Howard Center Presents...Charles & Julie Reid
Concert at 7:00 pm on Saturday, November 15

Love is a most notorious subject matter for poets and musicians. This fall, join Charles Reid, Director of Vocal Studies at Andrews University, as he shares a fun evening with the love of his life, Julie Reid. Come journey with them as they explore the wonderful complexities of love. Recognized as one of his generation’s leading lyric tenors, Charles has sung on many of the world’s most famous stages, including nine seasons with New York's Metropolitan Opera, San Francisco Opera, Theater an der Wien, Frankfurt Opera, Deutsche Oper am Rhein, and the festivals of Bayreuth, Salzburg, Spoleto USA, Glimmerglass, and Central City. A graduate of Westminster Choir College, mezzo-soprano Julie has concertized around the world with her husband. Since moving to Berrien Springs, she has become a regular in the concert scene of Southwest Michigan.

TICKETS REQUIRED: Reserved Seating $10, Students are Free

Purchase tickets online, or call our box office at 888-467-6442 for student discounts and more information.

Adventist Engaged Encounter

Registration Open for Adventist Engaged Encounter

Berrien Springs, Mich.— Andrews University will host Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE) on the weekend of November 7-9, 2014. It is an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, which offers couples the insights, tools and confidence to develop their relationship and strengthen their commitment for one another.

There are three main aspects to AEE’s programming: fellowship with other recently engaged and newly married couples; teaching by marriage mentors; and personal communication and connection development with one’s partner.

For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage. Erin Castelbuono said, “AEE taught us a different way to communicate more efficiently for our marriage. From this weekend, I became more aware of my husband’s emotions and feelings. I would positively and certainly recommend AEE to anyone who is getting married or who is recently married.”

For registration information, contact the Undergraduate Leadership Program at Andrews University at aee@andrews.edu or 269-471-6636. Registration fees are $50 if at least one attendee is an Andrews student and $85 for non-students.

Founded in 1874, Andrews University is the flagship institution of higher education for the Seventh-day Adventist church, located one-half mile east of the U.S. 31 Bypass in Berrien Springs, Mich.

Producers' Anniversary Showing of Midnight Cry!

Producers' Anniversary Film Screening of The Midnight Cry! William Miller and the End of the World

T. N. Mohan, long-time award winning documentary film maker, will be on campus on Wednesday, October 22, as a guest at a 20th anniversary screening of the feature-length film, The Midnight Cry! William Miller and the End of the World.

The event will be held in Newbold Auditorium in Buller Hall on the campus of Andrews University at 7:00 p.m. Co-curricular credit is available for Andrews undergraduate students.

The 102-minute film was originally released on the same date in 1994, on the exact 150th anniversary of the "Passing of the Time," or "Great Disappointment," that marked the culmination of the Millerite Movement and the theological impetus of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. This screening will take place on the 170th anniversary of that event.

Mohan has been a filmmaker for more than 30 years. His award-winning works focus on major aspects of the Protestant heritage. These include, among many others, feature-length or multi-part documentaries on Martin Luther, Charles Wesley, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, a 17 part series on the Apostle's Creed, and his current project--a major series on 500 years of the Protestant Reformation.

At the screening, Mohan will give a short introduction to the film, and answer questions at the end. He will be joined by Ronald Knott, director of Andrews University Press. Knott was the associate executive producer, on behalf of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and the chief writer. He will also give a brief introduction.

Knott said that the film remains the definitive audio-visual treatment of the rise of Adventism. It is narrated by Academy Award-winning actor Cliff Robertson, provides rich period musical and visual elements, and features expert commentary by George R. Knight and other specialists in American religious history.

"For Adventists, this screening, on the actual anniversary of that momentous day, should be more than just a historical retrospective," Knott said. "It should be a spiritual event as well."

The screening is sponsored by Andrews University Press and the Church History department of the Seminary.

New Career Development Coach at the Counseling & Testing Center

Tami McClellan is the new part-time Career Development Coach at the Counseling & Testing Center. For questions related to career development individual and group presentations, resume building or reviewing, job interview preparation, professional etiquette skills building, professional networking, and other career development related information, please contact Tami at the Counseling and Testing Center 269-471-3470 or email her at career@andrews.edu

McClellan is a Counseling Psychology PhD. candidate From Andrews University. She is a Michigan native, from Buchanan, and has a big heart for this close knit community. She earned her B.S in Psychology from Atlantic Union College, and her M.A. in Community Counseling From Andrews University. Within her counseling practice she has worked with many clients to help develop and accomplish career goals by helping them gain self-confidence and develop strategies for interviewing and applying for jobs. She believes that each person has a unique combination of interests, abilities and experiences that leads them to a chosen profession, and with a little help, their goals can be reached. She has a passion for community, fine arts, health and wellness, and living authentically.
Children's Leadership Conference 2015

