Survey: This is My Church?

We've just concluded the series "This is My Church?" with Pastor David Asscherick. You can help us now by doing two things. First, pray that the work that took place last week continues to be fruitful for God's kingdom. Even now our follow up team is working through the dozens of requests for Baptisms. Second, help us reflect on the experience from last week by taking this survey that will take just a few minutes.

You can fill out this survey by going to this link: http://tinyurl.com/mychurch13

Feel free to share this link with others that you know attended.

General Conference Policy in Relation to the Ordination of Women

Dr. Gary Patterson
November 2, 2013 3:30 pm
Chan Shun Hall, Andrews University

Many clergy and lay members in the North American Adventist church support the ordination of women to the ministry. The General Conference administration representing the global Adventist church organization has opposed the ordination of women. Dr. Patterson, a retired church administrator, has argued that individual union conferences in the North American Adventist church have the administrative authority to ordain women, as some have now done.

PCI Compliance Training

PCI Compliance Training

This training is mandatory for anyone who processes, stores, or transmits cardholder data here on the Andrews University campus. In order to protect payment cardholders’ data the Payment Card Industry has established Data Security Standards for merchants processing credit card transactions. Compliance with these standards is required of ALL merchants that processes, store, or transmit cardholder data.

All Departments of the University which accept payment (credit) cards for payment of goods or services must comply with the policies and procedures of the standards that have been created by PCI. Failure to comply with this policy could result in the loss of the University’s ability to accept credit card transactions for payment.

During the PCI Compliance Training, the Data Security standards will be discussed, including the importance of compliance for ALL merchants, and the consequences for failing to comply.

Please plan to attend PCI training during one of the following dates:

- Tuesday, November 5, 12:00-1:00pm: Lincoln Room at the Campus Center
- Wednesday, November 6, 2:30-4:30pm: Whirlpool Room at Chan Shun Hall

For further information, or if you have any questions, please feel free to contact Glenn (Chip) Meekma at ex. 3484, or email him at meekma@andrews.edu

Student's Father Passes Away

The father of Andrews University student Rose Vargas passed away suddenly October 27, 2013.

Although they would never ask for themselves, friends of the family have created a donation account in order to provide opportunities for others to help the family in a very practical way—by aiding them financially as they face funeral expenses and other medical bills.

Click here to donate, leave messages for the Vargas family and for more information.

Second Annual "Picture This" Contest

Celebrating National Distance Learning Week, November 11–15!
The School of Distance Education invites you to participate in our second annual "Picture This" contest. Winners of this year's contest will have their photo featured in the Andrews Agenda and will receive a brand new Logitech webcam!

To participate:
- Submit a photo of yourself in your creative study space. We want to know where you study and most importantly, HOW you study (tablet, laptop, in a plane, on a tree).
- Look for your picture on our Facebook page and have your friends and family "like" your picture!
- The photo with the most "likes" will be the winner.

Send your digital photo (jpeg, 300 dpi) to sraj@andrews.edu.

Include the following:
- ID number (must be a current student)
- First/last name
- Grade level
- Mailing address
- Phone number
- Access PHOTO RELEASE FORM HERE (click, complete, save and email)

Deadline to enter is November 1!
Voting begins November 4 on Facebook.

AICER Symposium with Dr. Ostrander
Andrews International Center for Educational Research (AICER) is re-offering Dr. Ostranders’ presentation on writing theoretical frameworks. Students and faculty are invited to attend this very informative presentation on Tuesday October 29 at 5:30 p.m.

Title: How to Write a Theoretical Framework

Presenter: Dr. Raymond Ostrander, Coordinator of Master of Arts Teaching Program (MIT) and Professor of Teaching, Learning and Curriculum

Whether you are writing a thesis, dissertation, or an article, the ability to craft a cogent and coherent theoretical framework is crucial to the process. Dr. Ostrander will present a practical, four-step process for writing a theoretical framework. These four steps include (1) Looking at the larger theoretical base of your study topic, (2) presenting a brief historical overview of theoretical thinking related to your topic, (3) describing the current context of theoretical thinking, and (4) presenting a series of logic statements specific to your study that identify the variables your study addresses.

