Adventist Theological Society Call for Papers
November 19-22, 2014, San Diego, CA

The Adventist Theological Society invites proposals for its annual meetings to be held in San Diego, CA, Wednesday, November 19 through Sabbath, November 22. Our topic will be “Ecclesiology” and a special session, “Remembering Gerhard Hasel.” Proposals for the ecclesiology sessions may come from any discipline—biblical, historical, theological, missiological, or philosophical. The methodology used for presentations must fit within ATS standards utilizing historical-grammatical hermeneutics.

The special session “Remembering Gerhard Hasel” is a memorial to his contributions on the 20th anniversary of his untimely death. The session will be held in conjunction with the Evangelical Theological Society and will incorporate reflection on Hasel’s contributions to Old and New Testament studies, his leadership in educational administration, and his contributions to church life. Proposals for this session must take into account Dr. Hasel’s legacy and can also look toward developments since that time related to his contributions.

Proposals must include an abstract (100-200 words) summarizing your main thesis and trajectory of argumentation. First time presenters must submit the complete paper along with the abstract. Include with the proposal your paper title, your full name, institution, mailing address, and email address. Please send the proposal in MS Word format.