Join the Kids' Center @ CYE at the 3rd annual Children's Leadership Conference April 17-19, 2015! If you love sharing Jesus with children, this weekend event is perfect for you! Come out and learn how to "Use Your Gifts" for Christ as we explore traditional and creative ministry techniques. Weekend presenters include Sherri Uhrig, Rocio Rojas, Ben Roy, and Mike Edge. Workshops will also be offered for Master Guide training and Hispanic ministries. Register by December 31, 2014 to take advantage of our great Super Early Bird Pricing: $35 for students & $55 for adults.

Senior Nursing Class Fundraising Event

Andrews University's Senior Nursing Class is striving to raise $4,000 for our upcoming medical mission trip in...
December of this year. The senior class has decided to join a Seventh-day Adventist Organization called Cruise with a Mission and the Annual Honduras Mission Trip.

In an effort to help raise the $4,000 funds, we will be hosting a fundraising event at Apple Valley Natural Foods in Berrien Springs, MI. There will be face painting for children as well as health screenings and teachings for adults. Also if weather permits there will be a car washing event.

This event will be held on the 31st of October from 10 am to 5 pm at Apple Valley (9067 US Highway 31, Berrien Springs, MI 49103). Please help support us as we strive to be the hands and feet of Christ through medical missionary work.

ChemSem News 8: Nuclear Waste

How much radioactive nuclear waste do we have in the United States? Where are we keeping it? How do we clean it up from the environment? How dangerous is it anyway? Is any stored in your backyard?

All are encouraged to attend and hear Dr. Shannon M Biros's lecture this Thursday, October 23, 2014 at 4:30pm in A-107 Halenz Hall on the topic: Recognition of f-Elements: Applications in Nuclear Waste Remediation.

This is the eighth Fall 2014 lecture in the annual Department of Chemistry & Biochemistry Seminar Series. Our guest speaker comes to us from Grand Valley State University.

Here's a YouTube video related to our topic: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Nkt95IhNojU

Then make a left turn at the next intersection (E Campus Circle Drive). Make another left onto Administration Drive. The Science Complex is the bldg on your left. The Chemistry Dept. is on the side of the Science Complex (4270 Administration Drive) opposite the Bookstore parking lot. You can park in the bookstore parking lot or the one straight ahead. My Office # is A-323 Halenz Hall .... on the third floor of the Science Complex.

Teachers are encouraged to announce this lecture in their classes and/or forward this email to their classes. All are welcome to forward this email along to colleagues and friends.
Nuclear Waste: Removing It From Our Backyard

Dr. Shannon M Biros, joined the faculty of Grand Valley State University (GVSU) as an Assistant Professor of Organic Chemistry in the fall of 2008. She is currently in her seventh year as a tenured faculty member at GVSU, and maintains an active research group of undergraduate students.

They have developed a series of compounds designed to bind lanthanide and actinide cations, which are important in cleaning up nuclear waste. Biros will describe the synthetic approach to these ligands and their ability to extract f-elements from acidic solutions.

Biros, a graduate of GVSU, received her BA in chemistry in 2001. Then she moved to San Diego to pursue a chemistry PhD at The Scripps Research Institute with Professor Julius Rebek, Jr.

She later spent a year at the University of California, Berkeley as a postdoctoral research associate in the laboratory of Professor Kenneth N. Raymond investigating the guest binding properties of a series of supramolecular metal-ligand clusters.

Envision Magazine & Student Movement Win Awards
by Becky St. Clair

Andrews University student publications won several awards at the Society of Adventist Communicators convention in Jacksonville, Florida, on October 18. Envision magazine earned prizes in three categories: Best in Class Design, Best in Class Feature Writing, and Honorable Mention Photography.

The graphic design of the current issue was done by Amber Sarno, Arielle Pickett and Jonathon Wolfer. "Troubled Waters" by Emily Leffler, recounting her near-death experience while scuba diving in Cozumel, won for best feature writing. Photographer Brian Tagalog's riveting portrait of Patrick Knighton took home the honorable mention award.

The Student Movement earned top honors as Best in Class Newspaper, under the editorship of senior journalism and English major Melodie Roschman. Roschman was nominated by Debbie Michel, associate professor of communication, in a nod to Roschman's above-and-beyond efforts in covering complex issues such as substance abuse and homosexuality.

