Agenda :: Andrews University
Songs of Solitude & Renewal

Saturday, November 8, 8 p.m.

The Andrews University Singers present "Songs of Solitude and Renewal" on November 8 at 8:00 p.m. This choral concert will be conducted by several guest conductors including Stephanie Mauer, Chelsea Lake, and Brenton Offenback. The repertoire will include, "Cloudburst" by Eric Whitacre, "Amor del mi Alma" by Z. Randall Stroope, "Even When He Is Silent" by André Arnesen, "Prayer" by René Clausen, and "Balm In Gilead" by Jackson Berkey.

The concert centerpiece is "This House of Peace" composed by Ralph Johnson for soloists, oboe, piano and choir; commissioned for the opening of Sacred Heart Medical Center in 2008. The words are from health patients and family members, and the composition is dedicated to all health-care givers. The performance will feature renowned tenor soloist Charles Reid, director of vocal studies at Andrews University, and soprano Carrie VanDenburgh, director of choral education in the Berrien Springs public school system.

The concert will conclude with choral adaptations of "Blackbird" and "Yesterday" by John Lennon and Paul McCartney, "Skies of the Clear Blue Morning" by Dolly Parton, and "All the Things You Are" arranged by Ward Swingle.

TICKETS REQUIRED: General Admission $5, Faculty/Staff $3, Students & Seniors $3, Children 12 & Under Free

Purchase tickets online, or call our box office at 888-467-6442 for student discounts and more information.

Howard Center Presents...Charles & Julie Reid

Concert at 7:00 pm on Saturday, November 15

Love is a most notorious subject matter for poets and musicians. This fall, join Charles Reid, Director of Vocal Studies at Andrews University, as he shares a fun evening with the love of his life, Julie Reid. Come journey with them as they explore the wonderful complexities of love. Recognized as one of his generation’s leading lyric tenors, Charles has sung on many of the world’s most famous stages, including nine seasons with New York’s Metropolitan Opera, San Francisco Opera, Theater an der Wien, Frankfurt Opera, Deutsche Oper am Rhein, and the festivals of Bayreuth, Salzburg, Spoleto USA, Glimmerglass, and Central City. A graduate of Westminster Choir College, mezzo-soprano Julie has concertized around the world with her husband. Since moving to Berrien Springs, she has become a regular in the concert scene of Southwest Michigan.

TICKETS REQUIRED: Reserved Seating $10, Students are Free

Dr. T. Overstreet Presents at AICER Symposium

Andrews International Center for Educational Research (AICER) invites students and faculty to attend a research symposium on Wednesday, November 5, at 5:30 p.m.

Presenter: Dr. Tammy Overstreet, Assistant Professor, Curriculum & Instruction Program Director, Andrews University

Title: The Effect of Prosody Instruction on Reading Fluency and Comprehension among Third-Grade Students

Many students are failing to become proficient readers with current methods used in American schools. Students often make improvements in two fluency dimensions, rate and accuracy, but these improvements have not consistently correlated to improvements in reading comprehension. The automaticity plus prosody (APP) model was developed by this researcher from Topping’s deep processing fluency model to explain why teaching and assessing the multiple dimensions of fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) improve comprehension. The purpose of this study was to compare students who received a treatment of only repeated reading and self-graphing with students who received a treatment of repeated reading, self-graphing, and an instructional focus of prosody.

Face-to-face participants meet in Bell Hall 180

Online participants to login as "Guest" at https://andrews.adobeconnect.com or http://www.andrews.edu/sed/aicer/researchwebinars/ whether or not they are registered Andrews students.

3:00-4:00 pm Oral Sessions, Buller Hall Classrooms

Co-curricular credit will be available for each section of the event. The plenary presenters will be Prof. Roy Gane and Prof. Greg Constantine, recipients of the Siegfried H. Horn Excellence in Research & Creative Scholarship Award.

The Michigan Academy of Science, Arts & Letters will be held on Friday, March 13, 2015 on the campus of Andrews University. Faculty and students are encouraged to present at the conference, which has over 30 sections in the sciences, humanities and social sciences.

The call for papers has been issued and abstracts will be accepted until December 3, 2014. Please view the instructions below:

CALL FOR PAPERS: Go to our website themichiganacademy.org and click on the blue tab labeled "Conference" at the top of the page. Under the Conference tab are links to the Call for Papers, Section Information, etc.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: December 3, 2014. If you submit an abstract by 12/3/14, you will have a chance to win free conference registration ($65 value for faculty/others or $75 for students).

SUBMIT A 200 WORD ABSTRACT: Note: We are using a new abstract submission system. If you had a login/password in previous years, it will not work. You will need to create a login/password in the new system.

Use this link to submit your abstract or go to themichiganacademy.org and select "Submit Your Abstract" on the left toolbar.

PROGRAM: Over 30 sections (disciplines) in the sciences, humanities and social sciences are holding programs. Follow the link under Call for Papers to see all sections.

