The University Alumni Federation elected officers for 1963-64 at the September meeting in West Covina. New chairman of the board of governors is Deanery L. Smith, MD, assistant clinical professor of medicine. He takes over the chairmanship after Albert F. Brown, MD, associate professor of pathology.

The board of governors unanimously voted at the meeting to approve the resignation of Dr. Brown for "the outstanding leadership given to the Alumni Federation from the past two years," Viola Lutz, member at large, stated.

The federation elected nine members to replace outgoing numbers on the 21-member board of directors. They represent five alumni organizations if the University. According to the organization's bylaws, there must be at least one representative from each organization.

The board of directors includes: Dr. William S. Seibly, DDS, is re-elected chairman of the council prior to 1962. Dr. Brown for "the outstanding for Nursing and was vice chairman of the council prior to 1961.

Commission Names Legal Counselor

New legal officer for Loma Linda Foundation, investment arm of the University, is Kenneth H. Hopp, attorney at law. He comes to Loma Linda from Southeastern University College, where he was on the staff for two years.

In his position as legal counsel for the foundation, Mr. Hopp will work chiefly in areas of trust and tax matters, giving legal advice and assisting in writing trusts and agreements.

Jacques Granted Leave of Absence

The University has granted a leave of absence without pay to Oliver L. Jacques, director of University relations. Mr. Jacques requested the leave, effective September 15 to November 2. Viola Lutz, alumni relations officer, and Dorothy Mathison, community relations officer, will carry the work in University relations during Mr. Jacques' absence.

He requested leave from his teaching position to assist Jerry L. Pettis in his campaign for a seat in the US Congress from the 3rd district.

Jacques Named Chief Chaplain

The pastor of the University Church, Charles W. Teel, now has announced his decision to join the Division of Religion as a full-time associate professor. In his new position, Mr. Teel will be the chief chaplain of the University Medical Center.

The pastor told the church members about his decision at the conclusion of the worship services September 19. He concludes 11 years as pastor, during which time he has been a part-time associate professor in the Division of Religion.

In addition to his ministry at Loma Linda, the new associate professor has been working part-time on a clinical internship in counselling at Patton State Hospital. Beginning this week, he will devote full time to this program, which he hopes to complete in half a year. This additional training will make him eligible for certification as a hospital chaplain.

He received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Columbia Union College in 1949 and in 1952 earned a Master's degree in the Division of Religion. He received the Bachelor of Laws degree from Georgetown University, Washington, DC. A veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, Mr. Hopp, 41, practiced law in Bridgeport, Washington, and in the 33rd district.

The proposed program would provide additional orientation to the important field of international dentistry, especially missionary dentistry, through the Division of Religion.

The affiliation would be made possible through cooperation with countries by the cooperation of University alumni staffing medical institutions there, the dean explains. Mission hospitals and health centers in the Philippines; Korea, Thailand; and Karachi, Pakistan; members of the United programs suited to the affiliation, he says.

Final arrangements have not yet been made for the affiliation in any of these countries, according to Dr. Smith. He adds, however, that details can be worked out and the programs approved "within the next year or two."

The school's interest in international dentistry dates from the conclusion of the worship services September 19. He concludes 11 years as pastor, during which time he has been a part-time associate professor in the Division of Religion.

A Million Share a Doctor

Recent reports of the work of local committees indicate the need to re-examine our role in improving health and professional care for the sick. Doctors, nurses and others in the vast fields of health promotion are not only needed; they constitute the only hope for millions of people.

The desperate needs of sick people are demonstrated by the fact that generally there are fewer members of the healing professions each year as the population grows.

University SCOPE receives calls every day from communities that express the need for physicians, dentists, nurses and others. We haven't yet seen statistics for such call numbers. In the century of progress, public health, various areas of technology and others. These, we know, are taking on greater proportion and demand than ever before. Needs are not being satisfied by half of the world's schools, if we accept published reports.

For example dentistry: The Progress-Bulletin of Fomona, California, reports a ratio of 1:7000—only one dentist for every 7000 residents in the 83,000 population. The national average is 1:1800.

A new Fomona resident writes: "Are there any dentists and physicians available . . .?" Her husband had gone away and she was in need of urgent dental care. To make another comparison: Thirteen countries have only one dental for every 3000 patients. Frequently there are as many as one million patients per dental for each country.

While it sounds incredible that a million people most should not have a dentist, it is equally incredible that our modern societies have been unable to solve other problems of poor health and serious illness. It is interesting to note that a Russian physician (Dr. A. N. Averkov of Moscow) in the field of physical medicine and rehabilitation (Paris, France) that physical medicine is most important in protecting public health and how it can prevent hypertension, hyperdisability and diseases of the heart.

These reports point out, indeed, that the University programs in the healing arts and related fields are of growing importance and the necessity of every Christian to support programs that will bring healing to millions.
