An overview of the plans for the new Health & Wellness Center and governance issues were highlighted at President Niels-Erik Andreasen's spring board briefing held on Monday, June 3, 2013.

The President’s Report consisted of a presentation of the campus master plan, entitled “A Campus for Health and Wellness.” The plan, designed by the urban design studio of the School of Architecture, Art & Design, envisions new buildings and campus planning meant to guide the University for the next 10 years. The board voted to accept the updated campus plan. The School of Architecture, Art & Design received a first-place award from the State of Michigan for their campus master plan.

The board voted, upon the recommendation of the President’s Council, to locate the Health & Wellness Center west of the Howard Performing Arts Center. Andreasen said, “I think it was a very important board meeting—it decided what the campus would look like the next ten years. This is constructive board action and decision, and I personally attach a great deal of importance to that.”

Larry Schalk, vice president for Financial Administration and chair of the Health & Wellness Center Site & Cost Committee, has contacted seven firms that plan campus facilities. Three were identified to come on campus and work with administration, and then one will be chosen to help design, locate and shape the footprint and elevation of the new facility.

In the Provost’s Report, Andrea Luxton summarized the response of the North Central Accreditation Association’s Higher Learning Commission to the focused site visit on March 11 and 12. She reported that the visit went well, and the Commission advised the board on one matter of governance.

After reading the University bylaws, a Commission member noted that the laws state that the board appoints the president and all other administrators and staff. The Commission member noted that this stated practice is not considered best practice, and “it’s not even our practice,” says Andreasen. Currently, the board appoints the president after a search process. The president then recommends the other officers of the University to the board for approval. Faculty and staff members are recommended to the provost from the deans and the board then confirms those names. The board put forward an action to authorize the administration to present wording for a revised bylaw at the next board meeting.

Larry Schalk gave a preliminary final report on operations for the current fiscal year, followed by a summary of the year-end state of operations as of April 30, 2013. Due to a number of factors, the University fell short of its $3 million projected gain, ending the year with $136,000. The primary reason was lower than budgeted summer 2012 and undergraduate enrollment tuition, higher than expected utility expenditures and under-production of some auxiliary operations. Andreasen noted that current trends are looking good. Summer 2013 enrollment numbers are higher than 2012, and the University’s investments are doing well in the financial markets.

Schalk also gave a preliminary report on the projected cost of the Health & Wellness Center, approximately $17–$18M, and what entities will be included in the new facility: Center for Health Promotions, Recreation Center and the Department of Public Health & Wellness. The current Johnson Gymnasium, Beaty Pool and Beaty Gym will also be remodeled. The president will continue to talk with the owners of the buildings surrounding the new Center—particularly the residents near PMC, Integrated Marketing & Communication, and Pioneer Memorial Church.

The board also approved a plan to refinance Timber Ridge Retirement Center, which is projected to save the University and retirement center roughly $75,000 per year, which will be split. They also approved a recommendation from the Investment Committee to allow 5% of the return on investment from the University’s long-term endowment funds to be paid out to student scholarships and endowed faculty chairs. The Investment Committee recommended that Unrestricted Funds be invested as 50% in equities and 50% in bonds and the board voted to approve this recommendation as well.

A presentation of insurance comparisons for aviation programs revealed that Andrews Airpark’s current coverage is far above any other comparable aviation program in the nation. The board made a recommendation that the General Conference Insurance Committee reduce insurance coverage for the Andrews Airpark from $50 million to $10 million, slated to save $50–$70,000 in premiums each year.

Each time the board convenes a special presentation is given for the purpose of board education. At the June meeting, Lowell Cooper, General Conference vice president, gave a talk regarding board independence and worldwide governance.

The board also voted the following new appointments and changes in rank/position.

Two engineering students, Robert Jewett, a senior studying mechanical engineering, and Atniel Quetz, who graduated in May with a BS in engineering, won honorable mention in the student category of the 2013 International Aluminum Extrusion Design Competition for their design, "Custom Contour Furniture."

