Andres Academy Choir & Orchestra Spring Concert

May 5, 2015 7:00 PM at the Howard Performing Arts Center.

The Andrews Academy choir and orchestra present their spring concert under the direction of Hector Flores.

NO TICKETS REQUIRED
Lake Michigan Youth Orchestra

The Lake Michigan Youth Orchestra is ready for Spring! This concert is just one of the four public concerts LMYO performs each year. As one of several educational programs of the Southwest Michigan Symphony Orchestra, the Youth Orchestra provides an orchestral experience for talented young musicians in southwest Michigan. This outstanding musical experience is open to students between the 4th grade and college senior. The LMYO will perform on Sunday, May 3, 2015 at 4:00pm at the Howard Performing Arts Center, on the campus of Andrews University in Berrien Springs, MI.

SELECTIONS TO BE PERFORMED ARE:

YOUTH SYMPHONY – conductor Mr. Burke Lakey

Symphony No. 9 in E Minor "From the New World" by Antonin Dvorak
Violin Concerto No. 1 in G Minor by Max Bruch
Soloist – Fangbo Yuan
   Crown of India Suite by Edward Elgar
   Piano Concerto in A Minor by Edvard Grieg
   Soloist – Jesper Ke

ENCORE STRINGS – conductor Mr. Timothy McFeaters

   Eine Kleine Nachmusik by W.A. Mozart, arr. Roy Phillippe
   Bach Suite for String Orchestra by Vernon Leidig
   An English Folksong by Terry McQuilken

CONCERT STRINGS – conductor Mrs. Beth Oseburg

   Blue Ridge Boogie by Bruce Chase
   All Through the Night arr. Andrew Dabczynski
   Overture to William Tell by Gioacchino Rossini, arr. Sandra Dackow

Tickets available at the door
Adults $5
   Students $3

The Lake Michigan Youth Orchestra is the capstone of the Southwest Michigan Symphony Orchestra’s educational outreach programs. Members of the Youth Symphony have the opportunity to participate in sectionals and rehearsals with members of the Southwest Michigan Symphony Orchestra, perform four concerts during the season, and to perform in chamber groups in the Mendel Center lobby before SMSO concerts. The Youth Orchestra program began in 1978 and over the past 35 years has retained the flexibility to adjust its focus to meet the changing needs of student musicians.

The Howard Performing Arts Center is located on the campus of Andrews University at 4160 E Campus Circle Drive, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

For more information about the Lake Michigan Youth Orchestra, see the educational link at www.smso.org, or contact the Symphony office at 269-982-4030.
Dedication of New Campus Flag Pole

Tuesday, April 21
5:30 p.m.
Campus Mall

The campus is invited to gather for the official dedication of the Class of 2015 class gift. They have donated funds to enhance the center flag plaza and replace the main campus flag pole.

All are welcome to join the class president Jisun Ahn, members of the Class of 2015 and President Andreasen, for a few moments of dedication and appreciation.

STUDENTS: Take Spring Course Surveys

It is once again time for students to rate their courses through course surveys. Course surveys provide the opportunity to give important (and anonymous) feedback to instructors on the effectiveness of the course.

Most courses will be surveyed electronically through our automated system, Class Climate. Email invitations for each course survey will be sent Monday morning, April 13. If the survey is not taken, reminders will be sent automatically every three days until April 24. A Certificate of Completion will be generated and emailed to you after each survey is submitted. This may be saved, and used as proof of completion if the instructor offers any type of incentive.

Thank you in advance for your participation. If you have any questions, please contact Laura Carroll in the Office of Institutional Effectiveness at 269-471-3308 (assessment@andrews.edu).

Madagascar Flood Drive

The island of Madagascar was recently hit with a Tropical Cyclone and continues to experience severe flooding due to continued heavy rainfall. Over 100,000 have been affected and many more are now suffering from starvation due to the destruction of crops.

It has estimated that it would take at least three more months for the water to go down due to the lack of infrastructure to properly drain the water.

A group of Andrews University students will be traveling to Madagascar for a study tour this spring (leaving May 17). With them, the students will be taking items for the children, women and men who have been affected by the storm.

