Editorial:

The public will be given an opportunity to see and learn about the development center for cerebral palsy children of San Bernardino County. The center will be located at the Cereal Palsy Center, on the campus of Loma Linda University. The center is staffed by therapists and physicians of Loma Linda University. It is the only facility in San Bernardino County established to help cerebral palsy victims who are under the age of six or older. The center does not meet entrance requirements of state-supported schools for the handicapped.

Students enrolled in the center receive prescribed physical and occupational therapy and take part in individual and group activities designed to develop their educational and social abilities.

Dr. John E. Roach, Jr., from the San Bernardino County United Cerebral Palsy Association, Dr. John Parrish, University president, and Mrs. Robert Roach told in a press conference on Monday, that the Cerebral Palsy Center will be located at the intersection of Ninth Street and Zuni Drive at the health center.

The new center, which the courses are conducted at, will be in the audience along with about 500 special students from the University of Southern California.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Roach's son, Johny, and his wife, matron of honor, Mrs. Joesie Sinner, and Mr. Gene H. H. Peckham, Mrs. Haas presently lectures weekly to the senior class on personality development and how they, as professionals, will affect it.

She reported after the monthly directors' meeting, on the final event occurring in the fall this year, which will take place on Saturday, October 1. Mrs. Haas wishes there to be a regular program available in Colorado, Nebraska, and elsewhere, and has plans to open clinics in the area.

SOPHOMORE 'Meds' Top League; Defeat PT Team in 2nd Win

A near no-hitter and a grand-slam homer highlighted the intramural softball games at Loma Linda April 24. The sophomore medical team defeated the junior-senior physical therapy team in the first game 4-0. Larry D. Bennett, PT64, pitcher, collected the only hit with two out in the seventh inning to spoil Gayle H. Nelson's bid for a no-hitter. Dr. Nelson is associate professor of anatomy in the School of Medicine. The game was the second victory for the sophomore. They defeated the freshman-medical team last week.

The second game the regular pitcher for the junior-senior dental team failed to appear and the freshman-sophomore dental team roamed over the opponents 17-4. H. Edwin Gang, SD'62, hit a first-inning homer with the bases loaded. Richard W. Lawrence, II, entered, Ernest Blakesly, SD'66, added round-trippers for the winners. C. Donald Silver, SD'65, lofted one over the right field fence in the inning making the final 17-4. May I the junior-senior physical therapy team will play the junior-senior dental team. The game originally was scheduled for May 12.

Red Cross to Recruit Youth

For Service to Convalescents

Red Cross is recruiting ninth, tenth and eleventh grade students in this area. This new volunteer program will involve the youth and patient in the hospital. The chapter will announce the service that made them famous, the writers from Louisa May Alcott to George Earhart. A. Mortensen, professor of biochemistry, gave the keynote address to the students concerned with the health and scientific performance were most closely fitted their needs.
