Adventist religious liberty advocate recognized with First Freedom Award

Posted: 10 Jan 2011 09:00 PM PST

A Seventh-day Adventist religious liberty advocate is among this year's recipients of the First Freedom Award for contributions in advancing freedom of belief in the United States and worldwide.