AICER presentations for the Spring 2014 will resume on Tuesday, January 14, at 5:30 p.m. in Bell Hall, Room 013, with a presentation entitled, "A Qualitative Study of the Integration of Faith and Learning: The Levels of Integration Model"

Presenter: Dr. Pauline Sawyer, Associate Professor of Psychology at Oakwood College

In this presentation Dr. Sawyer will discuss how professors at a faith-based institution integrate faith and learning? The results from the qualitative grounded theory study involving semi-structured interviews of twenty-eight faculty indicate that faculty integrate faith both in and out of the classroom, in practical as well as theoretical ways that positively impact the students both academically and spiritually. She will propose a model of the levels of integration to summarize the findings, and compare the model with other integration models.

Face-to-face participants meet in Bell Hall 013.

Fourth Annual Graduate Students Consecration Service
U.S. Senate Chaplain Barry Black is the featured speaker for the Graduate Students Consecration Service on Sabbath, Jan. 18, at 10 a.m. in the Howard Performing Arts Center. His sermon is titled, "The Blessing of Adversity."

The School of Graduate Studies & Research hosts this annual event, which is designed to recognize the graduate student population and to consecrate their pursuit of higher education. “Philosophically, Seventh-day Adventist education is holistic. Therefore, our students should experience intellectual stimulation, social interaction, emotional well-being, and spiritual renewal,” says Christon Arthur, dean of the School of Graduate Studies & Research. "The Graduate Students Consecration service calls students to holiness, spiritual connectedness, and consecration."

On June 27, 2003, Rear Admiral Barry C. Black (Ret.) was elected the 62nd Chaplain of the Senate. He started his work on July 7, 2003. Prior to Capitol Hill, Chaplain Black served in the U.S. Navy for more than 27 years, ending his distinguished career as the Chief of Navy Chaplains. The Senate elected its first chaplain in 1789. In addition to opening the Senate each day in prayer, Chaplain Black provides counseling and spiritual care for Senators, their families and staff—a combined constituency of more than 7,000 people. He also meets with Senators about spiritual and moral issues, assists with research on theological and biblical questions, and facilitates discussion and reflection small groups among Senators and staff. He also conducts marriage enrichment counseling and officiates at weddings, funerals, and memorial services. Chaplain Black initiates and participates in special and seasonal observances, leads interdenominational prayer gatherings, and cultivates relationships with local clergy and leaders of humanitarian agencies.

President Niels-Erik Andreasen and Provost Andrea Luxton will address students during the service. Each graduate student was presented with a copy of Black’s inspiring book.

Leader: Consecrate all graduates here gathered, as well as others on this campus, with the wisdom taught of love, to understand the needs of family and friends. Give us a cheerful heart to meet the opportunities, anxieties and challenges of the coming year.

Happy New Year! Welcome to the 2014 Graduate Students’ Consecration Service – a time to commit and consecrate ourselves to God. The start of a semester is a time of resolution and new beginnings, more so when the start of the new semester coincides with the start of a new year. As we begin this semester and new year, let us remember that God has promised to do a new thing in us. We do not know for sure what that new thing will be. Yet we know that it will be in our best interest and for our greatest good.

There is so much for which we may be thankful at this time of year. May the spirit of thanksgiving will permeate our journey all year long.

As we begin another semester and year, let us consecrate ourselves and run with patience the race that is before us, ever looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith (Hebrews 12:1-2). Let us pace ourselves and cast off everything that will hinder our progress. Let us commit to diligence, integrity, and excellence as we continue to be re-created in the image of God and molded for ministry. I pray that God will continue to richly bless you and yours.

Congratulations to the Bon Appétit Management Company Terrace Café at Andrews University for receiving their Great Expectation III (GE III) certification for the first time. The Bon Appétit staff has worked persistently to contribute to the unique dining experience of every guest in order to achieve this accomplishment.

The certification requires a rigorous inspection of specific details of Andrews’ operations including product sourcing, cleanliness, service standards, décor and food presentation. The GE III document breaks down these traits into specific measures that are applied station-by-station and program-by-program.

