Strange Fire
by Doug Batchelor & Dwight Hall
Questioning scriptural distinctions between the roles of men and woman is pervasive in today’s church. Some think it to be unfair that God created men and women with different roles and responsibilities. By applying our own human standards to this issue of ordaining women, are we making the same mistake as Nadab and Abihu?

In this debate we must ask ourselves: will we follow the plain teaching of the Bible, or will we succumb to the culture around us? Will we trust our own judgment about what God wants, or will we acknowledge that He knows best, even if we don’t understand all His reasons?

Strange Fire
Leviticus 10:1–3

And Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, took each of them his censer, and put fire therein, and put incense therein, and offered strange fire before the Lord: which was not commanded them. And there went out fire from the Lord, and devoured them: and they died before the Lord.

God’s Equal Love for Men and Women

In the eyes of God, men and women are perfectly equal in value. “There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Galatians 3:28, emphasis supplied). The spiritual worth of every human being, regardless of nationality, class, or gender, is the same. The ground at the foot of the cross is level—men, women, boys, girls are all of equal importance to God. This is clear from the life and ministry of Jesus and the apostles. For instance, Jesus taught women directly, and women ministered to Him. “Now it came to pass that He entered into a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha received Him into her house. And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus’ feet, and heard His word” (Luke 10:38, 39). He was also supported financially by women (Luke 8:3), and women were among the first to accept the gospel (Acts 16:14, 15).

That having been said, being loved equally in the sight of God does not make us identical in our physical natures or our responsibilities. We will never be able to get past one huge
