer the Consecration address titled, ”The Stories We Tell Ourselves…” on Friday, May 3, at 8 p.m.

On Sabbath, May 4, G. Alexander Bryant will present the Baccalaureate address titled, “Designed to Soar.” He will speak for both services at 9 a.m. and 11:45 a.m.

Bryant serves as the executive secretary of the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists and associate secretary of the General Conference. He formerly served as the president of the Central States Conference. His path to this position began with a degree in theology and business administration from Oakwood College in 1982. In December 2011, Bryant received a Doctor of Ministry from Fuller Theological Seminary.

Additional departmental services are planned for Friday, May 3, and Sabbath, May 4. The School of Business Administration will have an Ethics Oath Ceremony in Garber Auditorium of Chan Shun Hall on Friday at 11 a.m. The Teacher Dedication Service will be at 5 p.m. on Friday in the chapel of Andrews Academy. On Sabbath, May 4, at 4 p.m., the Seminary Dedication Service will be in the Seminary Chapel. Also at 4 p.m. on Sabbath is the Department of Religion & Biblical Languages Senior Dedication in Newbold Auditorium of Buller Hall. The Department of Nursing Pinning will be held in Pioneer Memorial Church at 5 p.m. The Department of Public Health & Wellness Dedication Service and Reception is at 5 p.m. in the lobby of the Howard Performing Arts Center. At 5:50 p.m., the Department of Social Work Recognition Service will be in the University Towers Auditorium. The Open House for Architecture Graduates will take place at 6 p.m. in the School of Architecture, Art & Design Resource Center.

A Sabbath Vespers tribute to parents, faculty and students will be held at Pioneer Memorial Church at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 4. Immediately after vespers (approximately 9:15 p.m.), the President’s Reception for graduates and their families will take place in the Great Lakes Room of Dining Services in the Campus Center.

On Sunday, May 5, Bert B. Beach will be the speaker for the first and second Commencement services at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Beach has served as general secretary for the Seventh-day Adventist Council on Inter-Church Relations since 1980. He has also served as secretary for the Conference of Secretaries of Christian World Communions from 1970–2002. He is the vice president for the International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism and Drug Dependency and the International Religious Liberty Association. His address is titled, “Hitch Your Wagon to a Star!” Beach will be the candidate for an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters, which will be presented during the 8:30 a.m.
Faith Esham, an internationally known soprano, is a candidate for an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts. She will be presented with her degree during the 11 a.m. Commencement service. Esham’s 30-year career as an opera singer has garnered her acclaim for outstanding performances in major opera houses and concert states across the United States and Europe. She is an adjunct professor at Westminster Choir College in New Jersey.

Judith L. Storfjell, senior vice president and chief nursing officer for Loma Linda University Medical Center, will be the featured speaker for the 2 p.m. Commencement service on Sunday, May 5. Her address is titled, "Imagine!"

Storfjell is currently senior vice president for Patient Care Services for Loma Linda University Health, chief nursing officer for Loma Linda University Medical Center, associate dean for Practice and Research for LLU School of Nursing, and professor emeritus at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) College of Nursing. She holds a PhD and MS from the University of Michigan in Nursing research with concentrations in public health, administration, economics and gerontology, and a BS in Nursing from Walla Walla University. She is a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing (AAN) and is one of about 20 individuals to receive "Edgerunner" recognition from AAN for her entrepreneurial work in providing nurse-managed primary care to individuals with severe mental illness. She was named Illinois Nurse Leader for 2012.

Commencement seating is by ticket only. A live streaming link will be provided at www.andrews.edu/graduation on the day of Commencement, Sunday, May 5. For more information and/or a full schedule of events, visit www.andrews.edu/graduation.
New Bible Commentary to be Published

A major new Bible study resource sponsored by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and Andrews University is scheduled for release at the 2015 General Conference session in San Antonio, Texas, according to Andrews University President Niels-Erik Andreasen.

The Andrews Bible Commentary, the church’s first concise, one-volume commentary, is intended as a coordinated resource with the Andrews Study Bible, released by Andrews University Press in June 2010.

Andreasen made the announcement about the new commentary on Monday, April 15, to delegates from around the world at the annual Spring Meeting of the General Conference Executive committee, held this year in Battle Creek, Mich., in observance of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the General Conference.

