Valued Employee, Linda Walter, Passes Away

The Adventist Media Center is sad to announce that Linda Walter passed away at 12:21 a.m., December 19. She passed peacefully, surrounded by a few family members and friends.

Linda was a valued employee of the Adventist Media Center. Born in St. Helena, Calif., Linda attended Pacific Union College and Columbia Union College. She began working for the Voice of Prophecy radio ministry, June 1, 1970, and carried many different responsibilities over the years. In 1987, Linda began working for Faith For Today as a researcher/writer in the production department and in 1989 she transferred to the Adventist Media Center television production department where she worked as a producer. In 1999, she was appointed the director of the Adventist Media Services (AMS) Agency and she held that position until she passed away.

Linda will be greatly missed by the AMS Agency staff and the employees of the Adventist Media Center and the North American Division media ministries. Co-workers remember her as a "smart and true leader" who "got things done" and "made things happen." Friends and co-workers alike remember Linda as a "class act," an "encourager" who was "giving" and "loving." Her legacy is how she touched the hearts and lives of co-workers, friends and strangers, and the impact she made in ministry, serving her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. We celebrate her life and look forward to meeting her again when Jesus comes.

Condolences for the family may be sent to Adventist Media Center, 101 West Cochran Street, Simi Valley, CA 93065.