Please help us help them by donating any of the following items:

- Basic necessities and toiletries (for all ages and gender)
- School supplies
- Water purifiers
- Solar powered lanterns/flashlights
- Clothing
- Suitcases (to help transport the items)
- Cash

Any donation will be a blessing!
Items may be dropped off at the Community & International Development Program located in Buller Hall 203. For more information or if you would like to take part in the Study Tour please contact us at 269-471-6538 or cdip@andrews.edu.

Thank you!

AICER Presents Anna Piskozub

Andrews International Center for Educational Research (AICER) invites students, faculty and interested participants to attend a research symposium on Wednesday, April 22, at 5:30 p.m.

Presenter: Anna Piskozub, graduate services coordinator, School of Education, Andrews University

Topic: Exercise Motivators and Exercise Causality among Andrews University Students: A Correlational Study

The purpose of this study was to identify the most important exercise motives that influence Andrews University undergraduate students’ choices and behaviors toward acquiring a more physically active lifestyle. A second purpose was to investigate whether Andrews University students were autonomous, controlled or impersonal in the regulation of their behavior toward exercise. Data collected from 316 undergraduate students was statistically analyzed by using descriptive statistics, bivariate and correlational analysis. Findings revealed significant exercise motivation predictor variables for three exercise causality orientation profiles: autonomous, control and impersonal. In addition, it exposed significant differences in the exercise motives and exercise causality orientation between the students from the School of Health Professions and other schools.

Venue for face-to-face participants: Bell Hall, Room 013

Retirement Celebration for Dr. James Jeffery

Date: Tuesday, May 5, 2015
Time: 3–5 p.m. (farewell program from 4–4:30 p.m.)
Location: Badger & Hoosier Rooms, Campus Center

The School of Education invites you to join them in wishing Jim Jeffery well as he retires. Jeffery is retiring as the dean of the School of Education on July 1, 2015. He has been a valued colleague at the University for 16 years, with 13 of those as dean. During this 13-year tenure (the longest of any dean of the School of Education), he has led the school through multiple accreditations: NCATE, CACREP, NASP and various SPAs. The quality of the school, under his leadership, has been recognized by both accreditation teams (no areas for improvement in the last NCATE visit—a rare achievement) and by the state (Andrews was the top teacher training institution in Michigan for four years in a row).

Come celebrate his many years of service to Seventh-day Adventist education and Andrews University at his retirement reception.

This will be a come-and-go reception. Hope to see you there!

Andrews Career Services Directory

Career questions and concerns are common for all university students, especially those who are toward the end of their college career. Andrews University offers many career services free to students that will help to prepare each one as they move forward into a chosen career.

On Andrews campus, the career services are divided into two areas: Career Development, and Career Placement. Each area covers certain aspects of establishing and finding a career and is provided by different departments.

Attached you will find further information on the services offered, and a directory of the different department representatives.

Her dedication and service for the last 20+ years have been greatly appreciated and she will be missed.

This will be a come-and-go reception with a farewell program from 4–4:30 p.m.

Faculty Brainstorming Session
Faculty: Are you passionate about professional development? Do you have ideas of activities that could enhance the professional development of faculty here on campus? Are you excited about the possibility of connecting with other faculty members as you continue to explore ways of enhancing the learning experience?

The Office of Human Resources, Department of Teaching, Learning & Curriculum, and Effective Teaching and Learning Council invite you to a “come-and-go” brainstorming session during lunch on Tuesday, April 21, from 11:30 a.m.–2 p.m. in the Lincoln Room at the Campus Center. You are invited to come and join us as we brainstorm ideas for faculty professional development for this coming year.

RSVP by sending an email to training@andrews.edu, and be sure to include your name, ID#, email address, and the department where you teach.

AU x ALTSO Thank You

On behalf of the AU Marathon Team and A Leg to Stand On (ALTSO), we want to thank you so much for your generous donations in support of our Marathon/Half Marathon on April 12. We were able to raise over $2,400 towards our fundraising goal! This will help nine children receive prosthetic devices who otherwise wouldn’t be able to stand, let alone walk, and it’s all because of you. On behalf of them, and of us, thank you!