The commentary project is coordinated by Andrews University Press, the world church’s only regularly established academic publishing house, with funding from Andrews and the General Conference, and oversight by a Project Committee of General Conference and Andrews personnel.

Andreasen said that, like the Andrews Study Bible, the Andrews Bible Commentary is intended specifically for the general reader, as well as pastors and church elders providing basic Bible teaching in the congregation.

In making his announcement, Andreasen referred the delegates to a purpose statement for the commentary that had been approved by the Project Committee. It states that the Andrews Bible Commentary “is a concise, one-volume exposition of Scripture written by faithful scholars of the church as a companion to the Andrews Study Bible for lay readers, pastors, students, and teachers living in expectation of the Advent Hope.”

“This commentary is aimed to help the person in the pew. It is written in plain language,” Andreasen said. He told the delegates that the writers had been instructed to write at the same reading level that they would write an article for the Adventist Review, the general church paper of the Adventist Church. “In some parts of the world, these two volumes—the Andrews Study Bible and the Andrews Bible Commentary—will comprise the entire theological library they will have, so we are taking this assignment very seriously,” he said.

Andreasen said that 60 writers, all Bible scholars from church institutions and organizations around the world, have been contracted to work on the commentary under the direction of a small editorial team. The general editor is Angel Rodriguez, former director of the Biblical Research Institute at the General Conference. The associate editors are Greg King (Old Testament), dean of the School of Religion, Southern Adventist University; Gerald Klingbeil (Old Testament), associate editor, Adventist Review/Adventist World; and John McVay (New Testament), president of Walla Walla University.

Andreasen said that some of the writers for the one-volume commentary have already completed their assignments. He assured GC President Ted Wilson that a small, printed sample of selected portions of the commentary will be available for the next full meeting of the GC executive committee at Annual Council in October, when Andreasen will give another progress report.

“We’ll hold you to that,” Wilson said.

Andreasen thanked Wilson for the support of the General Conference in the production of both the Study Bible and the forthcoming Commentary. He said that these publications represent one of the many ways that Andrews fulfills its responsibility to serve the world church.

Staff at Andrews University Press have noted that when it is published and released in 2015, the Andrews Bible Commentary will have about 1,800 pages of commentary and helpful articles, about three times the original content of the Andrews Study Bible.
Over the years, there have been many myths and misconceptions concerning the Howard Performing Arts Center and we want to set the record straight. What follows is information you should know about the Howard Center; some is true, some is false, and some is just plain silly. Read on and discover the truth!

Myth: Every concert held at the Howard Performing Arts Center is a Howard Center sponsored and planned concert.

False. We have many different individuals, groups and departments rent the concert hall throughout the year. Unless the concert is labeled as part of the “Howard Center Presents...” series, it is being put on by someone else, which means we are generally not in charge of advertising, equipment rental, planning or producing the event. Any involvement we have with these concerts (such as selling tickets or providing volunteers) is requested by the renting group. We have the highest possible standards when we book an artist to come to the HPAC, because we have likely paid this artist thousands of dollars to perform. We budget for necessary equipment rental and adequate advertising to make sure the concert is a success. Unfortunately, not every renting group has the ability to pay for these things. While we do what we can to help them have a successful concert or event, we are limited with what we have available to us in-house.

Myth: Artists booked at the Howard Performing Arts Center are based on the personal taste and musical preference of the Howard Center staff.

False. The concert hall was designed for the performance of classical, instrumental and acoustic music. Every decision made regarding season planning is based on how to reach the most people, meaning all ages, all cultures and all musical preferences, and presented to committees and focus groups. As such, we want to hear about who you want to see here! Many of our best-selling concerts were booked because we received repeated requests. If we can afford it, we will do everything we can to make it happen! We want to serve the community and the student body.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center will never have a very popular artist such as Josh Groban perform there.