Face-to-face participants meet in Bell Hall 013.

Online participants to login as “Guest” at https://andrews.adobeconnect.com/_a877709416/research/ or http://www.andrews.edu/sed/aicer/researchwebinars/ whether or not they are registered Andrews students.

Adventist Forum Presents: Dr. Gary Patterson

Adventist Forum presents Dr. Gary Patterson, speaking on "General Conference Policy in Relation to the Ordination of Women," on Saturday, Nov. 2, 2013 at 3:30 p.m. in Garber Auditorium in Chan Shun Hall on the campus of Andrews University. Dr. Patterson is a retired field secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Many clergy and lay members in the North American Division of the General Conference support the ordination of women to the ministry. The General Conference administration representing the global Adventist church organization has opposed the ordination of women. Dr. Patterson, a retired church administrator, argues that individual union conferences in the North American Division have the administrative authority to ordain women, as some have now done.

Dr. Patterson is a retired pastor and church administrator who holds a Doctor of Ministry. He has served as the president of two conferences, an officer of the North American Division of the General Conference, a member of the General Conference administrative committee, and a general field secretary of the General Conference.

At the time of the Waco crisis he was assistant to the president of the denomination's North American Division. He was also the founding director of the Office of Mission Awareness for the General Conference. Over the years he has written for the independent Adventist press, both before and after his retirement.

Adventist Forum is open to the public. All are welcome to attend. For additional information, contact Art Robertson at robertsa2@earthlink.net or call 471-7150.

Adventist Engaged Encounter

Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE), an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, is being held on the Andrews University campus. The weekend experience offers couples the insights, tools, and confidence to enrich their relationship and strengthen their love and commitment for one another. For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage.

AEE will take place the weekend of November 8-10 2013. For registration information, contact the Undergraduate Leadership Program at aee@andrews.edu or 269-471-6636.

Eric Paddock has been hired as the interim Gymnics coach for the 2013–2014 school year at Andrews University. Paddock holds an associate’s degree in pre-physical therapy, and a bachelor’s degree in sport studies with a concentration in human performance from Southern Adventist University.

With a background as boys’ director at two youth summer camps and coaching in the Gym-Kids Gymnastics Program in Collegedale, Tenn., Paddock brings excellent experience in leadership, coaching and teambuilding to his new role.

“We are committed to doing everything within our power to ensure the Gymnics team has a successful and rewarding year under the leadership of Mr. Paddock,” says Emmanuel Rudatsikira, dean of the School of Health Professions where the Gymnics program resides.

Paddock began coaching on Sept. 15, 2013, and will lead the Gymnics team for the entire school year during which time the School of Health Professions will be coordinating the search for a permanent coach.

“I’m very honored and excited to have this opportunity to become a member of the Gymnics family,” says Paddock. “The tradition of Adventist gymnastics is rooted deeply here at Andrews University, and I aim to continue the pursuit of excellence here with the help of God, the University, and the community. We appreciate your prayers as we endeavor to positively affect our community throughout the year.

ADRA Reports on Student Visit

Agenda :: Andrews University http://www.andrews.edu/agenda/category/Andrews+in+the+News
A woman has been named president of a Seventh-day Adventist church conference for the first time in the denomination’s 150-year history.

Pastor Sandra Roberts was elected 72-28 as president of the Southeastern California Conference (SECC) at a constituency session held on Sunday at La Sierra University church in Riverside, California.

Pastor Roberts has spent the last 10 years serving as the SECC’s executive secretary. Since receiving her Masters degree from Andrews University in 1984, she has worked as a teacher, chaplain, youth director and pastor.

In 2006, Pastor Roberts completed her doctorate in ministry at Claremont School of Theology.
Following her election as president, Pastor Roberts challenged the audience to follow Jesus in the work that needs to be done throughout the territory of SECC.