PRESENTERS: Primarily higher education faculty, administrators, librarians, graduate and undergraduate students. (Undergrads must have faculty sponsors!).

Also invited to present papers: employees of non-profit and for-profit research organizations, public libraries, governmental agencies, K-12 faculty/administration, etc.

SPECIAL BENEFIT: Abstracts of papers presented at the conference are published in our interdisciplinary, academic journal, "Michigan Academician."

Transformational Vision at LLU

LOMA LINDA IS COMING!  On July 15, 2014 Loma Linda received an unprecedented $100 million dollar gift that launched the $1.2 billion dollar Vision 20/20 program.  Over the next 5 years, Vision 20/20 will be transforming Loma Linda University.  Please come join the deans from the Loma Linda University Medical School and Dental school in the Andrews University Cafeteria from 6-8 pm, Thursday evening, November 6th.  Dr. Roger Hadley MD and Dr. Ron Dailey PhD will share how the Loma Linda University Schools of Medicine and Dentistry are offering unique ways for the Seventh-Day-Adventist Christian to share God's message through LLU's mission "To Make Man Whole." This is not just open to the pre-med and pre-dent clubs.  Anyone who would like information about these career tracks is welcome to come and have some pizza with the deans and ask questions about Medicine, Dentistry and the new transformational $1.2 billion dollar Vision 20/20 program that will be transforming Loma Linda over the next 5 years!

LLU Pre-Med Interviews
Dr. Roddy of Loma Linda University School of Medicine will be on campus to interview students on Tuesday - Thursday, November 4 - 6.

If you would like to apply to medical school for the fall of 2015, please come to the Chemistry Office to schedule an appointment.

Dr. Roddy will also be meeting with all pre-med students on the evening of November 4th at 5:30 p.m. in the Chemistry Amphitheater.

Upcoming Honors Events
Reformation Day, Friday 31 October 9:00 am to 12:30 pm in the Honors Office

Once again, the Honors Office will host a celebration to commemorate Martin Luther's 95 Theses and the beginning of the Protestant Reformation (traditionally commemorated on 31 October). We invite you to stop by for Reformation Day Revelry NEXT Friday, 31 October between 9:00 am and 12:30 pm in the Honors Office. We will ask you to post a personal belief thesis on a post-it note on our own Wittenberg church door—the Honors Office door—whilst munching pumpkin donuts, sipping hot cider, and affixing a fabulous Martin Luther sticker to your attire!

Care Packages for our ACA Honors Scholars—collecting notes and treats until 31 October

There is also an additional piece of news for people who want to extend our love and concern for our fellow Honors friends who are currently studying abroad. Within the next few days, we will have some stationery in the Honors Office for everyone to write messages to our friends away from home. Please feel free to drop by and write letters wishing them luck and to show that we are all still thinking of them. As you're able, we will also have baskets to collect any snippets of home, such as snacks or gifts, for our friends abroad. Honors students abroad this year include:

Austin Huh
Julie Logan
Maria Wixwat
Paola Caceres
Anabelis Martinez
Hannah Choi
Michael VanderWaal

HONORS CHURCH REMEMBERING THE GREAT WAR AND RESPONDING TO SUFFERING—8 NOVEMBER, 11:45 am in the Howard Performing Arts Center

Veterans of the Honors Program know that one of our newest traditions from the last few years has been an annual Honors Church service celebrating aspects of the Protestant faith heritage. Because this year marks the centenary of the start of World War I, we’ve chosen to focus on the Great War and the ways in which it provoked varied responses to the problem of human suffering. The service will include excerpts from soldiers’ letters, poetry written by soldiers, scripture, and passages from the magisterial Karl Barth commentary on Romans which emerged in the wake of the war’s violence, as well as hymn-singing of pieces written by two major English hymn writers of the World War I era—Ralph Vaughan Williams and Charles Hubert Parry. We hope that you’re able to join the Honors family for this worship event.

An Evening of Love Songs

On Saturday, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m., vocalists Charles and Julie Reid will explore the wonderful complexities of love through song at the Howard Performing Arts Center. Accompanying Charles and Julie on the piano will be Beatriz Ritzenthaler. The duo will perform selections in Italian, French and German, coupled with hits from Broadway classics such as "Les Misérables" and "The Fiddler on the Roof."

Charles Reid is director of vocal studies at Andrews University. He is recognized as one of his generation’s leading lyric tenors and has sung on many of the world’s most famous stages, including nine seasons with New York’s Metropolitan Opera, San Francisco Opera, Theater an der Wien, Frankfurt Opera, Deutsche Oper am Rhein, and the festivals of Bayreuth, Salzburg, Spoleto USA, Glimmerglass and Central City.

A graduate of Westminster Choir College, mezzo-soprano Julie has concertized around the world with her husband. Since moving to Berrien Springs, she has become a regular in the concert scene of Southwest Michigan.