Probably True. While we would love to be able to book any artist we wanted, our season budget is very limited, and an artist like Josh Groban (or Mumford and Sons, or Justin Bieber, as has been requested by some!) would be well beyond anything we could afford. Really big names are often hundreds of thousands of dollars to book, and we have only a small fraction of that to plan our entire season. When we book artists, it is a balancing act between who we can afford, and who students and the community will recognize and want to see. Unless we have a very generous sponsor, very big names such as these will most likely never make it to the Howard Performing Arts Center.
Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center is underutilized.
False! The Howard Performing Arts Center had over 200 events last year alone. In addition to our own series of 6–12 concerts each season, we host all the Department of Music concerts and recitals, the WAUS-sponsored "Second Sunday" Concert Series, spring and fall concerts for Andrews Academy, Ruth Murdoch Elementary, and Village SDA Elementary, as well as many of the concerts for the Berrien Springs High School and Middle School. Enrollment Management often uses our building for preview events for prospective students, and we welcome musical groups from sister schools around the country several times a year. We also host many conferences, vespers and the occasional church service as well. The lobby is also frequently rented for banquets and wedding receptions. We are very busy!

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center does not allow worship services.
True and False. Worship services that are part of a multi-day conference are allowed in the Howard Center. However, regular weekly worship services are not scheduled for a number of reasons. First, dedicating the Howard Center to a weekly church service (in the way that Newbold Auditorium hosts One Place and the Seminary Chapel hosts New Life) would conflict with the many conferences that take place here throughout the year that require a space for the Sabbath morning church component of their program. Second, when the HPAC was built, it was originally intended for the performance of music, and it was not expected to be a very high-use building. The materials chosen for its construction, especially in the concert hall where the space is meant to be nearly acoustically perfect, are not intended for heavy use. This makes the building much more expensive to repair and maintain than a classroom building would be, requiring us to be discerning in how many, and what types of events we allow. A weekly worship service would put undue strain on the building and our resources.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center doesn't really advertise for concerts.
False! For "Howard Center Presents..." concerts, in addition to the posters you see around campus and the fliers we place on the cafeteria tables, we advertise in the Student Movement and display our digital slides on all the flat-screens across campus. We also hang posters throughout Berrien Springs, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, and we run advertisements in the Herald-Palladium, South Bend Tribune, and a weekly ad in the Journal Era. We notify local churches of events, make announcements in their bulletins, or ask them to hand out fliers and hang posters. We also run ads on radio stations such as WAUS (for classical concerts), WFRN and PulseFM (both for Christian concerts). Finally, all the information we have for events is listed on our website, and videos and sound clips of the artists we book are also available through our website. If a concert is not well attended, it is not for lack of advertising. Aside from our "Howard Center Presents..." series, we promote other concerts by posting available information on our website and running digital posters on our lobby monitor. Unfortunately, we do not have a large enough advertising budget to aggressively advertise for non-HPAC events.

Myth: Renting the Howard Performing Arts Center is expensive.
It depends who you ask... While paying $1,000 to rent the lobby on a weekend may seem steep to some, the ambiance here is beyond that of a church fellowship hall or rec center. This is a state-of-the-art facility that is quite expensive to operate and maintain, and our rental fees reflect those costs. These fees were also established based on comparisons to what comparable facilities throughout the area charge for their rentals. However, keep in mind that we do offer significant discounts to current employees and students wishing to rent the lobby or the concert hall, and academic departments and groups receive even deeper discounts.

Myth: Fusion vespers no longer exists because the Howard Performing Arts Center didn’t want it taking place there anymore.
False. The Howard Center hosted Fusion, but it was a production of Campus Ministries. The Office of Campus Ministries made the decision regarding the conclusion of Fusion, a vespers service, since they are the organization that planned, funded and coordinated Fusion. Questions relating to faith programming can be emailed to cm@andrews.edu.

Myth: Tuition dollars are used to pay for fancy lighting, new equipment and expensive upkeep of the building.

False. Students pay an activity fee as part of their tuition each year, of which the Howard Performing Arts Center receives a portion that helps support our season. This money is only used to book artists and produce concerts. Because of this, Andrews University students will always receive a very low and special student rate for tickets, and will sometimes even attend for free.

Myth: Tickets can be charged to student accounts.

False. We accept cash, check, credit card or debit card, but we cannot charge tickets to a student account. We do, however, ask for your student I.D. number when you purchase tickets so that we can give you the discounted student rate. Each I.D. number can get up to two tickets at the discounted rate.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center is only open during concerts and events.

False. The Box Office is open Monday–Thursday, 1:30–5:30 p.m., and Friday, 1:30–3:30 p.m. Additionally, the administrative offices are open Monday–Thursday, 9 a.m.–5 p.m., and Friday, 9 a.m.–3 p.m. Both offices are located in the Howard Center lobby, and anyone is welcome to stop by during business hours or during concerts and other events.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center has full-time employees.