Here is a link to a short video with pictures re-capping our marathon weekend: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2SOrYoMTYJ4

Thank you again!

Interdisciplinary Public Lecture

Speaker: Christopher R. Mwashinga
Location: Garber Auditorium, Chan Shun Hall, Andrews University
Date: Saturday April 25, 2015
Time: 4-5:15 p.m.

The Tanzanian Club of Andrews University presents “Global South Christianity and Adventism: How should the Church respond” by Christopher R. Mwashinga.

Christopher R. Mwashinga is a PhD student in systematic theology at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University. The concept of global south Christianity [also global south Adventism] describes some important trends in Christianity which in the coming decades will affect the makeup of Christianity in general and Adventism in particular, and how churches do their missional work. So, how should the Seventh-day Adventist church respond to these trends? Mwashinga will share some important insights on how the church should respond to this worldwide phenomenon.

Come one come all. Let’s start a conversation.

U.S. Flag at Half Mast April 15

Gov. Rick Snyder has joined President Barack Obama’s call for all United States flags to be lowered to half-staff on Wednesday, April 15, as a day of remembrance for President Abraham Lincoln.

The day marks the 150th anniversary of the day the nation’s 16th president died.

“We do not lack for reminders of President Lincoln’s actions, which will live in our nation’s hearts for as long as we remain a strong and united country,” Snyder said. “Today we will remember the person—his dedication to what we should stand for and the courage to fight for it. Let us all pause today and reflect on President Lincoln’s vision for America and what we all can do moving forward in that spirit.

On Andrews's campus, the career services are divided into two areas: Career Development, and Career Placement. Each area covers certain aspects of establishing and finding a career, and is provided by different departments.

Career Development covers areas in the first stage of development, such as: identifying your life calling, personal mentoring, career assessments, career counseling, and career planning. It also includes the next step such as resume building, cover letter writing, developing professional etiquette, practicing interview skills, graduate school assistance, and job search preparation. Help in these areas are provided to you through the Counseling and Testing Center and are a useful tool in getting started on the road to your career. Connect with a counselor or the career coach to start developing a plan for your career.

The Career Placement aspect is currently covered by the different Academic departments, and includes the final step in transitioning from college to career. This area covers things such as; help in finding internships and fellowships, networking and connecting with employers, career fairs, job search assistance, professional mentoring, and other employer relations. Connect with your department representative to see what opportunities and assistance they can provide as you move forward with finding a career.

Now, many students may still be undecided in a major, and find that they are unsure what they want to do for a career. A new program here at Andrews University, Explore Andrews, is designed to meet the needs of these undecided students. Connect with this department to find out how they can help you explore more of options and opportunities.

Above you will find a department directory that will help you identify the person in your department, as well as Explore Andrews and the Counseling and Testing Center that can help you move forward with planning your career.

Symphony Orchestra Spring Concert

The Andrews University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Claudio Gonzalez, along with University Singers and University Chorale, under the direction of Stephen Zilk, will perform their spring concert on Saturday, April 25, at 8 p.m. in the Howard Performing Arts Center. The concert is free and open to the public.

Two main pieces by Dietrich Buxtehude and Felix Mendelssohn will be featured. The piece by Buxtehude is "Chaconne in E minor," a classic work where harmonic reiterations are decorated by various melodic iterations.

"Hymn of Praise," also known as Symphony-Cantata No. 2 "Lobgesang," will have its grand debut in this concert as it has never been performed on this campus. This great musical work, written by Mendelssohn, was inspired by two transcendent musical pieces: Beethoven's "9th Symphony," and "St. Matthew's Passion" by Johann Sebastian Bach. Mendelssohn therefore used the symphonic style, with the addition of chorus and solo voices.

Soloists for this concert will be Charles Reid, tenor, artist-in-residence, associate professor of voice and voice area coordinator at Andrews University; Julia Lindsay, soprano; and Julie Reid, mezzo soprano, adjunct voice instructor at Andrews University.

This concert promises to be a continuation of Andrews University's rich musical tradition. In the words of Gonzalez, "...With an important choral movement and dynamic orchestra program, we are proud to produce one of these works every year."

