It is difficult to understand all the dysfunction that has come upon our world, but one thing I know, the great unifier of music can bring people together and as we create conversation, we can all better understand each other, and perhaps the miracle of acceptance can extinguish much of the violence that is taking place around our nation and the world.

REACH-NYC would like to offer "Concerts For Peace - Series 2015."
We are excited to announce the beginning of our new REACH-NYC Concert series 2015. It is certainly going to be a very Happy New Year with guest musicians from the Greenwich Village community joining us in the ministry that we are trying to provide, not only with great music, but also with Benefit Concerts that help support local community groups in the New York City area, that are doing a great work in supporting New York City's neediest individuals and their children.

The first concert of the 2015 Season, will be held on Saturday evening, February 7, 2015 at 6:00 PM, in the 1881 Landmark Sanctuary of Historic Manhattan Seventh-day Adventist Church, 232 West 11th Street, NYC. The concert will be given by harpist Tomoko Sugawara, joined by August Denhard, performing on the Plectrum Lute and Rex Benincasa on percussion.

"Early Music Along The Silk Road" will be an exciting night of great music that is not only historical in nature, but relaxing as well. Please mark this date on your calendar and be sure to join us on what will be the first of a few series of concerts for 2015. The Official Concert announcement is below.

There are many more wonderful concerts that we are planning for 2015, including flutists, organists, pianists and choral presentations.

In 2015 we will once again begin our popular Vegetarian Seminars with delicious recipes of plant based foods. We also will be distributing to all participants in our Healthy Eating Seminars, a new small book that has just been published titled “Health & Wellness - Secrets That Will Change Your Life.” We will send out a notice when our next seminar begins.

We are also now offering pastoral counseling to individuals who need support in the daily issues that affect us all, and personal studies in the Bible that will clearly help understand this amazing book.

The ministry of REACH-NYC has been developed to help anyone from any faith based tradition or none at all, to feel welcomed, loved and accepted in an atmosphere free from much of the dogma that has turned-off millions of people who simply seek to live in peace with their neighbors, regardless of racial or religious points of view. We are a unique group of people who come from a wide variety of backgrounds and we hope you can join us in peace at many of our upcoming events.

All of us at REACH-NYC wish you the very best for the New Year. May God grant each of us peace and a calm spirit.

Best regards - Tony Romeo / Executive Pastor
