Share Your Photos for Week in Pictures
If you have photos from around campus or at events sponsored by an Andrews department/entity, we would love to share them with the campus, community and beyond via Week in Pictures.

There are two ways to share your images with us:

1. Upload your image to Instagram with a complete caption, including #aucardinal15.
2. Email your image to agenda@andrews.edu with the following information: Complete caption, your name, your title (if staff/faculty) or year/major (if student).

If your photo is selected to appear in the next Week in Pictures, you can find it by clicking the link under the Photo of the Week in the Agenda reminder email on Tuesdays. Who knows--maybe your picture will even make it into the email as the Photo of the Week!

Thank you for sharing your Andrews experience with us via photos.

AICER Presents Patrice Wright

Andrews International Center for Educational Research (AICER) invites students and faculty to attend a research symposium on Wednesday, December 3, at 5:30 p.m.

Presenter: Patrice Wright, Educational Leadership Program Graduate Student, Andrews University

How to Conduct a Qualitative Research Employing the Grounded Theory
This presentation will focus on writing a qualitative grounded research. It will provide a step-by-step process for conducting the research. Examples will be provided throughout the process. In so doing, the researcher will be able to understand human behavior; communicate effectively; use technology skills efficiently; perform effective research and assessment; respect and conduct inquiry which will lead to a resolution based on reading and evaluation research, conduct research and report the findings of the research. This presentation should be of interest to doctoral students and researchers who intend to conduct qualitative researching using the grounded theory.

Face-to-face participants meet in Bell Hall 180

Online participants login as "Guest" at https://andrews.adobeconnect.com/_a877709416/research/ or http://www.andrews.edu/sed/aicer/researchwebinars/ whether or not they are registered Andrews students.

Welcome Christmas: Choral Concert

Free choral concert on December 5, 2014 at 7:30 PM

The Welcome Christmas concert will feature a garland of Christmas choral art songs including, "The One Gift" by Kenneth Rudolph, "Masters in This Hall" a French carol arr. by John Rutter, and "Child of Peace" by Jeffery Van, featuring harpist Christina Goosey. A couple choral favorites will be performed: "Christmas Dinner" by Paul Stooky featuring alto Susan Zork, and David Schwoebel's arrangement of "Silent Night".

The concert will conclude with the Christmas portion of George Frederick Handel's "Messiah" presented by the University Chorale under the baton of Brenton Offenback, graduate choral conducting assistant.
Howard Center Presents...A Christmas Celebration...
Howard Center Presents...A Christmas Celebration: Sounds of the Season with a Soulful Touch
Concert on Saturday, December 6 at 8:00 pm
Preconcert talk at 7:15 with Claudio Gonzalez, Belford Hernandez and Marianne Kordas.
The Andrews University Symphony Orchestra, the University Singers, conductor Claudio Gonzalez, and producer and pianist Belford Hernandez present diverse sounds spanning from classical Christmas themes, Celtic tunes, to soulful color in this concert celebrating the Christmas season. The production will include the traditional performance of Nutcracker suite by Tchaikovsky and Christmas music with the choir. For the second part of the program a Jazz trio from Chicago, under the leadership of Pianist Belford Hernandez, will join the Andrews University Orchesttra to perform excerpts from Handel's Messiah with gospel elements. Celebrate the season with a diverse array of sounds!

Retirement Party for Dr. Emilio Garcia-Marenko
The definition of a registrar is an official in an academic institution who handles student records. As the Andrews University Registrar for 17.5 years, Dr. Emilio Garcia-Marenko has come to know the job very well, but has been much more than that. In addition to his responsibilities as Registrar, in 2003 he became the Associate VP for Academic Administration. In 2007 this position changed to the Associate Provost, and he also became the administrative figure to which students could voice their complaints. Dr. Garcia has also held the position of Interim Graduate Dean, and on two occasions was asked to cover for the VP for Enrollment Services during leadership transitions. And he has been a Professor of Family Ministry in the AU Seminary since 1997. Please join us to honor and celebrate Dr. Emilio Garcia-Marenko's many years of service to Andrews University.

