Ultimate Workout & Collegiate Projects

Volunteers are heading to Nicaragua in droves for the summer project season! This week, the 22nd Ultimate Workout kicks off along with the Collegiate Project. More than 170 volunteers will construct 21 One-Day Churches in regions all over Nicaragua.

The Ultimate Workout is an annual, two-week mission trip for high school age teens. Young people come from all over the world to work together on construction projects, in medical clinics and with many other ministries.

The Collegiate Project is a new program specifically for college or university students, ages 18-24. This is the second project since it’s inception in 2011.

Maranatha’s Headed to Nashville and Cincinnati
If you’re planning to be in Nashville at the 2012 Teacher’s Convention, coordinated by the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventist’s Department of Education, be sure to drop by the Maranatha booth in the exhibition hall, at the Gaylord Opryland Center in Nashville, Tennessee, August 5-8.

Maranatha will also be at the annual ASI (Adventist-laymen’s Services and Industries) International Convention at the Duke Energy Convention Center in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 8-11. There will be models of various One-Day structures on display in the exhibit hall.

This Just In…

Mozambique’s last container of One-Day Churches is on a truck, in route to its building sites. Construction is expected to begin by the end of this week. Once these 35 churches are built, Maranatha’s effort in this southeast African country will be completed. Over the past three years, Maranatha has constructed nearly 800 buildings in Mozambique.
