Pat's Paragraphs

Dear Friends,

The good news is: Before the end of this month, Hell and Mr. Fudge will be available in Walmart, Barnes & Noble bookstores, Family Christian bookstores, and other places. Will you add your prayers to ours that God will put it in the hands of those who need to know that He is just and merciful? That He does not torture sinners forever?

The bad news is: Hell: Beyond the Smoke (our "hell" documentary) is still awaiting necessary funding. If you’d like to be a part of that project, please contact us. You can

Hell: Beyond the Smoke

Friends, now is the time to say what we have to say, to preach what we have to preach, to live what we have to live, to show the world what we have to show them. Things on this planet are bad and getting worse. I can vouch for that: People very dear to me are fighting cancer, struggling in their marriages, facing terrible financial challenges, losing loved ones.

We long for this suffering to end, for Jesus to come. In the meantime, a world is waiting to see what God is really like, and we who love God get to show them! We - poor, failing, sinful mortals - are God's choice to represent Him on planet Earth.

You wonder how He could possibly be well-represented by us?! That, my friends, is God's work. To His credit, He is able to use even us. Through His Spirit, God can live in our hearts, speak through our mouths, work through our hands and feet. He is able to live His life in us in such a way that folks will think of Him when they see us.

I cannot claim to represent Him well, but I'm willing for Him to live in me. And more than that, I want very badly to show this world what He's like. I want to warn them not to believe the lies about Him. I want them to know that He is truly good.

Will you join me, will you be a part of our team, to make media materials that will speak to people's hearts about God?

And may God pour His Spirit on you, and live His life in you.

Sincerely,

Pat Arrabito

A culture of vengeance

You don't have to look far to find examples of injustice. Our human instinct for balance and fairness is offended by crimes that go unsolved, convicted criminals who somehow get off easy, penalties that seem not to fit the crime. Victims find themselves powerless against justice systems that go to great lengths to protect the rights of criminals.

On a larger scale we sympathize with multitudes of fellow human beings who are victimized by dictators, tyrants, and radical ideologies. There's little we can do to bring relief to the abused, widowed, and orphaned masses whose lives are a living hell.

Frustration over the injustices in the world around us feeds our desire to see things put right. You and I find comfort in a purely biblical view of God's justice and judgment. We look forward to a final accounting and an ultimate end to evil.

But many people find solace in a picture of divine vengeance that will reward the perpetrators of evil with unending conscious torment in eternal flames. This desire for disproportionate punishment - extreme punishment far beyond what is fair - is fed by widespread traditional teachings about hell. This, in turn, paints a picture of a God who is ultimately unfair and unjust -- a made-up God who fits well in a culture of vengeance.

Hell: Beyond the Smoke is an effort to reach people with an alternative view of God, His perfect love, and His perfect justice.