STUDENTS: Take Fall Course Surveys

It is once again time for students to rate their courses through course surveys. Course surveys provide the opportunity to give important (and anonymous) feedback to instructors on the effectiveness of the course.

Most courses will be surveyed electronically through our automated system, Class Climate. Email invitations for each course survey will be sent Thursday, November 20. If the survey is not taken, reminders will be sent automatically every three days until December 5. A Certificate of Completion will be generated and emailed you after each survey is submitted. This may be saved, and used as proof of completion if the instructor offers any type of incentive.

Thank you in advance for your participation. If you have any questions, please contact the Office of Institutional Effectiveness at ext. 3308 (assessment@andrews.edu)

CAMPUS MINISTRIES SPONSORS MIKE BROWN TOWN-HALL FORUM TONIGHT @7pm in GERBER AUDITORIUM [Chan Shun Building] 11/25/14

Andrews University — Tonight at 7pm, in the Chan Shun Business Building, Campus Ministries will be sponsoring a town-hall forum for Andrews University students, faculty, and staff. This forum will seek to facilitate a safe space for students to express their hurt, confusion, frustration, and questions concerning the ramifications of the Ferguson grand jury’s decision not to indict Officer Darren Wilson in the killing of Michael Brown.

This town-hall meeting is being organized to help students process the meaning of the verdict and how the verdict personally affects them. Campus Ministries will also seek to provide Christo-centric comfort and guidance for students, faculty, and staff who have been emotionally touched by the Michael Brown case.

The town-hall meeting will take place in the Gerber Auditorium, Room 118, which is on the first floor of the Chan Shun Business Building.

Would you like to participate in the making of a new standardized articulation test and get paid?

The Department of Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology at Andrews University has been given an opportunity to participate in a project with Pearson Educational to help in the standardization of the latest Goldman-Fristoe Test of Articulation 3rd Edition (GFTA-3). This test is used to determine whether articulation development is normal or delayed for people 2-21 years old.

For the first time, the GFTA-3 will be standardized using Q-interactive®, a digital system which uses two i-Pads that “talk” to each other via Bluetooth connectivity.

Pearson is seeking the following sample groups to be evaluated:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age</th>
<th>Race/Ethnicity</th>
<th>Parental Educational Background</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2 – 5 years old</td>
<td>ALL</td>
<td>All Levels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6 – 21 years old</td>
<td>Black, Hispanic, Asian</td>
<td>All Levels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6 – 21 years old</td>
<td>ALL</td>
<td>Whose Primary caregiver has a high school degree or less education</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

The time for testing takes approximately: 30 minutes, and compensation is being offered in the amount of $10. Our graduate student clinicians are also given valuable experience and compensation as well.

Please provide the following information to determine your eligibility to participate in the program:

1. Full Name: ________________________________
   Last ____________________________________
   First ___________________________________
   Middle initial ___________________________

2. Date of Birth: ____________________________

3. Parent/Guardian’s email (if younger than 18): ____________________________

4. Your email (If older than 18): ____________________________

5. Gender: □ Female □ Male

6. State currently lives in: ____________________________

7. Ethnicity: □ Alaska Native □ American Indian □ Asian □ Black/African American □ Hispanic/Latino □ Pacific Islander □ White □ Other □ First Nations

8. Language(s) Spoken: ____________________________

9. Language(s) Understood: ____________________________

10. Highest level of education completed by: Mother/Guardian __________________ Father/Guardian __________________ Self __________________

11. Whom do you most recently live with: □ Mother/Guardian □ Father/Guardian □ Self

12. Diagnosis-mental, medical or academic (if there is one): ____________________________

This information will be submitted to Pearson and they will notify us if you qualify. If you do we will contact you to set up a test date and time.

Any questions regarding this project should be directed to Lara Scheidler-Smith at 269-471-3618 or email her at speech@andrews.edu.
United Way Campaign Results

As President Andreasen stated in a message to campus in September, "The mission of Andrews University has always resonated with the mission of United Way—to improve lives by mobilizing the caring power of communities. It also takes us to the story in Matthew 25 where Jesus calls his followers to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, visit the sick."