Tickets are required. They are $10 for general admission, $5 for Andrews University faculty and staff, and free for students. Tickets can be purchased online or at the box office by calling 888-467-6442.

Songs of Solitude and Renewal

The Andrews University Singers present their fall choral invitational, “Songs of Solitude and Renewal,” on Saturday, November 8, at 8 p.m. in the Howard Performing Arts Center on the campus of Andrews University. Concert repertoire will include: “Cloudburst” by Eric Whitacre, “Amor del mi Alma” by Z. Randall Stroope, “Even When He Is Silent” by André Arnesen, “Prayer” by René Clausen and “Balm In Gilead” by Jackson Berkey. Featured guests are college choral conducting students Stephanie Mauer, Chelsea Lake and Brenton Offenback.
The concert centerpiece is “This House of Peace” composed by Ralph Johnson for soloists, oboe, piano and choir, which was commissioned for the opening of Sacred Heart Medical Center RiverBend in Springfield, Oregon, in 2008. The words are from Peacehealth patients and family members, and the composition is dedicated to all healthcare givers. The performance will feature renowned tenor soloist Charles Reid, director of vocal studies at Andrews University, and soprano Carrie VanDenburgh, director of choral education in the Berrien Springs public school system.

The concert will conclude with choral adaptations of “Blackbird” and “Yesterday” by Paul McCartney, “Skies of the Clear Blue Morning” by Dolly Parton and “All the Things You Are” arranged by Ward Swingle.

General Admission: $5, Faculty/Staff: $3, Students & Seniors: $3, Children 12 & Under: Free

Purchase tickets online, or call the box office at 888-467-6442 for student discounts and more information.

Update on Ebola Crisis

The message below was originally sent to Andrews University staff, faculty and students by Niels-Erik Andreasen, University president.

I imagine that you have joined me in continuing to follow the significant news coverage in recent months regarding the ongoing Ebola Virus Disease (EVD) crisis in three countries in West Africa: Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone.

There have also been Ebola cases elsewhere, including now here in the United States. All these cases are connected with individuals traveling from those three countries, or those who provided direct healthcare support to individuals with Ebola.

Both the World Health Organization (WHO) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have stated that there is only a small risk for an outbreak of Ebola in the United States (apart from the potential risk for those who care for or have otherwise come into physical contact with those who have Ebola). All of us, including Andrews, still need to take thoughtful precautions to ensure the safety and health of those in our communities, both in our immediate geographic community and around the world.

Currently, we have no students who have come to us directly from Guinea, Liberia or Sierra Leone. Also, while Andrews operates in locations around the world, there are no affiliated academic partner programs in any of the three countries affected by Ebola.

On this campus, as we seek to understand and carefully respond to this health crisis, Andrews will incorporate several safety precautions and protocols, as urged by both the WHO and CDC. We will:

- For at least the next three to six months, prohibit University-sponsored travel from or through countries with Ebola (Guinea, Liberia, Sierra Leone), and encourage individuals connected with the University to do the same
- Follow the CDC and WHO guidelines for monitoring/movement for Ebola exposure, including the Oct. 22 update
- For any apparent direct contact with Ebola patients by members of the University community, self-monitoring and voluntary isolation separate from the main campus will be instituted for a 21-day period. As appropriate, Provost and Student Life offices should be informed if there is suspected contact by a faculty, staff, student or student family member.
Additionally, with any reported instance of apparent contact or risk by a member of the University's community, the University will work immediately, closely and directly with the county's Public Health Department and medical officials.

Encourage our campus community to continue to practice common sense safe hygiene, especially with the approach of the flu season, including ongoing careful washing and sanitizing of hands.

While there is no current significant or direct risk to Andrews University in particular, please know that we will continue to monitor any and all official information releases regarding this public health emergency, update our protocols and react accordingly.

You can follow ongoing updates and information on Ebola issues around the world at the links below:

Envision Magazine & Student Movement Win Awards

by Becky St. Clair

Andrews University student publications won several awards at the Society of Adventist Communicators convention in Jacksonville, Florida, on October 18. Envision magazine earned prizes in three categories: Best in Class Design, Best in Class Feature Writing, and Honorable Mention Photography.

The graphic design of the current issue was done by Amber Sarno, Arielle Pickett and Jonathon Wolfer. "Troubled Waters" by Emily Leffler, recounting her near-death experience while scuba diving in Cozumel, won for best feature writing. Photographer Brian Tagalog's riveting portrait of Patrick Knighton took home the honorable mention award.

The Student Movement earned top honors as Best in Class Newspaper, under the editorship of senior journalism and English major Melodie Roschman. Roschman was nominated by Debbie Michel, associate professor of communication, in a nod to Roschman's above-and-beyond efforts in covering complex issues such as substance abuse and homosexuality.

"Melodie has shown a willingness to tackle controversial topics," said Michel. "Her three-part series on addictions created a level of engagement I've not seen before, where Dwight Nelson preached a series of sermons on the topic, and even the dorms used the articles to launch their own discussions."