"GE III certification is the honor given to those accounts that completely adhere to the many operating standards of Bon Appétit," says J. Mark Daniels, general manager and director of Bon Appétit. "It is a stringent process and the standards are high. There are only a small percentage of accounts nationwide that have earned this coveted certification."

Carrie Buckley, director of merchandising at Bon Appétit, was impressed by aspects of the cafeteria’s operation including the restaurant-quality breakfast with a made-to-order omelet station, the diverse vegan and vegetarian-only menu, the exceptional salad bar, the perfect sanitation and the organizational and descriptive signage. The Thai pesto was such a favorite among the reviewers that they even asked for the recipe.

The GE III certificate was created by Michael Bauccio, chief operating officer of Bon Appétit, to provide each unit with a standardized set of standards and operating procedures. These include alignment with the philosophy of cooking and purchasing that make Bon Appétit unique in the marketplace, creating the look and feel of an attractive and professional café, enhancing the experience of the guests, providing for guests with special dietary needs by clearly labeling food, enlightening guests to healthy food options and ethical food usage, creating a safe environment for everyone and, of course, guest and client satisfaction.

"In many ways this is the culmination of the efforts of myself, HR and the management team to build a strong group of individuals who are committed to excellence," says Daniels. "It took a few years to make the changes, but the effort has been worthwhile and we are now ready to explore new and exciting ways to serve our guests and grow our market share in the community."
Two Advancement Staff Earn Certification

Date: January 14, 2014

Audrey Castelbouno, associate vice president for development, and T. Ryan Keough, senior development officer at Andrews University, received the prestigious credential of Certified Fund Raising Executive (CFRE) from CFRE International in fall 2013.

Founded in 2001, CFRE International is a nonprofit organization that provides a reliable certification process for fundraising professionals. This program is the only professional certification for fundraisers and is known for being a difficult test that the majority of applicants fail multiple times before passing. Both Keough and Castelbouno, however, passed on the first go.

"With two certified fundraisers on this campus, it is a confirmation that we have a solid program in place at Andrews," says Keough. "CFRE is an ethical fundraising program. When you are working with people and their finances, ethics must be held to the highest standard. We want Andrews donors to know they can trust us to do exactly what we say we are going to do with their donations. The ethics of fundraising are probably not as well known outside the fundraising world, but we're trying to change that."

Starting at Andrews in 2008, both Keough and Castelbouno were required to gain five years of experience before taking the exam, meaning the earliest they could attempt the certification exam was in 2013. Applicants must also complete a required amount of academic and professional performance and volunteer service experience to qualify. Test-takers are expected to have a thorough knowledge of a variety of fundraising techniques and practices.

"I never thought God’s plan for me was in fundraising," says Keough, "but I find that there are correlations between fundraising and my prior experience in the automotive industry as a quality control engineer: I can figure out where a donor’s goals match the goals at Andrews University and start a productive relationship. And really, the relationship is what fundraising is all about."
Of the 201 institutions formally ranked in U.S. News & World Report as top national universities (there are 276 listed overall, but 75 are either unranked or do not have published rankings), Andrews is listed at #181 this year, an improvement over the 2013 rankings.

Andrews is the only Seventh-day Adventist institution included in this classification and U.S. News list.

According to U.S. News, schools in the National Universities category are ranked by the Carnegie Classifications, a category that also includes Columbia University and Stanford University. The ranking indicates that Andrews and other national universities in this category offer a full range of undergraduate majors, plus master’s and PhD programs. These universities also are committed to producing groundbreaking research.

Andrews University made a few other U.S. News & World Report college ranking lists. With a diversity index of .74 (the closer a school’s number is to 1.0, the more diverse it is), the University is tied second nationally in Campus Ethnic Diversity among national universities, a ranking shared with Stanford University, University of Houston and St. John’s University in New York.

With 14 percent of our student body composed of international students, Andrews is once again tied for 9th (with Brandeis University in Massachusetts) in Most International Students.