Andrews employees truly embraced this year's United Way campus campaign theme, Bursting the Andrews Bubble, ending the campaign with our best-ever results. More employee donors gave more dollars that will help fill more needs in our community.

"The campaign goals we set for this year were definitely 'stretch' goals, and while we didn't quite hit those goals, we burst our own bubble and achieved new levels," said Dalry Payne, United Way campus campaign leader. "We want to thank everyone who participated in this great campaign."

President Andreasen and the team of campaign leaders had some fun putting together a thank you video for those who helped break records in the 2014 campaign.

United Way Campaign Totals

2014: 216 people gave $22,811.85!
2013: 142 people gave $16,549
2012: 135 people gave $14,538
2011: 90 people gave $9,145
2010: 87 people gave $8,401
2009: 82 people gave $10,179
2008: 48 people gave $4,800
2007: 91 people gave $11,202

In 2013, United Way funded 50 different programs and partnered with 34 different organizations in Cass & Berrien counties. Some of the ways your 2014 donations will help in our community are: provide mentorships for at-risk students, help low-income families prepare their children for school, provide at-home services to cancer patients, and provide much-needed services to vulnerable senior citizens, to name only a few examples.

A special word of thanks to those employees who served as campus leaders for the campaign, taking the goals and objectives of United Way in a grassroots way throughout campus. In addition to sending out information through group emails, leaders made presentations at various staff meetings, braved the elements to cheer at the campus entrances for the campaign kickoff, participated in the Alumni parade, provided giving incentives in the form of snack carts, and made their offices mini-campaign headquarters festooned with United Way posters and goal devices.

Campus campaign leadership was Alisa Williams, Kristine Knutson, Garth Woodruff, Bruce Wrenn, Carolina Gomez-Jones, Gerilyn Gigante, Beverly Sedlacek, David Sedlacek, Lisa Rollins, Paul Elder, David Iwasa, Rod

Christmas at Andrews

Andrews University invites the community to attend any or all of these upcoming holiday concerts.

The season begins with a concert by students in the voice studios of Charles & Julie Reid on Friday, November 21, at 7 p.m. in the Howard Performing Arts Center on the campus of Andrews University. This music vespers program will feature sacred Christmas selections such as "O Holy Night," "Gesu Bambino" and "Silent Night," but will also introduce the audience to holiday gems they may not have yet encountered. Admission is free for this concert.

The first University ensemble performance of the holiday season will take place on Saturday, November 22, with the University Wind Symphony at 8 p.m. in the Howard Center. The concert, under the direction of Alan Mitchell, will feature "Christmas Festival" by Anderson, "I Wonder As I Wander" arranged by Clark, "A Christmas Fantasy" arranged by Custer and "Russian Christmas Music" by Reed, in addition to other selections. Special features include "The First Noel" arranged by Simmons and directed by graduate student director Sebastian Serrano, as well as "Away in A Manger" arranged by Wallace and directed by graduate student director Francis Serpa. The University's brass ensemble will also perform "An English Carol Fantasy" arranged by Marchand.

General admission for the Wind Symphony concert is $5; students and seniors are $3. For tickets, visit howard.andrews.edu or call the box office at 269-471-3560.

Andrews University's Enactus members, as well as other students, staff and faculty, will be participating once again in the annual Berrien Springs holiday event "Kindle Your Christmas Spirit." It takes place on Thursday, December 4, from 6–9 p.m. on Ferry Street in downtown Berrien Springs. That road, plus several surrounding roads, will be closed to automobile traffic, and most businesses will remain open. Activities include a non-perishable food drive, observing artists creating ice sculptures, horse-drawn carriage rides, live caroling, crafts for kids, face painting, a live nativity scene, and snacks and/or hot drinks will be available in most businesses. This event is free and open to the public.