Michel is not the only faculty member impressed with Roschman's leadership and professional abilities.

"It's one thing simply to choose challenging topics; it's quite another to treat them with depth and nuance, in a non-polemical way which adds to the conversation," says Scott Moncrieff, professor of English and faculty sponsor of the Student Movement. "I think Melodie has done that in her own feature and editorial writing, and has encouraged that same spirit of professional journalism in her staff."

Students in the Department of Communication and Department of Visual Art & Design produce Envision magazine each spring semester. The Society of Adventist Communicators is a professional development organization for Adventist communicators in both secular and denominational employment. The Jacksonville event celebrated the group's 25th anniversary.
Adventist Engaged Encounter 2014

by Cassandra Hales

Andrews University will host the 2014 Adventist Engaged Encounter (AEE) November 7–9. It is an enrichment weekend for engaged and recently married couples, which offers insights, tools and confidence to develop their relationship and strengthen their commitment to one another.

There are three main aspects to AEE's programming: fellowship with other recently engaged and newly married couples, teaching by marriage mentors, and personal communication and connection development with one's partner.

For many, attending an AEE weekend is one of the most significant experiences of their courtship or early marriage.

"AEE taught us how to communicate more efficiently in our marriage," says Erin Castelbuono, AEE participant. "As a result of this weekend, I became more aware of my husband's emotions and feelings. I would positively and certainly recommend AEE to anyone who is getting married or who is recently married."

For registration information, email aee@andrews.edu or call 269-471-6636. Registration fees are $50 if at least one attendee is an Andrews University student and $85 for non-students.

Enrollment Report for Fall 2014

by Stephen Payne

Like many universities nationwide this fall, Andrews University continues to see a decrease in its enrollment, with 3,418 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students enrolled on our main campus. This represents an overall decrease of 98 students since fall 2013, leading to 4.88 percent fewer credit hours enrolled than last year. This number includes 100 fewer undergraduates and two more graduate students than fall 2013. Overall undergraduate enrollment is 1,805 students, with 1,613 enrolled in graduate programs.

In particular, freshman class enrollments have also decreased, with 273 enrolling this fall as first-time freshmen, for a total freshman class of 372 students (overall freshman enrollment last year was 438). Transfer enrollment within the undergraduate population has increased slightly, and the number of high school students taking university courses, who are counted as undergraduates, grew by nearly 30 this year for a total of 111.

"As we've studied, in particular, these fall 2014 undergraduate enrollment trends, we find that our enrollment reflects overall trends in national demographics and Seventh-day Adventist data within North America that predict declining undergraduate enrollments in many colleges and universities," says Randy Graves, vice president for Enrollment Management. "As a result, in the months to come, we'll need to explore additional ideas and initiatives that help make even more clear the high value of an education at Andrews University, while working to continue to keep costs as proportional as possible to the financial abilities of students and their families. These initiatives and others will need to be implemented in a way that helps stabilize, if not grow, Andrews University enrollment in challenging times."

Elsewhere on the Berrien Springs campus, the graduate programs enrolled 313 new graduate students this fall, for a second year of significant increases in overall graduate enrollment.

"We are proud of our graduate students, both on our campus and around the world. In our School of Graduate Studies & Research, we ultimately believe that the education that Andrews University offers can aspire to generate a change in the individual and therefore a change in the family, the society and the world," says Christon Arthur, dean.

Four years ago, Andrews University assumed ownership of Griggs University & Griggs International Academy, previously operated by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The School of Distance Education oversees the operations of these Griggs programs, and also coordinates affiliate and extension education sites for the University throughout the United States and around the world. Altogether, approximately 2,800 students pursue Andrews University degrees at affiliate or extension sites worldwide.

Griggs International Academy teaches 2,115 students worldwide. These include students at both elementary and high school levels doing home schooling or studying full-time at Griggs International Academy sites globally, along with Job Corps, a program that offers high school diplomas and job skill training to at-risk students throughout the United States.

The early part of each academic year is also a time when U.S. News & World Report ranks Andrews University, as well as more than 1,600 other schools throughout the U.S.

Farm to School Success
Berrien County Juvenile Center food service manager Charity Hackett first took an interest in serving more fresh fruits and vegetables to residents, utilizing a garden at the Center. Since then, the Center has obtained food preservation equipment, developed resident food handling skills training and purchased CSA shares aided by the Michigan Farm to School Grant program. The Berrien County Juvenile Center was one of 21 MI Farm to School Grant recipients in 2014.

In the first year of the farm-to-school initiative, Hackett found difficulty in obtaining small quantities of a variety of produce from many different commercial farm vendors. Working with Michigan State University Extension and the MSU Product Center, the nearby Andrews University's CSA and market garden program was identified as a reliable source of fresh fruits and vegetables. Bulk apples are purchased from a separate grower.