True. But not as many as you might think. In addition to our part-time student box-office workers and sound technicians, the HPAC only has two full-time employees, a manager and an assistant manager. These two positions are responsible for all tasks, activities and responsibilities at the HPAC, including marketing and advertising, booking artists and planning concerts, scheduling and coordinating student workers and volunteers, coordinating rentals of the concert hall and lobby, managing and maintaining the building, planning and promoting each season, and much more! Stop by and meet us! We love meeting AU students.

Myth: Using the screen and projector at the Howard Performing Arts Center is no big deal.

False. We do not have an automatic, retractable screen. Whenever we receive a request for a screen and projector, we must assemble our large screen and either stand it up on legs or hang it on cables from the catwalk above the stage. Both of these are difficult, time-consuming, multi-person jobs, but can be done and are done often. However, using the screen and projector is not as simple a request as it might be in another venue on campus.

Myth: Meat cannot be served in the lobby during banquets, weddings, etc.

True. While we do not require a specific caterer for an event, we do not allow meat to be served. Also not allowed are alcohol and smoking, as is the case all across campus. You are, however, allowed to have non-alcoholic drinks, even if the liquid is not clear.

The Howard Lobby is used for a variety of events, from weddings and private parties to job fairs and academic events.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center is a non-profit organization.

True. A non-profit is an organization that uses surplus revenues (if there are any) to achieve its goals, rather than distributing them as profits or dividends. If we make any money it goes right back into our operations.
Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center is not affiliated with Andrews University.
False. The Howard Performing Arts Center is both owned by the University and on the University’s budget, and its staff are University employees.

Myth: The Howard Performing Arts Center became so expensive to maintain that Andrews University could no longer afford its upkeep and had to sell it to an outside party.
False. While it is true that the maintenance and upkeep of the HPAC is high like any other building on campus, the University has no plans to sell the building. It still belongs to Andrews University and we see no reason why that would ever change.

Myth: The primary donors to the Howard Performing Arts Center have strict demands and will pull their funding if these demands are not met.
False. John and Dede Howard, the major donors of the building, have a profound love of music, a shared commitment to the community, and are extraordinarily generous. What the Howards envisioned was a world-class facility for fine arts presentations—a state-of-the-art resource devoted to the performance, recording and broadcasting of music, and a cultural center to be shared and enjoyed by the entire community. They continue to donate money to the building each year for its upkeep and improvement and are huge supporters of what we do here.

We know that there are probably a lot more assumptions and misconceptions about the Howard Performing Arts Center out there that we didn’t cover or don’t even know about, so we invite you to contact us with any and all questions or concerns you might have. We also welcome your suggestions and input regarding the Howard Center and our season. The Howard Performing Arts Center is here for the community, but it is also here for the students, and we appreciate your feedback and support.

Adventist Review: Walking the Newsbeat
By Debbie Michel
I sat in my office overlooking the Rockefeller Plaza ice rink and was overcome with a mixture of anxiety and relief. Anxiety, because I had made the decision to leave my job at NBC News without any other prospects in sight; relief, in that the daily grind chronicling the latest devastation had reached its end.

It was the culmination of 11 years chasing leads showcasing the worst of humanity: the Heaven’s Gate mass suicide; Washington, D.C., sniper shootings; JonBenét Ramsey murder; September 11; and stories labeled "nature’s wrath," such as Hurricane Katrina. Read full story.

NAD Newspoints: PASS Aims to Enhance Safety at Adventist Institutions

Berrien Springs, Mich.—As national debates intensify over how to effectively safeguard our educational institutions against future acts of violence, Professional Adventists for Safety and Security (PASS) is preparing for their third annual meeting, to be held in July 2013. PASS was organized in 2010 to bring together safety and security professionals serving at Seventh-day Adventist schools, hospitals and other institutions to discuss best practices, provide community resources, and maintain an Adventist network of security personal for the distribution of important information.

To date, there has been active involvement in PASS from campus security directors of Oakwood Adventist University, Southern Adventist University, Andrews University and Loma Linda University, and the directors of security at ADRA, the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and the Review & Herald Publishing Association. The Herald-Palladium: Fighting a stereotype

Area experts are skeptical new mental health measures will reduce gun violence, though they welcome President Obama's proposals to prevent, detect and treat mental illness.