The annual Welcome Christmas Choral Concert, featuring University Singers & Chorale, takes place Friday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. This performance will feature a garland of Christmas choral art songs, including "The One Gift" by Kenneth Rudolph, "Masters in This Hall," a French carol arranged by John Rutter and "Child of Peace" by Jeffery Van and featuring harpist Christina Goosey. The groups are also bringing back two choral favorites, "Christmas Dinner" by Paul Stookey, featuring Susan Zork, alto, and David Schwoeble's arrangement of "Silent Night." The concert will also include "Magnificat" by John Rutter, and conclude with the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah," presented by the University Chorale under the baton of Brenton Hernandez. The production will culminate in the famous Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah" with gospel elements. Other works include arrangements by Belford Hernandez and David Schwob's "Silent Night." The concert will also include "Magnificat" by John Rutter, and conclude with the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah," presented by the University Chorale under the baton of Brenton Offenback, graduate choral conducting assistant. Admission is free for this concert.

The Howard Center Presents...A Christmas Celebration on Saturday, December 6, at 8 p.m. The Andrews University Symphony Orchestra and the University Singers, conducted by Claudio Gonzalez, present the "Nutzacker Suite" by Tchaikovsky as well as other traditional vocal Christmas music. The second part of the program will include a performance with a jazz trio from Chicago under the leadership of pianist Belford Hernandez. The production will culminate in the famous Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah" with gospel elements. Other works include arrangements by Belford Hernandez and David Williamson. Tickets for the Christmas Celebration concert are $15 reserved seating; $5 for students. To reserve tickets, visit howard.andrews.edu or call 269-471-3560.

On Sunday, December 14, at 2 p.m., join us for the December Second Sunday Concert. Every December this concert features a special Christmas carol sing-along. The Second Sunday Concert Series is a collaboration between WAUS 90.7 FM, the Andrews University Department of Music and the Howard Performing Arts Center. No tickets are required; the event is free and open to the public.

Other holiday concerts at the Howard Center include:

He Can Use Anyone

by Jenna Neil

Rachel Williams-Smith, chair of the Andrews University Department of Communication, was recently invited to share her life story on the Hope Channel and 3ABN. On October 21, Williams-Smith was on a live program on the Hope Channel called "Let's Pray."

"Let's Pray" is a one-hour Tuesday night program where viewers call in and share their prayer requests with a waiting prayer team. The first half of the program features a story or testimony, and during the second half the prayer team goes through the prayer requests that callers have shared.

Williams-Smith was asked to share her story on "Let's Pray" while at the Society of Adventist Communicators Conference in Jacksonville, Florida earlier that month.

"I was sitting at the table for Sabbath lunch and it turned out I was sitting with about three people from the Hope Channel," says Williams-Smith. As she was sharing her vision for the Department of Communication and some of her background, she said they "latched onto" her story. When she mentioned that she would be sharing her story on 3ABN and the Dare to Dream channel, they asked if she would be willing to come on Tuesday to share with the Hope Channel viewers as well. Although Williams-Smith thought they were joking at first, she agreed to make the trip to Washington, D.C.

The discussion on the show segment centered on Williams-Smith's statement that she was born in the 20th century but raised in the 19th. "It was a 19th century lifestyle in terms of how we lived day to day, with no conveniences including electricity, running water and so forth. It was a 19th century mindset especially when it came to women and what they can and can't do and dress, when it came to wearing bonnets and long dresses. And we were more focused on what the 19th century Adventist and Adventism taught than we are today."

Show hosts also asked about how the change from where she was to where she is now came about. Williams-Smith talked about when she went to a small, self-supporting high school.

"I learned something called principles, which are underlying truths that don't change, and that gave me a foundation for beginning to be able to change myself," says Williams-Smith. She used the example of modesty and how rules of modesty will change but the underlying foundation remains the same. When she attended Oakwood University, Williams-Smith gained an academic and professional foundation from which to begin moving forward.

The hosts also asked her about forgiveness, particularly in regards to Williams-Smith's father. They asked how she forgave her father for such a strange upbringing. She explained it wasn't difficult because he was actually the one who asked for her forgiveness.

"I had made a choice," she stated. "Once again, learning about principles, and understanding that love and forgiveness are principles presents you with a choice to love and accept or not. It's a choice you make."