Horn Museum in New York Times
In a few months, the Siegfried Horn Museum at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., will exhibit 48 ancient fragments of possibly religious ceramic figures depicting humans and horses. Dating from the 8th to the 6th century B.C., they were excavated over more than a decade ending in 2012 at Tall Jalul in Jordan.

While small, the exhibition, part of a one-year loan agreement with Jordan, will be something of a rarity.

"There is no easy life."
The giant acorns under the chestnut oak trees at Monte Sano State Park in Huntsville, Ala., remind Rachel Williams-Smith of how her family collected them and attempted to make something edible during the year they camped there in a converted school bus. The cliffs behind Monte Sano Lodge are where the family took refuge during the tornado of April 1974. And Williams-Smith smiles when she sees a line of ants marching along.

"The ants were my friends," Williams-Smith said this week, as she gazed at the wooded lot around the Lodge. "I didn't have much else to do - our main curriculum was, as my mother put it, 'Bible and survival.'"

Williams-Smith is chair of the Department of Communication at Andrews University and recently published a book, "Born Yesterday," a telling of the story of her growing up years.

Residents of the Berrien County Juvenile Center enjoy more fresh fruits and vegetables through the Michigan Farm to School Grant Program and Andrews University CSA.

Posted on October 28, 2014 by Joanne Davidhizar, Michigan State University Extension, MSU Product Center

Berrien County Juvenile Center food service manager Charity Hackett first took an interest in serving more fresh fruits and vegetables to residents, utilizing a garden at the Center. Since then, the Center has obtained food preservation equipment, developed resident food handling skills training and purchased CSA shares aided by the Michigan Farm to School Grant program. The Berrien County Juvenile Center was one of 21 Mi Farm to School Grant recipients in 2014.

In the first year of the farm-to-school initiative, Hackett found difficulty in obtaining small quantities of a variety of produce from many different commercial farm vendors. Working with Michigan State University Extension and the MSU Product Center, the nearby Andrews University's CSA and market garden program was identified as a reliable source of fresh fruits and vegetables. Bulk apples are purchased from a separate grower.
“We are both raising students and we have found a great way to interact in the mission,” Andrews University Assistant Professor, Garth Woodruff, said regarding his commitment to the effort. “The chefs visit and talk food from time to time, and we leave a newsletter with instructions on odd food. We both are growing from the relationship.”

As the result of the farm-to-school program, most residents increased fruit and vegetable consumption through exposure to new foods. Center staff substituted as much produce as they could in their menus using many new recipes for the items they received. “Serving eggplant was a perfect example,” Hackett said. “The residents did not take to it well at first, but once they were willing to try it, we had several ask for it again throughout the summer.”

Added benefits to the connection with local farmers were field trips to area fruit, vegetable and dairy farms. They better learned how their food was produced and packed. Back at the Center, they were prepared to close their own garden down for the season.

Food entrepreneurs are encouraged to seek business counseling by Michigan State University Extension Educators, in addition to meeting certification requirements. Requests for counseling may be made at www.productcenter.msu.edu, or by calling 517-432-8750.
Biblical-Era Collections Suffer in a New World of Archaeology

By GERALDINE FABRIKANT

In a few months, the Siegfried Horn Museum at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., will exhibit 48 ancient fragments of possibly religious ceramic figures depicting humans and horses. Dating from the 8th to the 6th century B.C., they were excavated over more than a decade ending in 2012 at Tall Jalul in Jordan.

While small, the exhibition, part of a one-year loan agreement with Jordan, will be something of a rarity.

In recent decades, countries that house remains of the ancient world have become determined to keep archaeological finds within their borders. Partly as a result, many smaller archaeological museums at religious-affiliated schools across the United States, lacking the financial resources to buy works or borrow actively from other collections, are scrambling to increase the museums’ appeal.

"Today they are often filling those museums with information, rather than with objects," said Aaron Brody, director of the Badè Museum at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Calif. In the process, they have become largely "legacy museums," he said.

The loan to Andrews is a coup of sorts, bringing more recent discoveries to its museum. There are dozens of such museums, some tucked away in rooms at college libraries. Most were initially established as repositories for archaeological excavations done from the 1920s to as late as the 1970s. But today, major obstacles stand in front of the removal of excavated objects for exhibition in the United States — even major finds shedding new light on ancient history.

For example, in 2005 a dig at Tel Zayit in Israel run by the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary unearthed a stone inscribed with the earliest known specimen of the Hebrew alphabet. While the stone attracted intense interest in the world of archaeology, it remains in Israel. Ron Tappy, professor of Bible and archaeology at the seminary and director of its Kelso Museum of Near Eastern Archaeology, said a year’s loan of the piece would be difficult because of costly insurance and liability issues.

The school does have 7,000 artifacts that were taken out of Israel during earlier digs, and some are on display. But the museum has not added to its collection. “We are not in a position to buy collections of artifacts," Dr. Tappy said. To convey some of the excitement of the find, he said, "there is a small corner of the museum dedicated to the discovery at Tel Zayat."