"Melodie has shown a willingness to tackle controversial topics," said Michel. "Her three-part series on addictions created a level of engagement I've not seen before, where Dwight Nelson preached a series of sermons on the topic, and even the dorms used the articles to launch their own discussions."

Michel is not the only faculty member impressed with Roschman's leadership and professional abilities.

"It's one thing simply to choose challenging topics; it's quite another to treat them with depth and nuance, in a non-polemical way which adds to the conversation," says Scott Moncrieff, professor of English and faculty sponsor of the Student Movement. "I think Melodie has done that in her own feature and editorial writing, and has encouraged that same spirit of professional journalism in her staff."

Students in the Department of Communication and Department of Visual Art & Design produce Envision magazine each spring semester. The Society of Adventist Communicators is a professional development organization for Adventist communicators in both secular and denominational employment. The Jacksonville event celebrated the group's 25th anniversary.

Adventist Engaged Encounter 2014
by Cassandra Hales

Andrews University will host the 2014 Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE) November 7–9. It is an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, which offers insights, tools and confidence to develop their relationship and strengthen their commitment to one another.

There are three main aspects to AEE's programming: fellowship with other recently engaged and newly married couples, teaching by marriage mentors, and personal communication and connection development with one’s partner.

For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage.

"AEE taught us how to communicate more efficiently in our marriage," says Erin Castelbuono, AEE participant. "As a result of this weekend, I became more aware of my husband’s emotions and feelings. I would positively and certainly recommend AEE to anyone who is getting married or who is recently married."

For registration information, email aee@andrews.edu or call 269-471-6636. Registration fees are $50 if at least one attendee is an Andrews University student and $85 for non-students.

Update on Ebola Crisis

The message below was originally sent to Andrews University staff, faculty and students by Niels-Erik Andreasen, University president.

I imagine that you have joined me in continuing to follow the significant news coverage in recent months regarding the ongoing Ebola Virus Disease (EVD) crisis in three countries in West Africa: Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone.

There have also been Ebola cases elsewhere, including now here in the United States. All these cases are connected with individuals traveling from those three countries, or those who provided direct healthcare support to individuals with Ebola.

Both the World Health Organization (WHO) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have stated that there is only a small risk for an outbreak of Ebola in the United States (apart from the potential risk for those who care for or have otherwise come into physical contact with those who have Ebola). All of us, including Andrews, still need to take thoughtful precautions to ensure the safety and health of those in our communities, both in our immediate geographic community and around the world.

Currently, we have no students who have come to us directly from Guinea, Liberia or Sierra Leone. Also, while Andrews operates in locations around the world, there are no affiliated academic partner programs in any of the three countries affected by Ebola.

On this campus, as we seek to understand and carefully respond to this health crisis, Andrews will incorporate several safety precautions and protocols, as urged by both the WHO and CDC. We will:

- For at least the next three to six months, prohibit University-sponsored travel from or through countries with Ebola (Guinea, Liberia, Sierra Leone), and encourage individuals connected with the University to do the same
- Follow the CDC and WHO guidelines for monitoring/movement for Ebola exposure, including the Oct. 22 update
- For any apparent direct contact with Ebola patients by members of the University community, self-monitoring and voluntary isolation separate from the main campus will be instituted for a 21-day period. As appropriate, Provost and Student Life offices should be informed if there is suspected contact by a faculty, staff, student or student family member.
- Additionally, with any reported instance of apparent contact or risk by a member of the University's community, the University will work immediately, closely and directly with the county's Public Health Department and medical officials
- Encourage our campus community to continue to practice common sense safe hygiene, especially with the approach of the flu season, including ongoing careful washing and sanitizing of hands

While there is no current significant or direct risk to Andrews University in particular, please know that we will continue to monitor any and all official information releases regarding this public health emergency, update our protocols and react accordingly.

Enrollment Report for Fall 2014

by Stephen Payne

Like many universities nationwide this fall, Andrews University continues to see a decrease in its enrollment, with 3,418 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students enrolled on our main campus. This represents an overall decrease of 98 students since fall 2013, leading to 4.88 percent fewer credit hours enrolled than last year. This number includes 100 fewer undergraduates and two more graduate students than fall 2013. Overall undergraduate enrollment is 1,805 students, with 1,613 enrolled in graduate programs.

In particular, freshman class enrollments have also decreased, with 273 enrolling this fall as first-time freshmen, for a total freshman class of 372 students (overall freshman enrollment last year was 438). Transfer enrollment within the undergraduate population has increased slightly, and the number of high school students taking university courses, who are counted as undergraduates, grew by nearly 30 this year for a total of 111.