The physical therapy and social work programs at Andrews made the top 150 of U.S. News’ "Best Grad Schools 2014" list. Andrews’ graduate programs in counseling psychology and nursing, along with the University’s School of Education, were also included in the overall rankings. In the U.S. News’ "Best Online Programs 2014" ranking, the University’s online MBA and graduate education programs were both listed among the top online programs (ranking #69 and #109 respectively among nearly 150 ranked programs in each area).

Andrews was also listed within other "best of" lists in U.S. News’ annual rankings for national universities, including "A+ Colleges for B Students," "Economic Diversity," "Freshman Retention Rates," "Highest Level of Need-Based Aid Awarded" (ranking #58 out of 250 national universities listed), and "Highest 6-Year Graduation Rates."

Forbes.com also ranked Andrews University #543 (an improvement over 2013 rankings) in "America’s Top Colleges," a compilation of the 650 best educational institutions (out of more than 6,000) across the country. Forbes gives an overall rating and smaller subcategory ratings; once again, Andrews University also made the lists "Best Private Colleges," "Best Research Universities" and "Best in the Midwest."

Like many universities nationwide this fall, Andrews University has seen a decrease in its 2013–2014 enrollment, with 3,516 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students enrolled on our main campus. This represents an overall decrease of 35 students, or one percent fewer than last year. Even with that decrease, over the past decade, enrollment on the University’s Berrien Springs campus has increased by more than 500 students, or 17 percent.

"The trend in our enrollment this fall reflects a national trend in undergraduate higher education, especially with decreases in freshmen student populations across the United States," says Randy Graves, vice president for enrollment management. "We’re challenged to continue to find ways to contain our costs, as well as find effective ways to help assure our students graduate in a timely way and, as a result, reduce their overall level of student debt. We’re working together as a campus this fall to understand how we can tighten our focus on serving our current students as well as those who will attend Andrews in the future."

Elsewhere on the Berrien Springs campus, the graduate programs enrolled 386 new graduate students this fall, the highest number in five years, and an increase of 29 new students over last fall’s enrollment in this category.

Three years ago, Andrews University assumed ownership of Griggs University & Griggs International Academy, previously operated by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The newly created School of Distance Education oversees the operations of these Griggs programs, and also coordinates affiliate and extension education sites for the University throughout the United States and around the world. Altogether, 3,049 students pursue Andrews University degrees at affiliate or extension sites worldwide (this number includes 994 Griggs University students).
Griggs International Academy teaches 1,562 students worldwide. These include students at both elementary and high school levels doing home schooling or studying full-time at Griggs International Academy sites globally, along with Job Corps, a program that offers high school diplomas and job skill training to at-risk students throughout the United States.

U.S. News & World Report
Forbes
The first item addressed in the President’s report was the issue of diversity. The current trend is a reduction in the number of white students at Andrews University, while the number of Asian and Hispanic international students is rising.

The President also reported that in the Midwest half of all private colleges and universities and one third of public colleges and universities did not reach their enrollment and budget expectations this year. Trends are the same across the country but less pronounced. This could possibly be related to the fact that the number of high school and academy graduates in the country is dropping, particularly in the Midwest and East.

Randy Graves, vice president for enrollment management, spoke to the board about initiatives to give the recruitment team an edge in attracting students. One is to reward students for finishing their degree in four years, and another is to give transfer students a similar financial aid option to what freshmen are offered. An important initiative that was completed in November was installing an accurate, up-to-date cost calculator on the Andrews website. The University’s commitment is to get more information out earlier so parents and students can determine their bottom line sooner.

A report from the audit committee included no corrections or complaints from the auditors.

Although tuition during summer sessions in 2013 put budget a couple hundred thousand dollars ahead, fall enrollment patterns put it behind. Andreasen pointed out that the bigger challenge to operations this year is that health benefits are above budget by several hundred thousand dollars. The enrollment budget for 2015 will be built on 98 percent of the current year. Tuition and fees will increase by three percent, the smallest increase proposed in the last five years, and Church support will increase by two percent at the General Conference level and one percent at the North American Division level. To achieve the board requirement of increasing operating expenses budget by 3.3 percent, Andrews will reduce expenses by $900,000 across campus next year.