“Following Him means that we are going to get our feet dirty with the dust of Southern California,” said Pastor Roberts in an official news release on SECC’s website.
“We must do this without fear that differences will pull us apart. Christ will always be our anchor point.

Pastor Roberts’ election comes more than a year and a half after the SECC announced its intention to ordain female pastors.
The Conference’s decision was made despite world church leaders repeatedly asking its regions to refrain from moving independently on women’s ordination.

The Church is currently engaged in an in-depth study into the practice and parameters of ordination, with a report on the subject to be presented at the 2015 General Conference Session.

At Sunday’s constituency meeting, Pastor Ricardo Graham, president of the Pacific Union Conference, passed on a message from Adventist world church president Ted Wilson asking the Conference not to move ahead with the election.

In his comments, Pastor Wilson reiterated that the election of a woman president would not be recognised by the General Conference.

Delegates also had the opportunity to speak before the election. While there were some opposing views, most people expressed their support for Pastor Roberts as president.

“God doesn’t play favourites,” said Pastor Gerald Penick, the outgoing SECC president. Pastor Penick challenged the attendees to trust God to lead the way.

The SECC is the administrative centre for a region that contains 154 Seventh-day Adventist churches with more than 70,000 members.
During the constituency session, delegates also voted through the appointments of five other key administrators. Among them was Pastor Jonathan Park, who steps into the executive secretary role left by Pastor Roberts.
The Southern Adventist University's Symphony Orchestra, led by Laurie Redmer Minner, will present a free concert with special guest violinist Carla Trynchuk on Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Collegedale Church of Seventh-day Adventists.

The performance will feature "Overture to Prince Igor" by Alexander Borodin along with "Variations on a Theme by Haydn" and "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D major" by Johannes Brahms.

Ms. Trynchuk, a graduate of The Julliard School of Music, has performed as a soloist for orchestras throughout North America and Europe. She currently serves as a professor of music at Andrews University in Michigan.

For more information, call 236-2880.
Andrews University Singers to open 2013-14 Fine Arts Series

The opening concert in the 2013-14 Fine Arts Series of the Presbyterian Church of La Porte will featuring the Andrews University Singers, directed by Stephen Zork.

Zork is the director of Choral Studies at Andrews University, a position he has held since 1991. His primary responsibility is the programming of and conducting the Department of Music’s choirs: University Chorale, University Singers, Canta Bella and Pioneer Men’s Chorus.

He keeps an active schedule guest-conducting choral festivals and lecturing throughout the United States and abroad.

Zork holds professional memberships in the National Association of Teachers of Singing and the American Choral Director’s Association. He holds a Master’s Degree in Choral Conducting from Pacific Lutheran University. The three choral conductors who most inspired him, and with whom he has sung professionally, are Dale Warland, Gregg Smith, and the late Robert Shaw.

Every year, the 100-voice University Chorale performs major symphonic choral works with the Andrews University Symphony Orchestra. These works include Bach’s Magnificat, Corad Susa’s Christmas Garland, Haydn’s Te Deum, Rutter’s Requiem, and Mozart’s Mass in C. They have also had the privilege of performing in concert with musical artists such as Bobby McFerrin, King’s Singers, and David Benoit.

The Music of Creation is the theme expressed throughout the choral program, which will begin with the work, “God, Your Voice Called Forth Creation” by John Horman, commissioned to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Fine Arts Board of The Presbyterian Church of La Porte.

Included in the lighter fare of the program will be the performance of several folk songs such as “Skylark” arranged by John Rutter, Stephen Foster’s “Some Folks” arranged by Mark Hayes, the Brazilian samba “Aquarela do Brasil” arranged by University Singers’ member Marcelo Martins, and the tender “Good Night, Dear Heart” arranged by Dan Forrest and set to the words of Mark Twain as inscribed on his daughter’s tombstone. The centerpiece of the concert is the three-movement work “Gloria” by John Rutter.