"As we've studied, in particular, these fall 2014 undergraduate enrollment trends, we find that our enrollment reflects overall trends in national demographics and Seventh-day Adventist data within North America that predict declining undergraduate enrollments in many colleges and universities," says Randy Graves, vice president for Enrollment Management. "As a result, in the months to come, we'll need to explore additional ideas and initiatives that help make even more clear the high value of an education at Andrews University, while working to continue to keep costs as proportional as possible to the financial abilities of students and their families. These initiatives and others will need to be implemented in a way that helps stabilize, if not grow, Andrews University enrollment in challenging times."

Elsewhere on the Berrien Springs campus, the graduate programs enrolled 313 new graduate students this fall, for a second year of significant increases in overall graduate enrollment.
"We are proud of our graduate students, both on our campus and around the world. In our School of Graduate Studies & Research, we ultimately believe that the education that Andrews University offers can aspire to generate a change in the individual and therefore a change in the family, the society and the world," says Christon Arthur, dean.

Even with this year’s decrease taken into account, over the past decade enrollment in the University's Berrien Springs campus programs has increased by more than 500 students, or 17 percent.

Four years ago, Andrews University assumed ownership of Griggs University & Griggs International Academy, previously operated by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The School of Distance Education oversees the operations of these Griggs programs, and also coordinates affiliate and extension education sites for the University throughout the United States and around the world. Altogether, approximately 2,800 students pursue Andrews University degrees at affiliate or extension sites worldwide.

Griggs International Academy teaches 2,115 students worldwide. These include students at both elementary and high school levels doing home schooling or studying full-time at Griggs International Academy sites globally, along with Job Corps, a program that offers high school diplomas and job skill training to at-risk students throughout the United States.

The early part of each academic year is also a time when U.S. News & World Report ranks Andrews University, as well as more than 1,600 other schools throughout the U.S.

Within that ranking report, U.S. News includes 280 institutions formally ranked as national universities (the report ranks a total of 1,596 universities and colleges).

In the 2015 rankings, Andrews is listed at #168 in the national university rankings (National University status reflects the Carnegie classification of various universities and colleges; in this case, it means that these universities offer "a full range of undergraduate majors, plus master's and doctoral programs and also emphasize faculty research"). This year's ranking is an improvement of 13 places over the 2014 ranking.

Andrews is the only Seventh-day Adventist institution included in this classification and U.S. News list. Also, Andrews is one of fewer than 100 private universities ranked in this category.

Andrews University made a few other U.S. News & World Report distinctive ranking lists. With a diversity index of .74 (the closer a school's number is to 1.0, the more diverse it is), the University is tied second nationally in Campus Ethnic Diversity among national universities, a ranking shared with Stanford University, University of Houston and St. John's University in New York.

With 14 percent of our student body composed of international students, Andrews is tied for 7th (with University of San Francisco and Northeastern University in Boston), an improvement of five places over the 2014 rankings, in Most International Students.

The physical therapy and social work programs at Andrews once again made the top 150 of U.S. News' "Best Grad Schools 2015" list. Andrews' graduate programs in counseling psychology, along with the University's School of Education, were also included in the overall rankings.

In the U.S. News' "Best Online Programs 2015" ranking, the University's online MBA and graduate education programs were both listed among the top online programs (ranking #82 and #145 respectively). Additionally, Andrews' online bachelor's program received a ranking of #205.

Andrews was also listed within other "best of" lists in U.S. News' annual rankings for national universities, including "A+ Colleges for B Students," "Economic Diversity," "Freshman Retention Rates," "Highest Level of Need-Based Aid Awarded" (ranking #58 in the nearly 250 national universities listed), and "Most Students Receiving Merit Aid" (ranking in the top 30 of 100 schools ranked), and "Highest 6-Year Graduation Rates."

In addition, Andrews was listed as having one of the Highest Proportions of Classes with Less than 20 Students, at 67 percent, placing Andrews in the top 30 of national university rankings.

Forbes.com also ranked Andrews University #559 in "America's Top Colleges," a compilation of the 650 best educational institutions (out of more than 6,000 nationally) across the United States. Forbes gives an overall rating and also offers smaller subcategory ratings; once again, Andrews University also made the lists "Best Private Colleges," "Best Research Universities" and "Best in the Midwest."

Update on Seminary Headship Statement

Earlier this summer, the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary published a statement on "On The Unique Headship of Christ in the Church." In addition to being shared via the Andrews University website this statement, adopted by seminary faculty on August 21, also received wide exposure through traditional and social media.