Horn Museum Display of Ceramic Figurines

The Institute of Archaeology and Siegfried H. Horn Museum at Andrews University are proud to introduce the "Figurines of Tall Jalil" Exhibit. Recognized by Geraldine Fabrikant in the New York Times as a "coup," the exhibit is being housed in the Madaba Plains Project Exhibit Hall of the museum. The 48 ceramic figurine fragments will be on display until April 30. The exhibit is open to the public on Saturdays from 3-5 p.m., and by appointment during the week.

The small yet significant exhibit is filled with ceramic figurines from the Late Iron Age II/Persian Period (8th - 6th century BC). The artifacts are on loan from Jordan; which is quite a feat, considering that in recent decades countries that house remains of the ancient world have become determined to keep archaeological finds within their borders. This "Study Loan" was given for the purpose of further study in preparation for Andrews University's forthcoming publication of their excavations at Tall Jalil, Jordan. Constance Gane, curator and associate director at the Horn Museum, was able to successfully negotiate the loan. According to Gane, "I believe one of the primary reasons we were able to negotiate this loan is due to the long term level of trust that has been developed between the leadership of Tall Jalil (particularly that of Director Randall Younker) and the Jordanian Antiquities Authority."

Many of the ceramic figurines were excavated by Andrews University students from 1992–2012, during a University sponsored archaeological excavation at Tall Jalil in the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. Most of the artifacts are of male or female busts, including the mother breast-feeding her baby motif. There are also a number of partial horse and rider figurines. These artifacts give us insight into how these people lived during this time, hopefully giving us a better understanding of people in the biblical era.

The exhibit has gained a lot of attention in addition to the release by the Times, including coverage by several local newspapers and TV 46. Because of this, the museum has had a steady stream of visitors specifically for this exhibit. The museum also houses over 8,500 ancient Near-Eastern artifacts: not withstanding coins, pottery, sculptures, tools, weapons, figurines, jewelry, seals and glass vessels. The museum also sponsors a stellar lecture series, and houses over 3,000 ancient cuneiform tablets from Sumerian through Neo-Babylonian times.

To arrange an appointment to view the exhibit, please call 269-471-3273.

Alternate Spring Break for Andrews Student

Lianne Wynne, a sophomore social work major, was recently invited to Washington D.C. to participate in an alternative spring break by United Way. The "Alternate Spring Break" program is sponsored in partnership with Kimberly-Clark Corporation, and provides an opportunity for 25 young women who are leaders from college campuses across the country to join together for a week of service and advocacy.

The week-long event was held in the Washington D.C. metropolitan area, and afforded Wynne an opportunity to learn about and participate in events focused on critical issues for women such as human trafficking, STEM education for girls, women and girls' health, women's leadership and more.

Wynne, who is minoring in leadership, says that United Way's Alternate Spring Break program was influential in helping her decide how to employ her talents and passions to empower women. Having previous experience with Girls On The Run and working with United Way of Southwest Michigan won her over.

"For a long time I've been trying to figure out what I wanted to do and what population I wanted to work with and it's slowly coming to me. Several professors have told me that they believe I'd be great in advocacy and I've always ran away from it. I'm trying not to anymore. I'm becoming curious about my abilities in that area."

As part of the program, Wynne got to spend time with other driven and brilliant college-aged women carrying out service projects and advocating for policy change on Capitol Hill. When asked what her favorite memories include she recalls, "having dynamic conversations with these brilliant girls from around the country and the world, and bonding with the program director, Lauri Valerio."

"The most rewarding part would have to be getting a realistic, hands-on experience, even though it was in the smallest capacity, in advocacy. I have a better understanding of what it takes to effect change, and how long it can take. This was also great for me because, as a social work major, working in the realm of social policy and advocacy was something that I wanted to explore and find out if it was right for me. This experience made things a lot clearer and I have a more solid idea of what exactly I'm interested in."

While Wynne fondly reminisces about her experience, she also admits that it was largely a surprise to be selected for the program because of the limited number of annual participants.