The event will take place at 4 p.m. Nov. 3. Childcare will be provided and there will be a free-will offering and a reception after the concert to meet the choir members and their director.

The church is located at 307 Kingsbury Ave., La Porte. For more information, call the church at (219) 362-6219 or access the web page at www.yourhomechurch.com.

Other events in the series are Carey Scheck & Friends on March 2, 2014; Winners’ Art Exhibition, May 18-May 30, 2014; Duo Pianists Andrew Remillard and Edgar Swarthout on Sept. 21, 2014.

3 Lessons for International Students About Dating in the U.S.

By Katelyn Ruiz

International students should speak to a significant other about expectations to avoid cross-cultural confusion.

Understanding the influences and misunderstandings that come from crossed signals is the key to happier, more successful college friendships. Dating rituals and expectations for casual friendships are shaped by where we come from as well.

International students who encounter people from other countries know that it makes sense to pay attention to those expectations.

When I was first dating my husband, he was an international student from Nicaragua studying in Canada. His customs dictated a very slow, but intentional approach to finding, wooing and keeping a significant other.

He never officially asked me out using a variation of the question, "Would you like to be my girlfriend?" Instead, he told me that he was having a lot of fun spending time with me and would like to get to know me better. Having said that and having me agree was enough in his mind to establish our exclusivity as a couple. If he hadn't kissed me right after, we could have "dated" for months and I would never have known it!

Since coming to the U.S., I've had several friends encounter the same uncertainty when it comes to relationships. Because of cultural differences, they view and value dating in ways students born and bred in the U.S. may not.

College relationships are a part of the study-abroad experience, but to avoid some of the embarrassment and misunderstanding that is inherent in intercultural relationships, there are a few things to keep in mind.

1. Dating can be many things, even accidental. North American culture cultivates an understanding of dating that involves both spending time together and shared activities. While one or the other of these options does not necessarily imply a committed dating relationship, you may have some questions to answer if you participate in both.

A friend of mine from Africa spent a lot of time talking and studying with a classmate of his, and after being separated for one of the school breaks, he was convinced they should marry. Unfortunately, her view of the time they spent together was different from his. She saw their relationship as platonic, while his experience indicated that two people would only be together for that amount of time and participate in the same extracurricular activities if they were a couple.

2. Dating is known by many different names. In the girls' dorm at my university, there was confusion one night over a South American suitor who showed up to "court his beloved." We were all pretty sure we knew what he meant, but the young lady he was there to pick up simply thought she was going out to dinner with her boyfriend.

It's a bit of a silly twist of words, but ideas lost in translation can lead to surprising outcomes. I made the mistake of inviting someone to "hook up" with me later, only to learn that this slang phrase is used to refer to a type of intimate activity that I was not at all suggesting.

Whether you're "attached," "going out" or "seeing someone," make sure to ask questions about what you will be doing and with whom in order to clarify the expectations and make an informed decision.
3. Dating can occur during group events. Sometimes group events can act as intimate venues. While my husband and I were dating, we hardly ever went on what I would call "dates." We went to concerts with friends, cheered at our school's athletic events and volunteered together, but these activities rarely included lit candles and fresh flowers.

I was anticipating a more dressed-up Hollywood approach to dating, but that was based on the culture I'd been raised in. My then-boyfriend's influences emphasized a more community-based, collectively shared dating experience. I just had to learn to tell the difference.

The extracurricular advantage of traveling for school is that you'll meet a lot of fun and wonderful people. Knowing where you stand with each of the new faces is an important part of shaping the connection you want and making it last.

Regardless of heritage and history, relationships are tricky and throwing an international flavor into the mix can make everything more complicated. If it's worth having, it's worth the time and effort to make it work.

Katelyn Ruiz, from Canada, is pursuing an interdisciplinary master's degree in communication and English from Andrews University.

