Staff Updates
~ Mark Walker, principal of Rocky Knoll School in Martinsburg, West Virginia, was recently appointed interim associate superintendent of schools by the conference Executive Committee. In addition to many years of experience in classroom instruction, Walker has served as a principal for 27 years and as a conference education superintendent. “This experience will be a great asset to our schools,” says Rick Remmers, conference president. Walker will assume his new role in the coming weeks. Interviews are currently taking place for a new principal at Rocky Knoll School.
~ Ann Reynolds, assistant Youth director, was appointed Children’s Ministries director by the conference Executive Committee on August 27. She assumes this responsibility in addition to her work in the Youth department. Samantha Young, previous Children’s Ministries director, will focus her efforts on Women’s Ministries and expanded projects in the Communication department.
~ A hearty welcome is offered to new pastors Cesar Grassiotto—who comes from San Marcos, Texas—and Sion Sung of Westminster, California. Pastor Grassiotto is the new youth pastor at the Hagerstown (Md.) church. His fiancé, a professional musician, hopes to relocate to Maryland in the very near future. The Hagerstown congregation welcomed Pastor Grassiotto on August 31 during a special worship service. Pastor Sion Sung fills the position at the Baltimore Korean church vacated by youth pastor Ray Valenzuela, who is now studying at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Michigan. Pastor Sion has expertise and a special interest in the relationship between science and religion.
~ Carolina Ramos is warmly welcomed as the newest staffer in the conference office. She fills the vacancy left by Elizabeth Chow—who retired last month—and provides administrative support for the Evangelism/Church Growth, Ministerial and Multilingual Ministries departments. Ramos and her husband, Damian Roscher, a physician, recently moved to the area from Edinburg, Texas.

Upcoming Youth Ministries Events:

~ This year, an outreach project is planned in conjunction with the retreat. The group will be making fleece blankets to donate to the patients at the Penn State Hershey Children’s Hospital. Even persons not planning to attend the retreat... are invited to donate funds to cover the cost of the fabric for the blankets—72 blankets at $15 each—and to donate items (see the wish list at ccosda.org) to help the children pass their time in the hospital. Congregations may wish to add a collection box in the church foyer for these items. Funds may be donated online at ultracamp.com, or by mailing a check to Chesapeake Conference Women’s Ministries, 6600 Martin Road, Columbia, Maryland 21044.

A health retreat, Total Body Tune Up, will be held at Mount Aetna Retreat Center, November 1-3. Gain practical information for healthier living presented by John Kelly, M.D., and Pastor Inskip Allsop. For details, email mtaetnacamp@myactv.net, or call (301) 824-6045.

Mount Aetna Retreat Center in Hagerstown, Maryland, is seeking a host/maintenance director. Located an hour west of Baltimore and Washington, the Center serves Adventist ministries and other Christian, academic and government organizations. This is a full-time salaried position. Qualified candidates will have great people skills, a Christ-like character, and technical skills in at least two of the following areas: plumbing, electrical, equipment repair (including vehicles), HVAC, grounds and carpentry. Other areas of responsibility include wastewater treatment plant operations and swimming pool plant operations (local training is provided), as well as management of the conference warehouse and assisting with camp meeting setup. This position requires the individual to live on campus. A large home for a reasonable rent is provided. To apply, contact Glen Milam at (301) 824-6045, or email glenmilam@myactv.net.

Chesapeake Conference has launched the Seventh-day Adventist TV channel on Roku, a hand-sized device that connects to your television. Available at big-box stores such as Walmart and Best Buy, more than 5 million homes use Roku to view television. The channel now carries Hope Channel and ministry training videos. Future plans are to include locally produced sermons from Chesapeake pastors. Learn more at roku.com. Browse channels and search for “Seventh-day Adventist TV.” Roku carries several additional Adventist channels, making it an inexpensive option for people seeking Adventist programming.

Have an old band instrument collecting dust in the attic? Beginning band students at Highland View Academy and Mount Aetna Adventist School are in need of instruments. Contact Joseph Choi, Music director, at (301) 739-8480, ext. 258, to help.

North American Division has a new "Seeker" site, "My Way to Jesus." One feature of the new site is the “Did you know?” series of 28 short 90-second videos that explore Seventh-day Adventist beliefs. Each video features a church member who shares how the belief relates to real life, either through a story or concept that everyone, including those who are not religious, can relate to. The videos take Adventist beliefs and make them deeply personal. Each video focuses on one of the “28 Fundamental Beliefs,” and provides a good way to reach and teach new believers as well as those Christians wanting to learn more. Because they are brief, they will also be useful as identity spots on television. This will give congregations the opportunity to put a face on the Seventh-day Adventist Church in an appealing way that they typically would not be able to produce. Learn more at NADadventist.org! . Share&n bsp;MyWaytoJesus.com with your friends!

Condolences are offered to Flordemaria Rivero, wife of Raul Rivero, pastor of the Laurel and Washington-Spencerville Hispanic churches in Maryland, and her family. Mrs. Rivero’s mother died in late August from complications of cystic fibrosis. Please keep the Rivero family in prayer as they grieve the loss of their loved one.