The skepticism is rooted in the fact that the majority of violent crimes are not committed by people with a mental illness, including bipolar disorders, chronic depression and schizophrenia.

"It's important for the public to realize that mental illness does not equate with dangerous violence," said Duane McBride, chairman of the Department of Behavioral Sciences at Andrews University and chairman of the Berrien County Board of Health.

An experiment in impressive

By DEBRA HIGHT - HP Correspondent | Posted: Saturday, April 27, 2013 6:00 am

BERRIEN SPRINGS - The presentations may have been puzzling, but people attending Friday's BEST Early Research Symposium at Andrews University went away impressed by the high school seniors from the Berrien County Math Science Center.

Andrews chemistry professor Desmond Murray said the students are performing college graduate level work. And they manifest an often-repressed part of human nature.

"The problem with our education system is that it kicks out curiosity," he said. "We want to get back to that. We all begin as scientists when we're born, we're curious and we're searching."

Seventeen seniors took part in the symposium, which included each explaining the scientific experiments and research they've undertaken since January and going into the lab to demonstrate what they learned. Attendees, primarily parents and educators, could query the students individually and as a group.

This was BEST's third year to showcase Math Science Center students. BEST stands for "Building Excellence in Science & Technology." Math Science Center students attend science and math classes at Andrews University during their four years of high school as part of a county-wide program sponsored by Berrien Regional Education Services Agency.

Students taking part in Friday's symposium were from Andrews Academy, Berrien Springs, Brandywine, Buchanan, Coloma, Edwardsburg and Niles high schools.

The students said they were hesitant about taking the chemistry research class this semester, but all found it worthwhile.

"Trying something new is important," Berrien Springs senior Paige Coffeen said. "It was a great experience to try something new."

Paige said she's gained a lot of respect for scientists. Her research project featured benzophenone stilbenes, the chemicals used in sunscreens.

"I thought it sounded fun. I like tanning and going to the beach," she said. "Then I had to do the work and the research."

She plans to attend Southwestern Michigan College and then transfer to Western Michigan University to study electrical engineering.

All the students had to reduce their chemistry research experience to two-minute videos as part of their presentation, and Paige's was the one shown to symposium attendees.

She interspersed phrases like "can we do an experiment?" and "hey that's a really warm beaker" with rap songs and images of her work.
Fellow Berrien Springs High School student Michaela Blake tried to develop aspirin hybrids that work better and have fewer side effects.

"I got very close to success," she said. "It was a lot of fun and I learned so much. I love science. ... I loved all of it, but the research wasn't as fun as being in the lab."

Michaela said she had planned to study neuropsychology at WMU, but she may rethink that after her chemistry research experience.

"I have a strong leaning toward psychology, but I also love the medical field," she said. "I think it would be great to research new medicines."

Andrew Smith of Berrien Springs High School performed an experiment involving multiphasic amide surfactants, or in layman's terms, soap. He showed symposium attendees how infrared rays are used to find information about particles. He plans to study computer science and engineering at Letourneau University in Texas.

Coloma High School senior Michelle Graffenius studied how to improve sutures and drug delivery. She said she plans to study biomedical engineering at the University of Michigan.

"It's been a great experience to do research like they do in college," she said. "I think it will help me."

The students said they're interested in careers ranging from science, math and engineering to computers, accounting, business and music. None mentioned chemistry.

"I'm alright with that," Murray said. "What I want to emphasize is scientific literacy. I want students to have critical thinking skills."
Andrews University’s New Seminary Dean Unfolds His Interpretation of the Death of Jesus at Loma Linda

On Thursday evening, April 18, at Loma Linda, California, the incoming Dean of the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary offered an interpretation of the death of Jesus. A native of the Czech Republic, something that became important toward the end of his presentation, his name is Jiri Moskala. The occasion was the first session of “The Cross: A Symposium on Atonement” which the Adventist Theological Society organized and the place was the Campus Hill Church.

Moskala unfolded his interpretation in three steps. In the first, he emphasized the significance of the topic, the need to approach it with a humble attitude and the importance of an inclusive theory today. He stressed the danger of allowing contemporary sensibilities to distort current interpretations.

