La Sierra University Looking for New Biology Professor

Biology, Assistant – Associate Professor, Ph.D. (Tenure Track) Brief Description The Department of Biology at La Sierra University is recruiting for full-time, tenure track positions beginning September 2012. Qualifications A successful candidate must have a record of effective teaching and...

Click on the title to read more.
La Sierra University Looking for New Biology Professor

(Biology, Assistant – Associate Professor, Ph.D. (Tenure Track))

Brief Description

The Department of Biology at La Sierra University is recruiting for full-time, tenure track positions beginning September 2012.

Qualifications

A successful candidate must have a record of effective teaching and scholarship commensurate with academic experience, demonstrated ability to teach undergraduate science courses and labs, ability and willingness to provide effective advising to students in the degree program, and the ability and knowledge to conduct research.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. related to one or more of the following areas: Developmental Biology, Environmental Studies, Genetics, Biostatistics, Molecular Genetics, Neurobiology, Animal Behavior or Invertebrate Zoology.

Position Available

September 2012
La Sierra University is a religiously-qualified Equal Opportunity Employer with the right to prefer Seventh-day Adventists in hiring. In the event that a qualified Seventh-day Adventist is not available to fill a position in the University, preference will be given to applicants of other faiths who have religious beliefs compatible with those of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and who support the published mission of the University (Read More...).
The Seventh-day Adventist Church founded La Sierra University in the scenic Southern California City of Riverside in 1922. Riverside is a city of over 250,000 located within one hour of beaches, mountains, deserts, and Los Angeles. The University’s fundamental purpose is to provide higher education in an environment for learning that emphasizes personal integrity, intellectual development, and generous service to humankind and the church. La Sierra University is a multicultural campus with students from over 70 nations. La Sierra University is a religiously-qualified Equal Opportunity Employer with the right to prefer Seventh-day Adventists in hiring. In the event that a qualified Seventh-day Adventist is not available to fill a position in the University, preference will be given to applicants of other faiths who have religious beliefs compatible with those of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and who support the published mission of the University.

Biology, Assistant - Associate Professor, Ph.D. (Tenure Track)

Brief Description
The Department of Biology at La Sierra University is recruiting for full-time, tenure track positions beginning September 2012.

Qualifications
A successful candidate must have a record of effective teaching and scholarship commensurate with academic experience, demonstrated ability to teach undergraduate science courses and labs, ability and willingness to provide effective advising to students in the degree program, and the ability and knowledge to conduct research.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. related to one or more of the following areas: Developmental Biology, Environmental Studies, Genetics, Biostatistics, Molecular Genetics, Neurobiology, Animal Behavior or Invertebrate Zoology.

Position Available
September 2012

Salary Range
$48,554 to $66,916

Application
The review of applications will begin February 1, 2012 and continue until the positions are filled. Qualified candidates should submit a La Sierra University application, a letter of interest, a current curriculum vitae, teaching and research statement, representative copies of teaching evaluations (if available) and three letters of reference sent to:

Desiree Fawn Noah
Human Resource Office
La Sierra University
4500 Riverwalk Parkway
Riverside, CA 92515
(951) 785-2088
dnoah@lasierra.edu

Review of applications will begin upon receipt and continue until the position is filled.

Employment Applications/Procedures

Applications should be submitted to Human Resources, 4500 Riverwalk Parkway, Riverside, CA 92515. Telephone (951) 785-2088. This ensures centralization of materials for documentation purposes.

La Sierra University is a religiously qualified equal opportunity employer. Applicants are especially encouraged from women, minorities and persons with disabilities. Faculty and staff are recruited with specific attention to their membership in the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Last update on January 25, 2012