In its preamble, the statement indicated that the faculty of the Seminary:
...affirm that Christ is the only Head of the Church (Eph 1:22; 5:23; Col 1:18). Therefore, while there exists legitimate leadership in the Church, no other human being may rightfully claim a headship role in the Church. As Head of the Church, Christ provides the ultimate manifestation of God's love (Eph 5:23,25), demonstrating and vindicating God's moral government of love (Rom 3:4, 25-26, 5:8), and thus defeating the counterfeit government of the usurping “ruler of this world” (John 12:31; 16:11; cf. DA 758; 2T 2:211).

Following its publication and distribution, there was an appeal released in early October by 25 professors, pastors and church members (“An Open Appeal From Faculty, Alumni, Students, and Friends of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary To Faculty of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary Regarding the Recent Seminary Statement on the Unique Headship of Christ in the Church”).

The writers of that appeal called upon the seminary to review and adjust their earlier statement on Headship, ending their open letter by noting that the letter writers “humbly appeal to the Seminary leadership and faculty to reconsider the recently-published statement and include our suggestions.”

On October 10, 2014, the seminary faculty met for three hours to review the open letter and their earlier statement, and at the end of the meeting the faculty voted unanimously, with the exception of one individual, to release the following statement in response to the open appeal:

"We, the faculty of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, respectfully reaffirm our original statement on the ‘Unique Headship of Christ in the Church’ which was the result of prayerful and responsible study of scripture and the Spirit of Prophecy, and was voted by an overwhelming majority of the faculty in a duly called meeting.”

Founded in 1874, Andrews University is the flagship institution of higher education for the Seventh-day Adventist Church and offers more than 200 areas of study including advanced degrees. Its main campus is in Berrien Springs, Michigan, but the University also provides instruction at colleges and universities in 19 countries around the world.

Please Note: In an earlier post on this response by the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, copy from Adventist Review coverage of this statement was inadvertently included without credit or acknowledgement. We regret that mistake, which occurred without the knowledge of the Adventist Review. The Adventist Review has done excellent reporting on this statement and its appeal, and you can read their reporting on the original statement, its appeal, and the seminary response here, here and here.

Michael Polite New Associate Chaplain
by Lucero Castellanos

Michael Polite has taken on the position as Andrews University’s new associate chaplain. His service to the University began October 1, 2014. Polite comes from Nashville, Tennessee, where he served for five years as the associate pastor of youth and young adults for the Riverside congregation.

Polite graduated from Union College (Lincoln, Nebraska) and La Universidad de Sagunto (Sagunto, Spain) where he majored and specialized in language and linguistics. He is currently enrolled at Regent University (Virginia Beach, Virginia) where he is pursuing his doctorate in strategic communication.

As founder and director of ENERGY Ministries, a youth ministry program for the community of Riverside in Nashville, Polite has received recognition from media outlets such as USA Today, The Huffington Post, The Sydney Morning Herald in Australia, and the China Times.

Polite is largely involved with youth and young adult ministries. His main focus is to target the millennial generation.

"I feel as though I am being called to move the Y and Z generations,” shared Polite. “I strive to minister to the generation I am a part of. Where I can dig deep and understand our unique challenges and strengths.”

June Price, University chaplain, affirmed that Polite is a great addition to the Campus Ministries team.

"I believe his love for God coupled with his passion for young adults will profoundly affect many lives both now and for eternity,” she says.

Although in a completely different environment to which he is accustomed, Polite looks forward to what Andrews has in store for him.

"I am honored to be called to serve on a university campus,” he said. “To me, this is one of the most exciting fields to work in.”
"There is no easy life."

The cliffs behind Monte Sano Lodge are where the family took refuge during the tornado of April 1974. And Williams-Smith smiles when she sees a line of ants marching along.

"The ants were my friends," Williams-Smith said this week, as she gazed at the wooded lot around the Lodge. "I didn't have much else to do - our main curriculum was, as my mother put it, 'Bible and survival.'"

Williams-Smith is chair of the Department of Communication at Andrews University and recently published a book, "Born Yesterday," a telling of the story of her growing up years.

Andrews United Way Campaign Featured on The Coast

Dalry Payne, executive assistant for President Andreasen, spoke with the morning host on The Coast earlier this week. Their main topic of conversation? The Andrews University faculty and staff United Way campaign! Click the link below (right click and save to desktop, then open and play from there) to listen. Dalry’s interview begins around minute 3 and goes through minute 7.

