Senior Workplace Preparedness Seminar

On January 29 this year, Ms Salakjit Lordkham gave presentations on job search and job interview to the senior graduating students who attended the Senior Workplace Preparedness Seminar, an event jointly organized by the Faculty of Business, Faculty of Arts and Humanities, and the Counseling Department of Student Administration. Ms Salakjit, a successful alumna of the Faculty of Business of this University, is presently the Human Resources Executive of Synovate Ltd (Thailand). Her work experience in human resources management enabled her to share tips that could be useful for the seniors in their search for jobs in the future.

In addition to the two presentations, the seminar participants received instructions on how to write job application letter and resume, the Thai students from Ms Salakjit, and the international students from Acharn Nola Tudu, lecturer from the Faculty of Arts and Humanities.

The organizers passed out evaluation forms and tallied the results which came up with the average evaluation score of 4.56, an indication that the participants were satisfied with the seminar.

The suggestions will be considered in the planning of future events.
Dear AIU family...

A one-year-old boy named Titan, the child of an AIU worker, was born with a heart problem. Three of the chambers of his heart have holes. As a result, he faints whenever he is shocked, cries too hard, or gets too excited.

On January 26, he underwent a major operation to patch the holes in his heart. This operation costs around 530,000 Baht, but fortunately, it is borne by the government under the 30-baht Health Scheme. However, there is so much other cost the family needs to take care of. For instance, Titan’s post-operation medicine alone costs about 20,000 baht.

Since his operation, Titan has been in the ICU unit.

The President’s Cabinet has given permission for fund-raising activities to help Baby Titan. Any financial contribution can be given to one of these individuals:

1. Ajarn Shelley Agrey
2. Ajarn Tantip Kitjaroonchai
3. Khun Pattraporn Paengpanga
4. Ajarn Naltan Lampadan
5. Ajarn Ritha Lampadan

For faculty and staff, you may authorize the Finance Office to deduct from your payroll. If you choose this method, please write to Francis at controller@apiu.edu.

The fund-raising activities is in progress and will end on February 16. In addition to this one, you will see two other fund-raising activities. One will be a special offering collection in church. Another activity is the Fun-Run-Walk Rally on February 5, a project organized by Ajarn Nakhon’s students. The different fund-raising activities are intended to reach different group of people in the community so that more people have the opportunity to help.

Please keep Titan in your prayers. Pray for the parents as well. There is a high possibility that his mother will not be able to continue employment where she is working right now due to the need to care for him.

Any form of assistance, financial or otherwise, is deeply appreciated.