The Governance Committee updated their bylaws to reflect changes in procedures.

The Academic Committee shared information on two new degrees: a Doctor of Missiology in the seminary focused on missions abroad and a Bachelor of Science in music through the College of Arts & Sciences.

Finally, Larry Schalk, vice president for financial administration, shared preliminary designs for the health and wellness center, developed by committees with help from the architecture program at Andrews. Though its proposed interior and exterior designs are preliminary, its location has been determined to be northwest of the Howard Performing Arts Center and south of PMC.

The second part of the wellness initiative is more mission driven and less to do with the facility, involving things like food service, the exterior campus environment and hiring a wellness advocate.

Current funding for the wellness center totals just over $11 million, and conversations are in progress regarding another $3 million. Additional commitments totaling in the hundreds of thousands were made during the board meeting.

The board also voted the following faculty and staff appointments:

Thank You from the Paynes

On behalf of my daughter, Sheri, and her family, I would like to thank my campus community for the outpouring of caring and concern and especially the prayers for my grandson, Ewan, as he underwent chemo for a massive abdominal lymphoma. I am happy to report that he completed all five rounds of chemo in three months (half the time they initially indicated) and was discharged from BC Children’s Hospital on December 23, cancer-free and just in time for Christmas. God's fingerprints could be found all throughout this very difficult but amazing journey. I am particularly thankful for His grace and mercy and of course, your prayers. Ewan turned three years old two weeks ago and is eating well and driving his two older sisters crazy, so all is well in his house!

Adventist Forum presents Dr. Berecz

Adventist Forum presents John Berecz, Ph.D., Clinical Psychologist, on Sabbath Afternoon at 3:30 pm, January 25, 2014, in Chan Shun Hall, on the campus of Andrews University in Berrien Springs, MI.

Dr. Berecz is a clinical psychologist with forty years experience as a therapist, university professor, and author. His Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology is from Indiana University, Bloomington. His internship was at Children’s Hospital Medical Center in Boston; a Harvard Medical School teaching hospital. For 27 years he taught psychology at Andrews University, retiring in 2008. His 2009 textbook “Theories of Personality” is now being used in college classrooms across the country. In addition he has published a half dozen other books.

He is the father of three grown sons (a veterinarian, a judge, and a school psychologist) and is married to Deborah Berecz, a Collaborative lawyer.

Dr. Berecz has provided the following overview of his presentation:

“In a recent interview with Time magazine, J K Rowling described story as ‘making meaning out of chaos.’ ‘Angel Bones’ is story < my story < about finding meaning in chaos. It’s more about ‘being found’ than finding. It’s about how Sara (my moniker for Spirit) found me and infused my personal chaos with meaning. Angel Bones is also about how forgiveness saved my life and rehabilitated my self esteem. In sum: three themes co-mingle in this personal narrative: Spirit, forgiveness, and self-esteem.

Adventist Forum is open to the public. All are welcome. For information, contact Art Robertson at robertsa2@earthlink.net or call 471-7150.

Bobby & Michelle- New nest fund
During the early morning hours on January 5, 2014 Bobby and Michelle Murray, both recent alumni of Andrews University, lost their home and car in a fire that engulfed everything that they own. Thankfully, they were not in their home at the time and Molly (their dog) was safely with them too. Unfortunately, they did not yet have insurance on their home and car and could really use our help to get back on their feet.

If you can donate anything at all, please do. Even $5 would help.

Regular Caregiver Needed for Infant

I am a single mother of my infant and I am a young healthcare professional with Borgess. I live in Dowagiac, MI and I am looking for a caregiver who will come to my residence and sit with my infant and provide care while I work Monday through Friday 8:00 am to 4:30 pm. My current caregiver is providing care in my home for $100.00/Wk.
