August Summer Update

The sun is already beginning to set early and the days have been long, but so much has happened. If you were away on holiday, then you certainly missed out on some truly special events.

- Gold Weekend
Blessed with beautiful weather both days, many were inspired and challenged by all the speakers and items of the day including Pastor Juan Patrick. A commitment was made by hundreds of young people, and if you are one of them see below - Now we move to the streets. The weekend continued to be a great one with Sports Day a huge success and Stoke Newington being crowned champions of 2011.

- Pledge Campaign
365 days of peace continues to roll through the UK, taking us to under 340 days to go until the Summer Olympics in London 2012. In exactly one month since its’ launch on the Day of Fellowship, youth have been challenged and taking pledge cards into their communities. Over 8,000 cards have already been distributed among the youth all across the UK!

- Summer Camps
Over 100 youth both teenagers and young adults camped in Cornwall over the two week period developing their faith and working in teams. Many gave their hearts to Jesus during the week, with just as many renewing their commitment. The days

Upcoming Events:

To continue the 365 Days of Peace campaign, we will be street witnessing in local communities following the successful response from the public since the first one two weeks ago in Tottenham, North London, and in other communities affected by the riots.

were filled with laughter and excitement - not to mention a few aches and pains along the way! Community Camp particularly opened the door for youth to bring their friends to enjoy the surroundings, activities, friends and engage with the theme: Survivor. Congratulations to the 'Victorious Ninjas' who did indeed become victorious by their team efforts. Already looking forward to next year!