In earlier periods, some finds from archaeological digs in which American schools participated were taken to the United States under agreements with host countries that let the visiting archaeological teams keep some portion of the finds.

Some of the nation’s wealthiest universities participated in excavations years ago and created impressive museums: the Oriental Institute Museum at the University of Chicago, the Yale University Art Gallery and the Harvard Semitic Museum. Today, even though it is difficult to bring objects back, these schools continue to mount special exhibits. Their endowments also allow them to add occasionally to their collections.

Continue reading the main story
Continue reading the main story

Smaller schools, too, receive some gifts from collectors, but they often lack the resources to mount exhibits or acquire new objects. "For us, the challenge is to be noticed," Dr. Brody of the Pacific School of Religion conceded. The Badè Museum gets only about 800 visitors a year.
Virtually all of the museum’s holdings were acquired when a professor at the school, William F. Badè, worked at Tel en-Nasbeh in what was then the British Mandate of Palestine. Mr. Badè dug there between 1926 and 1935 in an attempt to prove that it was the site of Mizpah, where, according to the Bible, King Saul was crowned. The great find was an ancient seal with the name Jaazaniah. In the Hebrew Bible, Mizpah is linked to Jaazaniah, so the seal suggests that the site was actually Mizpah. That seal remained in Jerusalem, but 6,000 other objects have been brought to the Badè Museum over decades.

“It is not fancy-smancy stuff,” Dr. Brody said, explaining that even so, the material is valuable for studying how people lived in the period when the Bible was written.

That was not the early goal of such archaeology. Initially, research was aimed at proving the historical actuality of the Bible. Today, archaeologists at religious schools largely view discoveries of ancient objects as a means to gain insight on the historical period in which the Bible was written.

“The objects tell you how people lived in those days,” Dr. Brody said. He has his students go into the museum, choose three objects and write about them. “We take what we have in-house and use it to illustrate a point,” he said.

Two years ago, the museum had an exhibition, “Shedding Light on the Layers of a Lamp,” exploring what ancient lamps revealed about the culture at a particular site.

Even Andrews University, which is involved in two major digs, has a relatively small museum of six exhibition halls. While there are hopes to move the museum to a larger space, Constance E. Gane, its curator, acknowledged that getting the funding is difficult and that the school, which had always supported the digs, now faces financial pressures.

To keep museums relevant and make history more engaging for students, some schools’ museums, like museums around the world, are buying copies of artworks. For example, the Prewitt-Allen Archaeological Museum at Corban University in Salem, Ore., built its collection on purchases by a former instructor and amateur archaeologist, Robert S. Allen.

“Ninety percent of our things are authentic,” said its curator, Adrian Jeffers. “But we also have facsimiles of the Rosetta Stone and Hammurabi’s code.”

Boundless Love: From Classroom to the Operating Room
by Yafu Qu

At 10 a.m. on September 17, 2014, I suddenly began to experience a severe stomachache. It continued to worsen until at 2 p.m. I felt so much pain that I could not get up from my seat. I was sweating all over.

Three of my classmates, Jessica, Yumei Cai, and Pastor Jose, saw this unusual behavior and called the campus safety office. When the emergency car came, my classmates helped me into the car and we went to University Medical where I had a blood test and received immediate care. The doctor told me that it was appendicitis and that I needed to be transferred to the hospital for emergency surgery.

I was in so much pain that I could not sit up. The doctor gave me a shot to relieve the pain, and immediately my thoughts became hazy. It was difficult for me to see and understand things. Pastor Jose drove us to the Lakeland Regional Medical Center in St Joseph. However, I was in the United States from China to pursue my MDiv degree at Andrews University and had arrived only a month ago. Now I faced a strange country, a strange hospital, and a strange medical system, but somehow God was giving me a deep inner peace!

One issue is that I did not know my medical insurance number! This is not something I had memorized (do you know yours by memory?), and I had no card with me. At that time, I just thought that I would go through the medical treatment and then go home to take my son to Pathfinders! So I did not call my wife to tell her about my treatment in hospital. The doctor asked for my wife to be informed, and then the treatment could proceed.

The medicine the doctor gave me to dull the pain had made my thoughts slow and hazy so I had to depend on my three classmates. Also, I did not know English very well, and they were very brave to stay with me and help me. They called many people for help, sending out many urgent requests for help. Thankfully, they were able to make contact with my wife and brought her to the hospital.

After two examinations from the doctor, it was already evening, and my classmates had two tests the next day. So they did their homework and reviewed their lessons in the hospital hallways, staying with me until 9 p.m. They would not go back to Andrews due to their concern for my ability to communicate with the hospital staff. They stayed with me for 7 hours. They did not think about themselves, the time, their test scores or any of their other challenges. I am sincerely grateful to Jessica, Yumei Cai, and Pastor Jose for their boundless love.

