There are two types of participants under the Literature Sharing Program, and both need to register:

FACILITATORS: These are individuals or churches that wish to purchase literature from Religious Liberty Publishing Assn. under the Literature Sharing Program and supply those publications to individuals or churches that sell them or give them away. Individuals who make contributions to their local church under this Program will be able to receive a receipt for income tax purposes. A direct purchase from Religious Liberty Publishing Assn. is not tax deductible, but a contribution is tax deductible. Payment for literature purchased under the Literature Sharing Program must accompany the order, and online orders are not accepted.

DISTRIBUTORS: Individuals or churches that wish to receive literature without cost to them so they may sell or give it away for free may apply to be Distributors. They may also purchase publications directly.

Religious Liberty Publishing Assn. will attempt to connect Facilitators and Distributors who are unable to make such connections in a local church.

TO REGISTER: Send a letter to Religious Liberty Publishing Assn., 9999 E. Mississippi Ave., Denver, CO 80247, stating that you wish to register as either a Facilitator or Distributor, or both.