Family on the Mend After Plane Crash
A plane crash on Friday in Berrien Springs is still affecting the aviation community at Andrews University.

Bryce Fisher, the man that made the miraculous landing just two miles from the school's airport, obtained his pilot's license from their aviation department.

He is also an airplane mechanic and has an aviation maintenance license from Andrews University too.

His family was heading from Richmond, Indiana to Berrien Springs for a family function when Bryce believes the engine failed.

Great Leaps Forward
Although she was born in 1965, Rachel Williams-Smith's story could have been set in the 1800s.

Wearing long dresses and broad-brimmed bonnets, she grew up without modern conveniences like electricity, telephone, radio, television or indoor plumbing. She, along with her two older brothers, was shaped by the extreme religious views of her iron-willed, Vietnam veteran father and practical-minded mother.

Grace Place: Caring for the Community
The Grace Place may be fairly new to the community, but members have already made their presence known with their programs on health, marriage and finances and their regular outreach to South Bend neighborhoods.

The church held its first service in February 2013 in the home they found at the Community Congregational Church, 19671 Cleveland Road in South Bend. The two churches collaborate on joint services and programs at various times during the year. The Grace Place is affiliated with the First Seventh-day Adventist Church in South Bend.

Hyveth Williams, an Andrews University professor, founded the church with the express goal of reaching out to the community. Church members have adopted as their own the neighborhood bordered by Portage Road, Cushing Street and Lincoln Way, going out every two weeks to give away free food and other items, to invite people to come to church and to tell them about the special seminars and programs the church offers.

Mobile Farm Market Puts End to Food Deserts

A mobile farm market is making a difference in Michigan one vegetable at a time. Andrews University said due to its success this summer they are going to expand next year.

According to the USDA, there are four large food deserts in Berrien County. They include a part of Benton Harbor, Niles, Buchanan, and Berrien Springs. Every Monday the market would stop at the Ferry Street Resource Center so residents could buy nutritious food.

One woman said she loved the recipes the dietitian would provide.

Pauline Washington said, “They picked it that morning and they brought it, they were selling it, plus showing us how to cook it!... the grocery store is not close to where I live! nothing is close to where I live!”

Mobile Farm Market Proves Success

Be Healthy Berrien’s mobile farm market, operated with Andrews University, had a fruitful first season and will continue to grow, the Berrien County Board of Health heard Wednesday.

Nicki Britten, director of community health planning, reported that 60 percent of survey respondents said they were eating more vegetables as a result of shopping at the mobile market.

The project was launched last summer to sell produce grown at Andrews’ student gardens and orchards. The mobile market made stops in low-income neighborhoods in Benton Harbor, Benton Township, Buchanan, Niles and Berrien Springs, where residents have limited access to fresh fruits and vegetables.

The health department and Andrews “consider this a very successful pilot year of this program,” Britten said.
BERRIEN COUNTY, Mich. - A plane crash on Friday in Berrien Springs is still affecting the aviation community at Andrews University.

Bryce Fisher, the man that made the miraculous landing just two miles from the school's airport, obtained his pilot's license from their aviation department.

He is also an airplane mechanic and has an aviation maintenance license from Andrews University too.

His family was heading from Richmond, Indiana to Berrien Springs for a family function when Bryce believes the engine failed.

Bryce had to be extricated from the plane but he has been released from the hospital.

His 70-year-old father Dr. William Fisher owned the plane and was the co-pilot. He has been flying various aircraft for 3 or 4 decades. There were reports that he was walking around after the crash.

Dr. Fisher's wife, Barbara Fisher, is still in serious condition and sources said she underwent surgery at a Kalamazoo hospital, but she is expected to be okay.

Bryce's girlfriend, Miritha Morales, was also in the plane and walked away from the crash.

Bryce's former aviation instructor at Andrews University was at the scene moments after the plane went down. His professors said the Fisher family recently donated a plane to the aviation department, and the community knew the family well.
Randy Robertson said, “Given the direction they were coming from, there weren't really any good options. There are trees and narrow little streets and that they happen to be right where they were is providence, a blessing, miracle.”