Two other friends, Xiaoming Xu and Jianming Wei, drove to the hospital to see me at 10 p.m. after receiving my wife's call. That they would take time to drive to see me at that time of night meant a lot to me.

1 John 3:18 commands us to "love, not in words or speech, but in truth and action." They were fulfilling this command of God in a perfect way.

The next day at 6 a.m.—before the dawn light appeared—Jianming Wei picked up my wife and took her to the hospital, and Xiaoming Xu went to the student insurance services at Andrews University to deal with my medical insurance, got my medical letter from Andrews University, then took it to the hospital. At the same time, she looked after my 4-year-old daughter.

At noon, the surgery was completed successfully. In the evening, Rowland Liu came to help me return home and made proper arrangements for my rest. After I had arrived at home, Scott Moncrieff, professor of English, and his wife, Lilia, came to see me with fresh flowers and homemade bread, as well as full expressions of good wishes. My heart was warmed greatly.

Through this situation, I experienced and was surrounded by so great a cloud of love by Andrews University. I will remember my kind friends forever. In turn, I would also like to be a channel of God's love and blessings to those around me and to help others follow Andrews University's motto: Seek Knowledge, Affirm Faith, Change the World.

Supporting the Gonzalez Family

We are sorry to let you know that earlier today, Emma Gonzalez, the younger daughter of Daniel and Wendy Gonzalez, passed away in an accident. Daniel is an assistant professor of biology here at Andrews University.

Emma's grandmother, Sylvia Gonzalez, is also part of our Andrews faculty and community as a professor of leadership and educational leadership.

Campus Ministries is collecting non-perishable items all of this week (through Friday, Oct. 24) for the Gonzalez family, to relieve them of thinking about necessities such as laundry detergent, toilet paper, toothpaste, canned food, beans, rice, etc. If you would like to contribute to this collection, please drop your items off at the Campus Ministries office in the Campus Center during regular business hours.

A memorial service for Emma was held Tuesday morning at the Spanish Seventh-day Adventist Church in Berrien Springs. The Andrews University family can share messages and condolences for Emma's family and friends below (click "Leave a Comment"), and we invite you to remember and surround Emma's family and

All Nations for November 1
All Nations SDA Church Service, November 1, 2014
Speaker: Dr. Errol McLean, "Thankfulness: Key to a Life of Grace"

The Angel and the Hour
The Angel and The Hour
November 2-7, 6:30-7:30
Speaker - Pastor Ron Kelly
Place - Village SDA Church
635 St Joseph Ave, Berrien Springs, MI

Our world is descending into a state of deeper confusion and despair. The Bible foretells of this disorientation as a sign of the end. In the midst of the deepening darkness God announces hope from the precincts of the heavenly sanctuary. The voice is swift, powerful, and uplifting. It is the first Angel's message of Revelation 14:6-7. It is a call to return to the plan of salvation and offers hope to a world in distress. Pray for God's direction in seeking out the ones you are to invite to "The Angel and the Hour," beginning Sunday night at 6:30 p.m. in the sanctuary.

Topics:
- Sunday: "Houston - We've Got A Problem"
- Monday: "178 Seconds to Live"
- Tuesday: "10 Days of Grace at Remagen"
- Wednesday: "The Kaiser and the Cowgirl"
- Thursday: "Operation Final Deliverance"
- Friday: "Immunized for the End"
Holiday Gift Market

Interested in unique, hand-crafted gifts for the holidays? Come to the Holiday Gift Market on Sunday, November 16 from 12-5 pm at Chan Shun Hall. Approximately 20 crafters and artists will be offering a wide variety of items, including scarves, shawls, hats, bags, photography, picture frames, ornaments, cards, hand painted signs and decor, natural shaving and skincare products, gift tags, live plant decor, among others!

During the market, the campus Enactus team will be organizing a food drive to benefit local food banks. So if you are able, please consider dropping off some non-perishable foods at their table before you do your shopping.

There will be fun activities for the kids to enjoy, too!

For further information, contact Rebecca Turk at unendingwonder@gmail.com or Diane Helbley at simplestirrings@yahoo.com.

Worship Leaders Needed at Calvary Road Community Church

Are you looking for a Church that maybe isn't so much like a church? Are you looking for a place where people simply come in as they are and worship together? Are you looking for a spiritual community where you can be you? Are you a worship leader or a musician who would like to use their talents in worship?

Calvary Road Community Church may be the place for you. CRCC is an Adventist Fellowship that gathers every Sabbath at the Niles Inn for worship and in homes in the community during the week. Both the places we meet and the people who gather encourage and open arms atmosphere for all who would come, especially those who are a little less mainstream when it comes to church. We hope to connect people to God through worship, to each other through small groups, and to the community through outreach (i.e. feeding america, thanksgiving baskets, etc.).

If this sounds like the kind of place you would like to be, we would love to meet with you.