Help Verlyn Benson
Verlyn Benson (former Dean of College of Technology and now Assistant to Provost and President) has been stricken with a rare and very serious form of liver cancer. The tumor is large and invasive. He is going to Mayo Clinic weekly for chemo treatments and blood work. This is expensive and there have been a number of requests from those who would like to help with his heavy travel costs. On a website for donations, "Give Forward", a page has been set up for contributing to Verlyn's expenses: http://gfwd.at/1d8Cy9e. He also is blogging at: http://www.caringbridge.org/visit/verlynbenson. (You may make donations to the Caring Bridge but they are to support that website and not Verlyn’s medical travel expenses.)

Geraldine Neidigh
March 9, 1920 - October 12, 2013

Obituary

Geraldine Bates Neidigh, 93, of Niles, died at home on October 12, 2013. She was born March 9, 1920, in Akron, Ohio, the daughter of David F. and Marie (Fitzgerald) Bates. She graduated from Knoxville High School in Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1938 and married Rodger V. Neidigh on September 17, 1944. She spent most of her life in the Knoxville area and moved to Michigan in 2005 to be with her daughter. Geraldine's life was filled with caring acts for others, both in Tennessee and Michigan. She is famous for her chocolate chip cookies and her ring-a-ling pastries. She was very active in the Knoxville First Seventh-day Adventist Church as Vacation Bible School leader, children's Sabbath School leader, and church treasurer. She knew her Lord and Savior personally and now rests in His love. Her parents, brother James, and husband Rodger have preceded her in death. She is survived by her daughter, Carol Neidigh Williams of Niles; her grandsons, Michael Williams of Oceanside, California, and Bryan Williams of Parker, Colorado; and her great-granddaughter, Charlie Williams of Oceanside. Geraldine's service will be at 7 p.m. Friday, October 18, at the Niles Westside Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1105 Grant Street, where friends may visit with the family beginning at 6 p.m. Memorial donations may be made to the Niles Adventist School Building Fund, 1105 Grant Street, Niles, MI 49120; or to the charity of the donor's choice. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery in Knoxville. Allred Funeral Home, Berrien Springs, is assisting the family with arrangements. Online messages may be left at www.allredfuneralhome.com.

Veterans Day Event in Buchanan

This year’s Veterans Day program sponsored by the Buchanan American Legion features a look at another aspect of World War II history. While American servicemen and women were fighting overseas, this area was playing host to hundreds of German prisoners of war.

Retired Western Michigan University professor Howard Poole will speak three times in Buchanan as part of this year’s Veterans Day activities. Poole will speak at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11 at the Buchanan American Legion, at 7 p.m. that night at Buchanan High School and the next morning at 9 a.m. to students at BHS.

Poole is a Sister Lakes resident and retired from Western Michigan in 2004. Since then, he has researched a variety of topics including the history of the Sister Lakes area and what happened when German POWs were brought into Southwest Michigan to work on area farms during World War II.

Poole’s research has uncovered how area farms used German prisoners of war for farm labor during the war and what life was like for the half million German POWs shipped to the United States during that time period. He has also found information about a Japanese American internment camp in Southwest Michigan.
Past Veterans Day programs have given people the chance to hear about other aspects of World War II history with speakers coming in to talk on topics ranging from the role of women in the war and the service of African Americans and Native Americans. The legion has also brought in survivors of major battles and massacres to speak on Veterans Day.

Raku Firing Workshop

BUCHANAN ART CENTER OFFERS HANDS-ON RAKU FIRING WORKSHOP

On Saturday, October 26, the Buchanan Art Center will offer a Hands-on RAKU Firing Workshop from 8 AM – 4 PM. Potters and clay students with any level of expertise are invited to join in this exciting, immediate firing experience. Please be aware that this is a HANDS-ON WORKSHOP, not a public walk-through fund raising event. Participants are expected to assist in setting up kilns, glazing, firing and cleaning up after the firing, so dress for action outside, and plan to attend all day. Bring your own bisque-fired ware and lunch.
