ASRS CALL FOR PAPERS: 2013

The 2013 meeting of the Adventist Society for Religious Studies will convene in Baltimore, MD on November 21-23, 2013. The theme for the meeting is: "Adventism, Scripture, and Unity." The Society invites proposals for brief scholarly papers which will be presented at the meeting. We look for a variety of different approaches to the overall theme, especially in light of the questions about the nature of unity that has arisen in light of the decision of several Union Conferences to break from the GC position on the issue of ordination. Papers from all disciplines are elicited. The format allows for a 15-minute oral presentation with additional time for questions and discussion. A 200-word abstract should accompany the proposals. Proposals and abstracts should be submitted in MS Word format to Ranko Stefanovic at ranko@andrews.edu by April 1, 2013. For further information, please contact Ranko Stefanovic at the email address given above, or at:
