Dear Center for,

National Camps for Blind Children (NCBC) is gearing up for 12 summer camps this season. Here's a humorous NCBC camps audio promo, produced in the CRSB studio, that features Taumi Baker, studio digital tech and Joshua Kittleson, library lead.

As the promo suggests, we also encourage you to "Carpe diem, dude!" Seize the day--that's exactly what NCBC campers do. Please visit the NCBC page to learn more.

Blessings!

Help "Spruce Up" the Christian Record Campus through Give to Lincoln Day

Christian Record has a unique opportunity to beautify its headquarters landscaping this May. Give to Lincoln, a one-day event to celebrate philanthropy, is Thursday, May 29. On this day, nonprofit organizations based in Lincoln, Nebraska, are encouraged to activate their donors to help fund special Lincoln-only based projects. A $300,000 challenge grant, raised by supporters of the Lincoln Community Foundation, will be shared among all nonprofits that have donations submitted through . . .

Give the Blind a Chance

in:sight Video Contest
For a second year, Christian Record teamed up with Union College to host the in:sight Video Contest.

Union College students were challenged to produce short videos that illustrated how blind people live like everybody else.

First prize: Vernée Norman
Equalities, Opportunities

Second prize: Hailey Krueger
Playing the Blind Card

Third prize: Steven Foster
Vision

"The in:sight Video Contest is a great experience for our students because it pushes them out of their comfort zones and encourages them to tell a story that is completely unfamiliar to them," said Ryan Teller, Union College public relations director. "Many of us think we know what it would be like to be blind. But in the process of creating their films, these students learned to move beyond the obvious and look for the real, in some cases life-changing, story," he said.

Christian Record has a unique opportunity to beautify its headquarters landscaping this May.

Give to Lincoln, a one-day event to celebrate philanthropy, is Thursday, May 29. On this day, nonprofit organizations based in Lincoln, Nebraska, are encouraged to activate their donors to help fund special Lincoln-only based projects. A $300,000 challenge grant, raised by supporters of the Lincoln Community Foundation, will be shared among all nonprofits that have donations submitted through a special Razoo donation page. The amount Christian Record could receive depends on the percentage of the total raised by all Lincoln-based nonprofits on May 29.

Christian Record is focusing on beautifying its local campus with new trees, shrubs, and signage. More information: Razoo Give to Lincoln Day Page.

Starting May 1, visitors to the Razoo page can designate their donations to go to CRSB on May 29 by selecting the option from the donation dropdown menu. Gifts given only on May 29 (or designated for automatic payment on May 29) will help Christian Record secure a portion of the $300,000 challenge grant. If giving by check, please mail the check to arrive before May 29, payable to Razoo with "Christian Record" in the memo line.