Before Robertson was an Associate Professor of aviation at Andrews University, he investigated dozens of plane crashes for the Air Force.

Robertson said, “Metal is metal. I can buy more metal, I can't buy more people. I can't replace them.”

Robertson said it was shocking to find out his former student was in the cockpit.

Robertson said, “They were able to carry all the way through the trees and impact the ground at the top of the bluff as opposed to down the bluff and the providence that they didn't actually come 3 or 4 feet higher may well have saved lives. Had they hit 4 or 5 feet down, the aircraft would have turned into an accordion. Like hitting a wall.”

The plane crashed just five feet from a house in the 400 block of Bluff Street.

The instructors showed our reporter an engine failure in a plane simulator. In the demonstration, it all happened in a matter of seconds.

Jared White said, “This means I'm about to land, and that's my crash. I mean we had roughly between 15 and 30 seconds to do minimal troubleshooting but basically try and find a safe place to land. And that's what Bryce and his family did as well.”

The FAA is investigating the plane crash and it's expected to take several weeks.
Andrews prof reflects on 19th century upbringing and life's bumps

BERRIEN SPRINGS - Although she was born in 1965, Rachel Williams-Smith's story could have been set in the 1800s. Wearing long dresses and broad-brimmed bonnets, she grew up without modern conveniences like electricity, telephone, radio, television or indoor plumbing. She, along with her two older brothers, was shaped by the extreme religious views of her iron-willed, Vietnam veteran father and practical-minded mother.

The Seventh-day Adventist family separated from society and moved to an old, abandoned house high on a hill in Tennessee where they would await the end of the world. Her father told her that girls were trouble, and refused to play with her. At 16, Rachel left the hill and entered school for the first time, living in a world she knew little about. She went on to graduate from college with a bachelor's degree in language arts, a master's degree in English and a doctorate in communication.

She has two grown daughters, Sharon and Sheryl, and, following a failed marriage, met and married Carl Winston Smith, a fashion designer and tailor. They live in Coloma, and Carl Smith recently opened a tailoring business in St. Joseph.

Williams-Smith, 49, is chairwoman of the Andrews University Department of Communication and an associate professor, and author of the new book, "Born Yesterday: The True Story of a Girl Born in the 20th Century But Raised in the 19th." The first hard copies of her book arrived the day she sat down for an interview with Herald-Palladium Staff Writer Julie Swidwa.

Tell me why you wrote this book.

When people find out my unusual past, they ask me how did I go from where I was to where I am today, and I realize it came over a period of time, that my life was like a gift. For my doctorate I did my dissertation on that whole adjustment process and I began to realize through the help of my professors that, as one professor said, "You've been given an unusual life. What are you going to do with it?" You can either sit on it and let it just be, or you can take the gift and do something with it.

Great leaps forward - The Herald Palladium : Local News http://www.heraldpalladium.com/news/local/great-leaps-forward/article... and do nothing, or you can actually use it to benefit others.

What do you think it can do for people?

My number one hope is that for people who have been turned off from God, I hope to re-inspire their faith. The testimony of how you could come up with too much religion and yet come out where you have a stronger faith in God than you ever did before in your life, is a testimony to what God can do for anybody. I also hope it will help parents with good intentions to realize that what children experience can be different from what the parents perceive. I also hope that for young people who are feeling in despair, who may feel like they've messed up or blown it and there's no chance in life they could ever accomplish anything worthwhile.

What would you say to young people who blame mom and dad for everything that happens, or if they stumble?

Everybody has something that they would rather not have and some people have more than others. Sometimes it's your parents, as well intended as they may be or as awful intended as they may be, parents make mistakes, they do things that they shouldn't do. There's no perfect ones out there.

So first, you have to acknowledge the things that have happened in your life, and see them for what they are. There's no point in lying to yourself.

It's not necessary to go back to parents and say 'you did this or that,' but you have to know for yourself where some of those problems and challenges came from.

I know for myself, particularly with my father, I didn't want to make him look bad ... and some things I didn't even want to admit to myself, but then I had to realize, no, this had an impact on my life.