Fresh Food to Your Front Door

This year the Berrien County Health Department and Andrews University brought fresh fruit and vegetables to the neighborhoods of low-income residents with a mobile farm market. Next year, they will offer to bring these nutritious foods right to the doorsteps of residents receiving government food assistance.
Rachel Williams-Smith, author of 'Born Yesterday,' says her abusive childhood taught her valuable wisdom: 'There is no 'easy' life'

The giant acorns under the chestnut oak trees at Monte Sano State Park in Huntsville, Ala., remind Rachel Williams-Smith of how her family collected them and attempted to make something edible during the year they camped there in a converted school bus. The cliffs behind Monte Sano Lodge are where the family took refuge during the tornado of April 1974. And Williams-Smith smiles when she sees a line of ants marching along.

"The ants were my friends," Williams-Smith said this week, as she gazed at the wooded lot around the Lodge. "I didn't have much else to do - our main curriculum was, as my mother put it, 'Bible and survival.'"

The "survival" aspects of Williams-Smith's education were literal once the family moved from Huntsville into the center of a wilderness about 50 miles northwest of Huntsville. Their homestead was a mile from the nearest neighbor, who, like her family, was involved in a "cult-like" -- Williams-Smith's term -- group of religious extremists who had splintered off from the Seventh-day Adventist Church. As her father, a Vietnam veteran likely suffering from PTSD, sank more and more into an unbalanced interpretation of scripture during the next decade, there were times when she and her older brothers were sent into the woods to find their own food. Their compliant mother seemed to stand helplessly by. They were told to practice for the "Time of Trouble," when the true followers of Jesus will have to hide in the wilderness to escape persecution, but in truth, there was no food in their house.

Every thunder storm became a reminder that Jesus could return at any time. Every glance of her father reminded her that, according to him, modest girls kept their eyes down and their shoulders hunched so no one could see their chests, a standard enforced, like all of her father's other rules, with heavy beatings with a belt on her bare backside.

Even so, Williams-Smith remembers sweet times, especially during evening worship, when the family sang hymn after hymn by kerosene lamplight. The hardest times were in winter when, at times, snow filtered into their flimsy
Rachel Williams-Smith, author of 'Born Yesterday,' says her abusive childhood made drifts up to 2 inches deep on the kitchen floor and freezing the water in the buckets. The oddest times came when her family would travel into Huntsville and attend Sabbath services with "regular" Adventists -- taking their bonneted, bearded group to the front row so that all of the inferior adherents could view their witness of dress and piety as they knelt for every single prayer.

'So normal!'

If that had been your life, then you, too -- when shown a snapshot of your modern self, wearing a stylish cape and confidently smiling into the camera -- might have remarked, as did Dr. Williams-Smith, "Wow - I look so normal!"

Despite all the weirdness of her early years, Rachel Williams-Smith, now 48, who has taught at Oakwood University and is now chair of the Department of Communications at Andrews University in Michigan, has come to understand her own upbringing as a gift.

The facts, though, are harsh: When she finally entered a school for the first time at 16, Williams-Smith was reading at a very advanced level, but her math skills languished at a first-grade level. The family's reliance on only natural healing meant that one of her brothers had had to recover from extensive third-degree burns across his chest and arm with only the honey-dipped cloth poultices and herb teas her mother prepared, no pain medicine. But, no, Williams-Smith says, despite the harsh conditions in which she was raised, it would definitely not have been better had she or her brothers been removed from that home, as probably would have happened had the state officials realized what was happening.

"There is no easy life - everyone is scarred in some ways by their upbringing," Williams-Smith said during her visit to Huntsville this week to recruit talented Oakwood seniors to consider graduate school at Andrews, which is another Seventh-day Adventist university. "And I'm hoping that this book might help people who have been hurt and dazed by religion can see that God can hold you through the midst of that."

A 'unique' life with a unique purpose

After her father abandoned her and her mother when she was 16, taking her brothers with him to Texas to build houses, Williams-Smith and her mother began a slow re-integration back into regular society.

During those years, Williams-Smith said, she learned something that many people hurt by extreme religious regulations sometimes miss in their panic to escape the unreasonable clutches of dogmatic strictures. She learned not to confuse "religion" with true faith.
"Sister K (a teacher at the small academy she eventually attended) told me, 'When people look at you, they see a religious person, but they don’t see Jesus Christ,'" Williams-Smith said, recounting an experience included in her book as she realized she could remove her bonnet and, with it, a good deal of her learned self-righteousness. "I learned that anything that distracts from the message of Christ needs to be removed - I moved from a rule-based life to a principle-based life."

That doesn't mean her new life was easy - each step required stepping across yet another moat gouged into her conscience during her upbringing. She had to re-negotiate her relationship with a God who had been introduced to her as only the dispenser of unbending regulations.

