Experts Speak

"It is our conviction that the reality of hell (and indeed of heaven) is the ultimate affirmation of the reality of human freedom. Hell is not eternal torment, but it is the final and irrevocable choosing of that which is opposed to God so completely and so absolutely that the only end is total nonbeing." [Emphasis ours]

Pat's Paragraphs

December 16, 2012

Dear Friends,

2012 is almost history.

Here at LLT it's been a year of blessings. By the grace of God there has been great accomplishment. There have also been sobering challenges on both the corporate and personal levels. Thankfully, these experiences have left us with renewed hope for the future of our lives and our ministry.

- Praise the Lord, we finished production on Hell and Mr. Fudge and have screened it in a number of places.
- The Seventh Day came out with Turkish and Arabic subtitles.
• We provided weekend Sabbath History Seminars all over the United States and into Canada.
• Two of our circle were challenged with serious health issues.
• We were driven to our knees by our abject need of divine grace, healing, guidance and provision.

With 2013 almost upon us, we have two major goals:

1. To reach wider audiences with Hell and Mr. Fudge and its positive message of truth about the character of our God. Finishing production hasn't made it a blockbuster - yet! Marketing is a whole 'nother world, and that's the one we've been living in for the last six months. For starters, we hope to have it in 20-30 theaters across North America during the January-March period. In addition, we are inviting church groups to rent Hell and Mr. Fudge so that members and friends can watch it. We pray that God will be exalted by Edward Fudge's story and by our interactions with those who see it.

2. To finish our "eternal torment" documentary as a companion to Hell and Mr. Fudge. Most of the interviews are done. The main tasks now: write the script that will tie everything together; film the "anchor" portions of the program; and edit the project into its final form as a convincing, cohesive presentation of truth. We are praying for the creative skills and financial means to do all this.

I keep hearing about the "fiscal cliff" our nation is about to go over, and the possibility that money won't go as far in 2013 as it does now. There's the threat that your charitable donations will no longer be as tax deductible as they are now, so the "experts" urge people to be sure and give largely before the end of 2012.

Friends, I can appreciate that. Most of us would rather contribute to the great work of redemption than to bottomless government coffers. But greater than the threat to our tax deductions is the threat of the loss of souls.

It looks like things are winding down in this world. Economy, religion, politics - all seem to be in a state of chaos and decline. Maybe it's time to pour our all into revealing God's character to an increasingly hopeless world. People need the Lord! We know where they can find Him. The following poem was written by a friend of mine:

Lord Spend Me

As water in a thirsty desert,
As coins in a beggar's hand,
As a candle in the darkness,
As salt poured on the bland,
Lord spend me.

Spend me lavishly,
Use me recklessly,
To love extravagantly,
Lord spend me.

As fresh bread for the hungry,
As vision for the blind,
Whatever, Lord, your purpose,
Take my body, soul and mind,
and spend me.

Spend me lavishly,
Use me recklessly,
To love extravagantly,
Lord spend me.

(Kent Hansen, copyright, 1994)

Join me, will you? Now is the time.

Sincerely,

Pat Arrabito

Sabbath History

Dorothy Traske was a preacher's wife with a mind of her own.

Her husband, John Traske, was a prominent proponent of the seventh-day Sabbath in early 17th-century England. A schoolteacher by profession, he entered the ministry about the same time the King James Bible was published (1611). He received a church appointment in London in 1615. He preached convincingly about the Sabbath and in 1617 he formed his adherents into a new Sabbath-keeping congregation. In that same year he married Dorothy.

Any dreams they had about growing old together were dashed when they were both arrested and jailed in 1618. Threatened with a life sentence, John recanted his Sabbatarian views after a year or so. Dorothy, however, refused to recant. Her determination to hold to the truth was an inspiration to others in her own day and far beyond. She lived out the rest of her life in prison. She died in London's Gatehouse Prison in 1645.