Jewett and Quetz's design was one of more than 90 student entries, ranging from plans for a solar-powered outdoor bulletin board to a park bench that squeegees itself to sustainable refugee housing. The Andrews design duo created the plans for customizable furniture created out of a series of aluminum parts.

Jewett and Quetz’s design utilizes principles of extrusion, forcing heated metal out through a custom-shaped opening (like squeezing toothpaste out of a tube) that allows multiple copies of a part to be created.

The duo first heard of aluminum extrusion during an engineering class taught by Boon-Chai Ng, professor of engineering. Their classmates Andrew Roderick and Brian Booth had recently won a 3D redesign challenge, and their success inspired Jewett and Quetz to try their hand at competing too. Their first design was just a chair, but then they thought, "Why stop at the chair?"

Their submission to the contest ended up being a system of 12 interlocking aluminum parts that can be combined into a number of different furniture shapes, including several different tables and chairs. Because aluminum is rust-resistant and also aesthetically pleasing, the furniture can be used indoors or outdoors. Quetz and Jewett planned and designed the project in their spare hours last semester—"it was more or less a non-curricular activity, although the school was behind us the whole way," says Jewett.

This May, 13 students’ designs were recognized with prizes of varying levels; Jewett and Quetz were awarded honorable mention and $250 for their "well-thought-out functionality of extrusion to create a system of parts that can be assembled into a variety of purposes," said judge David Asher of Bonnell Aluminum in Newnan, Ga.

Jewett particularly enjoyed the experience and he hopes to do computer-aided design (CAD) for a company in the future. "There's nothing more exciting than taking a concept and turning it into reality through the use of software," he says. "As a future mechanical engineer I would like to work in the automotive field or other field dealing with outdoor recreation, and I particularly enjoy designing."

The annual competition for students and professionals is sponsored by the Extrusion Technology for Aluminum Profiles Foundation (ET Foundation) and the Aluminum Extruders Council. The goal of the competition is "to promote the understanding and use of extruded aluminum profiles, as well as to highlight innovations and recognize excellence in aluminum extrusion design," says the site's website. For more information, visit www.etfoundation.org.
Ledesma Guest Edits Award-Winning JAE Issue :: Andrews University

The Journal of Adventist Education recently won the Distinguished Achievement Award for Whole Publication Design for its theme issue “Principalship and Administration” (Oct/Nov 2012) from the Association of Educational Publishers (AEP) on June 4. Janet Ledesma, associate professor of leadership and Educational Leadership coordinator in the Andrews University Department of Leadership, guest edited and coordinated this issue.

Ledesma spent most of the spring semester of 2012 assembling articles, arranging for peer review, conducting research, and doing editorial duties, including writing a guest editorial. Ledesma worked closely with Journal of Adventist Education editor Beverly Robinson-Rumble and leadership doctoral student Evelyn Savory in constructing the issue.

“I am extremely grateful for Dr. Ledesma’s assistance in bringing this project to fruition,” says Robinson-Rumble, “as it had been stalled for several years and I had nearly given up on ever getting the issue into print.” Robinson and Ledesma submitted the issue to both the Association of Educational Publishers and the Associated Church Press.

At the 2013 AEP Awards Gala in June in Washington D.C., Robinson-Rumble accepted the award, accompanied by Lisa Beardsley-Hardy, General Conference Director of Education, and Harry Knox, JAE art director. The Journal of Adventist Education also placed as a finalist in three categories: Learned Article, Whole Publication Design, and Feature Article.

The Journal of Adventist Education has won AEP awards on multiple occasions, including Distinguished Achievement Awards for separate articles, feature articles and entire publications.

The Journal of Adventist Education, begun in 1978, is a resource for Christian K–12 teachers, university professors and administrators of all levels. The journal publishes eight issues a year, and includes practical and theoretical articles on praxis, pedagogy and integrating faith in the classroom.