"Alternate Spring Break wasn't even on my radar until the day before the deadline. I was scrolling through Facebook and saw United Way out of the corner of my eye. When I looked it said something about spring break and I clicked it because I had worked with United Way doing research for Girls On The Run and I was just really curious. I read through it and thought that it sounded really awesome! When I started reading, it said that they would only select 25 women! I thought that was a small number compared to the many that might apply. I wasn't so sure I'd be selected! But, I thought it wouldn't hurt [to apply]."

Wynne brings an interesting perspective to her advocacy, and one that she thinks might have set her apart from other possible candidates. When asked what she thought was more important to empowering women, service or public policy, she chose service.

"I thought service was fundamental to informing public policy. From a social work perspective, being intimate with the issues at hand and practicing in communities allows us to experience firsthand whether or not these policies are effective. Sometimes things may be great on paper, but in practice they can be problematic. I also thought that service gives a more immediate effect with regards to observable change in the lives of these women..."

"So, long story short? I love the opportunity to be able to serve. I love being able to make someone's life a little better, and this experience is definitely that opportunity. I want to cause and facilitate change! I want to get involved."

By Samuel James Fry, IMC student writer
International Students Featured at Special Services

On Saturday, March 21, Andrews University held its annual International Student Sabbath at Pioneer Memorial Church. As the second most ethnically diverse national university in the United States, Andrews enjoys hosting students from 92 countries around the world.

Special services at 9 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. recognized the unique contribution these students make toward the Andrews experience. The Office of International Student Services & Programs (ISSP) presented videos, musical numbers and readings by international students.

One of the videos included clips of students from around the world offering a tiny glimpse into their experiences at Andrews. Comments included:

"It's very diverse here, similar to where I'm from. I appreciate that."
"I feel welcome on this campus."
"It's been a blessing to be a part of Andrews University and get to know people from all different parts of the world."
"Being able to attend classes with and get to know people from around the world, I see things with new perspective."
"Andres University is open-minded. You get to see the world here."

One student even gave a shout-out to ISSP in the video: "People here are warm no matter what the temperature, and the International Student Services staff are very supportive. They're always checking in to make sure things are going alright."

While Andrews may seem like a good home away from home for many international students, it's not always easy being so far from the familiar. The video also highlighted some of the challenges students face coming from very different backgrounds and cultures to the U.S.

These challenges include weather, misunderstanding cultural norms, food, language, living arrangements—living with other people in the dorm—being lonely and missing home, conflicts between thoughts and ethics across cultural lines, among other things.

A second video featured personal experience stories from President Andreassen and Provost Luxton, both of whom arrived at Andrews as international citizens.

"I came here many years ago and was quite overwhelmed by what I found at Andrews," began Andreassen. "Things are not the same here as they are in Denmark. I had to figure out how to find my classes and a place to live, figure out what to eat and how to make friends. I'd always attended a small church and this one is quite large. I enjoyed it, though, and was blessed by it. I hope that is your experience as well."

During the Sabbath program, several students presented cultural elements from their own countries of origin. Kolia Afamasaga, Seminary student and a Samoan living in Australia, gave the congregational prayer:

"It was a privilege for me to represent my country," he says. "I was able to display the Samoan Talking Chief role of speaking on behalf of his clan and village on an important occasion."

Although Afamasaga chose to pray in English rather than his mother tongue, he still was glad to demonstrate his native culture before he began to pray.

Sonovia McFall, a first-year graduate student in speech-language pathology from The Bahamas, "felt honored to be used in whatever way possible to lift up the name of Jesus."

"The purpose of International Student Sabbath is to celebrate the fact that we are created equally to worship our Creator God no matter our background," says Robert Benjamin, director ISSP. "We add a beautiful variety to our worship experience that showcases our diversity, but focus on coming together as one people to give us a small taste of what heaven will be like."

The provost shared her own great experience at Andrews, even as different as it is from her home in England. She spoke specifically about the positive worship experience and environment at Andrews.

"Particularly on a Sabbath like this, when we're celebrating international students on our campus, it's important to remember that God is at the center of what we do," she said. "It doesn't matter where we're from, we're of great value to God and therefore of great value to each other."