It's a process that brought with it several miraculous opportunities that came just as Williams-Smith thought she had reached a dead end. Years later Williams-Smith would analyze the transition for her doctoral dissertation in communications. The dissertation, which sparked the idea of the memoir, is an ethno-analysis of her own transition into the wider world -- the world, as she puts it, of the 20th Century, rather than the 19th.

It's a journey that she prays will help others.

"I began to realize that my unique life had been given to me for a purpose," Williams-Smith writes in her memoir, "and that in simply living it and recording it, (God’s) purpose over time would unfold in a way that could be of a blessing to others."

Supporting the Gonzalez Family

We are sorry to let you know that earlier today, Emma Gonzalez, the younger daughter of Daniel and Wendy Gonzalez, passed away in an accident. Daniel is an assistant professor of biology here at Andrews University.

Emma's grandmother, Sylvia Gonzalez, is also part of our Andrews faculty and community as a professor of leadership and educational leadership.

Campus Ministries is collecting non-perishable items all of this week (through Friday, Oct. 24) for the Gonzalez family, to relieve them of thinking about necessities such as laundry detergent, toilet paper, toothpaste, canned food, beans, rice, etc. If you would like to contribute to this collection, please drop your items off at the Campus Ministries office in the Campus Center during regular business hours.

A memorial service for Emma was held Tuesday morning at the Spanish Seventh-day Adventist Church in Berrien Springs. The Andrews University family can share messages and condolences for Emma's family and friends below (click "Leave a Comment"), and we invite you to remember and surround Emma's family and her friends with your prayers at this time of loss.

Berrien Springs Camera Club November 5

FROM: Berrien Springs Camera Club

CONTACT: Madeline Johnston
471-1109

The monthly meeting of the Berrien Springs Camera Club will be on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m. at its usual venue, the Berrien Springs Community Library at Cass and Union. The presenter will be Sharon Prest Ullom, who for several years has taught in the Digital Media and Photography Department of Andrews University. From her perspective of working with many different digital-imaging programs and with many students, she will give an overview of both Adobe Lightroom and Photoshop Elements. This will help photographers who are trying to decide between the two, or who maybe wish to use both for different features.

All are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.

2014 LUC Campus Catalyst

Link: http://eepurl.com/5JdyL

2014 LUC Campus Catalyst Training is being offered for launching, growing, and sustaining Adventist Public Campus Ministry. Training will be provided by seasoned campus minister, Ron Pickell, North American Division Coordinator for Adventist Public Campus Ministries through Adventist Christian Fellowship.

Date: October 31-November 2
Location: North Shore Adventist Academy Gymnasium.
Address: 5220 N. California Ave. Chicago, IL 60625

Registration: $25 for everyone. The first 50 registrants get the Catalyst kit free. After that, the kit is $50 extra to be paid upon arrival if some one wants one. This extra is not to be paid with the $25 registration fee as the money goes to different places.

Meals: All Sabbath meals are included in the fee. Sunday morning will have a snack. Friday supper is up to the registrant to figure out.

Lodging: The gymnasium is free for anyone to camp out in. There are bathrooms and showers. This is the lodging that is encouraged. However, if someone really doesn’t want to and they have the money, there is an option 2.
Lodging Option 2: There are rooms set aside at the Holiday Inn Chicago North Shore/Skokie. This is located about 2 miles from the Academy.

The Price Breakdown is as Follows:

- Single Occupancy - $108.41/person ($216.82 for two nights)
- Double Occupancy - $56.94/person ($113.88 for two nights)
- Triple Occupancy - $39.79/person ($79.58 for two nights)
- Quadruple Occupancy - $31.21/person ($62.42 for two nights)

To register, email Carol Driver or call at 630-856-2857. Or Register Online.

If you have questions, contact Tony Hunter.

All Lake Union ACF Groups, or College/University students not attending an Adventist school are invited.

Lighthouse Corus Food Bank Fundraiser

Lighthouse Chorus to Hold Food Bank Fundraiser November 22, 2014

Niles, MI, October 9, 2014: A musical fundraiser is coming to Michiana – one of fun, entertainment and charitable giving. The Lighthouse Chorus will hold a fundraiser for area food banks at 6:59 PM on Saturday, November 22, at Wesley United Methodist Church, 302 Cedar Street, Niles, MI. The theme of the evening will be A Sentimental Journey, in celebration of the 15th anniversary of the Lighthouse Chorus. Featured performances will include the Lighthouse Chorus, plus several quartets and octets. General Admission Tickets are $15, and Senior/Student Tickets are $12. Admission will be free for children under age 12. Tickets can be purchased by calling 269/471-4559 or 219/362-5141. Attendees are also requested to bring a canned good to donate to the evening’s food drive.

