ATTENTION GYC ATTENDEES! //

There are now more double bed and king rooms available at the Sheraton as well as king rooms at the Crowne Plaza. After December 7, however, the hotels no longer have to honor our special GYC negotiated rate and may sell out of rooms. Book your rooms quickly to assure these accommodations at this year's conference!

We'll see you in Seattle!

GYC Logistics Team

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON //
Can you believe it? It's December already! A season of warmth, reunion, and general cheer! People all over the country are counting down. Only 22 more days until GYC! . . . What, you thought I was talking about Christmas?

As I hope you know, this year's conference—Acts: The Revolution Continues—will be held in Seattle, Washington.

Never been? Here are some fun facts:

- Seattle is the northernmost U.S city with a population of over half a million.
- The Seattle Public Library system has the highest percentage of library card-holders per capita in the country.
- Close by the convention center is a Coin and Stamp Shop, offering "an impressive selection of ancient coins as well as U.S. and worldwide coins" and over 60,000 stamps—if you're into that sort of thing.
- And of course, the Space needle, built in 1961, holds the country's first revolving restaurant.

Currently, about 3,300 attendees have registered for this year's conference. If you know anyone else interested coming, spread the word that the deadline for late registration is December 20.

Well. See you 22-days-soon.

Livvy

Executive Secretary, GYC

TRAVEL //

Ready to make travel arrangements? For more information about Sea-Tac Airport, the Washington State Convention Center, and local transportation, we've put together a travel info page.

HELP WANTED! //
It's been said that even though there's no "I" in team, there sure is a "U" in volunteer!

Want to help out at the conference? Email volunteers@gycweb.org.