2014 LUC Campus Catalyst

Link: http://eepurl.com/5JdyL

2014 LUC Campus Catalyst Training is being offered for launching, growing, and sustaining Adventist Public Campus Ministry. Training will be provided by seasoned campus minister, Ron Pickell, North American Division Coordinator for Adventist Public Campus Ministries through Adventist Christian Fellowship.

Date: October 31-November 2
Location: North Shore Adventist Academy Gymnasium.
Address: 5220 N. California Ave. Chicago, IL 60625

Registration: $25 for everyone. The first 50 registrants get the Catalyst kit free. After that, the kit is $50 extra to be paid upon arrival if some one wants one. This extra is not to be paid with the $25 registration fee as the money goes to different places.

Meals: All Sabbath meals are included in the fee. Sunday morning will have a snack. Friday supper is up to the registrant to figure out.

Lodging: The gymnasium is free for anyone to camp out in. There are bathrooms and showers. This is the lodging that is encouraged. However, if someone really doesn’t want to and they have the money, there is an option 2.

Lodging Option 2: There are rooms set aside at the Holiday Inn Chicago North Shore/Skokie. This is located about 2 miles from the Academy.

The Price Breakdown is as Follows:

- Single Occupancy - $108.41/person ($216.82 for two nights)
- Double Occupancy - $56.94/person ($113.88 for two nights)
- Triple Occupancy - $39.79/person ($79.58 for two nights)
- Quadruple Occupancy - $31.21/person ($62.42 for two nights)

Roommate Needed

Rent: $365/mo (everything included)

The Apartment: Beechwood Apartment. 2 Bedrooms/1 Bath. 5 minute walk (or less) to campus. Wifi. Laundry room is just 2 doors down (close enough for those heavy loads, far enough so that you can't hear any noise from the machines). So pretty much perfect.

The Roommate: Mid 20's female. First year MSW student. Into traveling, films, reading, relaxing, and completing my degree. I'm easy going, tend to be quiet, and responsible.

You: Looking for respectful, social, kind roommate who is responsible about rent and doing their part to keep our place clean and tension free. Preferably a grad student who will be here for the next year or two, and must be female.

When: Available December 1st (current roommate is graduating and moving)

Please call/text/email if you have questions or to set up a time to see the apartment. Blessings!

Missing Dog

Dog Name: Payton

Description:

Additional information:
When lost the dog was wearing a purple collar. The collar had a name tag for the dog. The tag had her name on it (Payton Tucker) and also had my phone number, 269-277-2706. Also the dog had a metal chain type leash about 3 feet long.

Location Lost:
At about 530pm on Saturday October 11-2014 I was with the dog at the dog park in Kiwanis in St. Joseph near Langley and Pearl Street. Payton got away and went up the wooded hill that ends up in the sub-division on the Langley side of the park.

English Saddle for Sale!

Used, brown-black English saddle with stirrup irons. Nice condition. I used it for a few years at the youth fair, but now I ride mostly bareback and my arthritic horse won't be jumping anymore. The seat size is 16" or 16 1/2", which is just barely too small for me. I was still able to use it fine, but I felt like one size bigger would have been perfect. (I'm 5'5" and 120 lbs.) Asking $100.

IT Job Opportunity

Adventist Information Ministry seeks someone with computer experience and/or education to work as an Assistant in our IT department. AIM is a ministry of the North American Division which answers the toll-free numbers for many of the church’s media ministries. Because of this we are looking for a person that has a strong dedication to the soul winning mission of the Adventist church.

The IT Assistant position works directly with and under the supervision of the IT Department Supervisor. They will also work with other student IT personnel. They will also communicate to and work closely with AIM Administration and Management.

This position is being offered to students with a corresponding background in IT or who are currently well along in the Computer Science major (sophomore and above). The applicant should qualify for employment under the student labor policies of Andrews University. Usually an internship credit can be arranged with your department.

We are looking for someone who will invest themselves in this ministry for longer than a school year, hopefully several years. Essential to the job is being a self-starter, someone who can figure out what needs to be done and do it. We anticipate that the person we hire will work about 15 hours per week when school is in session and up to full time during most vacations and summer.

AIM works primarily in a Windows environment. On any given day the IT Assistant can be involved in one or more of the following areas:

- Network design and maintenance
- Setting up or maintaining Servers
- Maintaining offsite backup system
- Maintaining Exchange Sever and email management
- Maintaining or modifying our sophisticated software-driven phone system
- Maintaining workstation computers, monitors, phones, speakers, etc.
- Building new computers for workstations
- Supporting our mail order and shipping software
- Management of inventory controls
- Helping Management with special projects
- Helping employees with log in or working equipment issues
- Any other IT related issues that might arise
- Setting up or maintaining databases
- Maintaining and improving our primary software program
- Developing or maintaining reports for management or clients
- Maintenance and development of our website(s)
- Documenting software, procedure or policy development