In his second step, Mosksala reviewed eight of the theories which Christians have developed over the centuries. These are the ransom, satisfaction, moral influence, Socinian, governmental, Christus Victor, penal substitutionary and nonviolent atonement alternatives. He identified weaknesses of each; however, in keeping with his inclusive approach, he put more emphasis upon the positive contributions each one makes to our understanding of God’s character. He reviewed the contributions of several contemporary Seventh-day Adventists in the same way. These were A. Graham Maxwell, Jack Provonsha, George Knight and Dan Smith. He expressed special appreciation for the work of Norman Gulley of Southern Adventist University.

Although he highlighted positive features of all eight, Moskala’s greatest sympathies were with the penal substitutionary interpretations of sixteenth century Protestant Reformers such as Martin Luther and John Calvin. He agreed with what they wrote about the seriousness of sin, the wrath of God and the contribution of Jesus in accepting the punishment that we deserve. But he explicitly rejected the doctrines of predestination and limited atonement that say that the positive consequences of the death of Jesus apply only to those whom God has chosen in advance. He didn’t say anything one way or another about the idea of original sin or about the Anabaptist or Roman Catholic Reformations views of the time.

In his third step Moskala outlined his own “Cosmic, Substitutionary, Great Controversy Atonement Theory” and expounded it by appealing to a number of Biblical texts. This theory is “cosmic” in that it thinks of the battles with sin as more than the struggles within individuals, “substitutinary” because it says that Jesus accepted the punishment that humans deserve and part of the “Great Controversy” because of its focus on the universe-wide conflict about the character of God. He described the atoning or reconciling accomplishments of the death of Jesus as “complete but not completed.” Only at the very end of the “Great Controversy” and the final elimination of sin will God be fully vindicated.

Centuries ago the Czeck Jon Hus declared that “The Truth of God will Prevail!” Moskala reported. During the “Velvet Revolution” Vaclav Havel proclaimed that “Truth and Love will Prevail!” Moskala’s own proclamation: “Truth, Love and Justice will Prevail!”

Female Roomate(s) Wanted, Fall 2013
Looking for someone to share an apartment in August for the fall 2013 semester. Either an undergraduate senior or graduate student.

I'd prefer the apartment:

- to be within walking distance to Andrews
- have two bedrooms
- have laundry facilities on-site or nearby

I'll be starting my master's program in Special Education. I'm easy to get along with and do not mind having friends over. I work at Andrews Academy. Anything else you'd like to know about me, please contact me at umanarm@andrews.edu

Student Movement Staff Wanted

The Student Movement is looking for staff for the 2013-2014 school year! We are currently working to build a team of talented, committed students who will completely revolutionize student journalism on the Andrews University campus. All positions will require meeting attendance, innovative thinking, and the willingness to work as a team.

Previous experience is preferred, but not required. All you must have is a passion for truth and storytelling – and good writing skills.

We are currently hiring for the following positions:

News Editor
In charge of finding and assigning stories about campus news – big events, policy changes, campus disturbances, etc.

Ideas Editor
This section deals with opinions, perspectives, and controversial topics. This editor must be devoted to balance, fairness, and quality in writing – and they’ll need to find writers can discuss issues intelligently every week.

Sports Editor
This person needs to be excited about AU Sports! The section includes Cardinal news, Intramurals, and other campus athletics.

People Editor
Andrews students are interesting and diverse. This section will tell their spotlight them and the interesting things they’re doing – whether that’s climbing a mountain, backpacking through Indonesia, or learning how to play the bagpipes. This editor must constantly look for fascinating people and tell their stories.

Arts & Entertainment Editor
This section spotlights local artists, reviews campus arts events, and includes reviews and musings on various topics related to entertainment and the arts.

Assistant Layout Editor
Content doesn’t matter if it’s unreadable. This graphic designer will assist the Layout Editor in designing the newspaper every week.

Multimedia Manager
Responsible for website content creation and maintenance. May also use Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, and other social media to promote the SM.

Business Manager
In charge of managing the budget and, perhaps the most important task, making sure everyone gets paid!

Distribution Manager
This person gets the paper from hot off the presses and into the hands of students. This job requires a lot of legwork – and we’ll be trying to increase circulation this year.

If you are interested, please send a brief statement of purpose, resume, and (where applicable) 2-3 writing samples to melodieroschman@yahoo.ca.
