Students Return to University

Campuses; Enrollment Stable

More than a thousand students will enroll at the University campuses this week, according to the registrar's office, with Los Angeles leaders counting on the number of students who will enroll by the end of the year to be not much lower than last year. Registration, according to the registrar's office, will continue through the end of the year.

An estimated 27,000 students are expected to register at the Los Angeles campus, and about 12,000 at the San Diego campus. The registrar's office expects that the number of students who will register by the end of the year will be about the same as last year.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. at all the University campuses, with the registrar's office opening at 7 a.m. The registrar's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Test Agency Approves University as Center for Graduate Record Exams

Educational Testing Service has approved the University as a testing center for the Graduate Record Exam. A standardized comprehensive test required for admission to most graduate schools in the United States.

Dr. Paul Staufer, who is chairman of the division of English at the University, has announced that the test will be administered on Saturday, September 26, at the Los Angeles campus. The test will be regularity required on a schedule, and the test will be offered in a standard format.

Dr. Little Retires as Dean of the School of Dentistry

Dr. Thomas Little, who is dean of the School of Dentistry, has retired after serving in that position for 10 years. He was appointed to the position in 1952 and has served as dean ever since.

Dr. Little's last day in office was September 15, when he officially retired. A farewell reception was held in his honor on that day.

Dr. Little, who is a dentist, has been active in dental education throughout his career. He served as president of the American Dental Association and was a member of the American Board of Oral Surgery.

Dr. Little has also been active in community service. He was a member of the board of directors of the Los Angeles County Dental Society and was a member of the board of trustees of the University of California, Los Angeles.

Dr. Little is survived by his wife, Dr. Mary Little, and his two children, Dr. Mark Little and Dr. David Little.
A teacher's legacy is more, far more than the years he has given, the knowledge he has shared and the guidance he has freely given. He can change the scores of young people. In the case of Thomas Alexander Little, PhD, dean of the Graduate School for nearly four years and professor of English at various schools for over 20 years, his influence was so strong and deep on English in particular as a part of this legacy.

Ever since Tom Little was a boy, just 12, his mind has been set on perfecting English as used in everyday life and art and science. When his father, a Methodist preacher, became a Seventh-day Adventist, he chose newspaper publishing for his career, and Tom helped him until he was a journeyman printer.

His first brush with journalism took place at 12 years old as a newspaper carrier. He thought of himself as men with a mission. He thought he could "express a thing well without knowing the truth well. To see the truth and have a burden for it is the most important matter." Coming from an English professor, this means that the simulator is the truth of language.

He felt that the efforts behind acquiring knowledge and sharing his knowledge, still have one "has a sense of acquisition when he learns hundreds of words, such as Latin terms. He feels that something has happened to him." Dr. Little is confident in his understanding of this legacy. In brief, Dr. Little's legacy is that truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. That truth, simply and beautifully, is the simplicity of language. New SDA Hospital Receives
Famous Physician Visitor

Tokyo, Japan-Dr. Paul Dudley White, famous American cardiologist, arrived here yesterday to open the new Tokyo SDA Hospital.

Dr. White arrived at 2 p.m. May 20 and, although on a busy schedule, spent nearly an hour and a half touring the hospital and consulting with staff doctors on heart patients.

The world medical work of Seventh-day Adventists is well known to Dr. White since he has visited several denominational hospitals in addition to lecturing at Loma Linda University on one occasion.

In commenting on a recent "Free Plan to Stop Smoking" in Boston, Massachusetts, in which Parkside Hotel, New York, Mr. lacer, Dr. White said, "It really works." The Seventh-day Adventists are doing a good job with this.

At nearly 80, Dr. White is an example of health and vigor, and he was at the hospital at 5 a.m. and followed a "schedule that taxes men half his age."

Three primary principles highlights his health program: 1. keep weight below the level at age 22. 2. Exercise regularly every day. 3. Eat a diet low in animal fats, avoiding these as far as possible. He is also a strong advocate of sun-stalking and prefers not to treat patients who persist in using cigarettes.

At the lecture he reported a case that he recently discussed for the world's largest medical conference at Massachusetts General Hospital dealing with the problem of inactivity and the ensuing complication of venous clots and emboli. The discussion soon will appear in the Seventh-day Adventist Journal.

After his lecture, Dr. White left for New Senda in northern Japan where he is continuing his activities.

Teacher of Year: Dr. King Dies at White Memorial, LA

Willis L. King, PhD, associate professor of education at the School of Nursing and the Graduate School since 1960, died September 6 at White Memorial Hospital. He was born at Port Byron, New York, May 7, 1909. Dr. King was voted “the outstanding teacher of the year” by both the graduate and undergraduate students of nursing June, 1964. Dr. Max- nee Attberry of the School of Nursing said “Dr. King was an outstanding scholar. His knowledge of the classics was phene-ominal. He was a deep thinker and in this area would be excelled by very few. He had a unique way of expressing his thoughts and possessed a decisive, poise manner of speech.”

Dr. King, the individual was all important,” stated Dean Attberry. “He had the ability to recognize something positive in everyone. Love and concern for people was a constant force that molded the philosophy of life of his office. His knowledge of people and events was formidable and rarely was he allowed many minutes alone.”

MAXWELL, Heubach On Speaking Tour

Two Division of Religion staff members are traveling extensively this summer to fill speaking engagements in various parts of the country.

1. Graham Maxwell, PhD, director of the Division of Religion, and Paul C. Heubach, professor and eisaid, were recently attended the Pacific Union Conference—Northern Nevada Conference Teachers’ Conference at Pacific Union College, California. They addressed the Bible teachers’ sectional meeting.

Dr. Heubach also recently presented studies on salvation by faith at a So-rthern California Conference—Western Conference Retreat at Pine Springs Ranch, Mountain View, California.

Another workers’ meeting near Haubstadt for the Northern Indiana Conference was attended by Dr. Heubach, who gave talks on lectures on counseling and preaching. He also participated in the Washington Conference camp meeting and a North Idaho Conference workers’ meeting.