The programs are free of charge, thanks to generous sponsorships from the Berrien Springs/Eau Claire Rotary Club and Indiana Michigan Power.

All programs are on Thursday evenings at 6:30 p.m.

History Center, 313 N. Cass Street, Berrien Springs, MI 49103

June 20: "Thus Fell Tecumseh"
Historian and author Frank Kuron will present a program on his new book, Thus Fell Tecumseh. The program covers the events of the Great Lakes region during the War of 1812 leading up to the death of Tecumseh, leader of the Shawnee, in 1813. He will examine how and by whose hand Tecumseh was killed in the Battle of the Thames.

June 27: "Lest We Forget: Black Civil War Soldiers and Sailors"
Author, director, filmmaker and Emmy-nominated writer/producer Jeff O'den will present a program including a film on the history of black men and women and their struggle to gain their freedom before and during the Civil War. He is the official photographer and historian of the 102nd US Colored Troop, Michigan's only black Civil War regiment.

July 11: "Michigan's Wild Life"
Naturalist Randy Baker will present a program about Michigan's Wildlife. Live animals and biofacts will be used to teach about the amazing birds, reptiles, mammals, and amphibians found within Michigan. He will discuss how Michigan's wildlife has changed due to human activity over the centuries, its current state, and what the future might hold for the Great Lakes region.

July 18: "Not Just a Man's War: Michigan Women and the Civil War"
Emily Fijol, Assistant Director of the Michigan Women's Historical Center & Hall of Fame, will discuss how life in Michigan changed when men left to fight in the Civil War. In addition to their regular duties, the women who remained at home assumed responsibilities previously held by men while sending supplies to support soldiers far from home. Other Michigan women moved to the frontline, serving in hospitals and, for some bold women, even on battlefields.
July 25: "1875 Great Lakes Schooner Captain"

Take a musical journey on a Great Lakes Schooner with Captain Bill Thomas as portrayed by Michael Deren. Using accordion and concertina, he shares the stories, songs, and history of the Great Lakes Region including geography, transportation, and conservation.

Stevensville, Mich.

Registration will take place from 7-11 a.m. and the ride will continue until 2 p.m.

The Berrien County Cancer Service Bike Ride is one of the major fundraisers for the Berrien County Cancer Service. All proceeds from this year's bike ride will benefit the Berrien County Cancer Service, Inc. The Cancer Service provides free nursing care for residents of Berrien County who have a cancer diagnosis. Your registration fee and/or contribution will help us continue our work on behalf of cancer patients and their families.

About the 2013 Berrien County Cancer Service Bike Ride

All of our routes were changed for our 2011 event and were enjoyed by everyone. We have kept those same routes for 2013. Experienced cyclists will enjoy going east of BCCS on long, straight, country roads with minimal traffic. You will ride through the rolling hills, farmlands and fruit orchards of Eau Claire and Berrien Springs.

The 25- and 15-mile routes are family oriented with flat terrain and some rolling hills with the Sag at scenic Hess Lake Park in Baroda.

Our goal is to have all routes Safe-Smooth-Scenic. We're confident you'll find your route so nice that you'll want to ride it twice!

2004 Toyota Corolla S - $5,000

I'm selling my 2004 Toyota Corolla S. It has a spoiler on the trunk. The car runs great. Very good on gas. It has 109xxx miles.
Black interior, silver exterior.
It has some body issues, which does not affect the frame of the car.
It will eventually need a new tensioner for the fan belt. As a result, it makes some noise when the engine's cold. Once it warms up, the noise eventually fades. The mechanic says it is not an immediate detriment and it will not leave you stranded any time soon.
The car also needs a new AC compressor (or if you can rebuild it).
I am the original owner. Clean title.
KBB suggests that it is worth more than what I am asking so jump on this deal FAST.
I'm asking $5,000 O.B.O. All serious offers will be considered. Interested? Call CJ at 770-728-2480.
