Alejandro Bullón is slated to speak at the NAD Pastors Convention, June 28 - July 1, in Austin, Texas.

The Adventist Church - from Mexico through the Caribbean and southward through South America - is known for its strong emphasis on various forms of evangelism.

Alejandro Bullón, now retired, is a well-known public evangelist in South America and served as ministerial secretary for the Adventist Church in South America. Bullón, also continues to have an impact in the North American Division.

Information about the general session speakers can be found here: http://www.nadpastorsconvention.com/main-speakers/