Andreassen went on to share thoughts on how the Andrews experience removes the labels of "international" and "national" but instead creates an extended and expanded family.

"I like to imagine that students who graduate from Andrews and move on will never meet a stranger," he said. "That they've learned to view other people as God's children."

Luxton concluded, "When we worship together, pray together and study together, we enrich each other because of our backgrounds, individualities and languages. That's what it is to be at Andrews University."

Stroke Awareness Class

Stroke Awareness Class Scheduled for Niles, Coloma, and Benton Harbor

(ST. JOSEPH) – In honor of American Stroke Month, Lakeland Health is offering free "Stroke 101" classes this May. Participants will learn all about strokes, including risk factors, ways to decrease your risk, and the warning signs of stroke. The presentation will also discuss the importance of early treatment by calling 9-1-1.

According to the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association, stroke is the fourth-leading cause of death and the leading preventable cause of disability in the United States. On average, someone suffers a stroke every 40 seconds, and about 795,000 people have a stroke each year. The good news is that stroke is largely preventable, treatable, and beatable.

PMC Family Vespers: Media on the Brain

Saturday, April 18
7:30 p.m.
PMC Youth Chapel
Guest speaker: Scott Ritsema

We see it all around us. Hollywood, popular music, TV, video gaming, spectator sports, e-relationships, and pornography are saturating the lives of God’s professed people. But what does the latest science say about the mind-altering effects of 21st century media? And what is the spiritual agenda in the entertainment and advertising industries?

Michigan Maritime Museum March lecture

100 Years Brings New Thoughts on the Eastland Disaster

The Michigan Maritime Museum is proud to present the fourth lecture of their 2015 Lecture Series with speaker Michael McCarthy. McCarthy will be giving a lecture on the 1915 Eastland disaster titled after his book, "Ashes Under Water: The SS Eastland and the Shipwreck that Shook America," on Saturday, April 25, at 2 p.m.

This year marks the centennial of one of the nation’s worst disasters, the 1915 sinking of the steamship Eastland in the Chicago River, with more passenger deaths than the Titanic. An astonishing 844 poor people perished on the Eastland—a ship still tied to its dock when it capsized.

For a century, the cause of the nearly forgotten tragedy had remained a mystery. McCarthy’s work offers a fresh, sinister explanation for the tragedy: that management neglected needed repairs to the stabilizing machinery of the ship.

Michael McCarthy, who learned to sail on Lake Michigan, is the author of "The Sun Farmer" and worked as a reporter and editor for the Wall Street Journal for 22 years. He lives in South Haven, Michigan.

McCarthy will be speaking on the Michigan Maritime Museum Campus. The lecture series will finish on the last Saturday of May. He will also be signing copies of his book at the event.

Admission is $5 for adults and $4 for seniors. There is no admission fee for Museum members. Light refreshments will be provided. Become a member and attend each additional lecture at no cost. It is the perfect time to become a member!

The Michigan Maritime Museum is dedicated to the preservation of Michigan Great Lakes waterways, maritime history, and culture. Located at the drawbridge in South Haven, the museum is a 501 (c)(3) organization and donations are tax deductible. For more information call 1-800-747-3810 or visit michiganmaritimemuseum.org.

Christian Nanny Available
My name is Tanya and I am looking for a full-time nanny position. I am CPR (Infant/Child/Adult) / AED Certified and First Aid. I am comfortable with pets, as I am a pet owner myself. I am happy to provide light housekeeping, cooking, pet care, etc. I have been laid off from my full-time job with the hospital that I have been with for 4+ years, due to budget cuts. Working in the Emergency Room, I helped children of all ages and needs. And being a single mother, I am looking for a nanny position or a personal assistant position, that can either do from home or take my daughter with me (So that I can spend more time with her and avoid outrageous daycare costs and illnesses). I have been a nanny for a good friend of mine, who is also the Medical Social Worker at the hospital and I have also helped with Vacation Bible School for three summers.

If you are interested in me nannying for you, please let me know. Attached is the link to my Care.com profile, which goes more in depth about my experience, pay, etc. https://www.care.com/p/tanya686/cc
