Coming in the 2011-2012 Season

City of Tomorrow

Sunday, October 2, 2011 at 7:00 P.M.
The City of Tomorrow, a woodwind quintet from Evanston, Ill., is the gold medal winner from the Senior Wind Division of the 2010 Fischoff Competition. The Howard Performing Arts Center is an annual stop on the Fischoff National Chamber Music Competition Grand Prize Winner's Tour in the Midwest. The Fischoff Competition has grown to be one of the largest chamber music competitions in the world and one of the most prestigious classical music prizes attainable today.

The City of Tomorrow is comprised of five musicians: Lauren Cook is the newest clarinetist of the United States Navy Band; horn player Leander Star created his own music school in Evanston, Illinois; Amanda Swain won the Meg Quigley Vivaldi Competition on bassoon in 2010; flutist Elise Blatchford tours Latin America regularly with the YOA Orchestra of the Americas; and Andrew Nogal has been spotted playing oboe (and oboe d'amore and bass oboe) with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra on their MusicNOW concerts and with the new music group Ensemble Dal Niente. The City of Tomorrow likes to make dinner together before evening rehearsals and considers it a group goal to someday teach Andy how to ride a bicycle.

Tickets are $5 and general seating. All student tickets are free.