But the other side is, you can't use what happened in your life, no matter what it is, as an excuse for sitting down and letting it destroy you. There are people in life who have gone through more than me and they've accomplished much more than me.

Do you have a good relationship with your mother?

I do. She moved in with us in August and I enjoy having her there. She still holds a lot of her beliefs like she did before, so I listen when she talks.

Sometimes she'll talk about her beliefs and she wants to talk about them with great fervor, and I just enjoy the fact that my mom is alive and that she can be excited about the things she believes and they can still give her joy and inspiration at 79.

Do you have a good marriage now?

Yes, I do! We've been married six years. My husband came into my life sure about one thing and that was that he was there to love me. He wanted to be in my life. And I wasn't even sure about all that, but it was the best decision I made. He's been a blessing to me. He's been absolutely supportive of the book, including things in the book that you might not want to put in a book for a person in a professional position working at a religious organization. He just kept telling me, "Rachel, you need to tell your story, you need to be true to yourself and what you believe you need to do in sharing your life. Don't mince, don't hold back, don't do a half job, do exactly what you believe you should do."

Was it therapeutic for you to write this book?

Actually the therapy came earlier when I wrote my dissertation. That was a very therapeutic process even though I didn't go into the family dysfunction element, but just having to go back into my life so much. The book was therapeutic again, but not to the same degree. I think where it helped, it was very revealing. I had always thought that my life was very disconnected.

And actually when I wrote my dissertation I talked about five distinct stages that I went through. I saw everything as disconnected. I was actually going to call (the book) "The Patchwork Quilt" when I started because I just saw my life as a collection of things that had happened. It was in writing the book that I discovered that there was almost like a plot to my life and it was amazing.

When I'm sharing now, even in this interview, when I'm sharing and answering questions, I feel a joy and a life and an energy that I've never experienced before in my life for anything that was happening in my life. I've occasionally felt like that over something I was working on for somebody else, but this is a whole other level, and I just want to be able to be a blessing. I want to be able to share, and help, and make a difference. I just want my life to make a difference.

Darrell McIntyre came off the bench and led the Saints with 15 points.

Men's Basketball - Sun, Nov. 16, 2014

Jordan Oyer – Sports Information Director

Notre Dame, Ind. – The Holy Cross men's basketball team hosted Andrews University Saturday night in their 2014-15 home opener. The Saints fell to the Cardinals, 59-57. The loss drop the Saints to a 2-3 record for the season.

After giving up a five point lead to the visitors, the Saints made a 15-3 run capped by a steal and layup by Darrell McIntyre. The Saints took a 32-30 lead in at halftime. Cardinals guard Brandon von Dorpowski kept the visitors in the game with three first half 3-point buckets. The Saints had seven steals and twelve points off of turnovers in the opening period, but shot only 37.9% from the field.

The Saints extended the lead to nine points at the 13:52 mark in the second half off of a put back. The Cardinals wouldn't go away as they chipped into the Saints lead, finally taking their first lead of the second half (51-50) with 4:01 left in the game.

It was a tight game down the stretch with the Saints taking back a two point lead with 39 seconds left from a Zoe Bauer three pointer. The Cardinals answered with a three of their own from Dorpowski (his fifth three of the game). The Saints had a chance to take the lead with a Columbus jumper from the elbow, but the ball rimmed out and Cardinals guard Gabriel Becton grabbed the rebound while being fouled. Becton made 1-of-2 free throws giving the Saints one last chance to take the game with three seconds left. Saints junior guard O'Brian Hobbs had a good look from three on the left wing, but was denied the game winning shot when the ball rimmed out as time expired.

Three Saints scored in double digits: McIntyre (15), Hobbs (12), and Columbus (11). Columbus added 10 rebounds.
for his first double-double of the season. The Cardinals hit a staggering 50% (10-20) from three point range, while the Saints were 26.1% (6-23) from three and 35.8% (19-53) from the field.

