"Is the Church Lost"

(by Jake Kircher and Nich Colbert, Relevant Magazine)

Have you ever stopped to think about the direction our church is taking?

Have we compromised some of our principles/standards in order to “win” souls?

If so, how do we get back on track?

This is a great article on the state of the church in western culture.

Forum Question of the Month

"Can the success of a youth/young adult ministry program be measured? If so, how?"

Give your answer in the COR blog.

What question(s) would you like us to ask in the future?

Feature Event

"Jesus. All."

The first of many gatherings brought to you by the One Project will take place in Atlanta, GA from February 7-8, 2011. Registration for this event has closed, however those interested can sign up for the next One Project gathering, which will be held in Finland. Click on the One Project logo for more information.
What is the One Project?

It is a ministry, affiliated with the Center for Youth Evangelism that seeks to discuss, reflect on and celebrate the supremacy of Jesus Christ in the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Service:

Young adults all over the globe are getting involved in educational, medical, and environmental projects. Let it be known that one young adult can make a world of difference in the lives of those around them. Let’s take on the challenge to pair up each young adult with one ministry or project for the upcoming year.

Community:

"Young people in the United Kingdom find Christianity irrelevant to their day-to-day living, according to findings in a new book aimed at understanding the beliefs of the United Kingdom’s next generation." The reason: community. This relationship-based generation no longer sees a need for Christianity because it (the Christian community) is making no impact in their everyday lives.