The Lighthouse Chorus is a men’s a Capella chorus that performs primarily in the barbershop style. Barbershop harmony is a uniquely American musical art form that is known for its four-part harmony and the “expanded sound” created by its unique chord.

Members of the Chorus come from multiple counties throughout the area, including Berrien and Cass County in Michigan and St. Joseph and La Porte County in Indiana. They also come from all walks of life, including teachers, doctors, engineers, retirees, management and labor. Some members have more than 50 years of Barbershop experience and others haven’t less than a year. They have performed in almost every southwest Michigan and northwest Indiana community, singing on stages, in parks, on sidewalks and in churches. All of the members share one thing—the love of this art form as a hobby.

The Lighthouse Chorus is always looking for new members and welcomes any male that loves to sing to visit the Chorus practices on Thursday evenings at 7 PM at the Grace United Methodist Church in Niles, MI. Music instruction will be available to make the novice feel at home quickly. See what fun it is to harmonize with other barbershoppers!
100 More Needed for United Way Day of Action

Volunteer teams are needed to rake leaves, clean gutters, and weatherize windows for seniors citizens in your community on Nov 6th! These activities can be difficult, if not impossible, for seniors. They can easily fall, strain muscles or simply not be physically able to do the work. But with your help, seniors could be ready for winter!

The best size for a team is 5-15 people. For large groups we may ask you to sign up as two teams so we can help more seniors.

If you already signed up to volunteer - that's great, please share this announcement with a friend or co-worker.

Thursday, November 6, 2014 marks the 4th Annual Day of Action for Seniors where volunteers LIVE UNITED by helping Berrien & Cass County seniors winterize their homes. The goal is to serve 200 senior citizens in our community all on one day! To reach that goal, we need 500 volunteers!

For more information, visit our website at uwsm.org, call 269-982-1700, or email Teri Cooper at teri.cooper@uwsm.org

Howard Center Presents...Jars of Clay

Concert at 7:00 pm on Sunday, October 19

Jars of Clay presents a mostly acoustical evening of Christian music from their new album, Inland. Their music has cinematic quality marked by lush keyboard melodies, strong acoustic rhythm guitar, serpentine bass lines, ambient melodies and rich lyrics that attest to two decades of creativity. Jars of Clay has written more than 100 songs, made 10 studio records, won three GRAMMYs, toured internationally and created Blood: Water Mission, an organization dedicated to providing clean blood and water for African nations suffering from the HIV/AIDS crisis.

Description:

Additional information:
When lost the dog was wearing a purple collar. The collar had a name tag for the dog. The tag had her name on it (Payton Tucker) and also had my phone number, 269-277-2706. Also the dog had a metal chain type leash about 3 feet long.

Location Lost:
At about 530pm on Saturday October 11-2014 I was with the dog at the dog park in Kiwanis in St. Joseph near Langley and Pearl Street. Payton got away and went up the wooded hill that ends up in the sub-division on the Langley side of the park.

Chevy Cobalt 2006 for Sale

Hi, I am selling a Chevy Cobalt 2006 in excellent condition. This car has only 92300 miles and still runs like new. It has many conveniences available as power windows, door locks and mirrors. It also has sunroof, CD player, spacious trunk, etc. Interior is immaculate and there is no rust outside. This car has been well maintained through the years and it certainly has many years of service left ahead. Carfax and service records are available. My asking price is $5300 OBO. You may call or text me to (813) 205-5688. You can also email me if preferred to gomezfamily96@yahoo.com.

Accordance Original Languages Licenses for Sale

35 Accordance Original Languages Collection Licenses for Sale

The Original Languages Collection offers powerful tools for studying the Bible in Greek and Hebrew. This collection includes morphologically tagged texts of the Hebrew Bible, Greek New Testament, and Greek Septuagint (LXX). It also includes Greek and Hebrew lexicons for these texts, as well as several grammars to aid students and those who want to continue growing in their proficiency of the original languages. The entire collection offers over $2,000 in print value, making this an excellent way to build your library of Greek and Hebrew tools.

This collection is recommended for scholars, students, and those who want to study the Bible in Greek and Hebrew without needing access to many commentaries, dictionaries, or other English study tools.

Highlights
- Hebrew Bible with morphological tagging
- Greek New Testament with morphological tagging (based on NA28)
- Rahlfs’ Greek Septuagint (LXX) with morphological tagging
- New English Translation of the Septuagint (NETS)
- Brown-Driver-Briggs (BDB) Abridged Hebrew Lexicon
- Louw & Nida Greek Lexicon based on Semantic Domains
- Contains the entire Greek Study Group