The Saints will open up CCAC play this Wednesday, November 19th when they host the Panthers of Purdue-North Central at McKenna Arena. Tipoff is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. EST.
Corine Deckard Passed Away
Corine Mae (Anderson) Deckard, a longtime resident of Berrien Springs, passed away Monday, November 24, 2014 in Dowagiac. Raised in Bedford, Indiana, Corine graduated from Oolitic High School, where she met her spouse, Rance Deckard. They were married on April 18, 1946 and soon moved to Berrien Springs, where Rance attended Emmanuel Missionary College (now Andrews University). Upon his graduation, they settled in Berrien Springs, where they raised their children and became lifelong residents. Corine and Rance were members of Pioneer Memorial Church.

Online condolences may be left here.

Thank You from the Gonzalezes
Dear Andrews Family,
As many of you know, we lost our 14-month-old granddaughter, Emma, in a tragic car accident in October. Over the past several weeks, many of you at Andrews, in addition to others from our church family and the community at large, have reached out to us in significant ways. These gestures of compassion and love have meant so much to us. We would like to express our sincere, heartfelt “Thank You.” May all of you be as richly blessed as you have blessed our family with your kindness.

Death of Thesba Johnston
Thesba Johnston, professor emerita of counseling psychology, died on Thanksgiving morning, November 27, at the age of 96 years, in Berrien Springs, Michigan. Dr. Johnston served in the School of Education from 1978–1998, and maintained a private practice as a licensed psychologist in Berrien Springs. She was the first female licensed psychologist in Berrien County.

Visitation will be from 6–8 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 2, at Allred Funeral Home, Berrien Springs. There will be a private graveside service December 3. Online messages for the family may be left at www.allredfuneralhome.com or in the Comments section of this posting.

Please remember her extended family in your thoughts and prayers, including son-in-law Don Smith, who works for Andrews University Arboretum/Grounds.

Berrien Springs Camera Club December Meeting
The monthly meeting of the Berrien Springs Camera Club will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 3, at 7 p.m. in the Berrien Springs Public Library at Cass (Old 31) and Union in Berrien Springs. This month's program consists of a competition of prints and projected digital images submitted by members.

The selected topics for the month are 1) Neighborhoods and 2) Trees. An additional three are acceptable for any of the competitions: 1) Portraits, 2) Nature (showing nothing of human origin or domesticated), and 3) Open (anything else). The Neighborhood category can include anything that speaks of community, neighborliness, places or events that make an area a neighborhood. It will take some creativity to find a unique shot for Trees—a forest, a close-up, a lone tree on a hillside, etc.

Prints, at least 5” x 7” in size, should be mounted; digital images must be submitted four days in advance, following instructions on the club's blog: http://berrienspringscameraclub.blogspot.com/

All are welcome, either to observe or to join. Anyone planning to join may submit images for the competition according to the blog instructions. Refreshments will be served.

Missing Dog

Dog Name:
Payton

Description:

Additional information:
When lost the dog was wearing a purple collar. The collar had a name tag for the dog. The tag had her name on it (Payton Tucker) and also had my phone number, 269-277-2706. Also the dog had a metal chain type leash about 3 feet long.

Location Lost:
At about 530pm on Saturday October 11-2014 I was with the dog at the dog park in Kiwanis in St. Joseph near Langley and Pearl Street. Payton got away and went up the wooded hill that ends up in the sub-division on the Langley side of the park.

Adventist Information Ministry is looking to hire temporary, dedicated Spanish Customer Service Representatives for an outbound calling campaign. AIM is a ministry of the North American Division which answers the toll-free numbers for many of the church’s media ministries. Because of this we are looking for people with a strong dedication to the soul-winning mission of the Adventist church.

Job Description
Base Pay: $9/Hour
Writers Wanted

Do you enjoy writing? Do you wish you could get paid for being creative?

Consider joining our global team of writers in creating dynamic content for an online English learning program. We will provide the template and training. Anyone with a love for writing and with good English skills is welcome to apply.

This is a great way to supplement your income as you can set your own hours and work from home. We require an initial sample lesson. Please provide any relevant experience and qualifications when getting in touch.
